the kings of Ham by their "measures,
C H A P. II.

1 The number of Salomo's workmen to build the Temple. 3 Salomo sendeth to Hiram the king of Tyre for wood and workmen.

1 Then Salomon determined to builde an house for the name of the Lord, and an house for his kingdom.

2 And Salomon tolde out sevenie thousande men to hew stones in the mountaine, and thye thousand and a fire hundred to ouersee them.

3 And Salomon sent to Hiram the king of Tyre, saying, As thou hast done to Dauid my father, and didst send him cedar trees to builde him an house to dwell in, so do to me.

4 Beholde, I builde an house into the name of the Lord my God, to sanctifie it unto him, and to burne sweete incense before him, & for the continuall shewbread, & for the burnt offerings of the morning and evening, on the Sabbath dayes, and in the newe monethes, and in the solemne feastes of the Lord our God: this is a perpetual thing for Israel.

5 And the house which I build, is great: for great is our God above all gods.

6 Who is he then that can be able to build him an house, when the heauen, and the heauen of heauens cannot contene him: who am I then that I should build him an house? but I doe it to burne incense before him.

7 Send me now therefore a cunning man that can worke in golde, in silver, and in bryasse, & in yron, in purple, and in crimosin, and blew silke, and that can grane in grauen worke with the cunning men that are with me in Iubah and in Ierusalem, whom Dauid my father hath prepared.

8 Send me also cedar trees, firre trees and aligum trees from Lebanon: for I know that thy seruants can skill to hewe timber in Lebanon: and beholde, my seruants shall be with thine.

9 That they may prepare mee timber in abundance: for the house which I doe build, is great and wonderful.

10 And beholde, I will giue to thy seruants the cutters & the hewers of timber twentie thousand measures of beaten wheat, and twentie thousande measures of barley, and twentie thousand baths of wine, and twentie thousand baths of oyle.

11 Then Hiram king of Tyre answered in writing which hee sent to Salomon, Because the Lord hath loved his people, he hath made thee king ouer them.

12 Hiram sayde moreover, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen unto Dauid the king a wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to builde an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdom.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, and of vnderstanding of my father Hiram,

14 The sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyre, & he can skill to worke in golde, in silver, in bryasse, in yron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blew silke, & in fine linnen and in crimosin, and can grane in all grauen worke, & by order in all by orderd worke that shalbe giuen him, with the cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.

15 Now therefore the wheate and the barley, the oyle and the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him send unto his seruants.

16 And we will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt neede, and will bring it to thee in raftes by the sea to Japho, so thou shalt carpe them to Ierusalem.

17 And Salomon nombred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the nombing that his father Dauid had nombred them: and they were founde an hundred and thye and fiftie thousande, and fiftie hundred.

18 And he set sevenie thousand of them to the burden, and fourescore thousande to hewe stones in the mountaine, and thye thousande and fiftie hundred ouersers to cause the people to worke.

C H A P. III.

1 The Temple of the Lord, & the porche are builded, with other things thereto belonging.

1 So Salomon began to build the house of the Lord in Ierusalem, in mount Moriah which had bene declared vnto Dauid his father, in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshing flooe of Oman the Jebusite.

2 And he began to build in the second moneth & the second day, in the fourth yere of his reigne.

3 And these are the measures, whereon Salomon grounded to builde the house of God: the length of cubites after the first measure was thye score cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites:

4 And a porch, that was before the length in the front of the breadth was twentie cubites, and the height was an hundred and twentie, and he overlaped it within with pure golde.

5 And the greater house hee felled with firre tree which he overlaped with good golde, and grained thereon palmietrees and chappines.

6 And he overlaped the house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was golde of Barnaim.

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof and the doores thereof overlaped he with golde, and grained chesrubins vpon the walles.

8 He made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof was in front of the breadth of the house, twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof twentie cubites: and he overlaped it with the best golde, of fiftie hundred talents.

9 And the weyght of the naples was fiftie shekels of golde, & he overlaped the chappines with golde.

f It is also written, that he was of the tribe of Naphthali, 1. kin. 7. 14. which may be vnderstand that by reason of the confusion of tribes, which then began to be, they married in diuers tribes, so that by her father she might be of Dan, and by her mother of Naphthali. Or, ships. Or, Ioppa.

4 And all the Elders of Israel came, and the Levites took up the Arke.

5 And they carped up the Arke & the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and all the holie vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests and Levites bring up.

6 And King Salomon and all the Congregation of Israel that were assembled unto him, were before the Arke, offering sheep and bullockes, which could not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the covenant of the Lord unto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the most holy place, even under the wings of the Cheru-bins.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings over the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims covered the Arke and the barres thereof above.

9 And they drew out the barres, that the endes of the barres might be scene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not scene without: and there they are unto this day.

10 Nothing was in the Arke, save the two Tables, which Moses gave at Horeb, where the Lorde made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.

11 And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuary (for all the Priests that were present, were sanctified and did not waite by course).

12 And the Levites the singers of all sortes, as of Naph, of Geman, of Jeduthun & of their sonnes and of their brethren, being clad in fine linnen, stood with cymbals, & with violas & harpes at the East ende of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty Priests blowing with trumpets:

13 And they were as one, blowing trumpets, and singing, and made one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the Lorde: and when they lift by their voyces with trumpets and with cymbales, and with instruments of musike, and when they praised the Lord, singing, & for he is good, because his mercie lasteth for ever,
then the house, even the house of the Lorde
was filled with a cloude,

14 So that the Priests could not stande to minister, because of the cloude: for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of God.

CHAP. VI.

3 Salomon blesteth the people. 4 He praifeth the Lord.
14 He prayeth unto God for those that shall pray in the Temple.

1 Then Salomon said, The Lorde hath sayd that he would dwell in the darke cloude:

2 And I have built thee an house to dwell
in, an habitation for thee to dwell in for ever.

3 And the king turned his face, and blessed all the Congregation of Israel (for all the Congregation of Israel stood there)

4 And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouth unto

David my father, & hath with his hand

fulfilled it, saying,

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no cite
of all tribes of Israel to build an house, that my name might be there, neither chose I any man to be a ruler over my people Israel:

6 But I have chosen Jerusalem, that my name might be there, and have chosen
David to be over my people Israel.

7 And it was in the heart of David my father to build an house unto the name of the Lord God of Israel,

8 But the Lorde sayd to David my father,
Where as it was in thine heart to build an house unto my name, thou diddest
wel, that thou wast so minded.

9 Notwithstanding thou shalt not build the house, but thy sonne which shall come out of thy loynes, he shall build an house unto my name.

10 And the Lorde hath performed his word that he spake: and I am risen up in the throne of David my father, and am set on the throne of Israel as the Lorde promised, and have built an house to the name of the Lord God of Israel.

11 And I have set the Arke there, wherein is the covenant of the Lord, that he made with the children of Israel.

12 And the king stood before the altar of the Lord, in the presence of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands,

13 (For Salomon had made a brasen shaffold & set it in the mids of the court, of five cubits long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits of height, & upon it he stood,
and kneeled downe vpon his knees before
all the Congregation of Israel, & stretched out his hands toward heaven)

14 And sayd, O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heaven nor in earth, which keepest covenant, and mercie vnto thy seruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

15 Thou that hast kept with thy servant
David my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth, & hast fulfilled it with thine hande, as ap-peareth this day.

16 Therefore nowe Lorde God of Israel,
keepe with thy servant David my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou shalt not want a man in my sight, that shall sit vpon the throne of Israel: so that thy sonnes take heede to their wives, to walke in my lawe, as thou hast walked before me.

17 And nowe, O Lorde God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy servant David.

18 (Is it true in deede that God will dwell
with man on earth: behold, the heavens, and the heavens of heavens are not able to containe thee: howe much more vnable is this house, which I have built:)

thy seruante, and to his supplication, O Lorde my God, to heare the crye & prayer sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And king Salomon offered a sacrifice of two and twentie thousand bullocks, and an hundred & twentie thousande therepe. so the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the priests waited on their offices, and the Levites with the instruments of musike of the Lord, which king David had made to praise the Lord. Because his mercie lasteth for ever: when David praised God: by them, the priests also blew trumpets over against them: and at the top of Israel stood by.

7 Moreover Salomon halowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he had prepared burnt offerings, & the fat of the peace offerings, because of the altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receive the burnt offering, and the meat offering, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made a feast at that time of seven daies, & all Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath, unto the river of Egypt.

9 And in the eighth day they made a solemn assemble: for they had made the dedication of the altar seven daies, and the feast seven daies.

10 And the thirde and twentieth day of the seventh month, he sent the people away into their tentes, ioyous and with glad heart, because of the goodness that the Lord had done for David and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 And the Lord appeared to Salomon by night and saide to him, I have heard thy prayer, & have chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there be no raine, or if I commaund the grasshopper to deuoure the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people, among whom my name is called vpon, doe humble themselves, and pray, and seeke my presence, & turne from their wicked wayes, then will I heare in heauen, and be mercifull to their sinne, and will heale their land:

15 Then mine eyes shall be open, and mine eares attent vnto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shalbe there perpetuall.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as David thy father walked, to doe according vnto all that I haue commaunded thee, and shalt observe my statutes and my iudgements,

18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I made the covenant with David thy father, saying, Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if thou turne away, & forsake my statutes and my commandments which I haue set before thee, and shall goe and serue other gods, and worship them,

20 Then will I plucke thee by out of my land, which I haue giuen thee, and this house which I haue sanctified for my name, will I cast out of my sight, & will make it to be a pylon and a common rake among all people.

21 And this house which is most hie, shall be an astonishment to every one that passeth by it, so that he shall say, Why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shall answer, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the lande of Egypt, and haue taken holde on other gods, and haue worshipped them, and serued them, therefore hath he brought all this euill vpon them.

1 The cities that Salomon built. 7 People that were made tributaries vnto him. 12 His sacrifices. 27 He sendeth to Ophir.

1 And after twenty yere when Salomon had built the house of the Lord, and his owne house,

2 Then Salomon built the cities that were in the lande of Israel, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobab, and ouercame it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderness, and repaired all the cities of store which he built in Hamath.

5 And he built Beth-horon the vpper, and Beth-horon the nether, cities defensed with walles, gates and barres:

6 Also Baalath, and all the cities of store that Salomon had, and all the charer cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and every pleasant place that Salomon had a minde to builde in Ierusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the lande of his dominion.

7 And all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, & Perizites, and the Ginites, & the Jebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children which were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel had not consumed, when they did Salomon make tributaries vntil this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no seruaunts for his worke: for they were men of warre, and his chiefe princes, and the captaynes of his charres, and of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chiefe of the officers which Salomon had, euery two hundredeth and fiftie that bare rule over the people.

11 Then Salomon brought by the daughter of Pharaoh out of the cite of David, into the house that he had built for her: for he said, My wife shall not dwell in the principall house of David king of Israel: for it is holy, because that the Urne of the Lord came vnto it.

12 Then Salomon offered burnt offerings

14 And he set the courses of the Priests to their offices, according to the order of David his father, and the Levites in their watches, for to praise and minister before the Priests every day, and the porters by their courses, at every gate: for so was the commandment of David the man of God.

18 And Huram sent him by the handes of his servants, shippes, and servants that had knowledge of the sea: and they went with the servants of Salomon to Sphir, and brought thence foure hundred and fiftie talents of golde, and brought them to king Salomon.

CHAP. IX.

1. 9 The Queene of Sheba cometh to see Salomon and bringeth gifts. 13 Huzzey's remembrance. 30 The time of his reign. 31 His death.

And when the Queene of Sheba heard of the fame of Salomon, she came to prove Salomon with hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very great traine, and camels that bare sweet odours and much golde, and precious stones: and when she came to Salomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

2 And Salomon declared her all her questions, and there was nothing hid from Salomon, which he declared not unto her.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba saw the wisdom of Salomon, and the house that he had built,

4 And the meate of his table, and the setting of his servants, and the order of his waiters, and their apparell, and his burnt offerings, which he offered in the house of the Lord, and she was greatly astonished. And she saide to the king, It was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings, and of thy wisdom: till I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisdom was not tolde me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

6 Howbeit I believed not their report, until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisdom was not tolde me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happie are thy men, and happie are these thy servants, which stand before thee alway, and heare thy wisdom.

8 Blessed be the Lord thy God, which loved thee, to set thee on his throne as king, in the stead of the Lord thy God: because thy God loveth Israel, to establish it for ever, therefore hath he made thee king over them, to execute iudgements and iustice.

9 Then he gave the king sixe scope talents of golde, and of sweete odours exceeding much and precious stones: neither was there such sweet odours since, as Salomon of Sheba gave unto king Salomon.

10 And the servants also of Huram, and the servants of Salomon which brought golde from Sphir, brought Agurum wood and precious stones.

11 And the king made of the Agurum wood staires in the house of the Lord, and in the kings house, and harpes and viols for fingers: and there was no such sene before in the land of Iudah.

12 And king Salomon gave to the Queene of Sheba every pleasant thing that she asked, besides for that which she had brought unto the king: so she returned and went to her owne countrey, both she, and her servants.

13 All the weight of golde that came to Salomon in one pere, was sixe hundred thirty scope and sixe talents of golde.

14 Besides that which chapmen and merchants brought: and all the kings of Arabia, and the princes of the countrey brought golde and silver to Salomon.

15 And king Salomon made two hundred targets of beaten golde, and a sixe hundred shelds of beaten golde went to one target.

16 And three hundred shelds of beaten golde: three hundred shelds of golde went to one sheld, and the king put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

17 And the king made a great throne of pnyon and overlaid it with pure golde, one seemed to make an hundred footstool of golde fastened to the throne.

18 And the throne had sixe steppes, with a footstool of golde fastened to the throne, and stapes on either side on the place of the seate, and two lions standing by the stapes.

19 And twelve lions stood there on the sixe steppes on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And all king Salomons drinke vessels were of golde, and all the vessels of the house of wood of Lebanon were of pure golde: for silver was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the servants of Huram, every three pere once came the ships of Tarshish, and brought golde, and silver, pnyon, and apes, and prockes.

22 So king Salomon excelled at the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisdom that God had put in his heart.

24 And then brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of golde, and raiment, armour, and sweete odours, horses, and mules, from pere to pere.

<sup>3</sup> And they sent and called him: so came Jeroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying,

<sup>4</sup> Thy father <sup>5</sup> made ouer you a yoke grievous: now therefore make thou the grievous seruitude of thy father, and his sore yoke, that he put vpon vs, lighter, and we will serue thee.

<sup>5</sup> And he sayde to them, Depart ye: this daye, then come againe vnto me. And the people departed.

<sup>6</sup> And king Rehoboam took counsell with the olde men that had stand before Salomon his father, while he yet liued, saying, What counsell giue ye that I may answere this people?

<sup>7</sup> And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kinde to this people, and please them, and speake louing words to them, they will be thy seruantes for euer.

<sup>12</sup> Nowe where as my father did burden you with a grievous yoke, I will put my create your yoke: my father hath chastised you with roddes, but I will correct you with scourges.

<sup>13</sup> Then Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appoynted, saying, Come as gaue to me the third day.

<sup>15</sup> And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grievous, but I will increase it: my father chastised you with roddes, but I will correct you with scourges.

<sup>16</sup> So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God that he should performe his saying, which he had spoken by Ahiyah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat.

<sup>17</sup> So when all Israel sawe that the king would not heare them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion haue we in Dauid? for we haue more inheritance in the sonne of Ishai. And first of all, euery man to your tents: now we see to thine owne house Dauid. So all Israel departed to their tents.

<sup>19</sup> Then king Rehoboam sent Hadadom that was <sup>2</sup> ouer the tribute, and the chiefe of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: then king Rehoboam made speede to get him vp to his charer, to flee to Jerusalem.

were in all Israel, resorted vnto him to Ierusalem: for Ieroboam and his sonnes had cast them out from minister-

as set their hearts to seeke the Lord

Iudah, and made Rehoboam the sonne

three yere they walked in the way of Abiathar, and Zebad, and Ziba, and She-daughter of Abiathar above all his wives and his concubines: for he took

- Ad when Rehoboam had establi-

he forsooke the law of the Lord, and all Israel with him.
- 2 Therefore in the fift yere of king Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt came by against Ierusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord)

- 3 With twelue hundred charets, & nine score thousand horsemen, and the people were without number, that came with him from Egypt, euen Pharaohs souldiers, kings, and the Ethiopians.
- 4 And he took strong cities which were
of Iudah, and came vnto Ierusalem.
- 5 Then came Shemaiah the prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Iudah,
that were gathered together in Ierusalem, because of Shishak, and saide vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Ye haue forsaken me, therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.
- 6 Then the princes of Israel, and the king humbled themselves, and said, The Lord is with us.
- 7 And when the Lord saw that they humbled themselves, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, They haue humbled themselves, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will sende them deliverance shishak, and my wrath shall not be poured out vpon Ierusalem by the hand of Shishak.
- 8 Nevertheless they shalbe his seruantes:
so shall they knowe my seruice, and the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.
- 9 Then Shishak king of Egypt came by against Ierusalem, & took the treasures of the house of the Lord, & the treasures of the kings house: he took euen all, and he caried away shields of golde which Salomon had made.
- 10 In stead whereof king Rehoboam made shields of brasse, and committed them to the hands of the chiefe of the garde, that waited at the doore of the kings house.
- 11 And when the king entred into the house of the Lord, the garde came and bare them and brought them againe vnto the garde chamber.
- 12 And because he humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not destroy all together. And also in Iudah the things prospered.
- 13 So king Rehoboam was strong in Jerusalem & reigned: for Rehoboam was one and foure yere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned & seuentie yeres in Ierusalem, the cite which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. And his

1 I In the eighteenth year of King Jeroboam began Abiah to reign over Judah.
 2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem: (his mothers name also was Michaiah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeon) & there was warre betweene Abiah and Jeroboam.
 3 And Abiah set his battell in aray with the army of valiant men of warre, even foure hundred thousand chosen men. Jeroboam also set the battell in aray against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men which were strong and valiant.
 4 And Abiah stood up upon mount Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, and lapde, O Jeroboam, and all Israel, heare you me.
 5 Dought you not to know the Lorde God of Israel hath given the kingdome ouer Israel to Dauid for ever, even to him and to his sonnes by a covenant of salt?
 6 And Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat the servant of Salomon sonne of Dauid is risen up, & hath rebelled against his lord:
 7 And there are gathered to him a vaine men and wicked, and made themselves strong against Jeroboam sonne of Salomon: for Jeroboam was not a childe, & tender hearted, & could not resist them.
 8 Nowe therefore ye thinke that ye be able to resist against the kingdom of the Lord, which is in the hands of the sonnes of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, and the golden calves are with you which Jeroboam made you for gods.
 9 Have ye not driven away the priestes of the Lorde the sonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and have made you priestes like the people of other countries: whosoever cometh to consecrate with a pong bullocke and seven rams, the same may be a priest of them that are no gods.
 10 But we belong unto the Lord our God, and have not forsaken him, & the priests the sonnes of Aaron minister unto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.
 11 And they burne unto the Lorde every morning and every evening burnt offerings and sweet incense, and the bread is set in order upon the pure table, and the candlesticke of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne every evening: for we keepe the watche of the Lorde our God: but ye have forsaken him.
 12 And beholde, this God is with us, as a captaine, and his priests with the sounding trumpets, to crye an alarme against you. O ye children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for ye shall not prosper.
 13 But Jeroboam caused an ambushment to compass, and came behinde them, when they were before Judah, and the ambushment behinde them.
 14 Then Judah looked, and beholde, the battell was before and behinde them, and they cried unto the Lord, and the priests blewe with the trumpets,

 15 And the men of Judah gave a shout: and when as the men of Judah shouted, God smote Jeroboam and also Israel before Abiah and Judah.
 16 And the children of Israel fled before Judah, and God deliuered them into their hand.
 17 And Abiah and his people slew a great slaughter of them, so that there fell downe wounded of Israel five hundred thousand chosen men.
 18 So the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Judah prevailed, because they staid vpon the Lord God of their fathers.
 19 And Abiah pursued after Jeroboam, & took the cities from him, even Beth-el, and the villages therof, and Telsahah with her villages, and Ephron in her villages.
 20 And Jeroboam recovered no strength againe in the daies of Abiah, but the Lorde plagued him, and he died.
 21 So Abiah ward mightie, and married fourentene wives, and begate two & twentie sonnes, and sixtine daughters.
 22 The rest of the actes of Abiah, and his maners, and his sayings are written in the booke of the Prophet Iddo.

3 Afa deserveth idolatrie, and commandeth his people to serve the true God. 11 He praith unto God a li he should go to fight. 12 He obtaineth the victorie.
 1 S Abiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the cite of Dauid, and Afa his sonne reigned in his steade: in whose daies the land was quiet ten yere.
 2 And Afa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.
 3 For he took away the altars of the strange gods and the high places, and brake downe the images, and cut downe the groves,
 4 And commanded Judah to secke the Lorde God of their fathers, and to doe according to the Lawe and the commandement.
 5 And he took away out of all the cities of Judah the high places, & the images: there fore the kingdom was quiet before him.
 6 Hee built also strong cities in Judah, because the land was in rest, and hee had no warre in those partes: for the Lorde had given him rest.
 7 Therefore hee said to Judah, Let vs build these cities and make walles about, and towers, gates, & barres, whiles the land is before vs: because we have sought the Lorde our God, we have sought him, and he hath given vs rest in every side: so they built and prospered.
 8 And Afa had an armie of Judah he bare shields and speares, three hundred thousand, and of Benjamin that bare shields & drew bowes, two hundred & fourscore thousand: all these were valiant men.
 9 And there came out against them Tere-rah of Ethiopia an heite of ten hums, and three hundred chariots, and came unto Beth-el.
 10 Then Afa went out before him, and they set the battell in aray in the valley of Beth-el.
 11 And Afa cried unto the Lorde his God, and borne.

Or, gave him the victory.

Or, against many, without power.

f Thus the children of God neither trust in their owne power or politic, neither feare y strength and subtiltie of their enemies, but consider the cause &amp; see whether their enterprises tend to

Gods glory, and thereupon assure them selves of y

victorie by him, which is only almighty, and can turn all flesh into dust &amp; the breath of his mouth. g The Lord had stricken them with feare.

and sayde, *Loide,* it is nothing with thee to helpe* with many, or with no power: helpe vs, O Loide our God: for we rest on thee, and in thy name art we come against this multitude: O Loide, thou art our God, let not man preuaile against thee.*

12 ¶ So the Loide smote the Ethiopians before Afa and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Afa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians holde was ouerthelwen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Loide and before his holte: and they caried away a mighty great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities rounde about Gerar: for the feare of the Loide came vpon them, and they spoiled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoile in them.

15 ¶ Plea, and they smote the tents of cattell, and caried away plentie of sheepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalem.

2 And he went out to meete Afa, and said vnto him, O Afa, and all Judah, and Benjamin, heare ye me. The Loide is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 ¶ Nowe for a long season Israel hath bene without the true God, and without priest to teach, and without lawe.

4 But whosoever returned in his affliction to the Loide God of Israel, and sought him, he was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him, that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and cite of cite: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 ¶ We be strong therefore, and let not our hands be weake: for pour weoike shall haue a reward.

8 ¶ And when Afa heard these wordes, and the prophetic of Obed the prophet, he was encouraged, and tooke away the abominations out of all the land of Judah, and Benjamin, and out of the cities which he had taken of mount Ephraim, and he reared the altar of the Loide, that was before the porch of the Loide.

9 And he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasse, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel: when they sawe that the Loide his God was with him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the third month, in the fifteenth pere of the reigne of Afa,

11 And they offered vnto the Loide the same time of y spoile, which they had brought, euen seven hundred bulloches, and seven thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a covenant to seke the Loide God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their soule.

13 And whosoever wil not seke the Loide God of Israel, shall be flaine, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they sware vnto the Loide with a loude voyce, and with shouting and with trumpets, and with cymbals.

15 And all Judah reioiced at the othe: for they had chosen vnto the Loide with all their heart, and sought him with a whole desire, and hee was found of them. And the Loide gave them rest round about.

16 *¶ And king Afa depose* Baachab his mother from her regencie, because shee had made an idole in a groue: and Afa he shewed that hee lacked zeale for the ought to haue died by the counsell, as verse 13. 17 *¶ Or grandchilder and her husband: and hee was found of them. And the Loide gave them rest round about.

17 ¶ But the high places were not taken away out of Israel: yet the heart of Afa was perfect all his daies.

18 ¶ Also hee brought into the house of God the thinges that his father had dedicate, and that he had dedicate, silver, and gold, and vessels.

19 And there was no warre vnto the fise and thirtieth pere of the reigne of Afa,

k Which partly came through lacke of zeale in him, partly through the negligence of his officers, & partly by the superstition of the people, y all were not taken away. 1 Because the God was called the God of Israel by reason of his promises to Iacob: therefore Israel is sometime taken for Iudah, because Iudah was his chiefe people. m In respect of his predecessors.

1 ¶ In the fise and thirtieth pere of the reigne of Afa came Baasha King of Israel against Iudah, & built Ramoth to let none passe out of goe into Afa king of Iudah.

2 ¶ Then Afa brought out silver and golde out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the Kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

3 There is a covenant betwene me and thee, and betwene my father and thy father: behold, I haue sent thee silver and golde: come, & breake thy league with Afa king of Israel that hee may depart from me.

4 ¶ And Benhadad hearkened vnto Afa, and sent the captaines of the armies which hee had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Iion, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the forte cities of Naphtali.

5 ¶ And when Baasha heard it, hee left building of Ramoth, and let his woike cease.

7 And at that same time Yanaan the Seer came to Asa king of Iudah, and sayde vnto him, Because thou hast reked vpon the king of Ham, and not rested in the Loyde thy God, therefore is the hoste of the King of Ham escaped out of thine hand.

8 The Ethiopians & the Lubins, were they not a great hoste with charots and hoiemen, exceeding many? yet because thou diddest rest vpon the Loyde, he deli-uered them into thine hand.

9 For the eyes of the Loyde behold all the earth to shew himselfe strong with them
that are of perverte heart towards him:
thou hast then done foolishly in this:
therefore from henceforth thou shalt haue
warres.

10 Then Asa was wroth with the Seer, and put him into a prison: for hee was displeased with him, because of this thing. And Asa oppressed certaine of the people at the same time.

11 And behold, the actes of Asa first and last, lo, they are written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel.

12 And Asa in the nine and thirtieth yere
of his reigne was diseased in his fete,
and his disease was extreme: yet hee sought not the Loyde in his disease, but to the physicians.

13 So Asa slept with his fathers, & died in the one and fourtieth yere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his lesser pulchres, which hee had made for himselfe in the cite of Dauid, and layde him in the bedde, which they had filled with sweete odours and diuers kindes of spices, made by the arte of the Apotecarie: &
they burnt odours for him with an exces-sing great fire.

C H A P. XVII.

Ichothaphat trusting in the Lord, prospereth in viches and honour. 6 Hee aboliseth idolatrie. 7 And causeth the people to be taught. 11 Hee receiveth tribute of strangers. 13 His munitions, and men of warre.

1 And Ichothaphat his sonne reigned in his steade, and principled against Israel.

2 And he put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudah, and set bandes in the land of Iudah and in the cities of Ephraim,
which Asa his father had taken.

3 And the Loyde was with Ichothaphat, because he walked in the first wayes of his father Dauid, & sought not Baalim,

4 But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not after the trade of Israel.

5 Therefore the Loyde established the kings dome in his hande, & all Iudah brought presents to Ichothaphat, so that he had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And hee left by his heart vnto the waies
of the Loyde, and heooke away moreouer
the high places and the groues out of Iudah.

7 And in the third yere of his reigne hee
sent his princes, Ben-had, and Sebadiah, and Zecariah, and Methanai, and Ipsithai, that they should teache in the cities of Iudah,

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiah, and Azariah, and Sebadiah, and Mahiel, and Shemiramoth, & Jehonathan, and Adoniah, and Tobiah, and Tob-adoni-ah, Leuites, and with them Eliahna and Jehoram priests.

9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the Lawe of the Loyde with them,
and went about throughout all the cities
of Iudah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Loyde fell vpon all the kingdomes of the landes that were rounde about Iudah, and they sought not against Ichothaphat.

11 And some of the Philistines brought Ies-hothaphat giftes and tribute silver, and the Arabians brought him flockes, seven thousande and seven hundred rammes,
and seven thousande and seven hundred hee goates.

12 So Ichothaphat prospered and grewe up on him: and hee built in Iudah palaces and cities of Isteo.

13 And he had great waykes in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, and valiant men in Ierusalem.

14 And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers. In Iudah were captaiues of thousandes, Adnah the captaine, and with him of valiant men
thre hundred thowand.

15 And at his hande Jehohanan a captaine, and with him two hundred and fourscore thowand.

16 And at his hande Amasiah the sonne of Nichti, which willingly offered himselfe
vnto the Loyde, and with him two hundred thowand valiant men.

17 And of Beniamin, Eliada a valiant man, and with him armed men with bow and shield two hundred thowand.

18 And at his hande Jehosabab, and with him an hundred and fourscore thousand armed to the warre.

19 These waited on the king, besides those which the king put in the strong cities throughout all Iudah.

sewe sheepe and oren for him in great

4 And Jehoshaphat saide vnto the king of Israel, Aske counsell, I pray thee, at the woyde of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered of prophets foure hundred men, and said
vnto them, Shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they said, Goe vp: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

6 But Jehoshaphat sayde, Is there here nener a Prophet more of the Lord that we might inquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel said vnto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may aske counsell of the Lord, but I hate him: for he doth not prophesie good vnto me, but alway euill: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imda. Then Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called an eunuche, and sayde, Call quickly Michai-ah the sonne of Imda.

9 And the king of Israel, and Jehosha-phat king of Iudah late epyth of them
on his throne clothed in their apparell:
they late euen in the evening floode at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and all the prophets prophesied before them.

10 And Zibdia the sonne of Chenaanah made him houses of pyon, and sayde, Thus saith the Lord, With these shalt thou pulle the Aramites vntill thou hast consumed them.

11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Go vp to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

12 And the messenger that went to call Michai-ah, spake to him, saying, Behold, the woys of the prophets declare good to the king with one accord: let thy woys be therefore, I pray thee, like one of theirs,
and speake thou good.

13 And Michai-ah said, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer my God saith, that will I speake.

14 And so he came to the king, and the king said vnto him, Michai-ah, shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease off? And he sayde, Goe ye vp, and prosper, and they shall be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the king said to him, How est thou
I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but the truth in the name of the Lord?

16 Then he said, I saw all Israel scattered in the mountaines, as sheepe that haue
no shepheard: and the Lord said, There haue no matter: let them returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the king of Israel said to Jehosha-phat, Did I not tell thee, that he woulde not prophesie good vnto me, but euill?

18 Again he said, Therefore heare ye the woys of the Lord: I sawe the Lord sit vpon his thron, and all the hoste of heauen stand-

19 And the Lord sayde, Who shall pers-wade Ahab king of Israel, that he may goe by and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and sayde thus, and another sayd that.

20 Then there came forth a spirit & stood before the Lord, and sayde, I will pers-wade him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherewith?

21 And he said, I will go out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.
And he said, Thou shalt perswade, and thalt also perswade: goe forth and doe so.
Lord.

22 Now therefore beholde, the Lord hath put a false spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the Lord hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zibdia the sonne of Chenaanah came nether, and smote Michai-ah vpon
the cheek, & sayde, As what wap went the spirit of the Lord from me, to speake truth to thee?

24 And Michai-ah sayde, Beholde, thou shalt see that daue when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to bide thee.
and hypocrite.

25 And the king of Israel sayde, Take ye Michai-ah, and carie him to Ramoth the gouernour of the citie, and to Joash the kings sonne.

26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him
with bread of affliction and with water of affliction vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michai-ah sayde, If thou returne
in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me.
And he said, I heare, all ye people.

28 So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat
the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel said vnto Jehoshaphat, I will change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparell. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went into the battell.

30 And the king of Aram had conuini-ed the captains of the charrets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captains of the charrets
sawe Jehoshaphat, they said, It is the king of Israel: & they compassed about him to fight. But Jehoshaphat cryed, and the Lord helped him & moued them
to depart from him.

32 For when the captains of the charrets
sawe that he was not the king of Israel,
they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drew a bowe
the word of the Lord by his prophets, and also by therefore he said to his charretman, Turne
thine hand, and carpe me out of the holle:
for I am hurt.

34 And the battell increased that day: & the king of Israel & stood still in his charret against the Aramites vntill euen, and died at the time of the sunne going downe.

4 So Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem, and returned & went through the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them againe unto the Lord God of their fathers.

5 And he set judges in the lande throughout all the strong cities of Judah, citie by citie.

6 And said to the judges, Take heere what ye doe: for ye execute not the judgments of man, but of the Lord, and he will be with you in the cause and judgement.

rose up by night, & smote Ehom, which had compassed him in, and the captaines of the charots.

10 But Ehom rebelled from under the hand of Iudah vnto this day, then did Ehom rebel at the same time from under his hand, because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 Whereouer, he made his places in the mountaines of Iudah, & caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from Elishah the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Jehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa king of Iudah,

13 But hast walked in the wayes of the kings of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to goe a whooring, as the house of Ahab went a whooring, & hast also slain the brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou,

14 Beholde, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wiues, and all thy substance,

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels, until thy bowels fall out by the disease, day by day.

16 ¶ So the Lord stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistines, and the Arabians that were beside the Ethiopians,

17 And they came by into Iudah, & brake into it, and carried away all the substance that was found in the kings house, and his sonnes also, and his wiues, so that there was not a sonne left him, save Jehoahaz, the youngest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this, the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And in process of time, euen after the end of two yeeres, his guttes fell out with his disease: so he died of soye diseases: and his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirtie yeere olde, and reigned in Ierusalem eight yeere, and liued without being desired: yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the kings.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah reigneth after Iehoram, 9 Iehu king of Israel killeth Ahaziah, 10 Athaliah putteth to death all the kings issue, 11 Iosiah escapeth.

1 AND the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his eldest sonne king in his stead: for the army that came with the Arabians to the campe, had slain all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and fourety yeere olde was Ahaziah when he beganne to reigne, and he reigned one yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 He walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counselled him to doe wickedly.

4 Wherefore he did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his counsellors after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsell, and went with Jehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Jehoram.

6 ¶ And he returned to be healed in Jezreel, because of the woundes wherewith they had wounded him at Ramoth, when he fought with Hazael king of Aram. But by Gods shewe Ahaziah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Jehoram the sonne of Ahab at Jezreel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah came, as the word of the Lord was: for he went to Jezreel, when he was come, he went forth with Jehoram against Iehu the sonne of Shimehi, whom the Lord had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, & founde the princes of Iudah, and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, he slew them also.

9 And he sought Ahaziah, & then caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Jezreel, & slew him, & buried him, because, sayd they, he is the sonne of Jehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to retaine the kingdome.

10 ¶ Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her sonne was dead, she arose, & destroyed all the kings seed of the house of Iudah.

11 But Jehoshaphaths daughter of the king,ooke Joash the sonne of Ahaziah, & stole him from among the kings sonnes, that should be slain, & put him and his nurse in the bed chamber: so Jehoshaphaths daughter of king Jehoram the wife of Jehoiada the Priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so she slewe him not.

12 And he was with them hid in his house of God six yeeres, whiles Athaliah reigned ouer the land.

5 And another third part toward the kings house, and another third part at the gate of the foundation, & all the people shalbe

6 But let none come into the house of the 8 So the Leuites and all Iudah did according to all thinges that Jehoiada the Priest had commanded, and toke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath,

with them that went out on the Sabbath: for Jehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

9 And Jehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundredes speares, and shieldes, & bucklers which had bene king
Dauids, and were in the house of God.

10 And he caused all the people to stande (euery man with his weapon in his hand)
from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the house round about the king.

11 Then they brought out the kings sonne,
and put vpon him the crowne and gaue
him the testimonie, and made him king.
And Jehoiada and his sonnes anoynted
him, and said, God saue the king.

12 But when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and playing the king, she came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13 And when she looked beholde, the king stood by his pillar at the entering in, & the vintres & the trumpets by the king, and all the people of the land reioiced, & blew
the trumpets, and the singers were with instruments of musike, & they that could sing psalme: then Athaliah rent her clothes,
and said, Treason, treason.

14 Then Jehoiada the Priest brought out the captaines of hundredes that were gouernours of the hoste, and said vnto them, Haue her forth of the ranges, and he that followeth her, let him dye by the sword: for the Priest had said, Slap her not in the house of the Lord.

15 So they laide hands on her: & when she was come to the entering of the housegate
by the kings house, they slawe her there.

16 And Jehoiada made a couenant betweene him, and all the people, & the king,
that they would be the Lords people.

17 And all the people went to the house of Baal, and destroyed it, & brake his altars and his images, and strowed the

the Priest of Baal before the altars.

18 And Jehoiada appointed officers for the house of the Lord, vnder the hands of the Priestes and Leuites, whome Dauid had distributed for the house of the Lord,
to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord,
as it is written in the Lawe of Moyses,
with reioicing & singing by the appointment of Dauid.

19 And he set porters by the gates of the house of the Lord, that none that was vncleane in any thing, should enter in.

20 And he toke the captaines of him that the king
dicted, and the noble men, and the gouernours of the people, and all the people of all the land, and he caused the king to come downe out of the house of the Lord, and they went through the he gate of the later reioicing, Kings house, and set the king
vpon the throne of the kingdom.

21 Then all the people of the land reioiced, and the citie was quiet, after that they had slaine Athaliah with the sword.

2 And Ioash did vngodly in the sight of the Lord, all the dayes of Jehoiada the

3 And Jehoiada toke him two wiues,
and he begate sonnes and daughters.

4 And afterward it came into Ioashs minde, to renew the house of the Lord.

5 And he assembled the Priestes and the Leuites, and said to them, Goe out vnto
the cities of Iudah, & gather of all racen money to repaire the house of your God, from piers to piers, and haue the 6 Therefore the king called Jehoiada the

7 For wicked Athaliah, and her children broke up the house of God: & all the things

8 Therefore the king commanded, and they made a chest, and set it at the gate

Iudah and Ierusalem, to bring vnto the chest the tare of Moses the seruant of kings scribe (and one appointed by the king) came and emptied the chest, and rooke it, and carped it to his place againe: thus they did day by day, and gathered silver in abundance.

12 And the king and Jehoiada gave it to such as did the labour and worke in the house of the Lord, and hired masons and carpenters to repaire the house of the Lord: they gave it also to workmen of pison and hyssop, to repaire the house of the Lord.

13 So the workmen wrought, and the worke amended through their handes: and they restored the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the silver before the king and Jehoiada, and he made thereof vessels for the house of the Lord, even vessels to minister, both moyses, and incense cippes, and vessels of golde, and of silver: and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the dayes of Jehoiada.

15 But Jehoiada waxed olde, and was full of dayes and dyed. An hundredth and thirtie yere olde was he when he dyed.

16 And they buried him in the cite of David with the kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

17 And after the death of Jehoiada, came the princes of Judah, and did reuerence to the king, and the king hearkened vnto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and served groves and idoles: and warah came vpon Judah and Jerusalem, because of this their trespass.

19 And God sent Ioyphers among them, to bring them againe vnto the Lord: and they made protestation among them, but they would not heare.

20 And the Spirit of God came vpon Zechariah the sonne of Jehoiada the Priest, which stood above the people, and said vnto them, Thus saith God, Whyp transegresse the commandments of the Lord: surely pe shall not prosper: because pe haue forsaken the Lord, he also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the king, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Joash the king remembered not the kindness which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his sonne. And when he dyed, he said, The Lord be looke vpon it, and require it.

23 And when the yere was out, the hoste of Aram came vpon him, and they came against Judah and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the spoile of them vnto the king of Damascus.

24 Though the army of Aram came with a small compaign of men, yet the Lord deliuered a very great army into their hand, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers: and they gave sentence against Joash.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases) his owne seruants conspired against him for the blood of the children of Jehoiada the Priest, and slew him on his bed, and he dyed: and they buried him in the cite of David: but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.

26 And these are they that conspired against him, Zabad the sonne of Shunrath an Ammonite, and Zebadab the sonne of Shunrath a Moabite.

27 But his sonnes, and the summe of the tate gathered by him, and the fundation of the house of God, behold, they are written in the storie of the booke of the kings. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his steade.

1 Amaziah was fine and twentieth yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned nine and twentieth yere in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Jehoaddan, of Jerusalem.

2 And he did uprightly in the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfect heart.

3 And when the kingdom was established vnto him, he slew his seruants, that had slaine the king his father.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Lawe, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but euery man shall die for his owne sinne.

5 And Amaziah assembled Judah, and made them captaines ouer thousandes, and captaines ouer hundredes, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Judah and Benjamin: and he numbered them from twentieth yere olde and above, and founde among them thre hundred thousande chosen men, to go forth to the warre, and to handle speare and shield.

6 He hired also an hundredth thousand valiant men out of Israel for an hundredth talents of silver.

7 But a man of God came to him, saying, O king, let not the army of Israel go with thee: for the Lord is not with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

8 If not, goe thou on, do it, make thy selfe strong to the battell, but God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

9 And Amaziah sayde to the man of God, What shall we doe then for the hundredth talents, which I haue giuen to the hoste of Israel?

of Israel? Then the man of God answered, red, The Loyde is able to giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah separated them, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherfoye their waych was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, and went to the salt
balley, & smote of the children of Seir,
ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudah take aliue, and carped them to the toppes of a rocke, & cast them downe
from the toppes of the rocke, and they all burnt to pieces.

13 But the men of the armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they shoulde not goe with his people to battell, fell vpon
the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote the thousand of them, andooke much spoyle.

14 Nowe after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought the gods of the children of Seir,
and set them vp to be his gods, & worshipped them, and burned incense vnto
them.

15 Wherefore the Loyde was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which sayde vnto him, Why hast thou sought y gods of the people, which were not able to deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as he talked with him, he sayde
vnto him, Haue they made thee y kings counsellers? cease thou: why should they smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but said, I know that God hath determined to deliuer thee, because thou hast done
this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.

17 ¶ Then Amaziah king of Iudah tooke
counsell, & sent to Iosiah the sonne of Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehu king of Israel, saying, Come, & let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Iosiah king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, Give thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon went & trode
downe the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to baggie: abide nowe at home: why dost thou psonoke to chine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for y
it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hande, because they had sought
the gods of Edom.

21 So Iosiah the king of Israel went by:

and he, and Amaziah king of Iudah saw one another in the face at Beth-horon, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to y worse before Israel, and they slode euery man to his teetes.

23 But Iosiah the king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehoiachaz in Beth-ho-ron, and brought him to Jerusalem, & broke downe the wal of Jerusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto y corner gate,
four hundred cubites.

24 And he tooke all the gold and the siluer,
and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with y bed of Dorn, and in y treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returne ned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah y sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah liued after the death of Iosiah sonne of Iehoiachaz king of Israel, sixteen yeres.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amaziah first and last, are they not writtyn
in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel?

27 Nowe after the time that Amaziah did turne away from y Loyde, y which wrought treason against him in Jerusalem: and when he was fled to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.

28 And they brought him vpon hoyses, and buried him with his fathers in the cite
of Iudah.

God made him to prosper.

the Philistines and brake downe the wal of Beth-dan, and the wal of Jabneh, and the wal of Ashdod, and built cities in Ash-

7 And God helped him against the Phi-dwelt in Gur-baal and Hammeim.

9 Whereupon Iotham built towres in Jerusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at p<sup>r</sup> turning, and made them strong.

10 And he built towres in the wilderness,
and digged many cisternes: for he had much cattel both in the valleys & plaines, plowmen, and distillers of vines in the mountaines, and in Carmel: for he los-ted his bandier.

11 Whizziah had also an hoste of fighting men
that went out to warre by bands, according to the count of their number under the hand of Zeiel the scribe, & Whaaleiah
the ruler, & under the hand of Hananiah,
one of the kings captaynes.

12 The whole number of the chiefe of the families of the valliant men were two thousand and five hundred.

13 And under their hand was the armie for warre, three hundred and seven thousand,
and five hundred that fought valliantly
to helpe the king against the enimie.

14 And Whizziah prepared them throughout all the hoste, shields, and speares, and helmetts, & brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also verp<sup>r</sup> artificiall engines in Jerusalem, to be upon the towres and upon the cigners, to shoute arrowes and great stones: and his name spied farre abroad, because God did helpe him marvellously, till he was nightie.

16 ¶ But when he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction: for he tras-gressed against the Loyde his God, & went into the Temple of the Loyde to burne incense upon the altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him, and with him foure score Whizzies of the Loyd, valliant men.

18 And they withstood Whizziah the king, &
said unto him, ¶ It perteineth not to thee, Whizziah, to burne incense unto the Loyde,
but to the Priestes the sonnes of Aaron,
that are consecrated for to offer incense:
for sooth of the Sanctuarie: for thou hast transgressed, & thou shalt haue none honour of the Loyd God.

19 Then Whizziah was wroth, and had incense in his hande to burne it: and while he was wroth with the Priestes, the les-prose rose up in his forehead before the Priestes in the house of the Loyd beside the incense altar.

20 And when Azariah the chiefe Priest with all the Priestes looked upon him, behold, he was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to depart thence:
and he was run compelled to go out, because the Loyd had smitten him.

21 ¶ And Whizziah the king was a leper vnto
the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper
in an house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Loyde: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

22 Concerning the rest of the actes of Whiz-siah, first and last, did Iahiah the Prophet
the sonne of Amos write.

23 So Whizziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the side of the buriall, which pertained to the kings: for they said, He is a leper.

And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And hee did uprightly in the sight of the Loyd according to all that his father Whiz-siah did, save that hee entred not into the Temple of the Loyde, and the people did not corrupt their wayes.

3 He built the hig<sup>r</sup> gate of the house of the Loyd, and he built verp much on the wall of the castell.

4 Whereupon hee built cities in the moun-taines of Iudah, & in the foresets hee built palaces and towres.

5 And he fought with the king of the children of Ammon, and prevailed against them. And the children of Ammon gave him the same yere an hundred talents of silver, and thre thousand measures of wheate, and ten thousand of barley: this did the children of Ammon give him<sup>a</sup> both in the second yere and the third.

hee directed his way before the Loyde his

<sup>6</sup> For Pekah the sonne of Kamaiah slew in Iudah five score thousand in one day, all valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.

<sup>8</sup> And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren, a two hundred thousand of women, sonnes and daughters, & caried away much spoile of them, and brought the spoile to Samaria.

<sup>9</sup> But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name was Ieremias) and he went out before the hoſte that came to Samaria, & saide vnto them, Beholde, because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, he hath delivred them into your hands, and ye haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

<sup>10</sup> And now see purpose to keepe vnder the children of Iudah and Ierusalem, as seruants and handmaidens vnto you: but are not you such, that finnes are with you before the Lord your God?

<sup>11</sup> Nowe therefore heare me, and deliuer the captiues againe, which ye haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is toward you.

<sup>12</sup> Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of Ephraim, Zariah the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Iehiellumoth, and Iehiiah the sonne of Shallum, and Kinala the sonne of Haddai, stood vp against them that came from the warre,

<sup>13</sup> And saide vnto them, Bring not in the captiues hither: for this shall be a sinne vpon vs against the Lord: ye intend to adde moie to our finnes and to our trespasse, though our trespasse be great, & the fierce wrath of God is against Israel.

<sup>15</sup> And the men were named by name, rose vp and tooke the prisoners, and with the spoile clothed all that were naked among them, and araped them, and shodde them, and gaue them meate and gaue them drinke, and anointed them, and caried all that were feeble of them vpon asses, and brought them to Iericho the cite of Palme trees to their brethren: so they returned to Samaria.

<sup>19</sup> For the Lord had humbled Iudah, because of Ahaz king of Israel: for he had brought vengeance vpon Iudah and had Ahaz grievously transgressed against the Lord.

<sup>23</sup> For he sacrificed vnto the gods of Damascus, which plagued him, & he said, Because the gods of the kings of Assur helpe them, I will sacrifice vnto them, and they will helpe me: yet they were his ruine, and of all Israel.

<sup>24</sup> And Ahaz gathered the vessels of the house of God, and brake the vessels of the house of God, and shut up the doores of the house of the Lord, & made him altars in euery corner of Ierusalem.

burnt offerings in the Sanctuarie unto
the God of Israel.

8 Wherefore the wrath of the Lord hath burne on Judah, & Jerusalem: & he hath made them a scattering, a desolation,
and an hilling, as he is with your eyes.
9 For lo, our fathers are fallen by the sword,
and our wives are in captivity for the same cause.

10 Now purpose to make a covenant with the Lord God of Israel, that he may turne away his fierce wrath from us.

11 Showe my sinnes, be not deceived: for the Lord hath chosen you to stande before him, to serue him, and to be his ministers, and to burne incense.

12 ¶ Then the Leuites arose, Shaphath the sonne of Amasai, and Joel the sonne of Mahath of the sonnes of the Kohathites:
of the sonnes of Ephraim, Bithi the sonne
of Abbi, and Azariah the sonne of Jehaleel: and of the Gerishonites, Joah the sonne of Ammihai, and Eden the sonne
of Joah:

13 And of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shimiri, and Jehiel: & of the sonnes of Ahasaph, Zerhariah, and Mattaniah:

14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Jehiel, and Shimeon: and of the sonnes of Jeduthun, Shemaiyah, and Uzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselves & came according to the commandment of the king, and by the wordes of the Lord, for to cleanse
the house of the Lord.

16 And the Priests went into the inner partes of the house of the Lord, to cleanse
it, & brought out all the uncleannes that they founde in the Temple of the Lord:
into the court of the house of the Lord:
and the Leuites took it, to carie it out unto the brooke Kidron.

17 They began the first day of the first mo-neth to sanctifie it, & the eight day of the moneth came they to the porch of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight daies, and in the sixteenth
day of the first moneth they made an ende.

18 ¶ Then they went in to Hezekiah the king, & said, We haue cleansed al the house of the Lord & the altar of burnt offering,
with all the vessels therof, and the table
of bread, with all the vessels therof.

19 And all the vessels which king Ahas had cast aside when he reigned, & transgressed, haue we prepared and sanctified:
and behold, they are before the altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king rose early,
and gathered the princes of the citie, and went up to the house of the Lord.

21 And they brought seven bullockes, and seven rams, and seven lambs, and seven goates, for a sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the sanctuarie, and for Judah. And he commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slew the bullockes, and the Priests receiued the blood, and sprinkled

it upon the altar: they slew also the rams and sprinkled the blood upon the altar,
and they slew the lambs, & they sprinkled the blood upon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goates for the sinne offering before the king and the Congregation, and they layed their hands upon them.

24 And the Priests slew them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile al Israel: for the king had commanded for al Israel the burnt offering and the sinne offering.

25 He appointed also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, with violens, and with harpes, according to the commandment of Dauid, and Gad
the kings Seer, and Asaph the Prophet: for the commandment was by the hand of the Lord, and by the hand of his Prophets.

26 And the Leuites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the Priests with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer
the burnt offering upon the altar: and when the burnt offering began, the song of the Lord began with the trumpets, and the instruments of Dauid king of Israel.

28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued untill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an ende of offering, the king and al that were present with him, bowed them selues, and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the king & the princes commanded the Leuites to praise
the Lord with the wordes of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer. so they praised with ioye, and they bowed themselves,
and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah spake, and said, Now ye haue consecrated your selues to the Lord:
come nere and bring the sacrifices and offerings of praise into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, and offerings of praises, & euery man that was willing in heart, offered burnt offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the Congregation brought, was seuentie bullockes, an hundred rammes,
and two hundred lambs: all these were
for a burnt offering to the Lord:

33 And for sanctification fire hundred bullockes, and thye thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priests were too few, & were not able to slay all the burnt offerings:
therefore their brethren the Leuites did
helpe them, till they had ended the worke, & untill other Priests were sanctified: for the Leuites were more upright in heart to sanctifie themselves, then the Priests.

35 And also the burnt offerings were many with the fat of the peace offerings,
and the drinke offerings for the burnt singing so the seruice of the house of the Lord was set in order.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroy idolatry. 2 Hezekiah appointeth Priests & Levites, 4. And provideth for their living. 13 He ordaineth overseers to distribute to every one his portion.

1 And when all these things were finished, all Israel that were founde in the cities of Judah, went out and brake the images, and cut downe the groves, and brake downe the high places, and the altars throughout all Judah and Benjamin, in Ephraim also and Manasse, until they had made an ende: afterwarde all the children of Israel returned euery man to his possession, into their owne cities.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and Levites by their turnes, euery man according to his office, both Priests and Levites, for the burnt offering and peace offerings, to minister and to give thanks, & to praise in the gates of the tentes of the Lord.

3 And the kings portion was of his owne substance for the burnt offerings, euen for the burnt offerings of the morning and of the evening, and the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths, and for the new moones, and for the soleinne feasts, as it is written in the Lawe of the Lord.

4 He commaunded also the people that dwelt in Ierusalem, to giue a part to the Priests, & Levites, that they might be encouraged in the Lawe of the Lord.

5 And when the commaundement was giuen, the children of Israel brought a bundance of first fruites, of come, wine, and oyle, & home, and of all the increase of the felde, and the tithe of all things brought their abundantly.

6 And the children of Israel and Judah that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought the tithe of bullockes and sheepe, and the holy riches which were consecrate vnto the Lord their God, and layde them on many heapes.

7 In the thirde moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 And when Hezekiah and the princes came, and sawe the heapes, they blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Levites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and said, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, we haue eaten and haue bene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

11 And Hezekiah commaunded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them.

12 And caried in the first fruites, and the tithe, and the dedicate things faithfully: and ouer them was Conaniah the Leuite, the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

13 And Jehiel, and Azariah, and Bahath, and Eliel, and Jerimoth, & Josabab, and Eliel, and Imachiah, and Bahath, and Benaiah were overseers by the appointment of Conaniah, and Shimei his brother, and by the commaundement of Hezekiah the king, and of Azariah the chiefe of the house of God.

14 And Boze the sonne of Imnah the Leuite porter toward the East, was ouer the things that were willingly offered vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, and Miniamin, and Iethna, and Shemaiah, & Mariah, and Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses, both to the great and small.

16 Their daily portion: beside their generation being males from three pere olde and aboue, euen to all that entered into the house of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courses.

17 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Levites from twentie pere olde and aboue, according to their charge in their courses.

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wines, and their sonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priests, which were in the feldes and suburbs of their cities, in euery citie the men that were appointed by names, shoulde giue portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Levites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Judah, and did well, and vprightly, and truly before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the workes that he began for the seruite of the house of God, both in the Lawe and in the commaundements, to keepe his God, he did it with all his heart, and prospered.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Saneherib smaleth Iudah. 3 Hezekiah prepareth for the warre. 7 He exhorteth the people to put their trust in the Lord. 9 Saneherib blasphemeth God. 20 Hezekiah prayeth. 21 The Angel destroyeth the Assyrians, and the King is slaine. 25 Hezekiah is not thankfull towards the Lord. 33 His death.

1 After these things faithfully described, Saneherib king of Asshur came and entered into Judah, and besieged the strong cities, and thought to winne them for himselfe.

2 When Hezekiah sawe that Saneherib was come, and that his purpose was to fight against Ierusalem,

3 Then he tooke counsell with his princes and his nobles, to stoppe the water of the fountaines without the citie: & they did helpe him.

4 So many of the people assembled themselves, and stoppt all the fountaines, and the k Who had also a portion and allowance in this distribution.

the river that ranne through the middes of the countrey, saying, Why should the kings of Asshur come, and finde much water?
 And he tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made vp the towers, and another wall without, and repaired a bulwark in the citie of Dauid, and made many barters and shields.
 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and spake comfortablie vnto them, saying,
 Be strong and courageous: feare not, neither be affraid for the king of Asshur, neither for all the multitude that is with him: for there be more with vs, then is with him.
 Which him is an arme of flesh, but with vs is the Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiah king of Iudah.
 After this, did Saneherib king of Asshur sende his seruantes to Ierusalem (while he was against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah and vnto all Iuda: that were at Ierusalem, saying,
 Thus saith Saneherib the king of Asshur, Wherein doe ye trust, that ye will remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege?
 Woertly not Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hande of the king of Asshur?
 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars, and commanded Iudah and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?
 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreys? Were the gods of the nations of other landes able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?
 Who is he of all the gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hande: that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?
 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beloeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of mine hand and out of the hand of my fathers: howe much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?
 And his seruantes spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his seruants Hezekiah.
 He wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countreys coulde not deliuer their people out of mine hande, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.
 Then they cried with a loude voyce

in the Iewes speech vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall, to feare them: to astonish them, that they might take the citie.
 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the wordes of mans handes.
 But Hezekiah the king, and the prophet Ishaiah the sonne of Amos, prayed against this and cried to heauen.
 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur: so he returned with shame to his owne lande. And when he was come into the house of his god, there came forth of his owne bowels, and slew him there with the sword.
 So the Lord saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Saneherib king of Asshur, and from the hande of all other, and maintained them on euery side.
 And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.
 In those daies Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, & prayed vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him a signe.
 And Hezekiah did not render account to the rewardes bestowed vpon him: for his heart was lifted up, and wayah came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.
 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himselfe (after that his heart was lifted up) he & the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wayah of the Lord came not vpon them in the daies of Hezekiah.
 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and he gate him treasures of silver, and of golde, and of precious stones, and of sweete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels: wheate and wine and oyle, and stables for all beastes, and stables for the stables.
 And he made him cities, and had possession of the pe and ore in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceedingly much.
 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springes of Sion, and led them straight underneath toward the citie of Dauid Westward, so Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.
 But because of the ambassadors of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the lande, God left him to trie ther they had faith or no, and to knowe all that was in his heart.
 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnes, behold, they are writen in the vision of Ishaiah the prophet.

23 So Ieremias slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the highest sepulchre of the sonnes of Dauid: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did him honour at his death: and Manasse his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Manasse and later. 9 He causeth Iudah to erre. 11 Hee led away prisoner into Babylon. 12 Hee prayeth to the Lord, and is deliuered. 14 Hee abolisheth idolatry. 16 And setteth vp true religion. 20 Hee dieth, and Amon his sonne succeedeth. 24 VVhen he was seruant's slave.

1 Manasse was twelue yere old, when he began to reigne, and he reigned fine and fiftie yere in Ierusalem:

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the abominations of the heathen, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For he went backe and built the high places, which Ieremias his father had broken downe: and hee set up altars for Baalim, and made groves, and worshipped all the hoste of the heauen, and serued them.

4 Also hee built altars in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had sayde, In Ierusalem shall my Name be for euer.

5 And hee built altars for all the hoste of the heauen in the two courtes of the house of the Lord.

6 And hee caused his sonnes to passe through the fire in the valley of Ben-hinnom: hee gaue himselfe to witchcraft and to charming, and to sorcerie, and hee used them that had familiar spirits, & soothsayers: hee did very much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him.

7 Hee put also the carved image, which hee had made, in the house of God: whereof God had sayde to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne, In this house & in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, wil I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I make the foot of Israel to remoue any more out of the lande which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they take heede, and doe all that I haue commanded them, according to the lawe and statutes and iudgements by the hand of Moyses.

9 So Manasse made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, and to doe worse then the heathen, whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 And the Lord spake to Manasse and to his people, but they would not resarde.

11 Wherefore the Lord brought vpon them the captaines of the hoste of the King of Asshur, which tooke Manasse & put him in fetters, and bound him in chains, and carried him to Babel.

12 And when hee was in tribulation, hee prayed to the Lord his God, & humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers,

13 And prayed vnto him: & God was mercifull vnto him, and heard his prayer, and gaue him vnderstanding: and hee returned to Ierusalem into standing: for hee had hated God the Lord was God.

14 Nowe after this hee built a wall within the citie of Dauid, on the Westside of misery hee seeketh. Echon in the valley, euen at the entry of vnto him. the filly gate, and compassed about the filly gate, and compassed about the filly gate, and raised it very high, and put capstones of waerre in all the strong citie of Ierusalem.

15 And hee tooke away the strange gods, and the image out of the house of the Lord, and all the altars that hee had built in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Ierusalem, and cast them out of the citie.

16 Also hee prepared the altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offerings, and of thanks, and commanded Iudah to serue the Lord God of Israel.

17 Nevertheless the people did sacrifice still in the high places, but vnto the Lord their God.

18 Concerning the rest of the acts of Manasse, and his prayer vnto his God, and the wordes of the seers, that spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel.

19 And his prayer and holie God was instructed of him, and all his sinne, and his trespass, and the places wherem hee built high places, and set groves and images (before hee was humbled) behold, they are written in the booke of the seers.

20 So Manasse slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his owne house: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

21 Amon was two and twentie yere olde, when hee began to reigne, and reigned two yere in Ierusalem.

22 But hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, as did Manasse his father: for Amon sacrificed to all his images, which Manasse his father had made, & serued them.

23 And hee humbled not him selfe before the Lord, as Manasse his father had humbled himselfe: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his seruantes conspired against him, and slew him in his owne house.

25 But the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against King Amon: and the people of the land made Iosiah his sonne king in his stead.

1 Iosiah was eight yere olde when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned in Ierusalem one and thirtie yere.

all that were found in Israel, to serve the Lord their God: so all his daies they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Iosiah keepeth the Passouer. 2 He fighteth forth Gods service. 30 He fighteth against the king of Egypt, and dyeth. 34 The people beere aile him.

MEANER * Iosiah kept a Passouer unto the Lord in Jerusalem, & they slew the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Wiestes to their charges, and encouraged them to the service of the house of the Lord.

3 And he said unto the Levites, he taught all Israel and were sanctified unto the Lord, But the holy Meke in the house which Salomon the sonne of David king of Israel did burne: it shalbe no more a burden upon your shoulders: serve now the Lord your God and his people Israel.

4 And prepare your selves by the houses
of your fathers according to your courses,
as David the king of Israel hath written, and according to the writing of Salomon his sonne.

5 And stande in the Sanctuarie according to the division of the families of your brethren: the children of the people, and after the division of the familie of the Levites:

6 So kil the Passouer, and sanctifie your selves, and prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the woide of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the people shepe,
lambs and kids, all for the Passouer,
even to all that were present, to the number of thirtie thousande, and thre thousande bullockes: these were of the kings substance.

8 And his princes offered willingly unto the people, to the Wiestes and to the Levites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Jehier, rulers of the house of God, gaue unto the Wiestes for the Passouer, even two thousande and six hundred shepe,
and thre hundred bullockes.

9 * Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Jechanaiel his brethren, and Jashabiah and Zeiel, and Jozabab, chiefe of the Levites gaue unto the Levites for the Passouer, five thousande sheepe, and five hundred bullockes.

10 Thus the service was prepared, and the Wiestes stood in their places, also the Levites in their orders, according to the kings commandment:

11 And they slew the Passouer, and the Wiestes sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Levites flayed them.

12 And they tooke away from the burnt offering to give it according to the commandment of the Lord, for the families of the children of the people, to offer unto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullockes.

13 And they roasted the Passouer with fire, according to the custome, but the sanctified things they sod in pottes, pannes,
and caldrons, & distributed them quicky
to all the people.

14 Afterward also they prepared for themselves & for the Wiestes: for the Wiestes the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offering of burnt offerings, & the fat until night:
therefore the Levites prepared for themselves,
and for the Wiestes the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers & the sonnes of Asaph stood in their standing, according to the commandment of David, & Asaph, & Heman, and Jeduthun the kings Meer: and the poets at every gate, who might not depart from their service: therefore their brethren the Levites prepared for them.

16 So all the service of the Lord was prepared the same day, to keepe the Passouer, and to offer burnt offerings upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Iosiah.

17 And the children of Israel were present, kept the Passouer the same time, & the feast of unleavened bread seven daies.

18 And there was no Passouer kept like that, in Israel, from the daies of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the kings of Israel keepe such a Passouer as Iosiah
the six & twentieth yeere of his
all Judah, & Israel that were present,
and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19 This Passouer was kept in the eight teenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah.

20 After all this, when Iosiah had prepared by Temple, Sicho king of Egypt came by to fight against Earchemish by Messath, and Iosiah went out against him.

21 But he sent messengers to him, saying,
What have I to do with thee, thou king of Judah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house of mine ene-mie, and God commanded mee to make thee the Lord,
haste: leave off to come against me, & I
which is with me, lest he destroy thee.

22 But Iosiah would not turne his face from him, but changed his apparel to fight with him, and hearkened not unto the wordes of Sicho, which were of the mouth of God, but came to fight in the valley of Megiddon.

23 And knowen.

e So that every one, & of all sorts gave of that they had, a liberall portion to
the service of God.

the labe, which was called the Passouer: for only the Priestes
might sprinkle,

the Levites might
kill the sacrifice.

g They referred for the people
that which was not expedient to be offered, that every man might offer peace of-frings, and so have his portion.

23 And the shooters shot at king Josiah: then the king said to his servants, Carie me away, for I am very sicke.
24 So his servants tooke him out of that chariot, and put him in the second chariot which he had, & when they had brought him to Jerusalem, he died, & was buried in the sepulchres of his fathers: and all Judah & Jerusalem mourned for Josiah.
25 And Jeremiah lamented Josiah, & all singing men and singing women mourned for Josiah in their lamentations to this day, and made the same for an ordinance unto Israel: and behold, they be written in the lamentations.

2.King.23.30.

1 Then the people of the lande tooke Jehoahaz the sonne of Josiah, and made him king in his fathers steele in Jerusalem.
2 Jehoahaz was thrie & twentie yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned thrie moneths in Jerusalem.
3 And the king of Egypt tooke him away at Jerusalem, and condemned the lande in an hundred talents of silver, and a talent of golde.
4 And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother king over Judah and Jerusalem, and turned his name to Jehoiachim: and Jeho took Jehoahaz his brother, and caried him to Egypt.
5 Jehoiachim was fine and twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, & he reigned eleuen yere in Jerusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord his God.
6 Against him came up Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, and bounde him with chaines to carie him to Babel.
7 Nebuchadnezzar also caried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his temple at Babel.
8 Concerning the rest of the actes of Jehoiachim, & his abominations which he did, and that which was founde upon him, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel and Judah: and Jehoiachim his sonne reigned in his steele.
9 Jehoiachim was eight yere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned thrie moneths and tenne dayes in Jerusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord.
10 And when the yere was out, king Nebuchadnezzar sent and brought him to Babel with precious vessels of silver.

of the Lord, & he made Ebedkiah his brother king over Judah and Jerusalem.
11 Ebedkiah was one and twentie yere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned eleven yere in Jerusalem.
12 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himselfe before Jeremiah the prophet at the commaundment of the Lord.
13 But he rebelled moreover against the Lord God, which had caused him to swear by God: & he hardened his necke, & made his heart obdurate that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.
14 All the chiefe of the priestes also and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the house of the Lord, and polluted the house of the Lord which he had sanctified in Jerusalem.
15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them, by his messengers, saying thereto, early & sending: for he had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.
16 But they mocked the messengers of God, & despised his wordes, and misliked his prophets, until the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and till there inflicte, but he was not remedie.
17 For he brought upon them the king of the Caldeans, who slew their young men in the house of the Lord, and spared neyther young King was led away, nor virgin, ancient, nor aged, God ambicion and wayne glorie.
18 And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes: all these caried he to Babel.
19 And they burnt the house of God, & brake downe the wall of Jerusalem, & burnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and all the precious vessels thereof, to destroy all.
20 And they that were left by the swerde, they caried he away to Babel, and they were servants to him: & to his sonnes, until the clare his iudgement, kingdom of the Persians had rule, when Cyrus king of Persia, this wicked man, was sent to fulfill the word of the Lord by the king of Persia.
21 The fill of her Sabbath: for all the dayes that she lay desolate, she kept Sabbath, to fulfill her iudgement.
22 But in the first yere of Cyrus king of Persia, when the word of the Lord, of God, and spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah, was yere captiue, finished) the Lord stured by the spirit of which he called Cyrus king of Persia, & he made a proclamation through all his kingdom, and rest of the land, also by writing, saying,
23 Thus sayth Cyrus king of Persia, all the kingdome of the earth hath the Lord God of heauen given me, & he hath commaunded me to build him an house in Jerusalem, that is in Judah. Who is amonge reigned over all people of all his people, with a home the Caldeans, Lord his God: let him goe by.
forewarned by his Prophet above an hundred yeres, before Cyrus was borne, Isa. 44. 28, that Jerusalem and the Temple should be buylt againe by Cyrus his anointed: so called, because God sed his seruice for a time to deliuer his Church.

The prayer of Manasseh King of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Bible, but a composition of the Greeks.

a Thou hast promised that repentance shalbe the way for them to returne to thee.
b He speaketh
this in comparison of himself &
those holy fathers which haue
their commendation in the Scriptures, so
in respect of him
selfe he calleth
their finnes nothing, but attributech vnto the righteousnes.

O Lord almighty, God of our fathers, Abrahah, Isaac and Jacob, and of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bounde the sea by the word of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the deepe and sealed it by thy terrible & glorious name, whom all doe feare and tremble before thy power: for the maiestie of thy glory cannot be boine, & thine angry theauring towardes sinners is insupportable, but thy mercifull pincule is unmeasurable and unsearchable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassions, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnesse hast promised repentance and forgiveness to them that sinne against thee, and for thine infinite mercies hast appoynted repentance vnto sinners that they may be saved. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appoynted repentance to the iust, as to Abrahah, and Isaac and Jacob, which haue not sinned against thee, but thou hast appoynted repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I have sinned about the number of the lands of the sea, thy transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to beholde and see the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine iniquities. I am bowed downe with many pson bandes, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandementes. I haue set vp abominations, and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bowe the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgive me: O Lord, forgive me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with me for euer by reseruing euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art the God, even the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shewe all thy goodnesse: for thou wilt saue me that am unworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I will praise thee for euer all the dayes of my life. For all the power of the heauens praise thee, and thine is the glorie for euer and euer, Amen.

Ezra.

THE ARGUMENT.

As the Lord is ever mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they shoulde see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might overcome the world and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that hee had visited the Iewes and kept them now in bondage seuentie yeeres in a strange country among infidels and idolaters, he remembered his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and moued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to piete them, and also by him punished such which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding lest they shoulde growe into a contempt of Gods great benefite, he keepeth them still in exercise, and raiseth domestical enemies, which endeuour as much as they can to hinder their most worthe enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by little and little till their worke was finished. The author of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest, and Scribe of the Lawe, as chap. 7. 6. He returned to Ierusalem the sixt yeere of Darius, who succeded Cyrus, that is, about fiftie yeeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hee brought with him a great companie, and much treasures, with letters to the kings officers for all such things as should be necessary for the Temple and at his comming he redressed that which was amisse, and set the thinges in good order.

CHAP. I.

1 Cyrus sendeth against the people that was in captiuie, & restoreth them their holy vessels.

1 Dwe in the first pere of Cyrus king of Persia (that the
woyde of the Lord,
spoken by the mouth
of Ieremiah, might be accomplished) &
the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus
king of Persia, and he made a proclamation throught all his kingdome, and also
by writing, saying,
2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heauen hath giuen me
all the kingdomes of the earth, and he hath commanded me to builde him an house

in Ierusalem, which is in Iudah.

3 Who is he among you of all his people with whome his God is: let him goe vp to Ierusalem which is in Iudah, & build the house of the Lord God of Israel: he is the God, which is in Ierusalem.

4 And euery one that remaneth in any place (where he sojourne) let the men of his place reueue him with silver and purne, the kings
with golde, and with substance, and with cattel, and with a willing offering, for the house of God that is in Ierusalem
be furnished
5 Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah & Beniamin, and the Priestes and Leuites rose vp, with all them whose spirit God had raised to goe vp, to builde the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

e If any through pouertie were not able to re-
purne, the kings
commission was that he shoulde
be furnished w
necessaries.
Which they thelues shoulde
send toward the reparation of
the Temple.

- A And when the seventh moneth
was come, and the children of Israel were in their cities, the people assembled themselves as one man unto Jerusalem.
Then stood up Iehua the sonne of Josadab, and his brethren the Priests, and Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses the man of God.
And they set the altar upon his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countries) therefore they offered burnt offerings thereon unto the Lord, even burnt offerings in the morning, and at even.
They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, & the burnt offering dayly, by number according to the cus-tome day by day.
And afterward the continuall burnt offering, both in the newe moneths and in all the feast dayes that were consecrate unto the Lord, and in all the oblation
willingly offered unto the Lord.
From the first day of the seventh mo-
neth began they to offer burnt offerings unto the Lord: but the foundation of the Temple of the Lord was not layde.
They gave money also unto the masons, and to the workemen, and mase
and brymke, and oyle unto them of Libanon and of Cyprus, to buy them cedar wood from Libanon to the sea unto Tyro, according to the graunt that they had of Cyprus king of Persia.
And in the second yere of their com-ming unto the house of God in Jerusalem in the second moneth began Zerubabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehua
the sonne of Josadab, and the remnant of their brethren the Priests and the Levites, and all they that were come out of the captivitee unto Jerusalem, and appointed the Levites from twentie yere olde and above, to set forward the worke
of the house of the Lord.
And Iehua stood with his sonnes, &
his brethren, & Zadaniel with his sonnes, & the sonnes of Judah together to set forward the workemen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Ienadab with their
sonnes, and their brethren the Levites.
And when the builders layde the foundation of the Temple of the Lord, they appointed the Priests in their apparell with trimmets, and the Levites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbals, to praise
the Lord, after the ordinance of David king of Israel.
Thus they sang when they gave praise,
& when they gave thanks unto the Lord,
For he is good, for his mercie endureth forever toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shoute, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was layde.

vites & the chiefe of the fathers, ancient

b For thei perceived what their pretence was, to wit, to erect idolatrie in stead of true religion, 44. Ebr. Made their hands weak.

c They bribed y<sup>e</sup> gouerners vnder y<sup>e</sup> king, to hinder their worke, thus they that haue, cannot abide, y<sup>e</sup> God should be purely serued.

d He was also called Artaxerxes, which is a Persian name. Some thinke it was Cambyfes

e Cyrus sonne, or Darius, as ver. 5.

f Called Artaxerxes, which signifies in y<sup>e</sup> Persian tongue, an excellent warrior.

g These were certaine people, which y<sup>e</sup> Assyrians placed in Samaria in stead of the ten tribes.

h Some thinke it was Sanherib, but rather Salmanasar.

i Which were a certaine people that enuied the Iewes.

1 But the aduersaries of Iudah and Benjamin heard, that the children of the captiuitie builded the Temple vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, & to the chiefe fathers, & said vnto them, We will build with you: for we seeke y<sup>e</sup> Lord your God as ye doe, & we haue sacrificed vnto him, since the time of Esar Haddon king of Asshur, which brought vs vp hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Ieshua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, said vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to build y<sup>e</sup> house vnto our God: for we our selues together will build it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as king Cyrus the king of Persia hath commaunded vs.

4 Wherefore the people of the land discouraged the people of Iudah, and troubled them in buylding.

5 And they hired counsellors against them, to hinder their deuite, all the daies of Cyrus king of Persia, euill vntill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of Achabueroth (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Iudah and Ierusalem.

7 And in the daies of Artahshashtre, which was Dabiel, & the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, vnto Artahshashtre king of Persia, & the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

8 Rehun the chancellour, and Shimsai the scribe wrote a letter against Ierusalem vnto Artahshashtre the king, in this sort.

9 Then wrote Rehun the chancellour, and Shimsai the scribe, and their companions Dinaie, and Apharathcaie, Tarsplate, Apharsaie, Archenaie, Bablaie, Shushanchaie, Dehaue, Chuaie,

10 And the rest of the people whome the great and noble Minappar brought ouer, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other that are beyond the Riuer and Chemeth.

11 This is the copy of the letter that they sent vnto king Artahshashtre, THE SERVANTS the men beyond the Riuer and Chemeth, salute thee.

12 Be it knowen vnto the king that the Iewes, which came vp from thee to vs, are come vnto Ierusalem (a citie rebellious and wicked) and buyde, and lay the foundations of the walles, and haue repaired the foundations.

13 Be it knowen now vnto the king, that if this citie be build, and the foundations of the walles laid, they wil not giue tolle, tribute, nor custome: so shalt thou hinder the kings tribute.

14 Now therefore because we haue bene brought vp in the kings palace, it was not to kings merite for vs to see the kings dishonour: they passed by for this cause haue we sent and certified the king,

15 That one man search in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt finde in the booke of the Chronicles, and percene that this citie is rebellious and nopsome vnto kings & prouinces, & that they haue moued sedition of old tyme, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the king therefore, that if this citie be buylded, and the foundation of the walles laid, by this meane y<sup>e</sup> position beyond the Riuer shall not be thine.

17 The king sent an answer vnto Rehun the Chancellour, and Shimsai the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyond the Riuer, Shelan and 18 Echemeth.

18 The letter which ye sent vnto vs, hath bene openly read before me,

19 And I haue commaunded & they haue searched, and founde, that this citie of veru. olde tyme hath made insurrection against kings, and hath rebelled, & rebellion hath bene committed therein.

20 There haue bene nightie kings also ouer Ierusalem, which haue ruled ouer all beyond the Riuer, and tolle, tribute, and custome was giuen vnto them.

21 Make ye now a decree, that those men cease, & that the citie be not build, till I haue giuen another commaundement.

22 Take herbe now that ye sayle not to do this: why should domage growe to hurt the king?

23 When the copie of king Artahshastes letter was read before Rehun & Shimsai the scribe, & their companions, they went vp in all the haste to Ierusalem vnto the Iewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

24 Then ceased the worke of the house of God, which was in Ierusalem, and did stand vnto the second yere of Darius king of Persia.

1 Haggai and Zechariah do prophesie. 3 The worke of the Temple goeth forward contrary to the minds of Tatnai. 6 His letters to Darius.

1 Then Haggai a Prophet and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo a Prophet prophesied vnto y<sup>e</sup> Iewes that were in Iudah, & Ierusalem, in the name of the God of Israel, euill vnto them.

2 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshua the sonne of Josadak arose, a Which encouraged them to go forward, and accused them that they were more careful to build their own houses, then zealous to build the Temple of God.

b That is, the enemies asked this, as verse 10.

arose, & began to build the house of God at Jerusalem, and with them were the prophets of God, which helped them.

3 At the same time came to them Tatnai, which was captain beyond the river, and Shethar-bozrai and their companions, and said thus unto them, Who hath given you commandment to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these walls?

4 Then said we unto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that build this building?

5 But the eye of their God was upon the Elders of the Jews, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters thenceunto.

6 The copie of the letter, that Tatnai captain beyond the river, and Shethar-bozrai & his companions, Apharhache, (which were beyond the river) sent unto king Darius.

7 They sent a letter unto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIUS the king, all peace.

8 Be it known unto the king, that we went into the Province of Judea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with great stones, and beames are layde in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and sayde unto them thus, Who hath given you commandment to build this house, and to lay the foundation of these walles?

10 We asked their names also, that we might certifie thee, & that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered us thus, and sayde, We are the seruantes of the God of heaven and earth, and build the house that was build of olde and many yeeres agoe, which a great king of Israel builded, and founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had provoked the God of heaven unto wrath, hee gave them over into the hande of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babel the Caldean, & he destroyed this house, and caried the people away captiue unto Babel.

13 But in the first yere of Cyrus king of Babel, king Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.

14 And the vessels of golde and silver of the house of God, which Nebuchadrezzar tooke out of the Temple that was in Jerusalem, and brought them into the Temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the king take out of the Temple of Babel, and they gave them unto one Sheshbazzar by his name, whome hee had made captaine.

15 And he sayde unto him, Take these vessels and go thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be build in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar, and laide the foundation of the house of God, which is in Jerusalem, and since that time euen until now, hath it bene in building, yet is it not finished.

17 Nowe therefore if it please the king, let there be searche made in the house of the kings treasures, which is there in Babel, whether a decree hath bene made by king Cyrus, to build this house of God in Jerusalem, and let the king send his munde concerning this.

C H A P. VI.

At the commaundement of Darius king of Persia, after the Temple was builded and dedicate, the children of Israel keepe the feast of unleavened bread.

1 When king Darius gave commandment, and they made searche in the library of the treasures, which were there layed up in Babel.

2 And there was found in a coffer (in the palace that was in the Province of the Medes) a volume, & therein was it thus writen, as a memoriall.

3 IN THE FIRST yere of king Cyrus, king Cyrus made a decree for the house of God in Jerusalem, let the house be build, euen the place where they offered sacrifices, and let the walles thereof be layed together: let the height thereof be thre score cubites, and the breadth thereof thre score cubites.

4 Thre orders of great stones, and one order of timber, and let the expenses be given of the kings house.

5 And also let them render the vessels of the house of God (of golde and silver, which Nebuchadrezzar tooke out of the Temple which was in Jerusalem, & brought unto Babel) and let him goe unto the Temple that is in Jerusalem to his place, and put them in the house of God.

6 Therefore Tatnai captain beyond the river, and Shethar Bozrai, (and their companions Apharhache, which are beyond the river) be ye farre from thence.

7 Suffer ye the worke of this house of God, that the captaine of the Jews and the Elders of the Jews may build this house of God in his place.

8 For I haue given a commaundement what ye shall doe to the Elders of these Jews, for the building of this house of God, that of the reuenues of the king, which is of the tribute beyond the river, there be continually expenses given unto these men that they cease not.

9 And that which they shall haue neede of, let it be giue unto them day by day, whether it be pong bullockes, or rammes, or lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of heaven, wheate, salt, wine, and oyle, according to the appointment of the Priests that are in Jerusalem, that there bee no fault.

10 That they may haue to offer sweete odours unto the God of heaven, and praye for the kings life, and for his sonnes.

11 And I haue made a decree, that whosoever shall alter this sentence, the wood shall be pulled downe from his house, and shall be set by, and he shall be hanged thereon.

CHAPTER VII.

1 By the commandement of the King, Ezra and his companions came to Jeruſalem. 27 Hei giueth thanks to God.

NOW after theſe things, in the reigne of Artahſhaſte king of Perſia, was Ezra the ſonne of Seraiab, the ſonne of Iſrahiah, the ſonne of Iſrahiah,

2 The ſonne of Shallum, the ſonne of Zadok, the ſonne of Ahitub,

3 The ſonne of Amariah, the ſonne of Azariah, the ſonne of Eraioth,

4 The ſonne of Seraiah, the ſonne of Buzi, the ſonne of Bukki,

5 The ſonne of Abiſhina, the ſonne of Bithai, nehas, the ſonne of Eleazar, the ſonne of Aaron, the chiefe Priest.

This Ezra came up from Babel, & was a ſcribe prompt in the Law of Moſes, which the Lord God of Iſrael had giuen, and the king gaue him all his request according to the hand of the Lord his God, which was vpon him.

7 And there went by certaine of the children of Iſrael, and of the Priests, and the Levites, and the ſingers, and the porters, and the Merthunims vnto Jeruſalem, in the ſeuenieth yeere of king Artahſhaſte.

8 And he came to Jeruſalem in the fifth moneth, which was in the ſeuenieth yeere of the king.

9 For vpon the firſt day of the firſt moneth began he to go up from Babel, and on the firſt day of the ſift moneth came he to Jeruſalem, according to the good hande of his God that was vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to ſerue the Lawe of the Lord, and to doe it, and to teache the precepts and iudgements in Iſrael.

11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that king Artahſhaſte gaue vnto Ezra the Priest & ſcribe, euen a writer of the wordes of the commandements of the Lord, and of his ſtatutes ouer Iſrael.

12 ARTAHSHASHTHE king of kings to Ezra the Priest and perſite ſcribe of the Lawe of the God of heauen, and to Chemeth.

13 I haue giuen commandement, that euerp one, that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Iſrael, and of the Priests, and Levites: to goe to Jeruſalem with thee, ſhall go.

14 Therefore art thou ſent of the king and his ſeuen counſellers, to enquire in Iuda and Jeruſalem, according to the Law of the God, which is in thine hand,

15 And to carie the ſilver & the golde, which the king and his counſellers willingly offer vnto the God of Iſrael (whoſe habitation is in Jeruſalem)

16 And all the ſilver and golde that thou canſt finde in all the Province of Babel, with the free offering of the people, and that which the Priests offer willingly to the houſe of their God which is in Jeruſalem,

17 That thou maieſt brye ſpeedily with this ſilver, bullockes, rammes, lambs, with their meat offerings and their drinke offerings: and thou ſhalt offer them vpon the altar of the houſe of your God, which is in Jeruſalem.

18 And whatſoener it pleaſeth thee and thy brethren to doe with the reſt of the ſilver, and golde, doe it according to the will of your God.

19 And the veſſels that are giuen thee for the ſeruire of the houſe of the God, thoſe deliuer thou before God in Jeruſalem.

20 And the reſidue that ſhalbe needful for the houſe of the God, which ſhalbe neede for thee to beſtowe, thou ſhalt beſtowe it out of the kings treaſure houſe,

21 And I king Artahſhaſte haue giuen

5 Thus Ezra gave God thanks for that he gave him to good successe in his affairs by reason of the king.

commandment to all the treasurers which are beyond the River, that what soever Ezra the Priest and scribe of the Law of the God of heauen shall require of you, that it be done incontinently.

22 Unto an hundred talents of silver, unto an hundred measures of wheat, and unto an hundred baths of wine, and unto an hundred measures of oil, and salt without wighting.

23 Whatsoever is by the commandment of the God of heauen, let it be done speedily for the house of the God of heauen: for why should he be wroth against the Kingdom of the king, and his children?

24 And we certify you, that upon any of the Priests, Levites, singers, porters, Rechabims, or Souldiers in this house of God, there shall no government lay upon them toll, tribute nor custome.

25 And thou Ezra after the wisdom of thy God, that is in thine hand, set iudges and arbiters, which may iudge all the people that is beyond the River, even all that know the Lawe of thy God, & teache ye them that know it not.

26 And whosoever will not do the Lawe of thy God, and the kings Law, let him have iudgement without delay, whether it be unto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.

27 Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers, which so hath put in the kings heart, to beautifie the house of the Lord that is in Ierusalem.

28 And hath inclined mercie toward me, before the King and his counsellors, and before all the kings mightie Princes: and I was comforted by the hand of the Lord my God, which was upon me, and I gathered the chiefs of Israel to goe by with me.

1 The number of them that returned to Ierusalem with Ezra. 21 He casteth them to fast. 24 He admonisheth the Priests of their duty. 31 What they did when they came to Ierusalem.

1 These are now the chiefe fathers of them, & the genealogie of them that came by with me from Babel, in the reigne of king Artaxerxes.

2 Of the sonnes of Phinehas, Gershom: of the sonnes of Ithamar, Daniel: of the sonnes of Dauid, Haruth:

3 Of the sonnes of Shechaniah, of the sonnes of Pharoah, Zechariah, and with him the count of the males, an hundred and fiftie.

4 Of the sonnes of Pahath Moab, Eliehoenai, the sonne of Zechariah, and with him two hundred males.

5 Of the sonnes of Shechaniah, the sonne of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males.

6 And of the sonnes of Adin, Ebed the sonne of Jonathan, and with him fiftie males.

7 And of the sonnes of Elam, Ishaiah the sonne of Athaliah, and with him threentie males.

8 And of the sonnes of Shephathiah, Zebadiah the sonne of Shichai, and with him fourscore males.

9 Of the sonnes of Joab, Zebadiah the sonne of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighty males.

10 And of the sonnes of Shelomith the sonne of Josaphiah, and with him an hundred and threescore males.

14 And of the sonnes of Bignai, Uthai, & Zabbud, and with them seuerie males.

And I gathered them to the River that goeth toward Ahaia, and there abode we three daies: then I betwixt the people, and the Priests, and found there none of the sonnes of Levi.

15 Therefore sent I to Eliezer, to Atriah, to Shimeiah, and to Elnathan, and to Jazari, and to Elnathan, and to Nathan, & to Zecharias, & to Shephathiah the chiefe, and to Josarib, and to Elnathan, men of understanding.

16 And I gave them commandment, to Iddo the chiefe at the place of Casaphia, and I tolde them the words that they should speake to Iddo, & to his brethren the Rechabims at the place of Casaphia, that they should cause the ministers of the house of our God to come unto us.

17 So by the good hand of our God which was upon us, they brought us a man of understanding of the sonnes of Shaphai the sonne of Levi the sonne of Israel, and Sherebiah with his sonnes and his brethren, even eighty.

19 And of the Rechabims whom David had set, and the Princes for the service of the Levites, two hundred and threentie of the Rechabims, which all were named by name.

the house of our God, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel that were present had offered.

26 And I weighed vnto their hande five hundred and fiftie talents of silver, and in silver vessel, an hundred talents, and in golde, an hundred talents:

27 And twenty basins of golde, of a thousand diameters, & two vessels of shining brasse very good, and precious as golde.

28 ¶ And I sayd vnto them, We are consecrate vnto the Loyde, and the vessels are consecrate, and the gold and the silver are freely offered vnto the Loyde God of your fathers.

29 Watche ye, and keepe them vntill wee weigh them before the chiefe Priests and the Levites, and the chiefe fathers of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of the Loyd.

30 So the Priests & the Levites received the weight of the silver and of the golde, and of the vessels to bring them to Jerusalem, vnto the house of our God.

31 ¶ Then we departed from the River of Abana on the twelfth day of the first moneth, to go vnto Jerusalem, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and delivered vs from the hande of the enemy, and of such as lapde vnto the way.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three daies.

33 And on the fourth daie was the silver weighed, and the golde & the vessel in the house of our God by the hande of Meremoth the sonne of Iahiah the Priest, and with him was Eleazar the sonne of Ithinebas, and with them was Jozabab the sonne of Jehuza, and Shadabiah the sonne of Binnui the Levites.

35 Also the children of the captiuitie, which were come out of captiuitie, offered burnt offerings vnto the God of Israel, twelve bullockes for all Israel, ninetie and six rammes, seuentie and seven lambes, and twelve hee goats for sinne: all was a burnt offering of the Loyd.

36 And they delivered the kings commission vnto the kinges officers, and to the captaines beyonde the River: and they promoted the people, and the house of God.

CHAP. IX.

1 Ezra complaineth on the people that had turned themselves from God, & married with the Gentiles, & he prayeth vnto God.

¶ When as these things were done, the rulers came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the Priests and the Levites are not separated from the people of the landes (as touching their abominations) to wit, of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Amorites.

2 For they haue taken their daughters to themselves, and to their sonnes, and they haue mixed the holy seede with the people of the landes, and the hand of the princes and rulers haue bene chiefe in this trespass.

3 But when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and pluckt off the heare of mine head, & of my beards, and late downe astonished.

4 And there assembled vnto mee all that feared the wordes of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie. And I late downe as before vntill the evening sacrifice.

5 And at the evening sacrifice I arose by from mine heauinesse, and when I had begun to rent my clothes and my garment, I fell vpon my knees, and spredde out mine hands vnto the Loyde my God,

6 And said, O my God, I am confounded and ashamed, to lift vp mine eyes vnto thee my God: for our iniquities are increased ouer our head, and our trespass is grown vp vnto the heauen.

7 From the daies of our fathers haue we bene in a great trespass vnto this day, and for our iniquities haue we, our kings, and our Priests bene delivered into the hand of the kings of the landes, vnto the sword, into captiuitie, into a spoyle, and into confusion of face, as appeareth this day.

8 And now for a litle space grace hath bene shewed from the Loyde our God, in causing a remnant to escape, & in giuing vs a name in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, and giue vs a litle remitting in our seruitude.

9 For though we were bondmen, yet our God hath not forsaken vs in our bondage, but hath enlarged mercie vnto vs in the sight of the kings of Persia, to giue vs life, & to erect the house of our God, & to reedifie the desolate places thereof, and to giue vs a wall in Iudah & in Jerusalem.

10 And now, our God, what shall we say after this: for we haue forsaken thy commandments,

11 Which thou hast commanded by thy seruantes the Prophets, saying, ¶ The land whereminto ye go to possesse it, is an vncleane lande, because of the filthines of the people of the landes, which by their abominations, and by their vncleannesse haue filled it from corner to corner.

12 Nowe therefore shall ye not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor seeke their peace nor wealth for euer, that ye may be strong & eate the goodnes of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your sonnes for euer.

13 And after all that is come vpon vs for our euill deedes, & for our great trespasses (seeing that thou our God hast stayed vs from being beneath & for our iniquities, & hast giuen vs such deliuerance)

14 Should we returne to breake thy commandments, and to playe in affinitie with the people of such abominations? Wouldst thou not be angry toward vs till thou haddest consumed vs, so that there should be no remnant nor any escaping?

Nehemiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

God doeth in all ages and at all times for worthy persons for the commoditie and profite of his Church, as now within the compass of seuentie yeres he raised vp diuers excellent men for the preservation of his people, after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Where of the first was their captaine to bring them home, and provided that the Temple was builded: the second reformed their manners, and planted religion: and the third builded vp the walles, deliuered the people from oppression, and provided that the Lawe of God was put in execution among them. He was a godly man and in great authoritie with the King, so that the king fauoured him greatly, and gaue him most ample letters for the accomplishment of all things which he could desire. This booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

4 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 He confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

The words of Nehemiah the sonne of Achabiah. In the moneth of Chislen, in the twentieth peece, as I was in the palace of Shulhan,

2 Came Hanani, one of my brethren, he and the men of Judah, and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, & concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto me, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the promise, are in great affliction and in respite, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, & the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these wordes, I faste downe and wept, and mourned certaine daies, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen.

5 And sayde, O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth covenant & mercie for them that loue him, and obserue his commandments,

6 I pray thee, let thine eares be attentiue, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee daily, daye and night for the children of Israel thy seruantes, and confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

7 We haue <sup>a</sup> grievously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements which thou commandedst thy seruant Moses.

8 I beseech thee, remember the word that thou commandedst thy seruant Moses, saying, Ye will transgresse, and I will scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and keepe my commandments, and do them, though your scattering were to the uttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen, to place my Name there.

10 Nowe these are the seruantes and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mighty hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eares now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of the seruantes, who desire to feare thy Name, and, I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of this man: for I was the kings butler.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, 11 He came to Ierusalem, 17 And builded the walles.

Nowe in the moneth of Nisan in the twentieth peece of King Artaxerxes the wine stood before him, and I toke by the wine, and gaue it vnto the king. Nowe I was not beforetime but in his presence.

2 And the king said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing but sorrow of heart. Then was I sore afraid,

3 And I said to the king, God saue the king for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the city & house of the sepulchres of my fathers lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the king sayde vnto mee, For what thing dost thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen,

5 And sayde vnto the king, If it please the king, & if thy seruant haue founde fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou wouldest send me to Judah vnto the cite of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the king sayde vnto me, (the Queene also sitting by him) How long shall thy iourney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the king, and he sent me, and I set him a time.

7 After, I sayde vnto the king, If it please the king, let them giue mee letters to the captaines beyond the River, that they may comeynt me ouer, till I come vnto Judah, & And

d As God moved me to alke, and as he gave me good successe therein.

e These were great enemies to the Iewes & laboured alwayes both by force & subtiltie to overcome them, and Tobiah, because his wife was a Jewesse, had aduertised euery of their affairs, and so wrought them great trouble.

f Or yndur. f This is contempned of other nations, as though God had forsaken vs, g They were incouraged and gaue themselves in doe well, and to regrell in this wretched enterpryse.

h These were three chiefe gouernemen vnder the king of Persia: the first was Euphrates, the second was Artabanus, the third was Darius.

i Thus wicked when they will burthen the children of God, ouer lay trespases vnto their charge, both because it maketh them most odious to the world, and also stirreth the hatred of Princes most against them.

k Neither ye are of the number of the children of God, (to whom he hath appointed this care onely) neither did any of your predecessors euer feare God.

8 And letters vnto Naph the keeper of the kinges parkes, that he map giue me tuncber to builde the gates of the palace (which apperteyned to the house) and for the walles of the cite, & for the house that I shall enter into. And the king gaue me according to the good hande of my God vpon me.

9 ¶ Then came I to the capitaines beyond the River, and gaue them the kinges letters. And the king had sent capitaines of the armie and hoiermen with me.

10 But Sanballat the Hionite, & Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, & it grieved them sore, that there was come a man which fought with wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Jerusalem, & was there three dayes.

12 And I rose in the night, I, & a few men with me: for I toide no man what God had put in mine heart to do at Jerusalem, and there was not a beast with mee, save the beast wheron I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the halley, and came before the diggon well, and to the dung poire, and Hewed the walles of Jerusalem, howe they were broken downe, and the postes thereof deuoured with the fire.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the fountaine, and to the kinges fishpoole, & there was no roome for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I by in the myght by the brooke, and beuew the wall, and turned backe, and coming backe, I entered by the gate of the halley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterwarde I spake vnto them, We see the miserie that we are in, howe Jerusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs builde the wal of Jerusalem, that we be no more a reproche.

18 Then I tolde them of the hande of my God (which was good ouer me) and also of the kinges wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they sayde, let vs rise, and builde. So they strengthened their hand to good.

19 But when Sanballat the Hionite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and Gelheim the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs and despised vs, and sayde, What a thing is this that ye doe? Will ye beell against the king?

20 Then answered I them, I said to them, The God of heauen, he will prosper vs, and we his seruants will rise by & builde: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor memoriall in Jerusalem.

1 Then arose Eliashib the hie Priest with his brethren the Priests, and they builde the shepegate: they repaired it, & set vp the doores thereof: a In Ebrewes, euen vnto the towne of Sheah repaired they it, and vnto the towne of Manasse.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Jericho, and beside him Zaccur & sonne of Iuri.

3 But the filly post did the sonnes of Seenaah builde, which also layd the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto the fortified Serimoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkos: and next vnto them fortified Shethullam, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Shezabbel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekosites: but the great men of them put not their neckes to the worke of their labors.

6 And the gate of the olde fishpoole fortified Jehoiada the sonne of Bakiah, and Shethullam the sonne of Besodaiyah: they layd the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, and the lockes thereof, & the barres thereof.

CHAP. IIIII.

7 The building of Ierusalem is hindered, 15 But God breaketh their enterpryse. 17 The Iewes beside with one hande, and holde their weapons in the other,

But when Sanballat heard that wee builded the wall, then was hee wroth
and sore grieved, & mocked the Iewes,
and said before his brethren & the as-sue of Samaria, thus he said, What doe
these weake Iewes? will they fortifie themselves? will they sacrifice? will they finishe it in a day? will they make stones whole againe out of the heapes of dust,
seeing they are burnt?

And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they builde, yet
if a force goe by, hee shall euen breake
downe their stone wal.

4 Heare, O our God (for wee are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and gne them into a pray-
e in the land of their captiuitie.

And couer not their iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they haue prouoked vs before the builders.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was ioynted vnto the halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 But when Sanballat, & Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Asdodites heard that the walles of Ierusalem were repaired, (for the weas-thes began to be stopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired all together to come & to fight against Ierusalem, and to hinder
them.

9 Then wee prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them, day and night,
because of them.

10 And Judah said, The strength of hearens is weakened, & there is much earth,
so that we are not able to builde the wal.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, They shall not knowe, neither see, till we come into the middes of them and slay them,
and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs their trines, & from all places whence ye shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places be-hinde the wall vpon the toppes of the stones, and placed the people by their families, with their swordes, their speares and their bowes.

14 Then I behelde, and rose vp, and sayde vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afrayde of them: remember the great Lord, and fearfull, & fight for your brethren, your sonnes, & your daughters, your wiues,
and your houses.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowne vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and wee turned all againe to the wall, entrie one vnto his worke.

16 And from that day, halfe of the young men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, and shields, and bowes, and habergeins: and the rulers stood behinde all the house of Iudah.

19 Then saide I vnto the adiutors, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and wee are separated vpon the wall, one farre front another.

20 And at the same time sayde I vnto the people, Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Ierusalem, that they may be a watche for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessity. 6 Nehemiah remembreth it. 14 He took not the portion of others that had ruled before, lest he should grieve the people.

1 Nowe there was a great crie of the people, and of their wiues against their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were p laide, Wee, our sonnes and our daughters are inuay, therefore we take vp<sup>b</sup> coine, that we may eat & liue.

3 And there were that sayd, We must gage our landes, and our vineyardes, and our houses, and take vp coine for the famine.

4 There were also that sayd, We haue borrowed money for the kinges tribute vpon our landes and our vineyardes.

5 And now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, & our sonnes as their sonnes: and loe, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters nowe in subiection, and there is no power in our handes: for they other men haue our landes and our vineyardes.

6 Then was I very angrie when I heard their crie and these wordes.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, & the rulers, and sayde vnto them, You lay<sup>c</sup> burdens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great s<sup>a</sup>le<sup>b</sup>lemble against them,

8 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto p<sup>a</sup> heathen: & will you set your brethren againe, as if they be<sup>b</sup> sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and coude not answer.

9 I set a great s<sup>a</sup>le<sup>b</sup>lemble against them, and I rebuked the princes, & the rulers, and sayde vnto them, You lay<sup>c</sup> burdens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great s<sup>a</sup>le<sup>b</sup>lemble against them,

11 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto p<sup>a</sup> heathen: & will you set your brethren againe, as if they be<sup>b</sup> sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and coude not answer.

16 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto p<sup>a</sup> heathen: & will you set your brethren againe, as if they be<sup>b</sup> sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and coude not answer.

17 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto p<sup>a</sup> heathen: & will you set your brethren againe, as if they be<sup>b</sup> sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and coude not answer.

19 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto p<sup>a</sup> heathen: & will you set your brethren againe, as if they be<sup>b</sup> sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and coude not answer.

20 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto p<sup>a</sup> heathen: & will you set your brethren againe, as if they be<sup>b</sup> sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and coude not answer.

21 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto p<sup>a</sup> heathen: & will you set your brethren againe, as if they be<sup>b</sup> sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and coude not answer.

9 I sayde also, That which ye doe, is not i good. Sought ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the<sup>b</sup> reproche of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euery I, my brethren, and my seruants doe lend them money and coine: I pray you, let vs leaue off this<sup>b</sup> burden.

11 Kestore, I pray you, vnto them this day their landes, their vineyardes, their oliues, and their houses, and remite the hundredth parte of the silver and of the coine, of the wine, and of the oyle that ye exact of them.

12 Then said they, We will restore it, & will not require it of them: we will do as thou hast sayde. Then I called the priests, and caused them to sweare, that they shoulde doe according to this promise.

13 So I shooke my lappe, and sayd, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise from his house, and from his labour: euery thus let him be shaken out, and emptied. And all the congregation sayde, Amen, and praised the Loyde: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the King gaue mee charge to be gouernour in the lande of Iudah from the twentieth peece, euery vnto the two and thirtiepeece of king Artahsalhste, that is, twelue peece, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the<sup>b</sup> breade of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides fourety shekels of silver: pea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no lande, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Forcouter there were at my table an hūdieth and fifty of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among p<sup>a</sup> heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared daily an ore, and fire chofen shepe, and birdes were prepared for me, and<sup>b</sup> within ten dayes wine for all<sup>c</sup> in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember me, O my God, in goodnes, according to all that I haue done for this people.

8 Nehemiah asseuereth with great wisdom, & calls to his aduersarie. 11 Hee is not discouraged by the false prophets.

1 And when Sanballat, & Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no moe<sup>a</sup> inuachers therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates):

He doubted not but God was able to preferre him, and knewe that if he had obeyed this counsell, he should haue discouraged all people: thus God giueth power to his, to resist false prophecies, though they seeme to haue neuer so great probabilitye.

g Very griefe caused him to pray against such, which vnder the pretence of being the ministers of God, were aduersaries to his glory, and went about to ouerthrowe his Church, declaring also hereby that where

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fiftie time, with an open letter in his hand.

6 Wherein was wrytten, It is reported among the heathen, and Saluum hath sayde it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buidest the wall, and thou wilt be their King according to these wordes.

7 Thou hast also ordeined the Prophets to pyache of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these wordes it shall come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these wordes that thou saiest: for thou feinst them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they asrayed vs, saying, Their handes shalbe weakened from the wooyke, and it shall not be done: nowe therefore incourage thou me.

10 And I came to a house of Schemaiyah the sonne of Delaiyah the sonne of Shephatabel, and he was shut vp, and he sayd, Let vs come together into the House of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I sayde, Should such a man as I, doe? Who is he, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to lye? I will not goe in.

12 And loe, I perceived, that God had not sent him, but that he pronounced this propheticke against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraide, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reprocie me.

14 Oyp God, remember thou Tobiah, and Sanballat according vnto these their wooykes, and Moabiah the Propheticke also, and the rest of the Prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 For withstanding the wall was finished on the five and twentieth day of Esul, in two and fiftie daies.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, even all the heathen that were about vs, they were asrayed, and their courage failed the: for they knew, that this wooyke was wrought by our God.

17 And in these daies were there many of the pynners of Iudah, whose letters k. These went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Iudah, that were swoyke vnto him: for he was the sonne in law of Shechemiah, the sonne of are morede-Arah: and his sonne Jehonathan had the daughter of Shechemiah, the sonne of Be-rechiah.

19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me, and tolde him my wooydes, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

f That is, remember the poore.

g Reioyce in the Lord, and he will give you strength.

1 And all the people assembled themselves together, in the street that was before the watergate, & they spake unto Ezra the scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Lawe of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Lawe before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that could heare and understand it, in the first day of the seventh month.

3 And hee read therein in the street that was before the watergate (from the morning untill the midday) before men and women, and therein that understood it, and the eares of all the people hearkened unto the booke of the Lawe.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood upon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, & beside him stood Mattithiah, & Shema, & Ananiah, & Uriah, and Hilkiah, & Phasaelah on his right hande, and on his left hand Pedaiah, & Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, & Hashabana, & Ezechiah, and Bethshullai.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for hee was above all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stood up.

6 And Ezra prayed the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, with lifting up their handes: and they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Teshna, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Janini, Akkub, & Shabbethai, Udiuah, Phasaelah, Reika, Azariah, Tosabab, Hanani, Delaiah, and the Levites caused the people to understand the Lawe, and the people stood in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Lawe of God distinctly and gave the sense, and caused them to understand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Levites that instructed the people, sayde unto all the people, This day is holy unto the Lord your God: mourne not, neither weep: for all the people wept, when they heard the wordes of the Lawe.

10 He sayd also unto them, Go, and eate of the fatte, and drinke the swete, and send part unto them, for whome none is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: be ye not sorrowful therefore: for the hope of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Levites made silence through out all the people, saying, Hoide your peace: for the day is holy, be not sadde therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eate and to drinke, and to send away part, & to make great ioye, because they had understood the wordes that they had taught them.

13 And on the seconde day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests & the Levites were gathered unto Ezra the scribe, that he also might instruct them in the wordes of the Lawe.

14 And they founde written in the Lawe, (that the Lord had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in booths in the feast of the seventh month,

15 And that they should cause it to be declared & proclaimed in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Go forth unto the mount, & bring olive branches, and pine branches, and branches of myrtles, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make booths, as it is written.

16 So the people went forth and brought them and made their booths, every one upon the roofe of his house, and in their courts, and in the courtes of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, and in the streete of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the Congregation of them that were come againe out of the captivity, made booths, & ate under the booths: for since the time of Teshna the sonne of Nun unto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great ioye.

18 And hee read in the booke of the Lawe of God every day, from the first day unto the last day. And they kept the feast seven daies, and on the eighth day a solemn assembly, according unto the manner.

3 And then stood up in their place a read in the booke of the Lawe of the Lord their God foure times on the day, and they confessed & worshipped the Lord their God foure times.

- 22 In the daies of Eliashib, Joiada, and Johanan & Jaddua were the chief fathers of the Levites written, and the Priests in the reign of Darius the Persian.
- 23 The sonnes of Levi, the chief fathers were written in the booke of the Chronicles even unto the daies of Johanan the sonne of Eliashib.
- 24 And the chiefs of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, & Jeshua the sonne of Kadmiel, & their brethren about them to give praise and thanks, according to the ordinance of David the man of God, warde over & against warde.
- 25 Mattaniah & Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Tahmon & Akkub were porters keeping the warde at the thresholds of the gates.
- 26 These were in the daies of Joiakim the sonne of Ieshua, the sonne of Jozadak, & in the daies of Nehemiah the captain, and of Ezra the Priest and scribe.
- 27 And in the dedication of the wall at Jerusalem they sought the Levites out of all their places to bring them to Jerusalem to keepe the dedication and gladnes, both with thanksgivings & with songs, cymbales, viols and with harpes.
- 28 Then the singers gathered themselves together both from the playne countrey about Jerusalem, and from the villages of Bethophrah,

- 29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreis of Geba, & Ramath: for the singers had built them villages round about Jerusalem.
- 30 And the Priests and Levites were purified, and cleansed the people, & the gates, and the wall.
- 31 And I brought up the princes of Judah upon the wall, and appointed two hemial great companies to give thanks, and the one went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate.
- 32 And after them went Hoshai, and half of the princes of Judah,
- 33 And Azariah, Ezra and Meshullam,
- 34 Judah, Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Jeremia,

- 36 And his brethren, Shemaiah, & Azas, Tharshai, Uthai, Gilalai, Maai, Netaneel, & brethren of Judah, Hanani, with the musical instruments of David and the men of God: and Ezra the scribe went before them.
- 37 And to the gate of the fountaine, even over against them went they by the staires of the crie of David, at the going up of the wall beyond the house of David, even unto the water gate Eastward.
- 38 And the second company of them that gave thanks, went on the other side, and I after them, and the half of the people was upon the wall, and upon the towne of the furnaces even unto the broad wall.
- 39 And upon the gate of Ephraim, & upon the olde gate, and upon the fishgate, and the towne of Hananeel, and the towne of Sheph, even unto the sheppegate: and they stood in the gate of the warde.
- 40 So stood the two companies (of them that gave thanks) in the house of God, & I and the half of the rulers with me.
- 41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Binamin, Meshai, Elnai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets,
- 42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Uzi, and Jehohanan, and Meshai, and Elam, and Ezer: and the singers sang loud, having Psalms which was the order.
- 43 And the same day they offered great sacrifices and rejoiced: for God had given them great joy, so that both the women, and the children were joyful: and the joy of Jerusalem was heard farre off.
- 44 Also at the same time were men appointed over the chambers of the store for the offerings (for the first fruits, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the portions of the cities, the portions of the law for the Priests and the Levites: for Judah rejoiced for the Priests and for the Levites, that served.
- 45 And both the singers & the Levites kept the warde of their God, & the ward of the purification according to the commandment of David, and Salomon his sonne.

THE ARGUMENT.

BECAUSE of the diuersitie of names, whereby they vsed to name their kings, & the supputation of yeeres, wherein the Hebrewes, & the Grecians do varie, diuers authors write diuersly as touching this Ahashuerosh, but it seemeth, Daniel 6.1. & 9.1. that he was Darius king of the Medes, and sonne of Astyages, called also Ahashuerosh, which was a name of honour, & signified great & chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church: who neuer fayleth them in their greatest dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe fayleth, he euer stirreth vp some, by whome he sendeth comfort, and deliuerance. Herein also is described the ambition, pride & crueltie of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their sudden fall when they are at height: and how God preferreth, and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue toward their brethren.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahashuerosh maketh a royall feast, 12 VVhereunto the Queene Vasthi will not come, 19 For which cause she is diuorced, 20 The kings decrees touching the preeminence of man.

IN the dapes of Ahashuerosh (this is Ahashuerosh) repugned, fro India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer all his brethren, and seuen and twenty pvinces)

2 In those dapes when the king Ahashuerosh late on his throne, which was in the palace of Shulhan,

3 In the third yere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes & his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the pvinces which were before him,

4 That he might shewe the riches and glorie of his kingdom, and the honour of his great maiestie many dapes, euen an hundred and foure score dapes.

5 And when these dapes were expired, the king made a feast to all the people that were found in his palace of Shulhan, both vnto great and small, seuen dapes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, Greene, and blew clothes, fastened with cordes of fine linnen and purple, in silver rings, & pillars of marble: the beddes were of golde, & of silver vpon a pavement of porphyre, and marble & alabastrer, and blew colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessell after vessell, and royal wine in abundance according to the power of the king.

8 And the drinke was by an order, none might compell: for so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they shoulde doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 The Queene Vasthi made a feast also for the women in the royall house of king Ahashuerosh.

10 Vpon the seuenth day when the king was merie with wine, her commaunded Memucan, Bigtha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Bagtha, Zethar, & Carcas, the seuen euniches (that serued in the presence of king Ahashuerosh)

11 To bring Quene Vasthi before the king with the crowne royall, that he might shewe the people & the princes her beautie: for she was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vasthi refused to come at the kings woide, which he had giuen in charge to the euniches: therefore the king was very angry, & his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king said to the wise men, that knewe the times (for so was the kinges manner towards all that knewe the lawe and the iudgement:

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tachbis, Speres, Memucan and Memucan the seuen princes of Persia & Media, which late the kings face, and late the first in the kingdom)

15 What shal we do vnto Quene Vasthi according to the lawe, because she did not according to the word of the king Ahashuerosh by the commission of the euniches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the king and the princes, The Queene Vasthi hath not onely done euill against the king, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the pvinces of king Ahashuerosh.

17 For the acte of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their owne eyes, bands, & shal saue. The king Ahashuerosh commaunded Vasthi the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the princesses of Persia and Media this dape say vnto all the kings princes, when they heare of the acte of first occasion the Queene: thus shall there be much despitfullnesse and wrath.

19 If it please the king, let a royall decree proceede from him, & let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vasthi come no more before king Ahashuerosh: and let the king giue her royall estate vnto her captiue that is better then she.

20 And when the decree of the king which shal be made, shal be published throughout all his kingdom (though it be great) all the women shall giue their husbands honour, both great and small.

21 And this saying pleased the king and the euniches

the princes, and the king did according to the wayde of sperimcan.

22 For he sent letters into all the pionsines of the king, into euery piousine according to the writing therof, and to euery people after their language, that euery man shoulde be carefull in his owne house, & that he shoulde publish it in the language of that same people.

C H A P. II.

1 After the Queene is put away, certaine young maidens are brought to the King. 14 Ester pleaseth the king, and Mordecai discouereth vnto the King those that would betray him.

1 After these things, when the wayde of king Ahashuerol was appealed, he remembered Walhti, and what she had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, said, let them seeke for the king beautifull young virgins,

3 And let the king appoint officers through all the piousines of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull young virgins vnto the palace of Shulhan, into the house of the women, vnder the hande of Yeghe the kinges eunuche, keeper of the women, to giue them their thinges for purification.

4 And the maide that shall please the king, let her reigne in the stead of Walhti. And this pleased the king, and he did so.

5 In the cite of Shulhan, there was a certaine Iewe, whose name was Spodecai the sonne of Jair, & sonne of Shune, the sonne of Aul a man of Ierusalem.

6 Which had bene carried away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was carried away with Iehoniah king of Iudah (whome Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had carried away)

7 And he nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vncles daughter: for he had nepher father nor mother, & the maide was faire, & beautifull to looke on: & after the death of her father & her mother, Spodecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maidens were brought together to the palace of Shulhan, vnder the hande of Yeghe, Ester was brought also vnto the kinges house vnder the hande of Yeghe the keeper of the women.

9 And the maide pleased him, & she found fauour in his sight: therfore he caused her thinges for purification to be giuen her speedily, & her state, and seven comely maidens to be giuen her out of the kinges house, and he gaue charge to her & to her maidens of best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kindred: for Spodecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

11 And Spodecai walked euery daie before the court of the womens house, to knowe if Ester did well, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of euery maide came, to go in to king Ahashuerol, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrre, and sixe moneths with sweete odours & in the purifying of the woman:

13 And thus went the maidens vnto the king) whatsoeuer he required, was giuen her, to go with her out of the kinges house vnto the kinges house.

14 In the euening she went, & on the morrow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hand of Shashgag the kinges eunuche, which kept the consurbines: she came in to the king no more, except she pleased the king, and that she were called by name.

15 Nowe when the course of Ester the daughter of Ahashai vncle of Spodecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that she should goe in to the king, she desired nothing, but what Yeghe the kinges eunuche the keeper of the women & sayde: and Ester founde fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 So Ester was taken vnto king Ahashuerol into his house roiall in the tenth moneth, which is the moneth Tebeth, in the seventh pere of his reigne.

17 And the king loued Ester above all the women, and she found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Walhti.

18 Then the king made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruantes, which was the feast of Ester, & gaue rest vnto the piousines, and gaue giftes, according to the power of a king.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the second time, then Spodecai late in the kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kindred nor her people, as Spodecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Spodecai, as whē she was nourished with him.

21 In those dayes when Spodecai late in the kings gate, two of the kinges eunuches, Bigthan & Terish, which kept the doore, were wyoth, and sought to laye hand on the king Ahashuerol.

22 And the thing was knowen to Spodecai, and he tolde it vnto Queene Ester, & Ester certified the king therof in Spodecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was founde so: therfore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the king.

C H A P. III.

1 Haman, after he was exalted, obtained of the King, that all the Iewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

1 After these things did king Ahashuerol promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and let his seate about all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the kings seruants that were at the kinges gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the king had so enured concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not to him, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the kings seruantes which were at the kings gate, sayde vnto Mordecai, Why transgresseth thou the kings commandement?
4 And albeit they spake daily vnto him,
yet he woulde not heare them: therefore they tolde Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for he had tolde them, that he was a Jewe.
5 And when Haman sawe that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did re-uerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.
6 Nowe he thought it too little to laye handes onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroye all the Jewes that were throughout the whole kingdome of Achaemenes, even the people of Mordecai.
7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelfth yeere of king Acha-menes, they cast Pur (that is a lot) be-foze Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth mo-neth, that is the moneth Nisan.
8 Then Haman sayd vnto king Achaemenes,
There is a people scattered & dispersed among the people in all the prouinces
of thy kingdome, and their lawes are di-uers from all the people, and they do not obserue the kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profite to suffer them.
9 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed, & I will pay ten thousand talents of silver by the hands of them that haue the charge of this busines to buye it into the kings treasure.
10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand and gaue it vnto Haman the soune of Hammedatha the Agagite the Jewes adversarie.
11 And the king said vnto Haman, Let the silver be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee.
12 Then were the kings scribes called on the thirtieth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commaunded) vnto the kings officers, and to the capitaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers
of euery people and to euery prouince,
according to the writing therof, & to en-
terpise people according to their language:
in the name of king Achaemenes was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.
13 And the letters were sent by postes
into all the kings prouinces, to roote out,
to kill and to destroye all the Jewes, both young & olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirtieth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Nisan) and to spoile them as a pray.
14 The contentes of the writing was, that there should be giuen a commandement
in all prouinces, & published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the fourth day.

15 And the postes compelled by the kings commandement went forth, & the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman fate drinking, but the citie of Shushan was in perperitie.

CHAP. II.

1 Mordecai weeth the Queens knowledge of the cruell decrees of the King against the Jewes. 16 She willen
that they pray for her.

1 Nowe when Mordecai perceined all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, & put on sackcloth & ashes,
and went out into the middes of the citie,
and cryed with a great cry, and a bitter.

2 And he came euen befoze the kings gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince, & place, whither
the kings charge & his commission came,
there was great sorrow among the Jewes,
and fasting, and weeping & mourning, &
many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

4 Then Esters maydes & her eunuches came and told it her: therfoze the Queene was very heauie, and she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth fro him, but he reuered it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the kings eunuches, whome he had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to knowe what it was,
and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai vnto
the streete of the citie, which was be-foze the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai told him of all that which had come vnto him, & of the summe of the silver that Haman had promised to pay vnto the kings treasure, because of the Jewes, for to destroye them.

8 Also he gaue him the copie of the writ-ting and commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroye them, that he might shewe it vnto Ester & declare it vnto her,
and to charge her, that she should go in to the king, & make petition and supplication befoze him for her people.

9 So when Hatach came, he tolde Ester
the wordes of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester sayde vnto Hatach, & commaunded him, to say vnto Mordecai,

11 All the kings seruantes and the people of the kings prouinces do knowe, that whosoeuer, man or woman, that cometh to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a lawe of his, that he shall dye, except him to whome the king holdeth out the golden rod, that he may liue. Nowe I haue not bene called to come vnto the king these thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters
wordes.

13 And Mordecai sayde, that they should answer Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Jewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, comfort and deliuerance shall ap-peare to the Jewes out of another place,
but thou & thy fathers house shall perishe
and faile.

To wit, the Ierusalem was in Shushan.

a Because he would aduise
Ester of this cruel proclamacon.

"Ester, sackcloth
and ashes were spread for many."

"Ester had wept
for many dayes."

"Ester declared."

"Or, continis."

"Ester, I wept
for many dayes."

"Ester, I wept
for many dayes."

e For to deliuer Gods Church out of their present dangers.

d I will put my life in danger & referre the successe to God, seeing it is for his glory & the deliuerance of his Church.

a To wit, after that the Iewes had begonne to fast.

b Which was a signe that her coming was agreeable vnto him, as Chap. 4. 11.

c Meaning hereby, that whatsoever should be granted, as Mat. 6. 33.

d Because they vied to drinke excellently in their banquet, they called the banquet by the name of that, which was most in vke or esteem.

e I will declare what thing I demand.

f Thus the wicked when they are promoted, in feare of acknowledging their charge & humbling them. felices, wase ambitious, dilaine full, and cruell.

and who knoweth whether thou art come to the king: one for such a time?

15 Then Ester commaunded so answered Spoydecrai,

16 Go, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, daye nor night. I also and my maydes will fast likewise, and so will I goe in to the king, which is not according to the lawe: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Spoydecrai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commaunded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entred into the king, and biddeth him and Haman to asse. 14 Haman prepareth a galley for Mordecai.

1 And on the thirde day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the kings palace within, ouer against the kings house: and the king sat vpon his royall thron in the kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the king saw Ester the Quene standing in the court, there founde fauour in his sight: and the king held out the golden scepter that was in his hande: so Ester dyed her, and touched the toppie of the scepter.

3 Then said the king vnto her, What wilt thou, Quene Ester: and what is thy request? it shall be euen giuen: that to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the king, let the king and Haman come this day vnto the baket, that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king said, Cause Haman to make halfe that he may doe as Ester hath said. So the king & Haman came to the baket that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king said vnto Ester at the baket of wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee: and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then answered Ester, and saide, Apperition and my request is,

8 If I haue founde fauour in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to giue me my petition, and to performe my request, let the king and Haman come to the baket that I shall prepare for them, and I will doe to moiove according to the kings saying.

9 Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman saw Spoydecrai in the kings gate, that he stood not by, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Spoydecrai.

10 Neuertheless Haman refrayned himselfe: and when he came home, he sent and called for his friends, & Zereth his wife.

11 And Haman tolde them of the glorie of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had promoted him, and howe that hee had set him aboue the princes & seruants of the king.

12 Haman sayde moiover, Pea, Ester the

Quene did let no man come in with the king to the baket that she had prepared, saue me: and to moiove an I bidden vnto her also with the king.

13 But all this doth nothing answere me, as long as I see Spoydecrai the Iewe sitting at the kings gate.

14 Then sayde Zereth his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fittie cubites high, & to moiove speake thou vnto the king, that Spoydecrai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfull with the king vnto the baket. And the thing pleased Haman, & he caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The king turneth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai, so And commaundeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

1 The same night the king slept not, & he commaunded to bring the booke of the records and the Chronicles: and they were read before the king.

2 Then it was founde written that Spoydecrai had tolde of Argiana, and Zereth, two of the kings euniches, keepers of the doore, who sought to laye handes on the king Mithuerolly.

3 Then the king sayde, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Spoydecrai: for this? And the kings seruants that ministered vnto him, sayde, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king saide, Who is in the court? (Nowe Haman was come into the inner court of the kings house, that he myght speake vnto the king to hang Spoydecrai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings seruants sayde vnto him, Scholde, Haman standeth in the court. And the king sayd, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king said vnto him, What shall be done vnto the man, whom the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whome would I king do honor more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the king, The man whom the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which I king vish to weare, & the hoise that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head.

9 And let the rayment and the hoise be deliuered by the hande of one of the kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the king will honour) & cause him to ryde vpon the hoise through the strate of the cite, and proclaime before him, Thus shall it be done vnto the man, whom the king will honour.

10 Then the king sayde to Haman, Make halfe, take I rayment & the hoise as thou hast sayde, and doe so vnto Spoydecrai the Iewe, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman tooke the rayment and the hoise, and araped Spoydecrai, and brought him on horsebacke through the strate of the cite, & proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man, whom the king will honour.

3 The Queene biddeth the King and Haman againe, and prayeth for her selfe and her people. 6 She ac-cuseth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallies, which he had prepared for Mordecai.

1 And the king and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester.

2 And the king sayd againe vnto Ester
on the second day at the banket of wine,
What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? It shalbe euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, & sayd,
If I haue founde fauour in thy sight, O
king, and if it please the king, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people
at my request.

4 For we are solde, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slaine and to perill: but if we were solde for seruants, and for handmaides, I would haue heide my tongue:
although the aduersarie coude not recompense the kings losse.

5 Then King Ahasuerus answered, and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is he?
where is he that psoneth to do thus?

6 And Ester said, The aduersarie & enemye is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the king & the Queene.

7 And the king arose from the banket of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp, to make request for his life to the Queene Ester:
for he sawe that there was a mischiefe
prepared for him of the king.

8 And when the king came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they drinke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester sate: therefore the king said, Will he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the word went out of the kings mouth, they co-uered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches, said in the presence of the king, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house
fittie cubites high, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the king. Then the king sayde, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree,
that he had prepared for Mordecai: then
was the kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted,

1 The same daye did King Ahasuerus
giue the house of Haman an aduersary
of the Jewes vnto the Queene Ester.

2 And Mordecai came before the king: for Ester tolde what he was vnto her.

3 And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer
the house of Haman.

4 And Ester spake yet more before the king, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that he woude put away
the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his deuice that hee had imagined against the Jewes.

5 And the king heide out the golden scepter towards Ester. Then arose Ester, and stoode before the king.

6 And said, If it please the king, & if I haue founde fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the king, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammehas-tha the Agagite may be called againe,
which hee wrote to destroye the Jewes,
that are in all the kings prouinces.

7 For howe can I suffer and see the euill, that shall come vnto my people? O howe can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred?

8 And the king Ahasuerus said vnto the Queene Ester, & to Mordecai the Jewe, Beholde, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whome they haue hanged vpon
the tree, because hee layde hand vpon the Jewes.

14 So the poliers rode vpon beastes of price, and byondaries, and went south with speere, to execute the kings commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Spoydecari went out from the king in royal appaerl of blew, and white, and with a great crowne of golde, and with a garment of fine linnen and purple, and the cite of Shushan reioiced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Jewes was come light and ioy and gladnes, and honour.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery cite & place, where the kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnes to the Jewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the lande became Jewes: for the feare of the Jewes fell vpon them.

C H A P. IX.

1 At the commandement of the King the Jewes put their aduersaries to death. 24 The tenne sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Jewes keepe a fast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

1 So in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Ndar, vpon the thirtieth day of the same, when the kings commandement and his decree bywe nere to bee put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it turned contrarie: for the Jewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Jewes gathered them selues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the king Ahasueros, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaiues, and the officers of the king exalted the Jewes: for the feare of Spoydecari fell vpon them.

4 For Spoydecari was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Spoydecari waied greater and greater.

5 Thus the Jewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword & slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace slew the Jewes & destroyed fine hundred men,

7 And Darshandatha, and Dalphon, and Mithra,

8 And Wojatha, and Abatia, and Arisdatha,

9 And Darmashta, and Arisai, and Arisdai, and Daicsatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersarie of the Jewes slew they: but they layed not their handes on the people.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slayne, vnto the palace of Shushan before the king.

12 And the king saide vnto the Auerne Ester, The Jewes haue slayne in Shushan the palace and destroyed fine hundred men, and the tenne sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? or what is thy request morpouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then saide Ester, If it please the king, let it be granted also to morowe to the Jewes that are in Shushan, to do according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans tenne sonnes.

15 So the Jewes that were in Shushan, assembled them selues vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Ndar, and slew three hundred men in Shushan, but on the people they layed not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Jewes that were in the kings prouinces assembled them selues, and stood for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slue of them that hated them, scuntie and fine thousande: but they layed not their handes on the people.

17 This they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Ndar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

18 But the Jewes that were in Shushan, assembled them selues on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fiftenth of the same, & kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Jewes of the villages that dwelt in vnwalled towines, kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Ndar with ioy and feasting, even a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 And Spoydecari wrote these wordes, and sent letters vnto all the Jewes that were through all the prouinces of the king Ahasueros, both nere and farte,

21 Anouning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Ndar, and the fiftenth day of the same, euery peere,

22 According to the dayes wherein the Jewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorowe to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to kepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioy, and to sende presents euery man to his neighbour, and giftes to the poore.

23 And the Jewes promised to doe as they had begun, and as Spoydecari had written vnto them.

24 Because Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Jewes aduersarie, had imagined against the Jewes, ship, and reliefe to destroy them, and had cast vnto (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things and in his bodie, but also in his minde, and conscience, by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friendes: which by their vehement wordes, and subtil disputations brought him almost to despair: for they set forth God as a seuerer Iudge, and mortall enemy vnto him, which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he shoulde seeke vnto him for succour. These friendes came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this storie wee haue to marke that Iob mainteined a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defende it craftily. For Iob helde that God did not alway punish men according to their finnes, but that hee had secrete iudgements, wherof man knewe not the cause, and therefore man coulde not reason against God therein, but he should be conuicted. Moreover, he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments and affliction, he brasteth forth into many inconueniences both of wordes and sentences, and sheweth him selfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that woulde resist God: and this is his good cause which he doeth not handle well. Againe the ad-uersaries maintaine with many goodly arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespasse, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans finnes, yet their intention is euill for they labour to bring Iob into despair, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel comendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezekiel 14. 14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example, Iames 5. 11.

clareth that among the heathen God hath his. c Hereby is declared, what is meant by an vpright and iust man.

There was a man in the land of Uz called Iob, and this man was an vpright and iust man, one that feared

m This declareth that although Satan be aduersarie to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and doe him all homage, without whose permission and appointment he can doe nothing.

n This question is asked for our infirmities: for God knoweth whence he came, o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8.

r This signifieth that Satan is not able to touche vs, but it is God that mult do it.

s Satan noteth the vice, whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to be content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie.

t God giueth not Satan power over man to punish him, but to declare that he hath no power over man, but that which God giueth him.

were gone about, Iob sent, and sanctified them, and rose up early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my seruants have sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob euer day.

¶ Now on a day when the children of God came and stood before the Lord, Satan came also among them.

¶ Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

¶ And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth: an upright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill?

¶ Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Boeth Iob feare God? for nought? Hast thou not made him an hedge about him and about his house, and about all that he hath on euery side: thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the lande.

¶ But stretch out now thine hande and touch all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

¶ Then the Lord said vnto Satan, For all that he hath is in thine hande: onely upon him selfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hande. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord.

z This last plague declared, that when one plague is past which seemeth hard to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grieuous, to trie his, and teach them obedience.

a Which came not of impatience, but declared that the children of God are not insensible like blockes, but that in their patience they feelee affliction, and griefe of minde: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as the wicked doe.

1 All knowe, if any will: and were they, and to which of the Saints wilt thou turne?
2 Doubtlesse anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idote.
3 I haue seene the foolish well rooted, and suddenly I cursed his habitation, saying:
4 His children shall be scarce from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the gate, and none shall deliuer them.
5 The hungry shall eate vp his harvest: yea, they shall take it from among the thornes, and the thuritie shall drinke vp their substance.
6 For miserie commeth not sooth of the dust, neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.
7 But man is borne into trouble, as the sparkes flie upward.
8 But I would enquire at God, & turne my talke vnto God:
9 Which doeth great things and vnsearchable, and maruclous things without number.
10 He giueth raine vpon the earth, and pouerth water vpon the streeces,
11 And setteth vp on hie them that be low, that the sorrowfull may be exalted to saluation.
12 He scattereth the deuices of the craftie: so that their handes can not accomplish that which they doe enterpryse.
13 He taketh the wise in their craftines, & light vpon their counsel of the wicked is made foolish.
14 They mate with darkness in the day: time, and grope at noone day, as in the night.
15 But he saureth the poore from the sword, from their month, and from the hande of the violent man.
16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquitie shall stay her mouth.
17 Behold, blessed is the man whome God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty.
18 For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his handes make the whole.
19 He shall deliuer thee in fire troubles, and in the seuerity the euill shall not touch thee.
20 In famine hee shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.
21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of death, when thou shalt be hid from the scourge of death, when thou shalt be hid from the scourge of death.

2 When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shall serue vs, x God shall foiblesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.

y Though the children of God haue not alwaies this promise performed, yet God doeth recompense it otherwise to their advantage. z Wee haue learned these poyntes by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, and that the affliction which man iusticeth, cometh for his owne sinne.

the tongue, and thou shalt not be as rappe of destruction when it cometh.

22 But thou shalt laugh at destruction and death, and shalt not be as rappe of the brail of the earth.

23 For the houses of the fiebe shall be in league with thee, and the beasts of the fiebe shall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt know, that peace shall be in thy tabernacle, & thou shalt visite thine habitation, and shalt not sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seed shall be great, & thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt goe to thy grane in y a full age, as a riche of corne cometh in due season into the barme.

27 And thus haue we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this and know it for thy selfe.

CHAP. VI.

1 Job answereth, that his paine is more grievous then his fault. 8 He wisheth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

a To know whether I complaine without iust cause.

b My griefe is so great, that I lacke wordes to expresse it.

c Which declared that he was not onely afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battell that the faithfull can haue.

d Think you that I crie without cause, seeing the brute beasts doe not complaine when they haue what they would?

e Can a mans taste delire in that that hath no fauour? meaning, that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they can not away with things that are vnflauerie to the mouth.

f Herein he sinneth double, both in wishing through impacience to dye, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.

g That is, let mee dye at once, before I come to distrust in Gods promise through mine impacience. h Hee feareth least hee should be brought to inconueniences, if his sorowes shoulde continue.

1 Job answered, and saide, B Wh that my griefe were wel weighed, and my iniuries were lapde together in the balance!

3 For it woulde be nowe heavier then the sande of the sea: therefore my wordes are swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the venime whereof doeth binke vp my spirite, and the terroures of God fight against me.

5 Doeth the wilde ass biay when he hath grasse? or loweth the ore when hee hath fodder?

6 That which is vnflauerie, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the whipe of an egge?

7 Such thinges as my soule refused to touch, as were sorowes, are my meate.

8 Oh that I might haue my desire, and that God woulde graunt mee the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God woulde destroy mee: that he woulde let his hande goe, and cut me off.

10 Then shoulde I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorowe, let him not spare) because I haue not denyed the wordes of the Holy one.

11 What power haue I that I shoulde endure? or what is mine ende, if I shoulde prolong my life?

12 As my strength the strength of stones: way with things that are vnflauerie to the mouth.

f Herein he sinneth double, both in wishing through impacience to dye, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.

or to my flesh of blasie?

13 Is it not so, that there is in me no helpe? and that strength is taken from me?

14 He that is in miserie, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the fear of the Almighty.

15 Thy brethren haue decreed mee as a bynoke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with yre, & wheres in the snowe is hid.

17 Wilt in time they are dyed by with heat, and are consumed: and when it is hot, they saile out of their places.

18 Or they depart from their way & course, they banish and perith.

19 They that goe to Tema, considered hard froies, and then, and they that goe to Syeha, wept for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were as overthowled.

21 Surely nowe are pe like unto it: pe haue sene my fearefull plague, and are as frayde.

22 Was it because I sayde, Wilt vnto countrie of Amme: or giue a rewarde to mee of your substance?

23 And deliuer mee from the enemies hande, or ransom me out of the hande of thair tyrantes?

24 Teach me, & I will holde my tongue: and cause me to vnderstande, wherein I haue erred.

25 Youe feedfast are the wordes of righteounes: and what can any of you iustly reprove?

26 Doe pe imagine to reprove a wordes, that the talke of the afflicted shoulde be as the vnder?

27 He make your wrath to fall vpon the false, therelste, and a bit for your friends.

28 Now therefore be content to look vps on me: for I will not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I praye you, let there be none efficie will put iniquitie: returne, I saye, and ye shall see part of the pet my righteounesse in that behalfe.

30 Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doeth not mine mouth teele sorowes?

31 Forfeitable wordes. o Sheve me wherein I haue erred, and I will confesse my fault. p He that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrink at the sharpe wordes or reasonings of others, except they be able to perswade him by reason.

q Doe you call at my wordes, because I shoulde be thought to speake foolishly, which am nowe in miserie? r Consider whether I speake as one that is drinen to this impacience through very sorowe, or as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

CHAP. VII.

1 Job sheweth the shortnes and miserie of mans life. 11 There not an appointed time to man as a beast, nor as a bird, nor as a creeping thing.

2 As a servant longeth for the shadowe, and as an hireling looketh for the ende of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the moneths of vauitie, & paynefull nightes.

4 If I sayde mee downe, I sayde, When shall I arise againe from moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

e This signifieth that his disease was rare and most horrible.
 5 Thus he speaketh in respect of the brevity of mans life, which passeth without hope of returne.
 6 In confidence, whereof he desireth God to have compassion on him.
 7 If thou beholdest wein thine angrie, I shall not be able to stand in thy presence.
 8 I shall no more enjoy this mortal life.
 9 Seeing I can by none other means comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words.
 10 He speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde.
 11 I am not a poore wretch, what needest thou then to lay so much paine on me?
 12 So that I can have no rest, night nor day.
 13 He speaketh more overcome with sorrow, and not of judgement, or of the examination of his faith.
 14 Seeing my name of life is so short, let me have some rest and ease.
 15 Seeing that man of him selfe is so vile, why dost thou give him that honour to contend against him? Iob vieth all kindes of persuasion with God, that he might stay his thine. n After all remonitions faith brasteth forth, and leadeeth Iob to repentance: yet it was not in such perfection, that he could bridle him selfe from reasoning with God, because that hee still tried his faith.
 16 That is, I shall be dead.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Biddads hereth that Iob is a sinner, because God punisheth the wicked, and preserveth the good.

1 He declareth that their words which would diminish any thing from the iustice of God, is but as speile of winde that vanissheth away.
 2 How long wilt thou talke of these things? and how long shall the wordes of thy mouth be as a nightie winde?
 3 Dost thou pervert iudgement? or doest thou the almightie subvert iustice?
 4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and hee hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie.

 5 Yet if thou wilt rarely seeke unto God, and pray to the Almighty.
 6 If thou be pure and upright, then surely he will awake by unto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.
 7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter ende shall greatly encrease.
 8 Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, & prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.
 9 For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadowe.
 10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and utter the wordes of their heart?
 11 Can a rush growe without water? or can the grasse growe without water?
 12 Though it were in greene and not cutte downe, yet shal it wither before any other herbe.
 13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.
 14 His confidence also shalbe cut off, and his trust shal be as the house of a spider.
 15 He shall leane vpon his house, but it he shall finde it shall not stand: he shall holde him fast by it, yet shal it not endure.
 16 The tree is greene before the sunne, and the branches spreade ouer the gates thereof.
 17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fontaine, and are folded about the house of stones.
 18 If any plucke it from his place, and it denie, saying, I haue not sene thee.
 19 Behold, it will reioyce: for this meanes, that it may growe in another mold.
 20 Behold, God will not cast away an hye right man, neither will hee take the wicked by the hand.
 21 Will he haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.
 22 They that hate thee, shall bee clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shal not remaine.
 day, and to morowe swept away. i Hee compareth the iust to a tree, which although it be remooued out of one place vnto another, yet flourisheth: so the affliction of the godly turneth to their profice. k That is, so that there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tree had growen there or no. l To bee planted in another place, where it may growe at pleasure. m If thou be godly, hee will giue thee occasion to reioyce, and if not, thine affliction shall increase.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mightie power of God, and that mans righteousness is nothing.

1 When Iob answered, and sayde,

2 I know verely that it is so: for how a Iob here should be compared to God, bee sweareth to that point of Eliphaz and Biddads oration, touching the iustice of God and his innocencie, confessing God to be infinite in iustice, and man to bee nothing in respect. b Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man can not answer him one.
 3 If he would dispute with him, he could not answer him one thing of a thousand.
 4 Yee

b That is, hath rewarded them according to their iniquitie: meaning, that Iob ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God. c That is, if thou turne betime, whiles God calleth thee to repentance. d Though the beginnings be not so pleasant, as thou wouldest desire, yet in the ende thou shalt haue sufficient occasion to content thy selfe. e He willeth Iob to examine all antiquitie, as thou wouldest desire, yet in the here sayeth. f Meaning, that it is not ynough to haue the experience of our felues, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that went before vs. g As a rush can not grow without moistnes, so can not the hypocrite, because he hath not faith which is moistened with Gods Spirit. h Which is to 4 He is wise in heart, and mightie in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered?

 5 He remoueth the mountains, and they fall: not when he overthroweth them in his wrath.
 6 He remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.
 7 He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.
 8 He himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.
 9 He maketh the starres: Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the clusters of the South.
 10 He doeth great things, and vnsearchable: yea, marvellous things without number.
 11 Lo, when hee goeth by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceive him not.
 12 Beholde, when he taketh a pray, who can make him to reioyce it? who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?
 13 God will not withholde his anger, and the most mightie helpe: doe stoupe vnder him.
 14 How much lesse shall I answer him: or howe shoulde I finde out my wordes with him?
 15 For though I were iust, yet coulde I not answer: but I would make supplication: to my Iudge.
 16 If I cry, & he answer me, yet woulde I not beleue, that he heard my voice.
 17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me without cause.
 18 He wil not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternesse.
 19 If we speake of strength, beholde, hee is strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to please?
 20 If I woulde iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne me: if I woulde be perfecte, he shall iudge me wicked.
 21 Though I were perfecte, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.
 22 This is one point: therefore I say, He destroyeth the perfecte and the wicked.
 23 If the scourge shoulde suddenly slea, shoulde God laugh at the punishment of his friends, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart, that which they spake. k Meaning, in his owne opinion, signifying, that man will sometime flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination. l Whiles I am in my pangs, I can not but draff forth into many inconueniences, although I know still that God is iust. m I am not able to feeble my sinnes so great, as I feeble the weight of his plagues: and this he speaketh to condemne his dulnesse, and to iustifie God. n After he hath accused his owne weaknesse, he continueth to iustifie God and his power. o If I woulde stande in mine owne defence, yet God hath iust cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart, and conscience. p If God punish according to his iustice, he will destroy aswell them that are counted perfecte, as the that are wicked. q To wit, the wicked. r This is spokē according to our apprehension, as though he would say, If God destroy but the wicked, as Chap. 3. 3. why shoulde hee suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them?

24 The earth is giuen into the hands of the wicked: he couereth the faces of the iudges therof: if not, where is he? of who is he?
 25 Why dares haue brue moie swift then a poile: they haue sled, and haue scene no good thing.
 26 They are passed as with the most swift shippes, and as the eagle that fleeth to the pray.
 27 If I say, I wil forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me.
 28 Then I am afrayde of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.
 29 If I be wicked, why labour I thus in vaine?
 30 If I walke my selfe with knowe warer, and purge mine handes most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne clothes shall make me slippe.
 32 For he is not a man as I am, that I shoulde answer him, if we come together to iudgement.
 33 Neither is there any burspire: that might lay his hand vpon my both.
 34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me:
 35 Then will I speake, and feare him not: but because I am not so, I hold me still.
 a Which might make an accord betweene God and me, speaking of impatience, & yet confessing God to be iust in punishing. b Signifying that Gods iudgements keepe him in awe.
 C H A P. X.
 1 Iob is weary of his life, and setteth out his fragilitie before God. 20 He desireth him to stay his hande, 22 A description of death.
 1 My soule is cut off: though I liue: I am as though I were dead: I will leane my complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitterness of my soule.
 2 I wil say vnto God, Condemne me not: beleeue mee, wherefore thou contendest with me.
 3 Thinkest thou it a good to oppresse me, & to cast off the labour of thine handes, & to saunoe the counsell of the wicked?
 4 Hast thou carnall eyes: or dost thou see as man seeth?
 5 Are thy daies as mans daies: or thy yeeres, as the time of man,
 6 That thou inquitest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne?
 7 Thou knowest that I can not doe twice: for none can deliuer me out of punishment thine hand.
 8 Thine handes haue made me, and fashioned me wholly rounde about, and wilt thou be without compassion? f Wilt thou grasse the wicked and condemne me? g Doest thou this of ignorance? h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to day a friende, to morowe an enemy? i By affliction thou keepest me as in a prison, and restrainest me from doing euill, neither can I yet me at libertie. k In these eight verses following hee describeth the mercie of God in the wonderful creation of man, and thereon groundeth that God should not shewe himselfe against him.

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is vniuersally reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant.

18 Their assurance that time godly.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and sayde,

Should not the multitude of wordes be answered? or should a great talker be iustified?

3 Should men holde their peace at thy spes: and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast sayde, b My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh, that God would speake and openen his lippes against thee!

of thy selfe: he signifieth that man will neuer be overcome, while he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake off the contouersie, and stop mans mouth.

of wisdom, how thou hast deserved punishment, according to right: knowe therefore perfection of that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching finde out God? canst thou
finde out the Almighty to his perfection?

8 The heavens are his, what canst thou do? it is deeper
then the hell, how canst thou knowe it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.

10 If he cut off and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and
him that understandeth nothing.

12 Per vaine man would be wise, though man new horne is like a wilde asse colt.

13 If thou prepare thine heart, & stretch out
thine hands toward him:

14 If iniquitie be in thine hande, yntil he finde thee out, and let no wickednes dwell
in thy tabernacle.

15 Then truly shalt thou lift up thy face without spotte, and shalt be stable, & shalt not feare:

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it
as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the
noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bold, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge pittes, & shalt lye downe safely.

19 For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee
astayde: yea, many shall make sute vnto thee.

refuge shal perish, & their hope shal be

13 With him is wisdom and strength: he hath counsell and understanding.

14 Scholar, he will breake downe, and it cannot be builde: he shattereth a man by,
he cannot be loose.

15 Scholar, he withholdeth the waters, &
they dye by: but when he sendeth them
out, they bestrope the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisdom:
he that is deceived, and that deceiveth,
are his.

17 Wer cansteth the counsellors to goe as sheep, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 He looseth the collar of kinges, & giverth their topies with a girle.

19 He leadeeth away the princes as a pray,
and overthroweth the nightie.

20 He taketh away the speache from the faithful counsellors, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He putteth contempt upon princes, &
maketh the strength of a nightie weak.

22 He discovereth the deepe places from their darknesse, and bringeth forth the shadow of death to light.

23 He increaseth the people, & destroyerth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 He taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe over the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wil-
dernes out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light:
and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

26 He causeth their wordes
have no credit, which is, when he
will punish sinne.

27 He causeth their wordes
have no credit, which is, when he
will punish sinne.

I desire: to dispute with God.
4 For in drede he forge lies, and all pon are pplifications of no valur.

5 Oh, that thou wouldst hold pour tongue,
it might be imputed to pou for wisdom:

6 Shalve heare my disputation, and give
eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will he speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Will he accept his person? or will he contend for God?

9 Is it well that he should seke of pon?
will pon make a lye for him, as one lyeth
for a man?

10 He will surely reprove pon, if he do secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellencie make pon astrayde? and his feare fall upon pon?

12 Pour memories may bee compared unto ashes, and pour bodys to bodys of dis-clay.

13 Hold pour tongues in my presence,
that I may speake, and let come upon what will.

14 Wherefore do I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hand?

15 Koe, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will rejoyce in my waipes in his sight.

16 He shalbe my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my wordes, & marke
my talke.

18 Beholde now: if I prepare mee to indgement, I knowe that I shalbe ius-tified.

19 Who is he, that will pleade with me:
for if I holde my tongue, I die.

20 But do not these two things unto me:
then will I not hide my selfe from thee.

21 Withdrow thine hande from me, and let not thy feare make me afraide.

22 Then call thou, and I will answer: or let me speake, and answer thou me.

23 Howe many are mine iniquities and sinnes: shewe me my rebellion, and my sinne.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and ta-kest me for thine enemy?

25 Wilt thou breake a lease driven to and fro? wilt thou pursue the drisle stubble?

26 For thou wilt bitter things against mee, and makest me to possesse the in-iquities of my youth.

27 Thou puttest my feet also in stocks,
and lookest narrowly unto all my paths.

28 Thou makest the print thereof in the soles of my feet.

29 Such one consumeth like a rotten thing,
and as a garment that is moth eaten.

30 God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes. i If I defend not my cause, every man will condemne me. k He sheweth what these two things are. l His pangs thus moue him to reason with God, not denying but that he had deserved such rigour, wherein he offended, that he would knowe a cause of God why he did punish him. m Thou punishest me nowe for the faultes that I committed in my youth. n Thou makest mee thy prisoner, and doest so presse me that I cannot stirre hande nor foot.

Chap. XIII. XV.

Why Iob is reprehended. 302

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob deſcribeth the ſhortneſſe and miſerie of the life of man. 14 Hope fullneſſe the goodly. 22 The condition of mans life.

a Taking occaſion of his ſolace, he ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. b He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. c He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. d He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. e He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. f He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. g He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. h He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. i He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. k He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. l He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. m He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. n He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. o He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. p He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. q He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. r He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. s He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. t He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. u He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. v He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. w He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. x He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. y He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life. z He ſolace himſelfe with the ſhortneſſe of his life.

Man that is boyme of a woman, is of ſhort continuance, and full of trouble. He ſhooteth forth as a flower, and is cut downe: he vaniſheth alſo as a ſhadow, and continueth not. And yet thou openeſt thine eyes upon ſuch a one, and cauſeſt nice to enter into judgement with thee. Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthineſſe: there is not one. Hee not his dayes determined: the number of his moneths are with thee: thou haſt appointed his boundes, which he can not paſſe. Turne from him that he may reſt untill his deſired day, as an hyacinth. For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will yet ſprout, and the branches thereof will not ceale. Though the roote of it waxe olde in the earth, and the ſtocke thereof be dead in the ground, Yet by the ſent of water it will budde, and bring forth boughes like a plant. But man is like, and dieſh, and man perith, and where is he? As the waters paſſe from the ſea, and as the flood decapeth and dyeth up, So man ſleepeſh and riſeth not: for he ſhall not wake againe, nor be raiſed from his ſleepe till the heaven be no more. Oh that thou wouldeſt hide mee in the graine, and keepe mee ſecrete, untill thy wrath were paſt, and wouldeſt give me tennent, and remember mee! If a man die, ſhall he live againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I waite, till a new changing ſhall come. Thou ſhalt call me, and I ſhall anſwere thee: thou ſouldeſt the waye of thine owne handes. But now thou counteſt my ſteps, and doeſt not delay my ſinnes. Mine iniquitie is ſealed up, as in a bag, and thou addeſt unto my wickednes. And ſurely as the mountaine that ſallerh, cometh to nought, and the rocke that is remoned from his place: As the water breaketh the ſtones, when thou overfloweſt the things which grow in the duſt of the earth: ſo thou deſtroyeſt the hope of man. Thou prevaileſt alway againſt him, ſo that he paſſeth away: hee chaungeſh his face when thou caſteſt him away. And he knoweth not if his comings ſhall be honorable, neptier ſhall he underſtand concerning them, whether they ſhall be of lowe degree, I ſhall ſeele thy mercies, and anſwere when thou calleſt me. Thou layeſt them all together & ſuffreſt none of thy ſinnes unpuniſhed. He murmureth through the impaſſion of the ſick againſt God, as though he viſed as great ſervant him as againſt the hard rockes, or waters that overflow, when verily all the occaſion of his hope is taken away.

22 But while his ſhew is upon him, he ſhall be ſolowfull, and while his ſoule is in him, he ſhall be it ſhall mourne.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, becauſe he aſcribeth miſdeeds, and perures to himſelfe. 16 He deſcribeth the curſe that ſhall be on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and ſaid, Shall a wiſe man ſpeake words of the winde, and fill his belly with the eaſt winde? Shall he diſpute with words not come to: or with talke that is not profitable? Surely thou haſt caſt off feare, and reſtraineſt prayer before God. For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, ſeeing thou haſt choſen the tongue of the craftie. Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, & lech, not I, and thy lipsperkeſt thee againſt thee. Alſo thou theſt man that was boyme: and waſt thou made before the hulles? Haſt thou heard the ſecrete counſell of God, and doeſt thou reſtraine wiſedome to thee? What knoweſt thou that we know not? and underſtandeſt that is not in us? With us are both ancient & deep aged men, farre older then thy father. Seeme the conſolations of God ſmall unto thee? is this thing ſtrange unto thee? Why doeth thine heart ſake thee as ſo by reaſon the moſt wiſe? That thou anſwerſt to God at thy pleaſure, and bringeſt ſuch words out of thy mouth? What is man, that he ſhould be cleane? and he that is boyme of woman, that he ſhould be wiſe? Beholde, he found no ſtedfaſtneſſe in his ſaintes: yea, the heavens are not cleane in his ſight. How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which drinketh iniquitie like water? I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I have ſeene: Which wiſe men haue tolde, as they have heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it ſecrete: To whome alone the land was given, and no ſtranger paſſed through them. The wicked man is continually as one that trawpleth of childe, and the number of peres is lnd from the tyant. A ſounde of feare is in his eares, and in his proſperitie the deſtroyer ſhall come upon him. Hee beleerueſh not to returne out of the darkeneſſe: for he ſeth the ſwoyrd before him. Hee wandereth to and fro for bread wiſdome to ſtranger invaded them, & ſo the land ſeemed to be given to them alone. The cruell man is euer in danger of death, & is neuer quiet in conſcience. Out of that miſerie whereinto he once falleth. God doeth not only impoveriſh the wicked oft times: but euen in their proſperitie he puniſheth them with a greedineſſe euermore to gather: which is as a beggerie.

a That is, vayne words, and without conſolation. b Meaning, with matters that are of none importance, which are forgotten ſoone as they are uttered, as the eaſt winde dryeth up the myſture as ſoone as it falleth. c He charged Iob as though his talke cauſed men to caſt off the feare of God and prayer. d Thou ſpeakeſt as doe the mockers, & contemners of God. e That is, the moſt ancient, & ſo by reaſon the moſt wiſe. f Art thou one of his wiſe? g He accuſeth Iobs pride, and that he ingratulate, that will not be comforted by their counſell. h Why doeſt thou ſtande in thine owne conceite? i His purpoſe is to prooue, that Iob as an vniuſt man and an hypocrite is puniſhed for his ſinnes, like as he did before. Chap. 4. 18. k Which hath a deſire to ſinne, as to drinke. l Who by their wiſdome to goe, that no ſtranger invaded them, & ſo the land ſeemed to be given to them alone. m The cruell man is euer in danger of death, & is neuer quiet in conſcience. n Out of that miſerie whereinto he once falleth. o God doeth not only impoveriſh the wicked oft times: but euen in their proſperitie he puniſheth them with a greedineſſe euermore to gather: which is as a beggerie.

p He sheweth what weapons God vseth against the wicked which lift vp themselves against him, to wit, error of conscience, and outward afflictions.

q That is, he was so puffed up with great prosperitie and abundance of all things, that he forgate God:

r Noting, that Job in his felicitie had not the true feare of God.

s Though he buyle, and repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shal bring all to nought, & turne his great prosperitie into extreme miserie.

f Meaning, that his sumptuous buyldings should neuer come to perfection.

t He standeth so in his owne conceite, that he will giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shal bring him to destruction.

u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe.

x Which were buyle or maintained by powling & bribery.

y And therefore all their vaine deuices shal turne to their owne destruction.

where he may. he knoweth that the day of darkenesse is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and anguish shal inake him as a king ready to the battell.

25 For her hath stretched out his hands against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shal runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hath covered his face with his farnesse, and hath colloppes in his hande.

28 Though he dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes.

29 He shal not be rich, neither shal his substance continue, neyther shal hee prolong the perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shal neuer depart out of darkenesse: the flame shal bye vp his branches, and he shal goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He belongeth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shalbe his change.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shal destroye him as the vine her towne: grape, and shal cast him off, as the olive doeth her flower.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shalbe desolate, and fire shal denoure the houses of bydes.

35 For they conceiue mischiefe, and bying forth vanitie, and their belly hath prepared deceite.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Job moued by the importunacie of his friends, y Counteth in what extremities he is, 19 And taketh God witness of his innocencie.

1 But Job answered, and sayd,

2 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there bee none end of wordes of a winde? or what maketh thee boide so to answer?

4 I could also speake as ye do: (but would God point soules were in my soules steade) I coulde keepe you companie in speaking, and could shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should all waie your sorowe.

6 Though I speake, my sorow cannot be asswaged: though I cease, what releafe haue I?

7 But now he maketh mee wearie: O God, thou hast made all my congregation desolate,

f If they would say, Why doest thou not then comfort thyselfe? hee answereth, that the iudgements of God are more heauie, then he is able to assuage either by wordes or silence.

9 His wrath hath toine me, and her hat- teth mee, and gnatheth vpon mee with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his stile, he ex- presseth against me.

10 They haue opened their monthes vpon mee, and smitten me on the cheek in re- proche: they gather themselves together against me.

11 God hath belinered me to the winckles, and hath made me to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

14 He hath broken mee with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a giant.

15 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skine, and haue abased mine house vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes.

18 O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my crying finde no place.

19 For lo, now mine witness is in the hea- ven, and my record is on high.

20 My friends speake eloquently against me: but mine eye pouerly out teares vnto God.

15 There are none but mockers with me, & mine eye continueth in their burnings.

2 He hath also made mee a byword of

3 Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe,

5 But the righteous will holde his way,

father, and to the wayne, Thou art my

2 Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,
3 When wilt thou make an ende of your woydes? b cause vs to vnderstande, and then we will speake.
4 Wherefore are we counted as beasts,
and are vile in your sight?
5 Thou art c as one that reareth his soule in his anger. Shall the d earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place?
6 Pea, the light of the wicked shall be quenched, and the sparke of his fire shal
not shine.
7 The light shalbe darke in his dwelling, &
his candle shalbe put out with him.

truction shalbe ready at his side.
14 He shall denounce the inner parties of his dunne, and the d first dayne of death shal
bedeone his strength.
15 His hope shalbe rooted out of his dwelling, and shal cause him to go to the kingdome of feare.
16 Feare shal dwell in his house (because it is not h his) and humstone shalbe scattered vpon his habitation.
17 His routes shalbe byed by beneath, and aboue shal his brinche be cut downe.

w, nor any posteritie in his dwelling.

22 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

1 Job reprooth his friends, 15 And reciteth his mys-

h That so much the more by that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him. i He reprimeth Iob as though he denied Gods providence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this worlde. k Howe God hath punished them from the beginning? l He proueth Gods punitiōe by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe. m He answereth to that, which Iob had said, Chap. 31. 7. that the wicked haue prosperie in this worlde: desiring that hee might not be partaker of the like. n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes. first, because God sheweth himselfe iudge of y world, & by this meanes continueth his honour & glory: secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care ouer his, in that he punisheth their enemies. o That is, the state & preservation of the godly is hid vnder Gods winges. p Meaning, of the wicked. q He exhorte Iob to repentance and to returne to God. r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance. s Which shalbe in abundance like dust. t That is, the fauour of God. u God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed rounde about them, as in the flood and in Sodom. x God will deliuer a whole countrey from peril, euen for the iust mans sake.

CHAP. XXIII.

Iob affirmeth that he hath knowen and seuereth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

1 But Iob answered, and saide, 2 Though my talke be this day in bitterness, & my plague greater then my grieving, 3 As touching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, Cha. 11. 11, he declareth that he desired nothing more: but it seemed that God would not be found of him.

behold the height of the starres how his they are. 13 But thou sayest, Howe shoulde God knowe? can he iudge through the darke cloude? 14 The cloude hide him that hee can not see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen. 15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, wherein wicked men haue walked? 16 Which were cut downe before tūne, whose foundation was as a river that ouerflowed: 17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty coulde doe for them. 18 Per hee filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me. 19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne. 20 Surely our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of them. 21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperie. 22 Receiue, I pray thee, the lawe of his mouth, & lay by his wordes in thine heart. 23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be built vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from the Tabernacle. 24 Thou shalt lay by golde for dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the flintes of the riuers. 25 Pea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue silence of siluer. 26 And thou shalt then desire in the Almighty, and lift up thy face vnto God. 27 Thou shalt make thy paper vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes. 28 Thou shalt also desire a thing, and hee shall establish it vnto thee, and the light shall shine vpon thy wayes. 29 When others are cast downe, then shalt thou saye, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person. 30 The innocent shall deliuer the plaine, and it shall be preferred by the pinnelle of thine handes.

3 Would God yet I knewe howe to finde him, I would enter vnto his place. 4 I would plead the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments. 5 I would knowe the wayes, that he would answer me, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me. 6 Would he plead against mee with his great power? No, but he would put strength in me. 7 Here the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for ever from my Iudge. 8 Beholde, if I goe to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceive him. 9 If to the North where he worketh, yet I cannot see him: he will hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot beholde him. 10 But he knoweth my wayes, and tryeth me, and I shall come forth like the golde. 11 My foot hath followed his steppes: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined. 12 Neither haue I departed from the commandment of his lips, & I haue esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed food. 13 Per hee is in one minde, and who can rume him? pea, he doth what hee minde desireth. 14 For he will performe that, which is desired of me, and many such thinges are with him. 15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am asprade of him. 16 For God hath softened mine heart, & the Almighty hath troubled me. 17 For I am not cut off in darkness, but he hath hid the darkness from my face.

g His worde is more precious vnto me, then the meate wherewith the bodie is sustayned. h Iob confesseth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured, that he had appointed him to a good end. i In many poyntes man is not able to attayne to Gods iudgements. k That I should not be without feare. l Hee sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, seeth none ende, neither yet knoweth the cause.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 11 Haue all thinges are gouerned by Gods providence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

1 How should not I times be hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which know him, see not his dayes? 2 Some reioyce the lande makes, that rob the flockes and feede thereof. 3 They leade away the asse of the fatherlesse: and take the widowes ore to pledge. 4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselves together. 5 Beholde, others as wilde asses in the wildderne, goe sooth to their businesse, and because hee punisheth not y wicked, nor reuenge the godly. b When he punisheth the wicked and rowneth the good. c And for cruelitie and oppression dare not showe their faces. d That is, spare no diligence.

ground is neuer full with waters, so wil they neuer cease sinning, till they come to the graue. u Though God suffer the wicked for a before God.

1 Then answered Biddad the Shuhite,
and sayde,

maketh peace in his hie places.

vpon whom shall not his light arise?

with God? or how can he be cleane, that is boine of woman?

it by his miracles.

2 Whome helpeth thou? him that hath no power: sauest thou the arme
that hath no strength?
3 Whom counsellest thou? him that hath no wisdom: thou shewest right well

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perfensse of Iob. 13 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrant.

1 Myrouer Iob pceded and continued his parable, saying,

2 The lining God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitterness.

3 Per so long as my breath is in mee, and the Spirit of God in my nostrils,

4 My lippes surely shall speake no wickednes, & my tongue shall utter no deceit.

5 God forbid, that I should iustifie you: untill I die, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe.

6 I will keepe my righteousness, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprove me of my dayes.

7 Mine enemye shall be as the wicked, and he that riseth against mee, as the burroughs.

8 For what hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped up riches, if God take away his soule?

9 Will God heare his crye, when trouble cometh vpon him?

10 Will he set his desire on the Almighty? will he call vpon God at all times?

11 I will trache you what is in the hande of God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

12 Beholde, all ye pour felices have seene it: whye then do you thus vaunt in vanitie?

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrantes, which they shall receiue of the Almighty.

14 If his children be in great number, the sword shall destroye them, and his posteritie shall not be sanctified with bread.

15 His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes shall not weep.

16 Though he should heape vp silver as the dust, and prepare rayment as the clay,

17 He may prepare it, but the wile shall put it on, and the innocent shall denie the silver.

18 He buyeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the riche man sleepeth, he shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrours shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall carpe him away by night.

21 The East winde shall take him away, and he shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.

22 And God shall cast vpon him and not spare, though he woulde sayne his out of his hand.

23 Every man shall clappe their handes at him, and hide at him out of their place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisdom of God is vnsearchable.

1 The silver surely hath his deime, and gold his place, where they take it. Pion is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone.

2 God putteth an end to darkness, and he trieth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bounde of darkness, and of the shadowe of death.

3 The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.

4 Out of the same earth cometh bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

5 The stones thereof are a place of sapphires, and the dust of it is golde.

6 There is a path which no foule hath knownen, neither hath kites eye seene it.

7 The lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the lyon passed thereby.

8 He putteth his hand vpon the rocks, and overthroweth the mountaines by the roots.

9 He breaketh riuers in the rocks, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

10 He bindeth the floods, that they bee not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

11 But where is wisdom founde? & where is the place of vnderstanding?

12 When knoweth not the pure thereof: for it is not found in the land of the living.

13 The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also saith, It is not with me.

14 Golde shall not be giuen for it, neither shall silver bee weighed for the price thereof.

15 It shall not be valued with the wedge of golde of syphe, nor with the precious onie, nor the sapphire.

16 The golde nor the crysfall shall be equall vnto it, nor the exchange shalbe for plate of fine golde.

17 No mention shall be made of corall, nor of the gabath: for wisdom is more precious then perles.

18 The Copaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure golde.

19 Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

20 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the heauen, and is hid from the foules of the heauen?

21 Destruction and death say, Wee haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

22 But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

23 For he beholdeth the ends of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen.

24 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

25 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders,

26 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

28 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

29 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

30 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

31 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

32 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

33 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

34 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

35 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

a He hath so sore afflicted me, that men cannot iudge of mine wprightnes: for they iudge onely by outward signes.

b Howfoeuer men iudge of me, yet will I not speake contrary to that, which I haue sayd, and so do wickedly in betraying the truth.

c Which condemne me as a wicked man, because the hand of God is vpon me.

d I will not confesse that God doth thus punish me for my finnes.

e Of my selfe past.

f What advantage hath the dilembler to gayne neuer so much, seeing he shall lose his owne soule?

g That is, what God referueth to himselfe, and whereof he giueth not the knowledge to al.

h That is, these secret iudgements of God, and yet do not vnderstand them.

i Why mayntaine you then this error?

k Thus wil God order the wicked, and punish him, euen vnto his posteritie.

l None shall lament him.

m Which breedeth in another mans possession or garment, but is soone shaken out.

n He meaneth that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this worlde to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wisdom of God.

b There is nothing but it is compassed with in certain limits, and hath an end, but Gods wisdom.

c Meaning, him that dwelleth thereby.

d Which a man can not wade through.

e That is, come, and vnderneath is brimstone or cole, which easily concealeth.

f He alludeth to the mines and secrets of nature which are vnder the earth, whereinto neither soules nor beastes can enter.

g After that he hath declared the wisdom of God in the secretures of nature, he defendeth his power.

h Though Gods power and wisdom may be vnderstand in earthly things, yet his heavenly wisdom can not be attained vnto.

i It is too high a thing for man to attaine vnto in this worlde.

k It can neither be bought for golde, nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God.

l Which is thought to be a kinde of precious stone.

m Meaning, that there is no naturall meanes, whereby man might attaine to the heavenly wisdom: which he meaneth by the foules, that flee hie.

n He saith, God onely the author of this wisdom, & the giuer thereof.

28 And into man he sayde, Beholde, the fear of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from evil is understanding.

25 I appointed out their way, and bid stirre as chiefe, and dwelt as a king in the cōmandement.
armie, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Job complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemtable, 11. 21 Because of his adversitie and affliction, 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

1 B<sup>e</sup> now they that are pōnger then I, moche me: yes, they whose fathers I have refused to sit with the dogges
of my flockes.

2 For whereto shoulde the strength of their handes haue serued me, seeing age perished in them?

3 For pouertie and famine they were solletarie, fleeing into the wilderness, which is darke, desolate and waste.

4 They cut by nettles by the bushes, and the unripe rootes was their meate.

5 They were chased forth fro among men:
they shouted at them, as at a thiefe.

6 Therefore they dwelt in clefts of riuers,
in the holes of the earth and rocks.

7 They roared among the bushes, and under the thistles they gathered themselves.

8 They were the children of sooles and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their song, and I am
their talke.

10 They abhorre me, & flee farre from me,
and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my cord and humbled me, & they haue loosed the bible before me.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hand:
they haue pulst my feet, & haue trode on me as on the paths of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my pathes: they rooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.

14 They came as a great heach of waters,
and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

15 Feare is turned vpon me: & they pursue my soule as the winde, & mine health
passeth away as a cloude.

16 Therefore my soule is now powred out
vpon me, and the dapes of affliction haue taken holde on me.

17 It pearceth my bones in the night, &
my sinewes take no rest.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth mee as bout as the collar of my coate.

19 He hath cast me into the imyre, & I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare mee, neither regardst me, when I stand by.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

22 Thou takest mee by and causest mee to ride vpon the winde, and makest my me,
and I am as
halfe dead.

m Meaning, grow. n That is, God hath brought me into contempt. o He speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his afflictio, whereby he was caryed beside himselfe.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Job complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past,
7. 21 His auaritie, 12 Justice and equitie.

1 Job proceeded and continued his Sparable, saying,

2 Oh that I were as in times past,
when God preserved me!

3 When his light shined vpon mine head:
and when by his light I walked throughe
the darkness.

4 As I was in the dapes of my youth:
when Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle.

5 When the Almighty was pet with me,
and my children round about me:

6 When I walked my pathes with butter, and when the rocks powred me out rivers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, even to the indigent seate, and when I caused them
to prepare my seate in the streete.

8 The yong men saw me, and hid themselues, and the aged arose, and stood by.

9 The princes stayed talke, and laped their hand on their mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to the roofof their mouth.

11 And when the care heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye saw me, it gaue wit-nesse to me.

12 For I deliuered the poore that crept,
and the fatherles, and him that had none
to helpe him.

13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put on iustice, and it couered me: my indgment was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feete to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knewe not the cause, I sought it out discreetly.

17 I make also p chawes of p virginitous
man, & pluckt the plaw out of his teeth.

18 Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiplie my dapes as the sand.

19 For my roote is spered out by the water,
and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glorie shall renue toward me, & my bowe shall be restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto mee men gaue eare, and waped,
and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my wordes they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them.

23 And they waited for me, as for p raine,
and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.

24 If I laughed on them, they beleueed it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance to fall.

23 Surelp I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the living.

24 Doubtes none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they crie in his destruction.

25 Did not I weep with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore?

26 Per when I looked for good, &amp; euil came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darkenesse.

27 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the daies of affliction are come vpon me.

28 I went mourning without sunne: I stood vp in the congregation, and cryed.

29 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.

30 My skinn is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heate.

31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organes into the voyce of them that weep.

C H A P. XXXI.

1 Iob reuente the innocencie of his living, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithfull.

1 I made a covenant vnto mine eyes: why shoul I thinke on a maieste?

2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue: and what inheritance of the Almighty from on hie?

3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to the workers of iniquitie?

4 Doeth not he beholde my wayes, and tel all my steps?

5 If I haue walked in banitie, or if my foot hath made haste to deuite,

6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine vprightnes.

7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine handes,

8 Let me solve, and let another eate: yea, let my plants be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue layed waite at the doore of my neighbour,

10 Let my wife: grinde vnto another man, and let other men bolue bolue vpon her:

11 For this is a wickednesse, and iniquitie to be condemned.

12 Yea, this is a fire that shal deuoure to destruction, and which shall roote out all mine increase.

13 If I did contemne d indignement of my seruant, and of my maid, when they did contende with me,

14 What then shal I do when God standeth by: and when he shal visite me, what shall I answer?

15 Whether hath made me in the wombe, hath he not made him: hath not he as-

lone fashioned he in the wombe?

16 If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile,

17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof,

18 (For from my youth he hath growen by with me: as with a father, and from my mothers wombe I haue bpn a gayde vnto her)

19 If I haue scene any perishe for want of clothing, or any poore without couerning,

20 If his topnes haue not blessed me, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe,

21 If I haue lift: or by mine hande against the fatherlesse, when I sawe that I might helpe him in the gate,

22 Let mine arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.

23 For Gods punishment was I feareful vnto me, &amp; I coulde not be deliuered from his highnesse.

24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue laide to the wedge of golde, Thou art my confidence,

25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hande had gotten much,

26 If I did beholde the sunne when it shined, or the moone, walking in her brightnesse,

27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth bid kisse mine hand,

28 (This also had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denied the God aboue)

29 If I risped at his destruction that reuiged of mine hated me, or was moued to ioy when euil came vpon him,

30 Neither haue I stifed my mouth to hurt him, by wishing a curse vnto his soule.

31 Did not the men of my tabernacle say: Who shall giue vs of his flesh? wee can not be satisfied.

32 The stranger did not lodge in d strate, but I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way.

33 If I haue hid: my sinne, as Adam, ceasing mine iniquitie in my holnesse,

34 Though I could haue made asrapde a uerenced the great multitude, yet the most contemptis of the families did feare me: so I contemned, and kept silence, and went not out of the doore.

35 Wh that I had some to heare me? hee holde my: signe that the Almighty will to speake euill of witness for me: though mine aduersarie should write a booke against me.

36 Would not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a crowne vnto me?

37 I wil tel him the number of my goings, and go vnto him as to a prince.

s If mine owne doings delighted me.

z I iustified them before me, &amp; went not out of my house to reuenge it.

and cockle in the steade of barley.
THE WORDES OF IOB
ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihu reproveth them of folie. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

1 So these three men crested to answer
Iob, because hee esteemed himselfe
just.

2 Then the wyath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the familie of Ram, was kindled: his wyath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because hee iustified
himselfe more then God.

3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not finde
an answer, and yet condemned Iob.

4 (Nowe Elihu had wayped till Iob had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeeres then he)

5 So when Elihu sawe, that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wyath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel
the Buzite answered, and sayde, I am young in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afrayde to shew
you mine opinion.

7 For I sayd, The dayes shal speake, & the multitude of yeeres shal teach wisdom.
8 Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giveth understanding.

9 Great men are not alway wise, neither do
the aged alway understand iudgement.

10 Therefore I saye, Heare me, and I will shew also mine opinion.

11 Behold, I bid waite upon your wordes,
and hearkened unto your knowledge,
whyles you sought out reasons.

12 Yea, when I had considered you, loe,
there was none of you that reprovied
Iob, nor answered his wordes:

13 Least ye shoulde say, We haue founde wisdom: for God hath cast him downe,
and no man.

14 Yet hath he not directed his wordes to me, neither wil I answer him by your
wordes.

15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke.

16 Whe I had waited (for they spake not,
but stood still, and answered no more)

17 Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of matter, and the spirit
within me compelleth me.

19 Beholde, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the newe bottels that burst.

20 Therefore wil I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lippes, and wil answer.

21 I wil not now accept the person of man,
neither wil I give titles to man.

22 For I may not give titles, least my speaker should take me alway suddenly.

5 Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 Hee sheweth that God hath diuers meanes to instruct man and to draw him from sinne. 19. 29 He afflicteth man, & suddenly delivereth him. 26 Man being delivered, giveth thanks to God.

1 Wherefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare
my talke & hearken unto all my
wordes.

2 Beholde now, I have opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes are in the vynghtnesse of mine heart, and my lippes shall speake
pure knowledge.

4 The spirit of God hath made me,
and the breath of the Almighty hath gi-
uen me life.

5 If thou canst give me answer, prepare thy selfe and stand before me.

6 Beholde, I am according to thy wish in Gods steade: I am also formed of the claye.

7 Beholde, my terror shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be heauie upon
thee.

8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine
eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy
wordes.

9 I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Loe, he hath founde occasions against me, and counted me for his enemye.

11 He hath put my feete in the stocks, and looketh narrowly unto all my pates.

12 Beholde, in this hast thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why dost thou straine against him? for he doeth not give account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh once or twice, and one heareth it not.

15 In dreames & visions of the night, when sleepe falleth upon men, and they
sleepe upon their beds,

16 Then he openeth the eares of men, even
by their corrections, which he had sealed,

17 That he might cause man to turne as hyde the pride of man,

18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit,
and that his life shoulde not passe by the sword.

19 He is also stricken with sorrowe upon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore.

20 So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meate.

21 His flesh faileth that it can not be seene,
and his bones which were not seene,
clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers.

n A singular man, and as one choien out of a thousand, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: & wherein mans righteousness standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ and faith therein.

o He sheweth that it is a true token of Gods mercie toward sinners, when he causeth his word to be preached vnto them.

p That is, the minister shal by the preaching of the worde pronounce vnto him the forgiveness of his finnes.

q He shall feeble Gods fauour and reioyce: declaring hereby, wherein standeth the true ioye of the faithfull: and that God will restore him to health of bodie, which is a token of his blessing. r God will forgive his finnes and accept him as iust. s That is, done wickedly. t But my sinne hath bene the cause of Gods wrath towards mee. u God will forgive the penitent sinner. x Meaning, oft times, euen as oft as a sinner doeth repent. y If thou doubt of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it. z That is, to shewe thee, wherein mans iustification consisteth.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that he called himselfe righteous. 13 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God despoyleth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

a Which are esteemed wise of the worlde.

b Let vs examine the matter vprightly.

c That is, hath afflicted me with our measure.

d Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent?

e I am forer punished, then my sinne deserueth.

f Which is compelled to receiue thereproch and scorn of many for his foolish wordes.

g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God, and submit himselfe to his iudgements. h He wresteth Iobs wordes, who saye that Gods children are oft times punished in this worlde, and the wicked goe free. i That is, liue godly, as Gen. 5. 21.

an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man his righteousness. 24 Then will he haue mercie vpon him, and will say, I remember him, that hee goe not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Then shall his flesh be as fresh as a childes, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 He shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for he will render vnto man his righteousness.

27 He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and I peruertered righteousness, and it did not profit me.

28 Hee will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

29 For, all these things will God woike: twise of thise with a man.

30 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the living.

31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare me: keepe silence, and I will speake.

32 If there be y matter, and were mee, and speake: for I desire to iustifie thee.

33 If thou hast not, heare mee: holde thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of wisdom: God sayeth that wickednesse should be in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty.

11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.

12 And certainly God will not doe wickedly, neither will the Almighty peruerter iudgement.

13 Whome hath he appointed ouer the earth beside him selfe? or who hath placed the whole worlde?

14 If he set his heart vpon man, & gather vnto him like his spirit: & his breath, & all flesh shall perishe together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

15 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this and hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, be gouernour: and wilt thou iudge him which is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a king, Thou art wicked: or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 Howe much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore: for they be all the worke of his handes.

20 They shall die suddenly, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, & they shall passe sooth and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no barmesse nor shadowe of death, that the workes of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that hee shoulde enter into iudgement with God.

24 He shall breake downe the mightie without fear: king, and shall set vp other in their steade.

25 Therefore shall he declare their workes: he shall turne the night, and they shall be destitute.

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the secrets.

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, & would not consider all his wayes: so that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and hee hath heard the crye of the afflicted.

28 And when hee quietly quietnesse, who can make trouble: and when hee hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man ouer the world.

30 Because the hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are snared.

31 Surely it apperaineth vnto God: to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 But if I see not, teach thou mee: if I haue done wickedly, I will do no more.

33 Will hee perforce the thing through thee: for thou hast repoured it, because he clappeth his handes among vs, and 6 Neither doeth godnesse profite, or vngodlines hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked crieth vnto God, and is not heard.

1 Eliphaz saith moreover, and sayd,
 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast said, I am more righteous then
 God?

3 For thou hast sayde, What profiteth it thee and what analecth it me, to purge me
 from my sinnes?

4 Therefore wilt I answer thee, and thy companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, & see and behold
 the cloudes which are dirt then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou <sup>against</sup> him, yea, wher thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou
 vnto him? or what receiveth he at thine
 hands?

8 Thy wickednes may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousness may profite the soules of man.

9 They canse many that are oppressed, to crye, which crye out for the violence of the mighty.

10 But none saith, Where is God? he made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then <sup>beastes</sup>
 of the earth, & giueth vs more wisdom
 then the fowles of the heauen.

12 Then they crye because of the violence of the wicked, but he answereth not.

13 Surely God will not heare vanitie, neither will the almighty regarde it.

14 Although thou speest to God, Thou wilt not regarde it, yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the cuill with great extremitie.

16 Therefore Job <sup>openeth</sup> his mouth in baue, and multiplieth wordes without knowledg.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Eliphaz saith moreover, and sayd,
 Suffer me a little, and I will instruct thee: for I have yet to speake on Gods
 behalfe.

3 I will fetch <sup>my</sup> knowledg a farre off,
 and will attribute righteousness vnto my speaker.

4 For I trust my wordes shall not be false,

& he that is <sup>perfect</sup> in knowledg, speaketh with thee.

5 Beholde, the mighty God casteth away
 none that is <sup>mighty</sup> and valiant of counrage.

6 He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He with draweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with <sup>kings</sup> in the throne, where he placeth them for ever: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters and tryed
 with the cordes of affliction,

9 Then will he shewe them their <sup>wojke</sup>
 and their sinnes, because they haue bene pious.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline,
 and commandeth them that they returne
 from iniquitie.

11 If they obey and serue him, they shall ende their dayes in prosperitie, and their peeres in pleasures.

12 But if they will not obey, they shall passe
 by the sword, and perishe <sup>without</sup>
 knowledg.

13 But the hypocrites <sup>of</sup> heart increase the way: for they call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soules dyeth in <sup>pen</sup>th, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 He deliuerech the poore in his affliction,
 and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would hee haue taken thee out of the straight place into a broad place and not shut vp beneath: and <sup>that</sup> which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the <sup>indignement</sup>
 of the wicked, though indignement and requite
 maintaineth all things.

18 For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? he regardeth
 not golde, nor all thine excell in strength.

20 He not carefull in the night, howe he destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede: looke not to <sup>iniqui</sup>
 tie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Beholde, God exalteth by his power:
 what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way?
 or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his woike,
 which men beholde.

25 All men see it, and men beholde it: a

 him not, neither can the number of his peeres be searched out.

and wealth. m Thou art altogether after the maner of the wicked: for thou doest murmure against the iudice of God.
 n God doeth punish thee, least thou shouldest forget God in thy wealth, and so perishe. o Be not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any. p And so murmure against God through impatiencie. q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may see them a farre off, and know God by the same. r Our infirmities hindreth vs so, that we cannot attaine to the perfect knowledge of God.

g This comendeth the prouidence of God toward man: for if he were giuen to deuour as a Lion, nothing were able to resist him or contest him.

I Gaine the Loyde answered Iob out of the whirlewinde, and sayd,
2 Sirbe vp nowe thy loines like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.
3 Wilt thou disanull my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayst be iustified?
4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or dost thou thunder with a voyce like him?
5 Decke thy selfe now with maiestie and excellencie, and arap thy selfe with beautie and glorie.
6 Call aboade the indignation of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is proud, and abase him.
7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him low: and destroy the wicked in their place.
8 Hide them in the dust together, and bind their faces in a secret place.
9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can saue thee.
10 ¶ Behold now Behemoth (whom I made with thee) which eateth grasse as an ore.
11 How weak man power is, being compared to the works of Gods: 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and governing of the great beastes.

11 Beholde now, his strength is in his loynes, and his force is in the naule of his belly.
12 When he taketh pleasure, his taylor is like a cedar: the lineues of his stones are wiajt together.
13 His bones are like staves of brass, and his small bones like staves of iron.
14 He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: he that made him, will make his way to appoche vnto him.
15 Surely the mountains bring him forth grasse, where all the beasts of the field play.
16 Lierh he vnder the trees in the court of the roade and fennes?
17 Can the trees couer him with their shadowe? or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about?
18 Behold, he spoileth the riuer, and hath the fisher not: he trusteth that he can dwale at leisure, & rest vnto his month.
19 He taketh it with his eyes, & thursteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.
20 Canst thou dwale out? Canst thou with an hooke, and with a line which whole, thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?
21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou pierce his lawes with an angle?
22 Will hee make nym? or speake thee faire?
23 Will he make a couenant with thee? and wilt thou take him as a seruile for euer?
24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy mapdes?
25 Shall the companions banquet with him? shall they deuise him among the marchantes?
26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skin? or the fishpanier with his head?
27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the battell, and do no more so.
28 Behold, this hope is in vaine: for shall not our perush euen at the sight of him?

THE *PSALMES OF DAVID.

THE ARGVMENT.

THIS booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost to bee esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are conteyned that appertayne to true felicitie: as well in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, & heauently wisdom are here set open for vs, to take thereof most abundantly. If we woulde knowe the great, and hye maiestie of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most clearly.
If we woulde seeke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession.
If we woulde comprehend his inestimable bountie, and approche neere therunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here we may haue a most liuely, and comfortable taste thereof. If we woulde knowe wherein standeth our saluation, and howe to attayne to life euerlasting, here is Christ our onely Redeemer, and mediator most euidently described. The riche man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. Hee that will re-ioyce, shall knowe the true ioye, & howe to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and howe they ought to praye God when he sendeth them deliverance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shall see howe the hande of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet hee bridleth them, in so much as they can not touche an heare of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the ende their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here we may haue most present remedies against all tentations, & troubles of minde and conscience, so that being well practised here- in, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is layde vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

P S A L M. I.

Whether it was Eldad, or any other that gathered the Psalms into a booke, it seemeth he did it thus: Psalms first in manner of a Preface, to exhort all godly men to studie, and meditate the heavenly wisdom. For the effect hereof, 1 That they be blessed, which give themselves wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contemners of God, though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stande in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seate of the scornfull:

But his delight is in the Law of the Lord, and in his Law doeth he meditate day and night.

For he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water, that will bring forth her fruite in due season: whose leaf shall not fade: so whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.

The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the winde dyueth away.

Therefore the wicked shall not stande in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assemblie of the righteous.

For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

Though the wicked seeme to beare & swinge in this world, yet the Lord driueth them downe that they shall not rise nor stand in the company of the righteous. But tremble when they feelee Gods wrath. Doeth approue and prosper, like as not to know, is to reprove and reiect.

P S A L M. II.

The Prophet Dauid reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer, and aduance it euen to the end of the world. 10 And therefore exhorteth Kings and rulers, that they would humbly submit themselves vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vayne to resist God. Herein is figured Christs kingdom.

Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmure in vayne?

The Kinges of the earth bande themselves, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

Let vs breake their bandes, & cast their cordes from vs.

But he that dwelleth in the heauen shall laugh: the Lord shall haue the in derision.

Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and beate them in his sore displeasure, saying,

Euen I haue set my King vpon Zion. Gods plagues will declare that in resisting his Christ, they fought against him.

mine holy mountaine.

I will declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath said vnto me. Thou art my Son: this day haue I begotten thee.

Aske of mee, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the ends of the earth for thy possession.

Thou shalt krush them with a scepter of iron, and breake them in pieces like a potters vessel.

The wise men therefore, ye kings: be learned ye Judges of the earth.

Serue the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

Kisse the Sonne, least he be angry, and ye perish in the waue, when his wrath shall suddenly burne, blessed are all that trust in him.

Not onely the Iewes but the Gentiles also, learned ye rulers to repent in time. When the wicked shall say, Peace & rest, seeming yet to be in the midwaye of their purposes, then shall destruction suddenly come. 1 Thel. 5.3.

P S A L M. III.

Dauid driven forth of his kingdom, was greatly tormented in minde for his sinnes against God. And therefore calleth vpon God, & waxeth bold through his promises against the great sayings & terroris of his enemies, yea, against death it selfe, which he sawe present before his eyes. 7 Finally he reioyceth for the good successe, that God gave him, & all the Church. The Psalme of Dauid, when he fled from his sonne Absalon.

Lord, how are mine aduersaries increased: howe many rise against me?

Waxen say to my soule, There is no helpe for him in God. Selah.

But thou Lord art a buckler for me: my glory, and the lifter up of mine head.

I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

I layed me downe and slept, and rose by againe: for the Lord susteyned me.

I will not be afraid for ten thousand of the people, I should best me round about.

O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast drunken all mine enemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

Be the dangers neuer so great or hath euer meanes to deliuer his.

P S A L M. IIII.

When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and therefore boldly represseth his enemies, who wishfully resisted his dominion, 7 And finally preferreth the praise of God before all worldly treasures.

¶ Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and trust in the Lord.

¶ Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when they wheate and their wine did abound.

¶ I will lay me downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou, O Lord, O Lord, onely makest me dwell in safetie.

¶ Though your compasses please you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to naught. ¶ A King that walketh in his vocation. ¶ For the Lord's iudgement. ¶ Cease your rage. ¶ I serue God purely and without outward ceremonies. ¶ The multitude seeke worldly wealth, but David seeketh his felicitie in Gods fauour. ¶ This verse in Hebrew may be referred to God, as it is here translated, or to David, signifying that he should dwell as ioyfully alone, as if he had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

P S A L V.

¶ David oppressed with the cruelty of his enemies, & bearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his adversaries. ¶ After being assured of prosperous success, he conceiveth comfort, concluding that when God shall deliver him, others also shall partake of the same mercie.

¶ To him that exelleth vpon Agamoth.

A Psalm of David.

Hear my voyces, O Lord: vnderstand my meditation.

¶ Hearken vnto the voyce of my crye, my King and my God: for vnto thee do I pray.

¶ Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct me vnto thee, and I will waite.

¶ For thou art not a God that loneth wickednesse: neither shall euill dwell with thee.

¶ Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloodie man and deceitfull.

¶ But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

¶ Heare me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way playne before my face.

¶ For no constancie is in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their tongue is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

¶ Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their countels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

¶ And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumphe for ever, and couer thou them: and let them, that loue thy name, reioyce in thee.

¶ For thou, O Lord, wilt blesse the righteous, and with fauour wilt compass him, as with a shield.

P S A L VI.

¶ When David by his sinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and now felt not onely his hand against him, but also conceived the horrors of death everlasting, he desireth forgiveness, & bewailing that if God took him away in his indignation, he should lacke occasion to praise him as he was wont to do, while he was among men. ¶ Then suddenly feeling Gods mercie, he sharply rebuketh his enemies which reioiced in his affliction.

¶ To him that exelleth on Agamoth vpon the right tune. A Psalm of David.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

¶ Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord, for I am weak: O Lord, heale mee, for my bones are vnder.

¶ My soule is also sore troubled: but O Lord how long wilt thou delay?

¶ Returne, O Lord: deliver my soule: for I am sore troubled.

¶ For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall praise thee?

¶ I fainted in my mourning: I caused my bed euerie night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.

¶ Mine eye is dimmed for despise, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

¶ Away from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voyce of my weeping.

¶ The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receiue my prayer.

1 He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, & all kindes of wrong, which worldly men vs, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore setting apart all feare & reuerence towards God, thinke they may do all things without controuling. 15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to sende some remedie against such desperate soules. 16 And at length comforteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

Wp standest thou farre off, O Loyd, and hidest thee in a due time, euen in affliction?

2 The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the craftes that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath made boast of his owne heares desire, and the couetous blesteth himselfe: he contemmeth the Loyde.

4 The wicked is so yonde that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh alwayes, There is no God.

5 His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are hye aboue his sight: therefore he despiseth he all his enemies.

6 He saith in his heart, I shall neuer be moued, nor be in danger.

7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceite and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquitie.

8 He lieth in wayte in the villages: in the secreete places doeth he murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.

9 He lieth in wayte secretly, euen as a lyon in his denne: he lyeth in wayte to spoye the poore: he doeth spoye the poore, when he draweth him into his net.

10 He croucheth and boweth: therefore heaues of the poore do fall by his might.

11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten me: he hideth away his face, and will neuer see.

12 Arise, O Loyd God: lift by thine hand: forget not the poore.

13 Wherefore doeth the wicked contemne God: he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

By the hypocritic of them that haue authoritie, the poore are deuoured. 14 He calleth to God for helpe, because he knoweth he is farre ouergrown, that God must now helpe or neuer. 15 Therefore thou must needs punish this their blasphemie.

14 Yet thou hast saide is: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest twene the right take it into thine handes: the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

15 Speake thou the arme of the wicked and malicious: searthe his wickednesse, and thou shalt finde none.

16 The Loyde is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed shortly of his lande.

17 Loyde, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou prearest their heart: thou benidest thine eare to them,

18 To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthy man cause to feare no more.

1 This Psalm containeth two partes, In the first David sheweth howe a hard assaile of tentations he sustained, and in howe great anguish of minde he was, when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next, he reioiceth that God sent him succour in his necessity, declaring his iustice aswell in governing the good, as the wicked men, as the whole world.

PSALM XVIII.

This Psalm is the first beginning of his gratula-
on, and thanksgiving in the entring into his kingdome, where in he extollet and prayseth most highly the maruelous mercies & grace of God, who hath thus preferred and defended him. 32 Also he setteth forth the image of Christes kingdom, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquer and ouercome by the vnspakeable power of his Father, though all the whole world should sturme thereagainst.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid
the seruant of the Loyde, which spake vnto
the Loyde the wordes of this song (in the day that the Loyde deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the had of Saul and Gath).

I will loue thee dearely, O Loyde my Strength.

1 The Loyde is my rocke, and my forte,
and he that deliuereth me, my God
and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the hope also of my saluation, and my refuge.
2 I will call vpon the Loyde, which is worthy to be praised: so shal I be safe from mine enemies.
3 The sorowes of death compassed me,
and the floods of wickednesse made me
afraide.
4 The arrowes of the grane haue com-passed me about: the snares of death
nerooke me.
5 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Loyde, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my cry
did come before him, euen into his eares.
6 Then the earth trembled, and quaked:
the foundations also of the mountaines
moued & shooke, because he was angrie.
7 Smoke went out of his nostrils, and a consuming fire out of his mouth: coles were kindled thereat.
8 He bowed the heauens also and came
downe, and darknes was vnder his feete.
9 And he rode vpon Cherub and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.
10 He made darkenes his secreete place,
and his pavilion rounde about him, euen how horrible darkenesse of waters, and cloudes of the aire.
11 At the brightnesse of his presence his cloudes passed, hablestones and coles of fire.
12 The Loyde also thundred in the heauen,
and the highest gaue his voyce, hailes
stones and coles of fire.
13 Then he sent out his arrowes and scattered them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

21 Because I kept the wordes of the Lord,
and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his Lawes were before me, and I did not cast away his commandmen ts from me.

23 I was bright also with him, and haue
kept me from my wickednes.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded mee ac cording to my righteousness, and ac cording to the purity of mine hands in
his sight.

25 With the godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the bright man thou wilt shewe thy selfe bright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shewe thy selfe pure, and with the frowarde thou wilt shewe thy selfe frowarde.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people,
and wilt cast downe the proude lookers.

28 Where thou wilt light up candle: the Lord thy God will lighten up darkness.

29 For by thee I haue broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The waie of God is incorrupt: the y worde of the Lord is tryed in the fire: he is a shielde to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and ma

33 He maketh my feete like hindes feete,
and setteth me vpon mine high places.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bow of byasse is broken with mine arrows.

35 Thou hast also giuen mee the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hande hath

PSALM XXXI.

David in the person of the people praeseth God for the victory, attributing it to God, & not to the strength of man, VV herein the holy Ghost directeth the faithful to Christ, who is the perfection of this kingdom.

To him that excellently. A Psalmine of David.

1 The King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea, how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation!

2 Thou hast giuen him his hearts desire, and hast not denieed him the request of his lippes. Selah.

3 For thou hast bidest preuent him with li-berall blessings, & bidest set a crowne of pure gold vpon his head.

4 He asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer.

5 His gloie is great in thy saluation: dig-nity & honour hast thou laid vpon him.

6 For thou hast set him as a blessing for euer: thou hast made him glad with the top of thy countenance.

7 Because the King trusteth in the Lord, and in the mercy of the most High, he shall not slide.

8 Thine hande shall finde out all thine enemies, and thy right hande shall finde out them that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them like a fire oven in time of thine anger: the Lord shall de-stroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them.

10 Their fruit shalt thou destroye from the earth, and their seed from the children of men.

11 For they intended euill against thee, and imagined mischief, but they shall not preuaile.

12 Therefore shalt thou put them apart, and the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

PSALM XXXII.

David complained because he was brought into such extremitie, that he was past all hope, but after hee had rehearsed the sorowes and griefes, wherewith he was vexed, 10 He recovereth himselfe from the bottomlesse pit of ostentations, and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne person he setteth forth the figure of Christ, whom he did foresee by the Spirit of prophesie, that he should maruailously, and strangely be deliued, and absold, before his Father should raise and exalt him againe.

To him that excellently vpon Dauid. A Psalmine of Dauid.

1 O Lord, my God, why hast thou forsaken mee, and art so farre from mine health, and from the wordes of my roaring?

PSALM XXX.

1 A prayer of the people vnto God, that it would please him to heare their King, and receive his sacrifice, which he offered before he went to battell against the Ammonites.

To him that excellently. A Psalmine of Dauid.

1 The Lord heare thee in the day of trouble: the name of the God of Iacob defend thee.

2 Send thee helpe from the Sanctuarie, and strengthen thee out of Zion.

3 Let him remember all thine offerings, and turne thy burnt offerings into ashes. Selah.

4 And grant thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy desire.

5 That we may reioyce in thy saluation, and let vs by the banner in the name of our God, when the Lord shall perfoyme all thy petitions.

6 Now know I that the Lord will helpe his anointed, and will heare him from his Sanctuarie, by the mightie helpe of his right hand.

7 Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will remember the name of the Lord our God.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sinnes, and also grieved with the cruell malice of his enemies, 6 Prayeth to God most earnestly to haue his sinnes forgiven, 7 Especially such as he had committed in his youth. He beginneth euery verse according to the Hebrew letters two or three except.

A Psalme of David.

1 Vnto thee, O Lord, lift I up my soule.
2 My God, I trust in thee: let me
not be confounded: let not mine enemies
reioyce ouer me.
3 O all that hope in thee, shall not be asshamed: but let them be confounded, that transgress without cause.
4 Shew me thy wayes, O Lord, & teach me thy pathes.
5 Leade me forth in thy truth, & teach me:
for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee do I trust all the day.
6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindenesse: for they haue
bene for euill.
7 Remember not the sinnes of my youth,
nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindenesse remember thou me, euen for thy goodnes sake, O Lord.
8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord:
therefore will hee teach sinners in the way.
9 Them that be meke, will hee guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his
way.
10 All the pathes of the Lord are mercy and truth, vnto such as keepe his covenant
and his testimonies.
11 He will gouerne and comfort them that are truly humbled for their sinnes.

11 For thy goodnes sake, O Lord, be merciful vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.
12 What man is he that feareth the Lord?
him will hee teach the way that hee shall chuse.
13 His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seed shall inherite the land.
14 The secretes of the Lord is reueiled to them, that feare him: and his covenant to giue them vnderstanding.
15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for
he will bring my feete out of the net.
16 Turne thy face vnto me, and haue mercie vpon mee: for I am desolate and poore.
17 The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.
18 Looke vpon mine affliction & my trouble,
and forgie all my sinnes.
19 Beholde mine enemies, for they are manie, and they hate me with cruel hatred.
20 Keepe my soule, and deliuer me: let mee
not be confounded, for I trust in thee.
21 Let mine vnguiltinesse and equitie pre-
serue me: for mine hope is in thee.
22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

sed, the more nere felt he Gods helpe, p

that thou art the defender of my iust cause.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 David oppressed with many iniuries, finding no help in the world, calleth for ayde from God: and assured of his integritie towards Saul, desireth God to be his iudge, and to defende his innocencie, 6 Finally hee
maketh mention of his sacrifice, which hee will offer
for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the companie
of the faithfull in the Congregation of God, whiche
he was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life,
and open praises and thankes giuing.

A Psalme of David.

1 Iudge me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.
2 Vouch me, O Lord, & trie me: examine my reines, and mine heart.
3 For thy louing kindenesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy truth.
4 I haue not haunted with vaine per-sious, neither kept companie with the dis-semblers.
5 I haue hated the assemblie of the euill,
and haue not companied with the wis-
ked.
6 I will wash mine hands in innocencie,
O Lord, and compasse thine altar.
7 That I may declare with the voyce of thankesgiuing, and set forth all thy won-derous woorkes.
8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thyne house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 David maketh this Psalm being deliuered from great perill, as appeareth by the praises and thankes-giving annexed: 6 Wherein we may see the constant faith of David against the assaults of all his enemies, 7 And also the ends wherefore he desireth to live and to be deliuered, onely to worshippe God in his Congregation.

A Psalm of Dauid.

1 The Lord is my light and my saluation, whome shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whome shall I be afraid?
2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies &
my foes came vpon mee to eate up my flesh, they stumbled and fell.
3 Though an hoste pitched against mee,
mine heart should not be afraid: though warre be rapted against mee, I will trust
in this.
4 One thing haue I desired of the Lord,
that I will require, euen that I may dwell
in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to behold the beautie of the Lord,
and to praise his Temple.
5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide
mee in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pauilion shall he hide mee, and set me
vpon a rocke.
6 And now he shall lift up mine head aboue mine enemies rounde about mee:
therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and praise the Lord.
7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I cry: haue mercie also vpon me & heare me.
8 When thou saidst, "Sake ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face."
9 Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.
10 Though my father and my mother should forsake me, yet the Lord will gather me vpon.
11 Teache me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.
12 Giue me not vnto the lust of mine ad-uersaries: for there are false witnesses risen vp against mee, and such as sprake cruelly.
13 I should haue fainted, except I had be-lieued to see the goodnesse of the Lord in the land of the liuing.
14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall confort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

a Because he was assured of good successe in
all his dangers,
& that his salua-
tion was surely laid vp in God,
he feared not tyranny of his enemies.
b That God wil
deliuer me, and
giue my faith
the victorie.
c The losse of
countrie, wife,
and all worldly commodities
griue me not in respect of this
one thing, that I may not praye
thy name in the middles of the congregation.
d David assured
himselfe by the Spirit of prophetic, that he shoulde ouer-
come his enemies and serue
God in his Tabernacle.
e He groundeth
vpon Gods promise, & sheweth
that he is most willing to obey
his commande-
ment.
f He magnifieth Gods loue towards his, which farre passeth the
most tender loue
of parents towards their children.
g But either pa-

bridle their rage. h In this present life before I die, as Isa. 38. 11. i He exhorteth himselfe to depende on the Lord, seeing he neuer fayled in his promises.

P S A L. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare and heauinesse of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, he desireth to be rid of them, 4 And cryeth for vengeance against them and at length assureth him self, that God hath heard his prayer, 9 Vnto whose nation he commendeth
all the faithfull.

A Psalm of Dauid.

1 Vnto thee, O Lord, do I cry: my strength, be not deafe towards mee, least, if thou answere me not, I be-
like them that goe downe into the pit.
2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I holde vpon mine hands towards thee O holy Oracle.
3 Deliue me not away with the wicked,
with workers of iniquitie: which speake
friendship to their neighbours, when mis-lice is in their hearts.
4 Reward them according to their deeds, and according to the wickednesse of their intentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.
5 For they regarde not the workes of the Lord, nor the operation of his handes:
therefore breake them downe, and builde
them not vp.
6 Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard
the voyce of my petitions.
7 The Lord is my strength and my shield:
mine heart trusted in him, & I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him.
8 The Lord is their strength, and he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anons.
9 Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: for he then also, & exalt thy for euer.
f Because he felt the assurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his praises. g Meaning, his souldiers, who were a meanes, by whome God declared his power.

P S A L. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the worlde, (which for the most part thinke there is no God) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders &
tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11
And though thereby God threateth sinners, yet is he alwayes mercifull to his, and moueth them thereby to praise his Name.

A Psalm of Dauid.

mighty: giue vnto the Lord glory
and strength.
2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie.

the Lord is vpon the great waters.
4 The voyce of the Lord is mightie: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

PSAL XXXII.

1 David promised with grievous sickness for his finnes, counteth them blessed, to whom God doeth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that he had confessed his finnes and obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked man to loue godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

A Psalm of David to giue instruction.

Blessed is he whose wickednes is forgiven, and whose sinne is covered.

Blessed is the man, unto whom the Loide imputeth not iniquitie, & in whose spirite there is no guile.

When I held my tongue, my bones

sinued, or when I roared all the day,

For thine hand is heauie vpon me, day and night: and my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah.

Then I acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, nepther hid I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe

my wickednes vnto the Loide, & thou forgauest the punishment of my sinne. Selah.

Therefore shall euery one, that is godly,

make his prayer vnto thee in a time, when thou maiest be founde: surely in the flood of great waters: they shall not come neere him.

Thou art my secret place: thou pre-ferrest me from trouble: thou compassedst me as about with ioyfull deliuerance. Selah.

I will instruct thee, and teach thee in the way, that thou shalt goe, and I will guide

thee with mine eye.

Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule,

which vnderstand not: whose mouthes

thou dost binde with bit and bridle, least

they come neere thee.

Many folowers shall come to the wicked:

but he, that trusteth in the Loide, mercie

shall compass him.

Be glad ye righteous, and reioyce in the Loide, and be ioyfull al ye, that are vpright in heart.

David promised to make the rest of Gods children partakers of the benefites, which he felt, & that he will diligently looke and take care to direct them in y way of saluation. i If men can rule brute beasts, thinke they, y God wil not bridle & tame their rage? k He sheweth that peace and ioy of conscience in the holy Ghost is the fruite of faith.

uerneth the same, but also is faithful in his promise, 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, & scattereth the counsell of the wicked, 16 So that no man can be preferred by any creature or mans strength, but they, that put their confidence in his mercie, shall be preferred from all aduersities.

Reioyce in the Loide, O ye righteous: for it becometh y bright men to be thankefull.

Blaise the Loide with harpe: sing vnto him with bucle & instrument of ten strings.

Sing vnto him a new song: sing there-

fully with a loud voyce.

For the word of the Loide is righteous,

and all his wayes are faithful.

He loneth righteousness & iudgement:

the earth is full of goodnesse of the Loide.

Wp the word of the Loide were the hea-uens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.

He gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and lapeth by the depthes in his treasures.

Let all the earth feare the Loide: let all them that dwell in the world, feare him.

For he spake, and it was done: he commanded, and it stood.

The Loide breaketh the counsell of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the deuis-

es of the people.

The counsell of the Loide shall stande foruer, & his thoughts of his heart throughout all ages.

Blessed is that nation, whose God is the Loide: euen the people, that hee hath chosen for his inheritance.

The Loide looketh downe fro heauen,

& beholdeth all the children of men.

From the habitatio of his dwelling he beholdeth all that dwell in the earth.

He facioneth their heartes euery one,

and vnderstandeth all their wayes.

The King is not saved by the multitude of an hoste, neither is the mightie

man deliuered by great strength.

A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength.

Beholde, the eye of the Loide is vpon

them that feare him, and vpon them, that trust in his mercie.

To deliuer their soules from death, and to prelerue them in famine.

Our soule waiteth for the Loide: for he is our helpe and our shield.

Surely our heart shall reioyce in him,

because we trusted in his holp name.

Let thy mercie, O Loide, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

all things are gouerned by Gods providence and not by force.

k Therefore he knoweth their wicked enterprises. l If Kings and the mighty of the world can not be saued by worldly meanes, but only by gods providence, what haue others to trust in, y haue not like meanes? m God sheweth y toward his of his mercie, which man by no meanes is able to copasse. n Thus he speaketh in the name of the whole church, which only deped on Gods promise.

his example to trust in God, to feare and serue him:
14 Who defendeth the godly with his angels, 15
And vnto the wicked the wicked in their fones.

A Psalm of Dauid. When he changed his behaviour before Achimelech, who dyone
him away, and he departed.

Will I giue thee thanks vnto the Lorde: his praise shall be in my mouth continually.

My soule shall glorie in the Lorde: the humble shall heare it and be glad.

Magnifye the Lorde with me, and let vs
magnifye his name together.

I sought the Lorde, & he heard me: pea,
he deliuered me out of all my feare.

They shall looke vnto him, and runne
to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed, saying,

This poore man cryed, and the Lorde heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles.

The Angel of the Lorde pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliue-reth them.

Caste ye and see, how gracious the Lorde
is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

Feare the Lorde, ye his Saints: for nothing wannerth to them that feare him.

The Lions do lacke and suffer hunger,
but they which seeke the Lorde, shall want nothing that is good.

Come children, hearken vnto me: I will teach you the feare of the Lorde.

What man is he, that desireth life, and lovethe long dayes for to see good?

Keep thy tongue from euill, & thy lips,
that they speake no guile.

Eschew euill & do good: seeke peace and followe after it.

The eyes of the Lorde are vpon the righteous, & his eares are open vnto their crye.

But the face of the Lorde is against them
that do euill, to cut off their remembrance
from the earth.

The righteous crie, and the Lorde heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their
troubles.

The Lorde is nare vnto them that are of a contrite heart, and will saue such as
be afflicted in spirit.

Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lorde deliuereth him out of them all.

He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

But malice shall slay the wicked: & they
that hate the righteous, shall perish.

The Lorde redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none, that trust in him, shall perish.

When they seeme to be swallowed vp with afflictions, then God is hand to deliuer them. m And as Christ sayth, all the heares of his head. n Their wicked enterprises shall turne to their owne destruction. o For when they seeme to be overcome with prouidings and death it selfe, then God sheweth himselfe their redemer.

1 Solong as Saul was enemie to Dauid, all that had any authoritie vnder him to flatter their king (as in the course of the world) did also most cruelly persecute Dauid: against whom he prayeth God to please and to auenge his cause, & that they may be taken in their nettes & snares, which they layd for him, that his innocencie may be declared. 27 And that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce &

praise the name of the Lorde, that thou deliuerest
his seruant. 28 And so he promisseth to speake forth
the iustice of the Lorde, & to magnifye his name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Lead thou my cause, O Lorde, with them that stricke with me: fight thou against them, that fight against me.

Lay hand vpon the shield and buckler,
and stand by for mine helpe.

Bring out also the speare and stoppe the way against them, that persecute me: say
vnto my soule, I am thy saluation.

Let them be confounded & put to shame,
that lacke after my soule: let them be turned backe and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

Let them be as chaffe before the winde, &
let the Angel of the Lorde scatter them.

Let their way be darke & slippery: and let the Angel of the Lorde persecute them.

For without cause they haue layd the pit & their net for me: without cause haue
they digged a pit for my soule.

Let destruction come vpon him at braueries, and let his net, that he hath layde privily, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

Then my soule shall be sorful in the Lorde:
it shall reioyce in his saluation.

All my bones shall say, Lorde, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore
from him, that is too strong for him: pea, the poore, and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him!

Cruell witnesses did rise vnto: they asked of me things that I knew not.

They rewarded mee euill for good, to
haue spoiled my soule.

Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule
with fasting: and my prayer was runned
vpon my boosome.

I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my self, mounning as one that bewaileth his mother.

But in mine aduersitie they reioyced, & gathered themselves together: the ad-uersaries assembled themselves against me, &
I knew not: they tare me & crossed not.

With the false shuffers at o bankets, gnashing their teeth against me.

Lorde, how long wilt thou beholde this:
deliuer my soule from their tumult, even
my desolate soule from the lions.

So will I giue thee thanks in a great Congregation: I will praise thee among
much people.

Let not them that are mine enemies,
all comfort, and brought me into despaire. I prayed for them with inward affection, as I would haue done for my selfe: or, I declared mine affection with bowing downe mine head. m When they sawe me readie to slip, and as one that halted for infirmities, n With their rayling words. o The word significeth cakes: meaning, that the proude courtiers at their deuine feasts scoffe, taile, and conspire his death.

a He desireth

deliuereth him

1 For they are daily fed as with manna from heaven, & have abundance when the wicked have never enough, but ever hunger. 2 God knoweth when dangers hang over his, and by what means to deliver them. 3 For God will punish committed sinners, and that which shall be necessary. 4 They shall van away suddenly: for they provide for the day of laughter. 5 God so humbled him with his affliction, that he is able to help others. 6 God professeth the faithful, because they make in his ways with an upright conscience. 7 When God and exercise his will with divers temptations. 8 Though the just man die, yet Gods blessings are committed to his posterity, & through Gods favour shall continue till the end of time. 9 Though the wicked shall be cut off, yet his seed shall inherit the land, and dwell therein. 10 The mouth of the righteous will speak of wisdom, and his tongue will talk of judgement. 11 For the law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide. 12 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him. 13 But the Lord will not leave him in his hands, nor condemn him, when he is judged. 14 Wait thou on the Lord, and keep his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt live. 15 I have seen the wicked strong, & spreading himself like a green bay tree. 16 But he is passed away, and loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 7 Sparke the upright man, and behold y the just: for the ende of that man is peace. 38 But the transgressours shall be destroyed together, & the ende of the wicked shall be cut off. 39 But the salvation of the righteous men shall be of the Lord: he shall be their strength in the time of trouble. 40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliver them: he shall deliver them from the wicked, and shall save them, because they trust in him.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

1 David being sicke of some grievous disease, acknowledgeth himselfe to be chastised of the Lords for his sinnes, and therefore prayeth God to turne away his wrath. 5 Hee uttereth the greatness of his griefe by many words & circumstances, as wounded with the arrows of God, forsaking of his friends, and entreated of his enemies. 22 But in the ende with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, and hopeth for speedie helpe at his hands.

1 O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath. 2 For thine arrows have light upon me, and thine hand lieth upon me. 3 There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones because of my sinne. 4 For mine iniquities are gone over mine head, and as a weightie burden they are too heauie for me. 5 My woundes are putrified, and corrupt because of my foolishnes. 6 I am holwed, and crooked verp soze: I go mourning all the day. 7 For my reins are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh. 8 I am weakened & soze broken: I roare for the verp griefe of mine heart. 9 Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee. 10 Mine heart panted: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, even they are not mine owne. 11 My lovers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my kinsmen stand a farre off. 12 They also, that seek after my life, laye snares, and they that goe about to do me evil, talke wicked things and imagine desperate continually. 13 But I as a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumme man, which openeth not his mouth. 14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no rejoyces. 15 For on thee, O Lord, doe I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God. 16 For I saide, Heare me, least they reioyce

PSAL XLI.

1 David being grievously afflicted, blesteth them that perce his case, 9. And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends & familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Ioh. 13. 18. After her feeling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 13. Giveth most heartily thanks vnto God.

To him that exalteth. A Psalm of David.

1 Blessed is he that <sup>1</sup>udgeth wisely of the bygone: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.
2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserve
him alme: he shall be blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.
3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the bed of sorrow: thou hast turned all his bed in his sickness.
4 Therefore I sayd, Lord haue mercy vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.
5 Mine enemies <sup>1</sup> speake euill of me, saying,
When shall he die, and his name perish?
6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh
e ypes, but his heart heareth iniquitie
within him, and when he communeth soothly,
he telleth it.
7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: euen against me do they imagine mine hurt.
8 <sup>1</sup> minechiefe is light vpon him, and he
that pereth, shall no more rise.
9 Psea, my <sup>1</sup> familiar friende, to whome I trusted, which did eate of my bread, hath lifted vp the heele against me.
10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercy vpon me,
and raise me vp: so I shall reward them.
11 By this I knowe that thou fauourest me, because mine enemy doeth not triumph against me.
12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me in mine integritie, and dost set me before

thy <sup>1</sup> face for ever.

13 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel wondrously without ende, <sup>1</sup> So be it, euen so be it.

P S A L. XLII.

1 The Prophet grievously complaineth, that being let-ted by his persecutors, he could not be present in the Congregation of Gods people, protesting that although he was separated in bodie from them, yet his heart was thitherward affixed. 7. And last of all he sheweth, that he was not so farre overcome with these sorrows & thoughts, 8. But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

To him that exalteth. A Psalm to gine instruction, committed to the singers of Mojah.

1 As the harte heareth for the riners of water, so <sup>1</sup> pauntery my soule after thee, O God.
2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the living God: when shall I come and ap-peare before the presence of God?
3 My teares haue bene my meate daye
and night, while they say vnto me,
Where is thy God?
4 When I remembered <sup>1</sup> these things, I poured out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and led them into the House of God with the voyce of singing, and psalme, as a multitude that heereth a feast.
5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vniquiet within me? <sup>1</sup> waite on God: for I will per gine him thanks for the helpe
of his presence.
6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, <sup>1</sup> because I remember thee, from the laude of Jordan, and Hermonim, and my contrarie from the mount Syzar.
7 One <sup>1</sup> deepe calleth another deepe by the nople of thy water spoutes: all thy waues
and thy floods are gone ouer me.
8 The Lord <sup>1</sup> will graunt his louing kinde-nesse in the daye, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life.
9 I will say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? Why got I mourning, when the enemy oppres-
seth me?
10 My bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reioyce in me, saying dayly vnto
me, Where is thy God?
11 Why art thou cast downe, my soule?
and why art thou disquieted within me?
waite on God: for I will per gine him
thanks: he is my present helpe and my God.
vpon me, that I felt my selfe as ouerwhelmed: whereby he shew-

PSALM XLIIII.

1 The faithfull remember the great mercy of God to- wards his people. 9 After they complaine, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they alledge the cove- nant made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they shew what grimaunt things they suffered. 23 Fi- nally they pray vnto God not to conteme their af- flictions, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Iosaph.

h This Psalme seemeth to haue bene made by some excellent Prophet for the vse of the peo- ple, when the Church was in extreme misery, either at their returne from Babylon, or vnder Antiochus, or in such like affliction.
b That is, the Canaanites.
c To wit, our fathers.
d Of Canaan.
e That is, our fathers.
f Gods free mer- cie and loue is the onely foun- taine & begin- ning of Church, Deut. 4. 37.
g Because thou art our king, therefore deliuer thy people from their misery.
h Because they and their forefathers made both one Church, they applie that to themselves, which before they did attribute to their fathers.
i As they confessed before, that their strength came of God, so now they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iust iudgement.

1 We haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue tolde vs the workes, that thou hast done in their dayes, in the olde time.
2 Howe thou hast driuen out the heathen which thine hand, and planted them: how thou hast destroyed the people, and caus- ed them to grow.
3 For they inherited not the land by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hande, and thine arme and the light of thy countenance, because thou diddest fauour them.
4 Thou art my king, O God: sende helpe vnto Iosaph.
5 Though they haue we thynst backe our aduersaries: by thy name haue we tro- den downe them that rose vp against vs.
6 For I do not trust in my bowe, neither can my sword saue me.
7 But thou hast saued vs from our aduersa- ries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.
8 Therefore will we praise God continu- ally, and will confesse thy name for euer. Selah.
9 But now thou art farre off, and puttest vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.
10 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, and they, which hate vs, spoyle us for themselves.

11 Thou givest vs as sheepe to be eaten, and dost scatter vs among the nations.
12 Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and dost not increase their price.
13 Thou makest vs a reproch to our neigh- bours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.
14 Thou makest vs a yowbe among the nations, & a nodding of the head among the people.
15 Thy confusion is dayly before me, and the shame of my face hath courred me.
16 For the voyce of the slanderer and re- buker, for the enemy and anenger.
17 All this is come vpon vs, yet do we not forget thee, neither deale we falsly con- cerning thy covenant.
18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy path.
19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe in- to the place of dragons, and couered vs with the shadow of death.
20 If we haue forgotten the name of our God, and holden vp our hands to a strange god, 21 Shall not God searche this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.
22 Surely for thy sake are we staine con- tinually, and are counted as they for thy slaughter.
23 Up, why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake, be not farr off for euer.
24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face? & for- gotten our miserie and our affliction?
25 For our soule is beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.
26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

For of tentation, here we see the power of faith, which can be overcome by no perils. p They shewe that they honoured God aright, because they trusted in him alone. q They take God to witnesse: they were vpright to himward. r The faithfull make this their com- fort, that if wicked punish them not for their finnes, but for Gods cause, Mat. 5. 40. 1. Pet. 4. 14. f There is no hope of recoverie, ex- cept thou put to thine hand, & misse vs vp. i Which is the only and sufficient ranome to deliuer both body and soule from all kinde of slaue and miserie.

PSALM XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his bonour, strength, bea- tie, riches & power are praised, and also his marriage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman is blessed, so that she can reuence her people & the law of her country, & give her self wholly to her husband. Under the which figure, the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdom of Christ and the Church his spouse new taken of the Gentiles is described.

To him that excelleth on. Shoshammim a This was a can- a song of loue to giue instruction, com- mitted to the sonnes of Iosaph.

2 Thou art fairer then the children of c Salomons bea- men: grace is powred in thy lippes, be- tie & eloquent to winne fauour with his people, and his power to overcome his enemies, is here desired.

3 And thy sword upon thy thigh, & most might, to wit, thy worship and thy glory, 4 And prosper with thy glory: & ride upon the waves of truth and of meekness and of righteousness: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things. 5 Thine arrows are as sharpe to pierce the heart of the kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall under thee. 6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: the scepter of thy kingdom is a scepter of righteousness. 7 Thou lovest righteousness, and hatest wickedness, because God, even thy God hath anointed thee with oil of gladness above thy fellows. 8 All thy garments smell of myrrour and aloes, and cassia, when thou comest out of the princely palaces, & where thou hast made thee glad. 9 Kings daughters were among thine honourable wives: upon thy right hand did stand the Queen in a vesture of golde of Opphir. 10 Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people and thy fathers house. 11 So shall the king have pleasure in thy beauty: for he is thy Lord, and reverence thou him. 12 And the daughter of Tyrus with the riches of the people shall do homage before thy face with presents. 13 The kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of divers gold. 14 She shall be brought unto the king in rayment of needle woike: the virgins shall follow after her, and her companions shall be brought unto thee. 15 With love and gladness shall they be brought, & shall enter into the kings palace. 16 In stead of thy fathers shall thy children be: thou shalt make them princes through all the earth. 17 I will make thy name to be remembered through all generations: therefore shall the people give thanks unto thee world without ende.

PSALM XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thanksgiving for the deliverance of Jerusalem, after Sennacherib with his army was driven away, or some other like sudden & marvellous deliverance by the mightie hande of God. 2 Wherby the Prophet commending this great benefit, doth exhort the faithful to give themselves wholly into the hande of God, doubting nothing but that under his protection they shall safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his desire to affrage the rage of the wicked, when they are most busy against the iust.

To him that exelleth upon a Mount a song committed to the sonnes of Asaph.

1 God is our hope & strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found. 2 Therefore will not we feare, though the earth be moved, & though the mountains fall into the middes of the sea. 3 Though the waters thereof rage and be troubled, & the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah. 4 Yet there is a River, whose streames shall make glad the cite of God: even the Sanctuary of the Tabernacles of most High. 5 God is in the mids of it: therefore shall it not be moved: God shall helpe it verily. 6 When the nations raged, and the kingdoms were moved, God thundered, and yet the rivers of the earth melted. 7 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iacob is our refuge. Selah. 8 Come, and behold the woikes of the Lord, what desolations he hath made in the earth. 9 Hee maketh warres to cease unto the ends of the world: he breaketh the bowe and cutteth the spear, and burneth the chariots with fire. 10 Be still and knowe that I am God: yet if God have will be exalted among the heathen, and I will be exalted in the earth. 11 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iacob is our refuge. Selah.

They are assured of God can & will defend his Church from all dangers and enemies. h To wit, howe oft he hath destroyed his enemies & delucred his people. i He warneth them that persecute his Church, to cease their crueltie: for els they shall seele that God is too strong for them, against whom they fight.

PSALM XLVII.

To him that exelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Asaph.

1 All people clap your handes: sing loud unto God with a ioyful voyce. 2 For the Lord is high, and terrible: a great king over all the earth. 3 He hath subdued the people under vs, and the nations under our feete. 4 He hath chosen our inheritance for vs: even the glory of Iacob whom he loved. Selah. 5 God is gone by with triumph, even the Lord, with the sound of the trumpet. 6 Sing praise to God, sing praises: sing praises unto our king, sing praises. 7 For God is the king of all the earth: sing Gentiles, ye that understand, sing every one that hath understanding. 8 God hath chosen vs above all other nations to enjoy a most glorious inheritance: d He doth allude vnto trumpets that were blown at solemne feastes: but he doth further signifie the triumph of Christ & his glorious ascension into heaven. e He requirith that vnderstanding be ioyned with singing, least the Name of God be profaned with vaine crying.

PSAL XLVIII.

A notable deliverance of Ierusalem from the hands of many kings is mentioned, for the which thanks are given to God, & the state of that citie is praised, that hath God so presently at all times ready to defende them. The Psalm is steept to be made in the time of Ahas, Ioshaphat, Asa or Ezechiah: for in their times chiefly was the citie by force of princes assaulted.

Some put this difference betweene a song & Psalm, saying that it is called a song, when there is no instrument, but voice & the Psalm, the contrary. The song of y Psalm is when the instruments begin, and the voice followeth. The Psalm of the song, y contrary.

Albeit God shew his wondrous through all the world, yet he will be chiefly praised in his church. Because the word of saluati- on came thence to all them that should beleue. Except God were the defence thereof, neither situation nor munition could preuaile. They conspi- red and went against Gods people. The enemies were afraid at the sight of the Citie.

g That is, of Cilicia, or of the Sea called Mediterranean. h To wit, of our fathers, so haue we proued: or, God hath performed his promises. i In al places where thy Name shalbe heard, of men shall praise thee, when they heare of thy mar- uellous workes. k Let Ierusalem and the citie of Iudea reioyce for thy iust iudgements against thine enemies. l For in this out- ward defence & strength Gods blessings did also appeare: but the chief is to be referred to Gods fauour and secreete defence, who neuer leaureth his.

PSAL XLIX.

The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life, shewing them not to be most blessed, that are most wealthy, & therefore not to be feared: but contrarywise be lieth up our minds to consider howe all things are ruled by Gods providence: 14 VVho as he iudgeth these worldly misers to euer- lasting torments, 15 So doth he preferre his, & will re- ward them in the day of the resurrection, 2. Heare this, all ye people: giue eare, all ye that dwell in the world, As well lowe as he, both rich and poore.

My mouth shall speake of wisdom, and the meditation of mine heart is of know- ledge.

I will incline mine eare to a parable, and bitter my graue matter vpon the harpe. Wherefore shoulde I feare in the euill dayes, when iniquitie shall compasse me about, as at mine heeles?

They trust in their goods, & boast them- selues in the multitude of their riches. Yet a man can by no means redeeme his brother: he can not giue his ransom to God.

So precious is the redemption of their soules, and the continuance for euer. That he may liue still for euer, and not see the graue.

For he seeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant & foolish perish, and leaue their riches for others.

Yet they thinke, their houses, and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, and call their lands by their names.

But man shall not continue in honour: he is like the beasts that die. That their wap vetereth their foolish- nes: yet their posteritie delight in their talke. Selah.

Like sheepe they lie in graue: death denouret them, and the righteous shall haue dominati- on over them in h mo- rning: for their beaustie shall consume, when they shall goe from their house to graue.

But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: for he will re- ceive me. Selah.

Be not thou afraid when one is made riche, and when the gloie of his house is increased.

For he shall take nothing away when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descend after him.

For while he liued, he reioiced him- selfe: and men will praise thee, when thou makest much of thy selfe.

Ye shall enter into the generation of his fathers, & they shal not liue for euer. What is his honour, and vnderstandeth not: he is like to beasts that perish.

and do the same thing that their fathers did. gathered into the solde, so shall they be brought to the graue. Because they haue no part of life euers- lasting, as the morning, when y elect shal reigne with Christ their head ouer the wicked.

Or, because he hath received vns. 1oh. 3. 16. 7. Or, he blessed his soule. Or, his soule. Or, he past the terme appointed for life. Both they & their fathers shall liue here but a while, and ar length dye for ener. PSAL L.

Because the Church is alway full of hypocrites, 8 VVhich doe imagine that God will be worshipped with.

He will inter- how God goes- neth the wor- lde by his pro- uidence which cannot be perceived by the iudgement of the flesh.

Though we- kedness re- pte in enemies rage, seeing God will execute his iudgements a- gainst the wic- ked in time con- uenient.

To trust in riches is mere madness, seeing they can neither restore life nor prolong it.

That is, so rare, or not to be found, as people- cie was precious in the dayes of Eli. 1 Sam. 1. 16.

They haue laid a net for my steps: & my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, and are fallen into the middes of it. Selah.

Awake my tongue, awake viol and harpe: I wil awake early.

I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I wil sing vnto thee among the nations.

For thy mercie is great vnto the heauens, and thy tructh vnto the cloudes.

Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue heauens, and let thy gloie be vpon all the earth.

A Psalm of David on Achitaim.

Ist it true? O Congregation, speake ye iustly: O sornes of men, iudge ye vprightly.

The wicked are strangers from the innocent. Ye are not ashamed to execute that crueltie publicly, which ye haue imagined in your hearts. c That is, enemies to the people of God, euen from their birth.

1 They boast

they neither

2 Though Saul

PSAL. LX.

1 David being now king over Iudah, and having had many victories, sheweth by evident signes, that God elicted him king, assuring the people that God will prosper them, if they approve the same. 11 After his prayer vnto God to finish that, that hee hath begunne.

To him that excelleth vpon: Shushan & Dichtan. A Psalme of David to teach. When he fought against Kirai Maharam, & against Kirai & Tobah, when Joab returned and slew twelue thousand Edomites in the salt valley.

1 O God, thou hast cast vs out, thou hast scattered vs, thou hast bene angrie, turne againe vnto vs.

2 Thou hast made the lande to tremble, and hast made it to gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken.

3 Thou hast shewed thy people braue things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of gladnesse.

4 Thou hast made the people fled hither and thither: for they coulde not be safe in their owne houses. d As clef with an earthquake. e Thou hast handled thy people sharply in taking from them senie and iudgement, in that they ayded Saul the wicked king, and persecuted him, whom God had giuen the iust title of the rearme.

4 But nowe thou hast giuen a banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy trieth. Selah.
5 That thy beloued may be deliuered, helpe with thy right hand and heare me.
6 God hath spoken in his holmes: therefore I will reioyce: I shall denie the enemy, & measure the valley of Succoth.
7 Gilead shall be mine, and Asanath shall be mine: Ephraim also shall be the strength of mine hand: Iudah is my lawe giuer.
8 Moab shall be my wash pot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: I Palestina shew thy selfe topfull for me.
9 Who will leade mee into the strong citie: who will bring me vnto Edom? I will not thou, O God, which haddest cast vs off, & diddest not go forth, O God, with our armie.
11 Give vs helpe against trouble: for vaine neth, that in this is the helpe of man.
12 Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall treade downe our enemies, established, Gen. 49.10.
k In most vile subiection. 1 For thou wilt dissemble, and faine as though thou werest glad. m He was assured that God would giue him the strong cities of his enemies wherein they thought them selves sure.

PSAL. LXI.

1 Vnto him that excelleth on Aeginoth. A Psalme of David.

1 Heare my crye, O God: giue eare vnto my prayer.
2 From the endes of the earth will I crye vnto thee: when mine heart is oppressed, bring mee vpon the rocke that is higher then I.
3 For thou hast bene mine hope, and a strong towre against the enemy.
4 I will dwell in thy Tabernacle for ever, and my trust shall be vnder the covering of thy wings. Selah.
5 For thou, O God, hast heard my desires: thou hast giuen an heritage vnto those that feare thy name.
6 Thou shalt giue the king a long life: his peeres shall be as many ages.
7 He shall dwell before God for ever: peace & mercie and faithfullnesse shall they wrap preserue him.
8 So will I alway sing praise vnto thy name in performinge baile my vowes.

not onely in himselfe, but also in his members. e For the stabilitie of my kingdome standeth in thy mercy and truth.

PSAL. LXII.

This Psalme partly containeth meditations, whereby David encourageth himselfe to trust in God against the assaults of tentations. And because our mindes are easily drawn from God by the allurements of the world, he sharply reprimandeth this vanitie, to the intent he might claue fast to the Lords.

To the excellent musician. A Psalm of David.

1 Y et my soule keepeth silence vnto God: of him cometh my saluation.

2 In making me King, thou hast performed thy promises, which seemed to haue lost the force. g It is so certaine, as if it were spoken by an oracle, that I shall possesse these places, which Saul had left to his children.

h For it was strong and well peopled. i David meaneth, that in this tribe his kingdome shall be established, Gen. 49.10.

a From place, where I was banished, being driuen out of the Citie & Temple by my sonne Absalom. b Vnto which without thy help I cannot attaine. c There is nothing that doeth more strengthen our faith, then the remembrance of Gods succour in times past. d This chiefly is referred to Christ, who liueth eternally, & for the stabilitie of my kingdome standeth in thy mercy and truth.

1 Chro. 16.41. Though Satan tempted him to murmure against God, yet he bridled his affections, and resting vpon Gods promises, beareth his crosses patiently.

b 7 appeareth by the out reputation of this words, that the Prophet abode manifold tentations, but by setting on God and by patience hee ouercame them all.

c He meaneth himselfe, being the man whom God had appointed to the kingdom. d Though ye seeme to be in honour, yet God will suddenly destroy you. e David was greatly moued with these troubles: therefore hee stirreth vp himselfe to trust in God. f These vehement and often repetitions were necessarie to strengthen his faith against the horrible assaults of Satan. g He admonisheth vs of our wicked nature, which rather hide our sorowes, and bite on the bridle, then vtter our grieue to God to obtaine remedie. h Giue your selues wholly to God by putting away all things that are contrary to his Lawe. i He hath plainly borne witness of his power, so that none needeth to doubt thereof. k So that the wicked shall feele thy power, and the godly thy mercie.

2 b Pet he is my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not much be moued.

3 How long will ye imagine mischief against a man: he shall be all same: ye shall be as a bowred wall, or as a wall shaken.

4 Pet they consult to cast him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lyes, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their heartes. Selah.

5 Pet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God: for mine hope is in him.

6 Pet is hee my strength, and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not be moued.

7 In God is my saluation and my glorie, the rocke of my strength: in God is my trust.

10 Trult not in oppression nor in robbetrie: hee is not baine: if riches increase, let not your heart thereon.

5 O God of our saluation, thou wilt answer vs with fearefull signes in thy righte troubles, & thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the sea.

P S A L. LXVI.

1 He prouoketh all men to praise the Lord, & to consider his workes. 6 He setteth forth the power of God to affray the rebells. 10 And sheweth howe God hath deliuered Israel from great bondage and afflictions. 13 He promisseth to giue sacrifice, 16 And prouoketh all men to haue what God hath done for him, and to praise his Name.

¶ To him that excelleth. A song, or Psalm.

1 Reioyce in God, all pe inhabitants of the earth.

2 Sing forth the glory of his name: make his praise glorious.

3 Say vnto God, Howe terrible art thou in thy workes: through the greatnesse of thy power shall thine enemies be in subjection vnto thee.

4 All the world shall worship thee, and sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy name. Selah.

5 Come and behold the workes of God: he is terrible in his doing toward the sonnes of men.

6 He sheweth the workes of God, who is colde in the consideration of Gods workes. 7 His providence is wonderfull in maintaining their estate.

6 He hath turned the Sea into drye land: they passed through the river on foote: there did we reioyce in him.

7 He ruleth the world with his power: his eyes beholde the nations: the rebellious shall not exalt themselves. Selah.

8 Praise our God, ye people, and make the voyce of his praise to be heard.

9 Which holdeth our soules in life, & suffereth not our feete to slip.

10 For thou, O God, hast vnged vs, thou hast tried vs as silver is tried.

11 Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and laped a strait chaine vpon our loynes.

12 Thou hast caused men to ride ouer our heades: we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a wealthie place.

13 I will go into thine house with burnt offerings, and will pay thee my vowes,

14 Which my lips haue promised, and my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction.

15 I will offer vnto thee the burnt offerings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullockes and goates. Selah.

16 Come and hearken, all ye that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule.

17 I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue.

18 If I regard wickednes in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me.

19 But God hath heard me, and considered the voyce of my prayer.

20 Praise be God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercie from me.

¶ The faithfull is here described, which are neuer vnmindefull to render God praise for his benefices. 1 It is not ynough to haue receiued Gods benefices and to be mindefull thereof, but also we are bound to make others to profite thereby, and praise God. k If I delite in wickednesse, God will not heare me: but if I confesse it, he will receiue me.

P S A L. LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obtaine the fauour of God and to be lightened with his countenance, 2 To the ende that his way and iudgements may be knowne throughout the earth. 7 And finally he declared the kingdom of God, which should be vniuersally extolled at the coming of Christ.

¶ To him that excelleth on Regimont.

A Psalm or song.

1 God be mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, and cause his face to shine among vs. Selah.

2 That they may knowe thy way vpon earth, and thy saving health among all nations.

3 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.

4 Let the people be glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and governe the nations vpon the earth. Selah.

5 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.

6 Then shall the earth bring forth her people, & neuer reioyce sufficiently, and giue thanks for the great benefices that they shall receiue vnder the kingdom of Christ. d He sheweth that where God fauoureth, there shall be abundance of all other things, increase.

e He proueth that God wil extend his grace also to the Gentiles, because he punisheth among them such as wil not obey his calling.

f He signifieth that God had shewed to his Church of the Iewes, in deliuering them from some great danger: whereof one of the like hee promisseth that the Gentiles shall be partakers.

g The condition of the Church is here described, which is, to be led by gods providence into troubles, to be subiect vnder tyrants, and to enter into manifold dangers.

h The ductie of

the faithfull is here described, which are neuer vnmindefull to render God praise for his benefices.

¶ To him that exalteth. A Psalm of David. a Which might put him in remembrance of his deliuerance. Psalm 40. 13.
 b He teacheth vs to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to stay: for at his time he will heare vs.
 c He was assured that y more they ragged, the nearer they were to destruction, and he the nearer to his deliuerance. d Hereby we are taught not to mocke at others in their miserie, lest the same fall on our owne neckes. e Because he had felt Gods helpe before, he groundeth on experience, and boldly seeketh vnto him for succour.

PSAL. LXXI.

1 He prayeth in faith, established by the words of the promise, 5 And confirmed by the work of God from his youth. 10 He complaineth of the crueltie of his enemies, 17 And desireth God to continue his graces towards him, 22 Promising to be mindfull and thankfull for the same.

Psalm 71. 1.
 a He prayeth to God with full assurance of faith, that he will deliuer him from his aduersaries. b By declaring thy selfe true of promises. c Thou hast infinite means, and all creatures are at thy commandment: therefore the we some signe, whereby I shall be deliuered. d That is, from Absalom, Ahithophel and that conspiracie. e He strengtheneth his faith by the experience of Gods benefices, who did not onely preserue him in his mothers belly, but tooke him thence, and euer since hath preserued him. f All the worlde wondereth at mee because of my miseries, as well they in auerthie, as the common people: yet being assured of thy fauour I remayned stedfast. g Thou that diddest helpe mee in my youth, when I had more strength, helpe me now so much more in mine olde age & weakenes. h Thus the wicked both blaspheme God and triumph against his Saintes, as though he had forsaken them, if he suffer them to fall into their hands. i In calling him his God, he putteth backe the false reports of the aduersaries, that sayd, God had forsaken him.

God, haste thee to helpe me.
 13 Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them be covered with reproofe and confusion, that seek to make mine hurt.
 14 But I will waite continually, and will praye thee more and more.
 15 My mouth shall dayly rehearse thy righteousness, and thy saluation: for I know not the number.
 16 I will go forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousness, even of thine onely.
 17 O God, thou hast taught me from my youth euen vntill now: therefore will I tell of thy wonderous workes.
 18 Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and gray head, O God: forsake mee not, vntill I haue declared thine actiue vnto this generation, and thy power to all thine, that shall come.
 19 And thy righteousness, O God, I will exalt on high: for thou hast done great things: O God, who is like vnto thee?
 20 Which hast shewed me great troubles and aduersities, but thou wilt returne & reuente me, and wilt come againe, & take me vp from the depth of the earth.
 21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me.
 22 Therefore will I praye thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument & viol: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harp, O holp one of Israel.
 23 My lips will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule, which thou hast deliuered.
 24 My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousness: for thou art confounded that is long and brought vnto shame, that seek mine hurt.
 God performed his promises. r For there is no true praying of God, except it come from the heart: & therefore he promised us delight in nothing, but wherein God may be glorified.

PSAL. LXXII.

1 He prayeth for the prosperous estate of the kingdom of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ. 4 Under whose shadowe shall righteousness, peace and felicitie, 10 Vnto whom all Kings and nations shall do homage, 17 Vnto whose name and power shall endure for euer, & in whose all nations shall be blessed.

¶ A Psalm of Salomon.
 1 True thy iudgements to the King, O God, and thy righteousness to the Kings & some.
 2 Then shall he iudge thy people in righteousness, and thy poore with equitie.
 3 The mountaines and the hills shall bring peace to the people by iustice.
 4 He shall iudge the poore of the people: he shall saue the children of the needy, and shall subdue the oppressor.
 5 Thy shall feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generation to generation.
 reigneth, euen the place most barren shall be enriched with thy blessings. e He sheweth wherefore the sword is committed to Kings to wit, to defend the innocent, and suppress the wicked. f The people shall embrace thy true religion, when thou shalt be King that ruleth according to thy word.

The wicked described. 228

1 In this is true
as all good things in it
clearly verified
in Christ, who
with his heauen
ly power maketh
his Church euer
to flourish.
2 That is, from uerred fear to heavenly Syria-
on, and from lopes for-
not meaning that Christ
kingdom should be large & visible.
3 Of Oliba and
of all other cities beyond
the sea, which
beareth by the sea.
4 That is, of Aria that rich
city, where
of Saba was a perbordering
from Ethiopia.
5 Though tyranny rule not
in this world,
yet godly kingdome prevail in this world, all
kind of wrong.
6 As God will both
perfect his life,
and also make
the people most willing to obey
him.
7 Under such a king shall be
peace, plenty,
both of fruit and also of the increase of mankinde. 8 They shall praise God for his continuance, and knowe that God doeth providence for his sake. 9 He confesseth that except God miraculously preserve his people, that neither the king nor the kingdom can continue. 10 Concerning his sonne Salomon.

P S A L M LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example that neither the worldly prosperitie of the ungodly, 14 Nor yet
the affliction of the good ought to discourage Gods children: but rather ought to moue vs to consider our Fathers providence, and to cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 Forasmuch as the wicked vaunteth away, 24 And the godly enter into lifes overlasing, 28 In hope whereof he resigneth himselfe into Gods hands.

¶ Psalm committed to Asaph.

1 Yet God is good to Israel: euen to the pure in heart.
2 As for mee, my feet were almost gone: my steps had wellnigh slipped.

3 Being assured that God would continue his fauour towards me, as I was godly in deede, and not hypocrites.

3 For I feared at the foolish, when I sawe
the prosperitie of the wicked.
4 For there are no bands in their death,
but they are lustie and strong.
5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.
6 Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them,
and crueltie conereth them as a garment.
7 Their eyes stande out for fatnes: they haue more then heart can will.
8 They are licentious: & speake wickedly of their opprestion: they talke presump-tuously.
9 They set their mouth against heauen,
and their tongue walketh through the earth.
10 Therefore his people turne hither: for the waters of a full cup are wring out to the dregs.
11 And they say, How worthie God knowe
it: for is there knowledge in most high?
12 For, these are the wicked, yet prosper
they alway, and increase in riches.
13 Certainely I haue cleansed mine heart in impurity, and washed mine hands in innocencie.
14 For dayly haue I bene punished, and chastened every morning.
15 If I say, I will iudge thus, behold the generation of thy children: I haue respected.
16 Then thought I to knowe this, but it was too painefull for me.
17 Until I went into the Sanctuary of God: then vnderstood I their ende.
18 Surely thou hast set them in slippery places, and castest them downe into desolation.
19 How suddenly are they destroyed, yesterday and horribly consumed.
20 As a dream when one awaketh: yea
like a vision, when thou awakest, thou shalt make their image despised.
21 Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was picked in my reines:
22 So foolishly was I and ignorant: I was a beast before thee.
23 Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.
24 Thou wilt guide mee by thy counsell,
and afterward receiue me to glorie.
25 Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with
thee.
26 My flesh faileth and mine heart also:
but God is the strength of mine heart, and
my portion for euer.
27 For loe, they that withdraw themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoring from thee.

thy children in their greatest dangers. h Vntill I entred into thy scholl and learned by thy worde and holy Spirit: that thou orderest all things most wisely & iustly. i By thy fearful iudge-ment. k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicitie, we contemne all their vaine pompe. l For the more that man goeth about by his owne reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doth he declare himselfe a beast. m By faith I was assured that thy providence did wathe alwayes ouer me to preserve me. n Hee sought neither helpe nor comforte
of any faue of God onely. o He teacheth vs to denie our selues, to haue God our whole sufficiencie, and onely contentment.
p That is, forsake thee to seeke others.

The wicked
in this life live at pleasure, and are not drawn to death like prisoners: that is, by sickness, which is deaths messenger.
c They glory in their pride as
some do in their chaires and in crueltie, as some
do in apparell.
d They blaspheme God and fear not his power, and rayle
vpon men, because they despise themselves above
all others.
e Not onely the
reprobate, but also the people of God often-
times fall backe,
seeing the prosperous state of the wicked, and
are overwhelmed wth sorowes, thinking y<sup>e</sup> God considereth not aright the state
of the godly.
f Thus the flesh
moueth euen
the godly to dispute with God
touching their
poore estate and the prosperitie
of the wicked.
g If I give place
to this wicked
thought, I offend
against thy providence, seeing thou disposest al
things most wisely, & preseruest
thy children in their greatest dangers.

28 And he made it fall in the mides of 29 So they did eate and were well filled:

33 Therefore their dapes did he consume
in vauitir, and their peres hallip.
34 And when hee flew them, they sought
him and they returned, & sought God strength againe

35 And they remembered that God was their strength, and the most high God
their redeemer.
36 But they flattered him with their

P S A L. LXXIX.

The Israelites complain to God for the great calamities and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 8 And confiding their finnes, see to Gods mercies with full hope of deliverance, 10 Because their calamities were isued with the contempt of his Name, 13 For the which they promise to be thankfull.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Jerusalem heapes of stones.

The dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to be meate vnto foules of the heauen: and the flesh of thy Saints vnto the beastes of the earth.

Their blood haue they shed like waters rounde about Jerusalem, and there was none to bury them.

We are a rejoyce to our neighbours, even a scoyne and derision vnto them that are round about vs.

For they haue denoured Iacob and made his dwelling place desolate.

Remember not against vs the former iniquities, but make haste and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie.

Helpe vs, O God of our saluation, for the glorie of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our finnes for thy Names sake.

Wherefore shoulde the heathen saye, Where is their God? let him be knowen among the heathen in our fight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed.

Let the sighing of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mightie armie preserue the children of death.

And render to our neighbours true fold into their bosome their rejoyce, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord.

So we thy people, and shepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation: we will set forth thy praise.

And say not till we haue recompensed for our finnes, ing we haue none other Sauour, neither can we helpe our selues, and also by our saluation thy Name shalbe praised, therefore, O Lord, helpe vs.

Who though in respect of God they were iustly punished for their finnes, yet in consideration of their cause, were vniustly murdered.

Which were captiues among their enemies, and could looke for nothing but death.

We ought to desire no benefite of God, but on this condition to praise his Name, lra. 43. 31.

P S A L. LXXX.

A lamentable prayer to God to help the miseries of his Church, 8 Desiring him to consider their first estate, when his fauour shined towardet them, to the intent that he might finish that work which he had begun.

To him that exalteth on Sholomun Eduth. A Psalm committed to Asaph.

1 Year,

not their soules from death, but gave their life to the pestilence,

And smote all the first borne in Egypt, even the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Iſrael.

But he made his people to goe out like shepe, and ledde them in the wilderness like a flocke.

Yea, he caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the Sea covered their enemies,

And he brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuary: even to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased.

We cast out the heathen also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Iſrael to dwell in their tabernacles.

Yet they tempted, & provoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies,

But turned backe and deit: falsly like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bowe.

And they provoked him to anger with their high places, & moued him to wrath with their grauen images.

God hearde this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Iſrael.

So that he forsooke the habitation of Shilo, even the Tabernacle where he dwelt among men,

And deliuered his power into captiuitie, & his beautie into the enemies hand.

And he gave up his people to the sword, and was angry with his inheritance.

The fire deuoured their chosen men, and their maidens were not praised.

Their widewes fell by the sword, and their widewes lamented not.

But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his wine cryeth out,

And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetual shame.

Yet he refused the tabernacle of Joseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

But chose the tribe of Iudah, & mount Zion which he loued.

And here he built his Sanctuary as an high palace, like the earth, which hee has blisshed for euer.

He chose David also his seruant, and tooke him from the shepfoldes,

Even from behind the ewes with yong brought her him to feede his people in Iacob, and his inheritance in Iſrael.

So he fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretiō of his handes.

Either they were slaine before, or taken prisoners of their enemies, & so were forbidden. Because they were drunk in their finnes, they iudged Gods patience to be a stumbling, as though he were drunken: therefore hee answering their becally iudgement, saith, he wil awake and take sudden vengeance.

Shewing that he spared not altogether the Iſraelites, though hee punished their enemies. By building the Temple and establishing the kingdom, hee declareth that the signes of his fauour were among them.

Hee sheweth wherein a charge standeth to wit, to provide faithfully for his people, to guide them by counsel, and defend them by power.

The Church afflicted prayeth.

Psalms.

Israels obstinacie.

a This Psalm was made as a prayer for to desire God to be mercifull to the ten tribes.
b Moue their hearts that they may returne to worship God.
c Ioyne thy whole people & all thy tribes together againe.
d The faithfull feare Gods anger, when they perceiue their prayers are not forthwith heard.
e Our neighbours haue continuall strife and warre against vs.
f Because that repentance only commeth of God, they most instantly and oft times call to God for it as a meane, whereby he shal be faued.
g Seeing that of thy mercie thou hast made vs a most deare possession to thee, & we through our finnes are made open for wilde bestes to deuoure vs, declare againe thy loue, and finish the worke that thou hast begonne.
h To wit, Exhortations.
i That is, as well they that hate our religion as they that hate our persons.
k They gaue not place to temptation, knowing that albeit there were no helpe in earth, yet God was able to succour them from heauen.
l So that no power can preuaile against it, and which as a yong budde thou raisest vp againe as out of burnt ashes.
m Onely when thou art angry, and not with the sword of the enemy.
n That is, vpon this vine, or people, whom thou hast planted with thy right hande, that they should be as one man or one bodie.
o For none can call vpon God, but such as are raised vp, as it were, from death to life, and regenerate by the holy Spirit.

Hear, O thou Shepheard of Israel, thou that ledest Joseph like a sheep: betwene thy brightnesse, thou that sitest betwene the Cherubims.
Before Ephraim and Benjamin & Manasse stirre vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs.
Turne vs againe, O God, and cause thy face to shine that we may be saued.
O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people?
Thou hast fedde them with the bread of teares, and given them teares to drinke with great measure.
Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselves.
Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.
Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.
Thou madest roisme for it, and diddest cause it to take roote, and it filled the land.
The moities were couered with the shadowe of it, and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars.
She stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the River.
Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all they, which passe by the way, haue plucked her?
The wilde boye out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beastes of the felds haue eaten it by.
Returne we beseeche thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen and beholde and visite this vine.
And the vineparde, that thy right hand hath planted, and the pong vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe.
It is burnt with fire and cut downe: & they perishe at the rebuke of thy countenance.
Let thine hand be vpon the staffe of thy right hand, & vpon the fowle of man, whom thou madest strong for thine owne selfe.
So will not we goe backe from thee: O reuenge thou vs, and we shall call vpon thy Name.
Turne vs againe, O Lord God of hostes: cause thy face to shine & we shall be saued.

PSAL. LXXXI.

1 An exhortation to praise God both in heart & voice for his benefites, 8 And to worship him only, 11 God commendeth their ingratitude, 12 And sheweth what great benefites they haue lost through their own malice.
To him that exalteth vpon Sion.
A Psalm committed to Asaph.

Sing to the Lord our strength: sing loud vnto the Lord of Iacob.
Take the song a bing forth the tymbrel, the pleasant harpe with the diole.
Blow the trumpet in the new moon, & in the time appointed, at our feast day.
For this is a statute for Israel, & a law of the God of Iacob.
Ye set this in Joseph for a testimonie, when he came out of the lande of Egypt, where I heard a language, that I vnderstood not.
I haue withdrawen his shoulder from the burden, & his hands haue left the yoke.
Thou calledst in affliction, and I deliuered thee, and answered thee in the secret of the thunder: I proued thee at the waters of Meribah, Selah.
Hear, O my people, and I will protest familie vs vnto thee: O Israel, if thou wilt hearken vnto me, and wilt haue no strange god in thee, neither worship any strange God.
(For I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the lande of Egypt) open thy mouth wide and I will fill it.
But my people would not heare my voyce, and Israel would none of me.
So I gaue them vp vnto the hardness of their heart, and they haue walked in their owne counseils.
Why should my people haue hearkened vnto me, and Israel had walked in my wayes?
I would some haue humbled their enemies, & turned mine hand against their aduersaries.
The haters of the Lord should haue bene subiect vnto him, and their time should haue endured for euer.
And God would haue fed them with the fatte of wheate, and with homie out of the rocke would I haue suffred thee.

1 The Prophet declaring God to be present among the Judges & magistrates, 2 Reproueth their partialitie, 3 And exhorteth them to do iustice, 5 But seeing none do so, 8 He desireth God to vnderstand the matter & execute iustice himselfe.

4 I am counted among them that goe downe vnto the pitte, and am as a man without strength.

5 Free among the dead, like the slayne lying in the graue, whome thou remainest byt no more, and they are cut off from thine hand.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

With many wordes doeth the Prophet praise the goodness of God. 23 For his testament and covenant, that he had made betwene him and his eld by Iesus Christ the sunne of Dauid: 38 Then doeth he complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdome of Dauid, so that to the outward appearance the promessi was broken. 46 Finally he prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnes of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promessi.

A Psalm to give instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

1 I will sing the mercies of the Lord for ever: with my mouth will I declare thy truth from generation to generation.

2 For I sayde, Mercie shall be set by for ever: thy truth shall thou stablish in very heauens.

3 I haue made a covenant with my chosen: I haue sware to Dauid my seruant,

4 Thy seede wilt I stablish for ever, and set by thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

5 O Lord, euen the heauens shall praise thy wonderous worke: yea, thy truth in the Congregation of the Saintes.

6 For who is equal to the Lord in the heaues: or who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the Saintes, and to be reuerenced about all that are about him.

8 O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy truth is about thee?

9 Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mightie arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast layed the foundation of the worlde, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the South and the North: Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy name.

13 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 Righteousnesse and equitie are the stars of thy throne.

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause thee to despair of Gods fauour: yet the manifold examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they sawe none occasion, b As he that surely beleueed in heart.

c As thine inuincible heauen is not subiect to any alteration & change: so shall the truth of thy promes be vnderstandeable. d The Prophet sheweth what was the promes of God, whereon he grounded his faith.

e The Angels shall praise thy power & faithfullnesse in deuoting thy Church. f That is, in the heauens.

g Meaning, the Angels. h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiestic and infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set himselfe against God? i For as he deliuered the Church by the red Sea, and by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so will he elssoone deliuer it, when the dangers be great. k Tabor is a mountaine Westward from Ierusalem, & Hermon Eastward: so the Prophet signifieth that all partes and places of the worlde shall obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church. l For hereby he iudgeth the worlde, and sheweth himselfe a mercifull Father and faithfull protector vnto his.

sently waite for the coming of thy Christ.

1 Moses in his prayer stretcheth before vs the eternall fa-uour of God towards him, 3 VVho are neither admonished by the beuities of their life, 7 Nor by his plagues to be thankfull. 12 Therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts and continue his mercies toward them, and their posteritie for euer.

13 A prayer of Moses, the man of God. a Thou the scripture vnto vs to the Prophets.

14 Hide, thou hast bene our habitation
from generation to generation, b Thou hast bin
as an house and defence vnto vs
in all our troubles and tribulations.

15 Before mountains were made, c Thou hast chosen before thou haddest sowne the earth, and the woyle, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God.

16 Thou turnest man to destruction: as gaile thou sapest, Returne, ye sonnes of men.

17 For a thousand yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, & as a watchy sense vs to bech
people before
were leued.

18 Thou hast ouerflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning her groweth
like the grass:

19 menting the frailtie and shortnes of mans life moueth God to pity, e Though man thinke his life long, which is in deede not short, yea though it were a thousand yecres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three hours.

f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.

prouidence of God. 231

g Thou wilt strengthen them with all power, and bleiseth them with all felicity.

h Though the faithful seeme to wither & be cut downe by wicked: yet they shall grow againe & flourish in the Church of God, as Cedars do in mount Lebanon.

i The children of God shall haue a power aboue nature, and their age shall bring forth most fruitful fruites.

a As God by his power and wisdom hath made and gouerneth the world: so must the same be our defence against all enemies and dangers.

b Wherein thou sitest & gouernest the world.

c Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters.

d Besides Gods power and wisdom in creating and gouerning, his great mercie also appeareth in that hee hath giuen his people his worde and covenant.

10 But thou shalt exalt mine hope, like the unicorne, and I shall bee anointed with fresh oyle.

11 Mine eye also shall see my desire against mine enemies: & mine eares shall heare my wishe against the wicked, that rise vp against me.

12 The righteous shall flourish like a palme tree, and shall growe like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as be planted in the house of the Loyde, shall flourish in the courtes of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruite in their age: they shall be fat and flourishing, to declare that the Loyde my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

P S A L X C I I I.

1 He praiseth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beateth downe all people which lift them up against his maiesty. 5 And prouoketh to consider his promises.

The Loyde reigneth, and is clothed with maiesty: the Loyde is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shall be established, that it cannot be moued.

2 Thy throne is established of olde: thou art from everlasting.

3 The floods haue lifted vp, O Loyde: the floods haue lifted by their voyce: the floods lift by their waues.

4 The waues of the sea are marvellous through the noyse of many waters, yet the Loyd on high is more mightie.

5 Thy testimonies are very sure: holiness becometh thine house, O Loyde, for euer.

P S A L X C I I I I.

1 He prayeth vnto God against the violence and arrogancie of tyrants. 10 Warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Then doeth hee comfort the afflicted by the good issues of their afflictions, as hee felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked. 23 Vnto whom the Lord will destroy.

O Loyd God the auenger, O God the auenger, shewe thy selfe clearly.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O Judge of the world, & render a rewarde to the yowde.

3 Loyde, howe long shall the wicked, howe long shall the wicked triumph?

4 They plote and speake secretly: all the workers of iniquitie daunt themselves.

5 They sinne downe thy people, O Loyde, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherlesse.

7 Yet they say, The Loyd shall not see me: ther will the God of Iacob regard us.

8 Understand ye vnwise among the people: and ye scotes, when will ye be wise?

a Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.

b Shew by effect that thou art Judge of the world to punish the wicked.

c That is, brag of their crueltie & oppression: or esteeme themselves aboue all other.

d Seeing the church was then so sore oppressed, it ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we see it so now, and therefore we must call to God to take our cause in hand.

e Hee sheweth that they are desperate in malice, for as much as they feared not God, but gaue them selues wholly to doe wickedly,

9 He that planted the eare, shall hee not heare: or he that formed the eye, shall hee not see?

10 O he that chastiseth the nations, shall hee not correct? hee that teacheth man knowledge, shall hee not knowe?

11 The Loyde knoweth the thoughtes of man, that they are vanities.

12 Blessed is the man, whome thou chastisest, O Loyde, and reachest him in thy Lawe.

13 That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Loyde will not faile his people, neyther will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For iudgement shall returne to infirmitie, and all the bypight in heart shall followe after it.

16 Who will rise vp with me against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie?

17 If the Loyde had not helped me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I sayde, My foote slipeth, thy godly shall mercie, O Loyde, staied me.

19 In the multitude of my thoughtes in mine heart, thy comforts haue refreshed my soule.

20 With the thyme of iniquitie fellowes ship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a moment.

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Loyde is my refuge, & my God is the rocke of mine hope.

23 And hee will recompense them their wickednesse, and destroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Loyde our God shall destroy them.

I neuer founde thy present helpe. n Though the wicked iudge pretend iustice in oppressing the Church, yet they haue not that authoritie of God. o It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken, but most, when they are destroyed in their owne malice.

1 An earnest exhortation to praise God, 4 For the government of the world, and the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to followe the rebellion of the olde fathers, that tempted God in the wilderness: 11 For the which they might not enter into the land of promise.

Come, let vs reioyce vnto the Loyde: let vs sing a loude vnto the rocke of our saluation.

2 Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing loud vnto him with Psalms.

3 For the Loyde is a great God, and a great king aboue all gods.

4 In whose hand are the deepe places of the earth, and the heights of the mountaintains are his.

5 To whom the sea belongeth: for he made it, and his hands formed the drie lande.

6 Come, let vs worship and fall downe,

gouerned by his providence. d By these three words he signifieth one thing: meaning, that they must wholly giue themselves to seruice of God.

He sheweth that it is impossible but God should leave them their wickednesse, if God punish whole nations for any one mans sinne: or els a fewe thinke that God will spare them: h God hath care ouer his church, & chastiseth them for their wickednesse, that they should not perish for euer with the wicked: i God will reioyce in the state and government of his church: k He complaineth of them, which would not helpe him to resist the enemies: l The yet was assured that Gods helpe would not faile: m When I saye, My foote slipeth, thy godly shall mercie, O Loyde, staied me.

PSAL. XCVI.

1 An exhortation bath to the Iewes and Gentiles to praise God for his mercie. And this specially ought to be referred to the kingdom of Christ.

2 Sing vnto the Lord a new song: sing
 vnto the Lord, all the earth.

3 Sing vnto the Lord, and praple his name: declare his saluation from day to day.

4 Declare his glory among all nations,
 and his wonders among all people.

5 For the Lord is great and much to be praised: he is to be feared above all gods.

6 For all the gods of the people are idols:
 but the Lord made the heauens.

7 Strength and glory are before him: power and beautie are in his sanctuarie.

8 Come vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and power.

9 Come vnto the Lord the glory of his name: bring an offering, and enter into his courts.

10 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie: tremble before him all the earth.

11 Say among the nations, The Lord
 reigneth: stirre the world shalbe stable, and not moue, and he shall iudge the people in righteousness.

12 Let the heauens reioyce, & let the earth
 be glad: let the Sea roare, and all that therein is.

13 Let the field be ioyfull, & all that is in it:
 let all the trees of the wood then reioyce.

14 Before the Lord: for he conuerth, for he conuerth to iudge the earth: he will iudge the world with righteousness, and the people in his trueth.

15 By offering vp your selues wholly vnto God, declare that you worship him only. g He prophesieth that the Gentiles shall be partakers with the Iewes of Gods promes.
 h He shall regenerate them anew with his Spirit, and restore them to the image of God. i If the insensible creatures shall haue cause to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more we, from whom he hath taken malediction and sinne.

PSAL. XCVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the coming of the kingdom of Christ, 7 Dreadfull to the reuels and idolaters, 8 And ioyfull to the iust, whom he exhorteth to innocencie, 12 To reioycing and thanksgiving.

2 The Lord reigneth: let the earth re-ioyce: let the multitude of the people be glad.

3 Cloudes and darknesse are rounde
 about him: righteousnesse and iudgment
 are the foundation of his throne.

4 There shall go a fire before him, & burne
 up his enemies round about.

5 His lightnings gaue light vnto him: the earth sawe it and was afraid.

6 The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.

7 The heauens declare his righteousnesse,
 and all the people see his glory.

8 Confounded be all they that serue grauen images, & that glory in idoles: wo-ship him, all ye gods.

9 Zion heard of it, and was glad: and the daughters of Iudah reioiced, because of the iudgements, O Lord.

10 For thou, Lord, art most high above all the earth: thou art much exalted above
 all gods.

11 He that loneth the Lord, hate enill: he preserueth the soules of his Saints: he will deliuer them from the hand of wicked, readines to de-12 Light is shewn for the righteous, and stroy the idola-13 Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thanks for his holp remembrance,
 which is elec-
 med in world,
 fall downe before him. g The Iewes shall haue occasion to re-ioyce that the Gentiles are made partakers with them of Gods fauour. h He requieth two things of his children: the one that they detest vice, the other, that they put their trust in God for their deliuerance. i Though Gods deliuerance appeare not suddenly, yet it is shewn and laid vp in store for them. k Be mind-full of his benefices, and onely trust in his defense.

PSAL. XCVIII.

1 An earnest exhortation to all creatures to praise the Lord for his power, mercie and fidelitie in his promes
 by Christ, 10 By whom he hath communicated his saluation to all nations.

A Psalm.

1 Sing vnto the Lord a new song: for hee hath done maruileous things: * his right hand, and his holp arme haue gotten him the victorie.

2 The Lord declared his saluation: his righteousness hath he reuelled in the sight of the nations.

3 He hath remembered his mercie and his trueth toward the house of Israel: all the endes of the earth haue scene the saluation of our God.

4 All the earth, sing ye Lord vnto the Lord:
 cry out and reioyce, and sing praises.

5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe,
 euen vpon the harpe with a singing voice.

6 With shalmes and sound of trumpets
 sing loud before the Lord the King.

7 Let the sea roare, and all that therein is,
 the world, and they that dwell therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands, and let the mountaines reioyce together.

9 Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge
 the earth: with righteousness shall hee
 iudge the world, & the people w requite.

10 With instruments, and also of the dumme creatures, he signifieth
 the world is neuer able to praise God sufficiently for their deliuerance,

the world is neuer able to praise God sufficiently for their deliuerance,

PSAL. XCIX.

1 He commandeth the powers, equities and excellencies of the kingdomes of God by Christ over the Leues and Gentiles, 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same and to seru the Lord, 6 Following the example of the auient Fathers, Moysi, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

a When God deliuereth his Church, all the enemies shall haue cause to tremble.

b Though the wicked rage against God, yet the godly shall praise his Name and mightie power.

c That is, before his Temple or arke, where he promised to heare, when they worshipped him,

d Now he promisseth his spirituall presence, wherefoeuer his Church is assembled.

e Vnder these three he comprehendeth the whole people of Israel, with whom God made his promise.

f For the more liberally that God dealeth with his people, the more doeth he punish them that abuse his benefices.

1 The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth between the cherubims, let the earth be moued.

2 The Lord is great in Zion, & he is high above all the people.

3 They shall praise thy great and fearful Name (for it is holy)

4 And the kings power, that loneth iudges iust: for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement & iustice in Iacob.

5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his footstool: for he is holy.

6 Moses & Aaron were among his priests, & Aaron among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.

7 He spake vnto the in the cloude pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the lawe that he gaue them.

8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a sauourable God vnto them, though thou biddest take vengeance for their inuentions.

9 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his holy Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

PSAL. C.

1 He exhorteth all to seru the Lord, 3 Vnto hath chosen vs and preferred vs, 4 And to enter into his assemblies to praise his Name.

a He prophesieth that Gods benefice in calling the Gentiles, shall be so great, that they shall haue wonderful occasion to praise his mercie, and reioyce.

b He chiefly meaneth, touching the spirituall regeneration, whereby we are his sheepe and people.

c He sheweth that God will not be worshipped, but by that meanes, which hee hath appoynted.

d He declareth that we ought neuer to be wearie in praising him, seeing his mercies towards vs last for euer.

1 Sing ye loude vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Serue the Lord with gladnes: come before him with ioyfullnesse.

3 Know ye that euen the Lord is God: he hath made vs, & not we our selues: we are his people, & the sheepe of his pasture.

4 Enter into his gates with praise, and into his courtes with reioycing: praise him and blesse his Name.

5 For the Lord is good: his mercie is everlasting, and his truth is from generation to generation.

PSAL. CI.

1 David describeth what government he will obserue in his house and kingdomes, 5 He will punish and correct, by rooting forth the wicked, 6 And cherishing the godly persons.

a David considereth what manner of king he would be, when God should place him in the throne, promising openly, that he would be merciful & iust.

1 I will sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing.

2 I will doe wisely in the perfite way

1 I will walke in the brightness of mine heart in the midst of mine house.

2 I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate the worke of them that fal away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.

3 A froward heart shall departe from me: I will know none euill.

4 Him, that pynny & slandereth his neighbour, will I bestrope: him that hath a proud looke & high heart, I cannot suffer.

5 Mine eyes shall be vnto the faithfull of the land, that they may dwell with me: he that walketh in a perfite way, he shall serue me.

6 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lyes, shall not remaine in my sight.

7 Sometimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, & I may cut off all the woe: here of iniquitie from the citie of the Lord, he will punish all.

8 He sheweth what is the true vice of the sword: to punish the wicked, and to maintaine the good. Magistrates must immediately punish vice, least it growe to further incontinence: and if heathen Magistrates are bound to do this, howe much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God?

PSAL. CII.

1 It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faithfull to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon, 16 A cessation for the building of the Church: 18 Vnto the followeth the praise of God to be published vnto all posteritie, 22 The conversion of the Gentiles, 28 And the stabilitie of the Church.

1 A prayer of the afflicted, when he shall be in distresse, and poure forth his meditation before the Lord.

2 O Lord, heare my prayer, and let my cry come vnto thee.

3 Hide not thy face from me in ptime of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me: when I call, make haste to heare me.

4 For my bones are consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an herth.

5 Mine heart is smitten & withereth like gras, because I forgate to eat my bread.

6 For the voyce of my growning my bones do cleaue to my skinn.

7 I am like a pellicane of the wilderness: I am like an owle of the deserts.

8 I watche and am as a sparowe alone vpon the house topp.

9 Mine enemies reuile me daily, and they that rage against me, haue i swoyn against me.

10 Surely I haue eaten ashes as bread, & mingled my drinke with weeping.

11 Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast braued me vp, and cast me downe.

12 My daies are like a shadow that fadereth, and I am withered like gras.

13 But thou, O Lord, dost remaine for euer, casting out fearefull cries.

14 I haue not risen out of my mourning to take my rest.

15 He sheweth that the afflictions did not onely thus moue him, but chiefly the feeling of Gods displeasure.

16 How flower we be fraile: yet thy promise is sure, and the remembrance thereof shall confirme vs for euer.

Gods power and providence.

Psalms.

The loue of God.

b As the Prophet here sheweth that all visible powers are ready to serue God: so the Apostle to the Hebr. 1. 7. be- holdeth in this glasse, how the very Angels also are obedient to his commandement.
c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto the earth.
d If by thy power thou diddest not bridle the rage of the waters, it were not possible, but y<sup>e</sup> whole world should be destroyed.
e If God provide for the very beasts, much more will he extend his provident care to man.
f There is no part of y<sup>e</sup> world so barren, where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.
g From the cloudes.
h He describeth Gods provident care ouer man, who doeth not onely provide necessaries things for him, as herbs & other meate: but also things to reioyce and comfort him, as wine and oyle or oynments.
i As to separate the night from the day, and to note dayes, months and yeres.
k That is, by his farre or neere, it noteth summer, winter & other seasons. l That is, they onely find meate according to Gods providence, who careth euen for the brute beasts. m Towit, when the day springeth: for the light is as it were a shield to defend man against the tyrannic and fiercenes of beasts. n He confesseth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, nor minde to comprehend them.
o Or, whole. o God is a most nourishing Father, who prouideth for all creatures their daily foode.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, & maketh the cloudes his chariot, & walketh vpon the wings of the winde.
4 Which maketh the spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.
5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer moue.
6 Thou conuerdest it with the deere, as with a garment: the waters would stand about the mountaines.
7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they haste awaie.
8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleys descend to the place which thou hast established for them.
9 But thou hast set them a bounde, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.
10 He sendeth the springs into the valleys, which runne betwixt the mountaines.
11 They shall giue drinke to all the beasts of the field, & the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.
12 By these springs shall the foules of the heauen dwel, & sing among the branches.
13 He watereth the mountaines from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.
14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattel, and herbe for the vse of man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth.
15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, & bread that strengtheneth mans heart.
16 The high trees are satisfied, eu<sup>n</sup> the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted.
17 That the birds may make their nestes there: the stoek dwelleth in the firs trees.
18 The high mountaines are for h<sup>e</sup> goates: the rocks are a refuge for the conies.
19 He appointed the moone for certaine seasons: the sunne knoweth his going downe.
20 Thou makest darkenes, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forest creepe forth.
21 The lions roare after their pray, and seeke their meate at God.
22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their denes.
23 Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour until the euening.
24 O Loyde, howe manifolde are thy workes! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.
25 So is this sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.
26 There go the shippes, yea, b<sup>e</sup> Leviathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.
27 All these waite vpon thee, that thou course, either farre or neere, it noteth summer, winter & other seasons. l That is, they onely find meate according to Gods providence, who careth euen for the brute beasts. m Towit, when the day springeth: for the light is as it were a shield to defend man against the tyrannic and fiercenes of beasts. n He confesseth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, nor minde to comprehend them.
o Or, whole. o God is a most nourishing Father, who prouideth for all creatures their daily foode.

mapst giue them foode in due season.
28 Thou giuest it to them, & they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.
29 But if thou hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die and returne to their dust.
30 Again, if thou send forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renewest the face of the earth.
31 Gloie be to the Loyde for ever: let the Loyde reioyce in his workes.
32 He looketh on the earth & it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they smoke.
33 I will sing vnto the Loyde all my life: I will praise my God, while I liue.
34 Let my workes be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Loyde.
35 Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, & the wicked til there be no more: O my soule, praise thou the Loyde. Praise ye the Loyde.
the mountaines. f Who infect the world, and so cause God that he cannot reioyce in his workes.
P S A L M. CV.
1 He prayeth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and having chosen them, neuer easeth to do them good, euen for his promises sake.
2 Praise the Loyde, and call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people.
3 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his wonderous workes.
4 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Loyde reioyce.
5 Seeke the Loyde and his strength: seeke his face continually.
6 Remember his marvellous workes, that he hath done, his wonders and the iudgements of his mouth.
7 He feede of Abraham his seruant, per children of Iacob, which are his elect.
8 He is the Loyde our God: his iudgements are through all the earth.
9 He hath alway remembered his covenant and promises, that he made to a thousand generations.
10 Euen that which he made with Abraham, and his othe vnto Izhak:
11 And since hath confirmed it to Iacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant.
12 Saying, Vnto thee wil I giue the land of Canaan, the lot of pour inheritance.
13 Albeit they were fewe in number, yea, very fewe and strangers in the land,
14 And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people.
15 Yet suffered hee no man to doe them wrong, but rejoyced & kings for their sakes, saying,
16 Touch not mine anointed, and doe not hurt him: for the God of his seede after him, he reme- mbered it againe to his seede after him. f He bewaith that they should not enioy the lande of Canaan by any other meane, but by reason of his covenant made with their fathers. g That is, the King of Egypt and the King of Gerar, Gen. 22. 27. & 30.
h Those whom I haue sanctified to be my people.

PSAL CVI.

1 The people dispersed vnder Antiochus doe magnifie
the goodness of God among the iust and repentant:
4 Desiring to bee brought againe into the land by Gods mercifull visitation. 8 And after the man-ifeste miracles of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great magnitude of the people rehearsed, 47 They doe pray and desire to bee gathered from among the heathen, to the instant they may prayse the Name of the God of Israel.

Praise ye the Lord because he is good,
for his mercie endureth for euer.
Who can expelle the noble actres of the Lord, or shew forth all his praise?
Blessed are they that haue iudgement,
and doe righteouslies at all times.
Remember me, O Lord, with the fa-uour of thy people: visite mee with thy saluation,
That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people,
and glorie with thine inheritance.
We haue sinned with our fathers: we
haue corrupted ourselues, & done wickedly.
Our fathers understood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembered they
the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled
at the Sea, euen at the red Sea.
Nevertheless he saved them for his names sake, that he might make his power to be knownen.
And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dried up, and he led them in the deepe, and in the wildernesses.
And he saved them from the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemye.
And the waters covered their oppressors: not one of them was left.
Then he beleaued thy his woibres, and sang praise vnto him.
But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his coult,
But lusted with concupiscence in the wilderness, & tempted God in the desert.
Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent a leane into their soule.
They entered Shos also in the tentes, &
Haron the holy one of the Lord.
Therefore the earth opened and it was swallowed by Dathan, and covered the com-panie of Abiron.
God appeareth in this, that he woulde change
ture, rather then his people should not be deli-uered: they were wicked, Exod. 14. 27. f The wonder GOD, caused them to heluee for a time, and g They woulde preuent his wisdome and prouidabundance that God gaue them, profited not,
pine away, because GOD cursed it. i By the gre-niffment the hainous offence may be considered
ty against Gods ministers, rebel against him.

a The Prophet exhorteth the people to praise God for his benefices past, that thereby their minds may be strengthened against all present troubles and despair. b He sheweth that it is not enough to praise God wth mouth, except y<sup>e</sup> whole heart agree therunto, and all our life be therunto framed. c Let the good will that thou beareth to thy people, extend vnto me, that thereby I may be receiued into the number of thine. d By earnest confession a liuel of their owne, as of their fathers sinnes, they shew that they had hope that God according to his promises would visite them. e The inestimable goodnes of the order of nature, although full workes of it to praise himselfe. h The but made them statues of the punishment; for they that

18 And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt up the wicked.
19 They made a calf in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.
20 Thus they turned their glory into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.
21 They forgate God their Saviour, which had done great things in Egypt.
22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, & fearefull things by the red Sea.
23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stande in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.
24 Also they contemned that pleasant land, and beleued not his word.
25 But murmured in their tentes, and hearkened not unto the voyce of the Lord.
26 Therefore he lifted up his hande against them, to destroy them in the wilderness.
27 And to destroy their seed among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countries.
28 They topped their selues also into Baal-peor, and did eate the offerings of the dead.
29 Thus they prouoked him unto anger with their owne inventions, and the plague brake in upon them.
30 But Phinehas stood by, and executed iudgement, and the plague was stayed.
31 And it was imputed vnto him for righteousness from generation to generation for euer.
32 They angered him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes.
33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnaduisedly with his lippes.
34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commaunded them.
35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their woorkes.
36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offered their sonnes, and their daughters vnto devils.
38 And shed innocent blood, euen þe blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they slayned with their owne woorkes, and went a whoring with their owne inventions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And he gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, slew them, howe much more shall they be subject to Gods iudgement, which cause Gods children to sinne? u He sheweth howe monstrous a thing idolatrie is, which can winne vs to thinges abhorring to nature, whereas Gods woordes can not obtaine most small things. x Then true chastitie is to cleaue wholly and onely vnto God.

were soulders vnder them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.
43 When a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he saue when they were in affliction, and he heard their crye.
45 And hee remembered his covenant towards them, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies.
46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and gather vs from among the heathen, that we may praise thine holy Name, and glory in thy people.
48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL CVII.

The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord, & gathered vnto him, to give thanks, for this merciful prouidence of God, governing all things at his good pleasure, 10 Sending good and euill, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him, 42 Therefore as the righteous threat reioice, so shall the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

Praise the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie endureth for euer.
Let them, which haue bene redeemed of the Lord, shew how he hath deliuered them from the hand of all oppressours, or terror of the East and from the West, from the South and from the North.
When they wandered in the desert and in wilderness out of the way, and founde no citie to dwell in.
Both hungerie and thirstie, their soules fainted in them.
Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, & he deliuered them from their distresse.
And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation.
Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, & his wonderfull woorkes before the sonnes of men.
For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungerie soule with goodness.
They that dwell in darkness and in the shadow of death, being bound in miserie and prison.
Because they rebelled against the Lord, he despised the voice of the most high.
When hee humbled their heart with sore braunnes, then they fell downe and there was no helper.
Then they cried vnto the Lord in way to obey their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

Praise ye the Lord.

1 The Prophet 1 will praise the Lord with my whole heart in the assembly and congregation of the just.

2 The workes of the Lord are great, and ought to be sought out of all them that love them.

3 His worke is beautifull & glorious, and his righteousness endureth for ever.

4 He hath made his wonderfull workes to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion.

5 He hath given a portion unto them that feare him: he will ever be mercifull of his covenant.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes in giving unto them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The workes of his handes are marvellous: all his statutes are true.

8 They are stablished for ever and ever, and are done in truth and equite.

9 He sent redemption unto his people: he hath commanded his covenant for ever: holp and fearfull is his name.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord: all they that observe them, have good understanding: his praise endureth for ever.

11 As God promised to take the care of his Church: so in effect doeth he declare himselfe just and true in the government of the same.

12 They only are wise, that feare God, and none have understanding, but they that obey his worde.

13 To wit, his commandments, as verily.

P S A L. CXII.

1 How the Israelites were delivered forth of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles, that God wrought at that time. Which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercie towards his Church, who, when the curse of nature saileth, preferreth his miraculously.

2 Blessed is the man, that feareth the Lord, & delighteth greatly in his commandments.

3 His seed shall be mighty upon earth: the generation of the righteous shall be blessed.

4 Riches & treasures shall be in his house, and his righteousness endureth for ever.

5 Unto the righteous ariseth light in darkness: he is merciful and full of compassion and righteous.

6 A good man is mercifull and lender, and will measure his affaires by iudgement.

7 Surely he shall never be moued: but the righteous shall be had in everlasting remembrance.

8 He will not be afraid of euill tidings: for his heart is fixed, and belongeth to the Lord.

9 His heart is stablished: therefore he will not feare, untill he see his desire vpon his enemies.

10 He hath distributed and given to the poore: his righteousness remaineth for ever: his hope shall be exalted with glory.

11 He is able to helpe where neede requireth, and not to bestowe all on himselfe.

12 The godly pinche not niggardly, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of the poore requireth, and as his power able.

13 His power and prosperous estate.

10 The wicked shall see it and be angrie: he shall gnash with his tath, and say: contumace away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

P S A L. CXIII.

Praise ye the Lord.

2 Blessed bee the name of the Lord from henceforth and for ever.

3 The Lordes name is praised from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same.

4 The Lord is high above all nations, and his glory about the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high?

6 Who abaseth him selfe to behold things in the heauen and in the earth.

7 He rapeth the nabbie out of the dust, and lifteth by the eare out of the dung,

8 That he may say: him with the princes, even with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a familie, and a ioyfull mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

10 Shine, if they should not earnestly extoll his name? c By preferring the poore to high honour, and giuing the barren children, he sheweth that God worketh not onely in his Church by ordinarie meanes, but also by miracles.

Psalmes.

His care for religion. 240

1 For excepte
God blessed his Church publicke.
2 Pea, thou shalt see thy childrens children,
and peace vpon Israel.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shalbe deli-uered. 6 And the enemies for all their glorious thers, shal suddenly be destroyed.

A song of degrees.

1 They haue oftentimes afflicted me fro
my yowth (map. 4) Israel now say 2 They haue oftentimes afflicted me from my yowth: but they coulde not preuaile against me.

3 The plowes plowed vpon my backe,
and made long furrowes.

4 But the righteous Lord hath cut the cords of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion, shalbe al ashamed and turned backward.

6 They shalbe as the grasse on the house
tops, which withereth afore it cometh forth.

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand,
neither the glainer his lap:

8 Neither they, which go by, say, The blessing of the Lord be vpon you, or, We bless you in the name of the Lord.

9 The enemies
of the righteous
most high, & as it were approach neere to the sunne, are consumed with the heare of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilic. d That is, the wicked shal perish &
we shal passe for them.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomles miseries do cry vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes and flee vnto Gods mercie.

A song of degrees.

1 Of the deep places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

2 Lord, heare my voice: let thine eares
attend to the voice of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, straightly markest ini-quities, O Lord, who shall stand?

4 But mercie is with thee, that thou: maiest be feared. 10. 11. 12. 13.

5 I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his worde.

6 My soule watcheth on the Lord more then
the morning watch watcheth for day.

7 Let Israel wait on the Lord: for with the Lord is mercie, and with him is great resdemprion.

8 And he shall rederme Israel from all his iniquities.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 David charged with ambition and greedy desire to reigne, protesteth his humilic and modestie before
God, and teacheth all men, what they should doe.

A song of degrees or Psalme
of Dauid.

1 My heart is not haucie, neys
ther are mine eyes loftie, neyther haue I walked in great matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one waived from his mother, & kept silence:
I am in my selfe as one that is waived.

3 I am in my selfe as one that is waived,
the measure & limits of his vocation. c He was voyd of ambition and wicked desires.

2 Let Israel wait on the Lord from hence forth and for ever.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull, grounding on Gods promises made vnto Dauid, desire that he would establish the same, both as touching his posteritie & the building of the Temple, so pray there as was foretold, Dauid. 12. 5.

A song of degrees.

1 Side, remember Dauid with all his affliction.

2 Who sware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iakob,

3 I will not enter into a tabernacle of mine
house, nor come vpon my yale or bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine
eyes lids to slumber,

5 Until I finde out a place for the Lord,
an habitatio for the mightie God of Iaa-kob.

6 For we heard of it in Ephraim,
and found it in the fields of the forest.

7 We wil enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footstole.

8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy rest, thou,
and the Arke of thy strength.

9 Let thy priests be clothed with righte-ousnes, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy seruauit Dauid sake refuse
not the face of thine Anointed.

11 The Lord hath swayne in truth vnto Dauid, and hee wil not thinke from it, saying, Of the fruite of thy body wil I set
vpon thy thione.

12 If thy sonnes keepe my conenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teach them,
their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy thione
for ever.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and willed to dwell in it, saying,

14 This is my rest for ever: here wil I dwell, for I haue a desire therein.

15 I will surely blesse her vitallies, and wil
satissie her yooie with bread,

16 And wil clothe her priests with salua-
tion, and her Saints shall shoute for ioy.

17 There wil I make the house of Dauid to budde: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anointed.

18 His enemies wil I clothe with shame,
but on him his crowne shall flourish.

19 His enemies wil I clothe with shame,
but on him his crowne shall flourish.

20 His enemies wil I clothe with shame,
but on him his crowne shall flourish.

21 His enemies wil I clothe with shame,
but on him his crowne shall flourish.

22 His enemies wil I clothe with shame,
but on him his crowne shall flourish.

23 His enemies wil I clothe with shame,

28 His enemies wil I clothe with shame,
but on him his crowne shall flourish.

29 His enemies wil I clothe with shame,

What God did for Israel.

a Because the greatest part were against David, though some favoured him, yet when he was established King, at length they joyed all together like brethren: and therefore he sheweth by these similitudes the commoditie of brotherly loue. b The oymment was a figure of the graces which come from Christ the head vnto his Church. c By Hermon and Zion he meaneth the plentiful country about Ierusalem. d Where there is such concord.

Thus the Leuites yfed to praise the Lord, and blese the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithfull, of what estate shewer they be, to prayse God for his maruellous workes, 12 And specially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hath declared his maiestie, 15 To the confusion of all idolaters, and their idoles.

A song of degrees.

1 Praise the name of the Lord: pe seruants of the Lord, praise him. 2 Pe that stande in the House of the Lord, and in the courts of the House of our God, 3 Praise pe the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his name: for it is a comely thing. 4 For the Lord hath chosen Iacob to him selfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure. 5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods. 6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that did he in heauen and on earth, in the sea, and in all the depthes. 7 He bringeth vp the cloudes from the endes of the earth, & maketh the lightnings with the rayne: he diueth forth the winde out of his treasures. 8 He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast. 9 He hath sent tokens and wonders into the mids of the sea, & Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants. 10 He smote many nations, and slewe mighty kings: 11 As Sihon King of the Amorites, and Og King of Basan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan: 12 And gaue their lande for an inheritance. e He sheweth what fruite the godly conceiue of Gods power, whereby they see how he destroyeth his enemies, and deliuereth his people.

1 Deliver me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserve me from the cruell man. 2 Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make warre continually. 3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders popson is vnder their lippes. Selah. 4 Keepe me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preserve mee from the cruell man, which purpoiseth to cause my steps to slide. 5 The proud haue laid a snare for me, and spied a net with cordes in my path way, and set gremmes for me. art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayer. 7 O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou hast covered mine head in the day of battell. 8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: perforce not his wicked thought, least they be proud. Selah. 9 As for the chiefe of them, that compass me about, let the mischief of their owne lippes come vpon them. 10 Let coles fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, & into the deepe pittes, that they rise not. 11 For the backbiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall hunt the cruell man to destruction. 12 I know that the Lord will avenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore. 13 Surely the righteous shall praise thy name, and the iust shall dwell in thy presence, and that there was no hope of repentance in them. i Gods plagues shall light vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape. k That is, shall be defended and preserved by thy fauour prouidence and care.

David being grievously persecuted vnder Saul, cryeth vnto God to haue succour. 3 Desiring him to bridle his afflictions, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

A Psalmie of Dauid.

O Lord, I call vpon thee: haste thee. He sheweth vnto mee: heare my voyce, when I crie vnto thee. 2 Let my prayer be directed in thy sight as incense, & the lifting up of mine handes as an evening sacrifice. 3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lippes. 4 Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eate & gefure, which of their delicacies. 5 Let the righteous smite mee: for that is a benefite: and let him repprooue me, and it shall be a precious oile, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall be as a new man in their miseries. 6 When their indignes shall be cast downe in the old lawe, stonie places, they shall heare my wordes, for they are sweete. 7 My bones lie scattered at the granes mouth, as he that helwerth wood of diggers in the earth. 8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord executing vengeance: in thee is my trust: leane not my soule destitute. 9 Keepe me from the snare, which they haue layde for me, and from the gremmes of the workers of iniquitie. 10 Let the wicked fall into his nettes together, whiles I escape.

P S A L. CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither afflicted with feares, nor carried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would hee say: but with a quiet minde directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserve him.

2 A Psalm of David, to give instruction, and a prayer, when he was in the cage.

3 I cried unto thee O Lord with my voice: I went up by voice. I prayed unto thee O Lord.

4 I poured out my meditation before thee, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

5 Though my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way, wherein I walked, have they persecuted me to a snare for me.

6 I looked upon my right hande, and behelde, but there was none that would know me: all refuge failed me, and none cared for my soule.

7 Then cried I unto thee, O Lord, and said, Thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the living.

8 Hearken unto my crye, for I am brought very lowe: deliver me from my persecutors, for they are too strong for me.

9 Bring my soule out of prison, that I may praise thy name: when thou art beneficiall unto me.

10 Hee saith the Lord with great affliction and humilitie for his kingdom restored, and for his victories obtained, 5 Demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 9 Promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praise, 15 And declareth what is the felicitie of any people consisteth.

11 A Psalm of David.

12 Blessed be the Lord my strength, which stretcheth mine handes to fight, and my fingers to battell.

13 Hee is my goodnes and my fortress, my towre and my deliverer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my enemies under me.

14 Lord, what is man that thou regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest upon him!

15 Man is like to vanity: his dayes are like a shadow, that passeth away.

16 How thinne heauen, O Lord, and come downe: touche the mountaynes and they shall smoke.

17 Cast forth the lightning & scatter them: shoote out thine arrowes, and consume them.

18 Send thine hande from above: deliver me, and take me out of the great waters, and from the hand of strangers.

19 Whose mouth hath said vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of fals hood.

20 I will sing a new song unto thee, O God, and sing unto thee upon a viole, an instrument of ten strings.

21 It is hee that giveth deliverance unto me, and that he bestoweth them upon vs of his free mercie.

22 He desireth God to continue his graces and to send helpe for the present necessitie.

23 By these manner of speeches hee sheweth that all the lets in the world can not hinder Gods power, which he apprehended by faith.

24 That is, deliver me from the tumults of them that should be my people, but are corrupt in their judgement and enterprises, as though they were strangers.

The *Prouerbes of Salomon.

THE ARGVMENT.

The wonderfull loue of God towarde his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the ſumme and effect of the whole Scriptures is here ſet forth in theſe brieſe ſentences, which partly containe doctrine, and partly maners, and alſo exhortations to both. Whereof the nine firſt Chapters are as a preface full of graue ſentences, and deepe myſteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a moſt precious iewel to the Church, of thoſe three thouſand parables mentioned 1. King. 4. 32, and were gathered & committed to writing by Salomons ſeruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vſe of the words of God. 7 Of the ſeare of God and knowledge of his worde. 10 VVhen may not conſent to the intifings of ſinners. 20 VVhen done complaiſance that ſhe is contemned. 24 The puniſhment of them that contemne her.

¶ The Parables of Salomon the ſonne of Dauid King of Iſrael. 1 To knowe wiſedome, and inſtruction, to vnderſtand the wordes of knowledge. 2 To reuenge inſtruction to do wiſely, by iuſtice and iudgement and equitie. 3 To giue vnto the ſimple ſharpenneſſe of witte, and to the childe knowledge and diſcretion. 4 A wiſe man ſhall heare and increaſe in learning, and a man of vnderſtanding ſhall attaine vnto wiſe counſels.

6 To vnderſtand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wiſe, & their darke ſayings. 7 ¶ The ſeare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles deſpiſe wiſedome and inſtruction. 8 Appoſe, heare thy fathers inſtruction, and forſake not thy mothers teaching. 9 For they ſhall be a conſeigne ornament vnto thine head, & as chaines for thy necke. 10 ¶ Appoſe, if ſinners do vitiſe thee, conſent thou not. 11 If they ſay, Come with vs, we will lapp praife for blood, & lie plenty for the innocent without a cauſe: 12 We will ſwallowe them by alme like a graue euen whole, as thoſe that goe downe into the pit: 13 We ſhall finde all precious riches, & fill our houſes with ſpoyle:

a That is, what we ought to know & follow, and what we ought to reſuſe. b Meaning, the worde of God where in is the only true knowledge. c To leame to ſubmit our ſelues to the correccion of thoſe that are wiſe. d By liuing iuſtly, and tending to every man that which appertaineth vnto him. e To ſuch as haue no diſcretion to rule themſelues. f As hee ſheweth that theſe parables, containing the effect of religion as teaching maners and doctrine, do appertaine to the ſimple people: ſo doeth he declare, that the ſame is alſo neceſſarie for them that are wiſe and learned.

¶ Elze, interſe of grace. i To wir, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God. k He ſpeaketh not onely of the ſhedding of blood with hande, but of all crastie practiſes which tend to the detriment of our neyghbour. l As the graue is neuer ſatiate, ſo the auarice of the wicked and their crueltie hath no end.

7 Heare ye me now therefore, O children, and depart not from the wordes of my mouth.
8 Keepe thy way farre from her, and come not neere the doore of her house,
9 Least thou give thine honour vnto others, and thy perres to the cruel:
10 Least the stranger should bee filled with thy strength, and thy labours be in the house of a stranger, 11 And thou mourne at thine ende, (when thou hast consumed thy flesh & thy body)
12 And say, How haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!
13 And haue not obeyed the voice of them that taught mee, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me!
14 I was almost brought into all euill in the middes of the Congregation and assemblie.
15 Drinke the water of thy cistern, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well.
16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streets.
17 But let them be thine euell: thine only, and not the strangers with thee.

18 Let thy fountaine be blessed, & reioyce with the wife of thy youth.
19 Let her be as the louing kinde & pleasant roe: let her breasts satisfie thee at all times, and delite in her loue continually.
20 For why shouldst thou desire, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?
21 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes.
22 His owne iniquities shall take the wick: he himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cordes of his owne sinne.
23 He shall die for fault of instruction, & shall goe astray through his great folly.

P S A L. VI.

1 Instruction for suretie. 6 The slouthfull and sluggard is stirred to worke. 12 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the worde of God. 24 To see adulterie.
1 M Sonne, if thou be suretie for thy neighbour, and hast stricken hands with the stranger,
2 Thou art snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.
3 Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hande of thy neighbour, goe & humble thy selfe, and sollicit thy friends.
4 Gieue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine epe liddes.
5 Deliuer thy selfe as a doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.
6 Goe to the yssue, O sluggard: be holde her wayes, and be wise.
7 For shee hauing no guide, gozernour, nor ruler,
8 Prepareth her meate in the summer, & gathereth her foode in haruest.
9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?
10 Yet a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe, 11 Therefore thy pouertie commeth as one that traueileth by the way, and thy need is as an armed man.
12 The vnthriftie man and the wicked man walketh with a froward mouth.
13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he signifieth with his face: he instructeth with his fingers.
14 Lewde things are in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.
15 Therefore shall his destruction come in speed: he shall be destroyed suddenly without reuerie.
16 These sixe things doth the Lord hate: he sheweth to his soule abhorreth leuen:
17 The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood, gards come, by calling them vnthriftie, or fmen of Belial, & slanderous. Ebr, speakeb. g Thus al his gesture redeth to wickednes.

k Thy children which shal come of thee in great abundance, shewing that God blefseth mariage & curseth whoredome.
l Which thou diddest marry in thy youth.
m He declareth that except man do ioyne to his wife both in heart and in outward conuersation, that he shall not escape the iudgements of God. n Because he will not giue eare to God word and be admonished.

P S A L. VI.

a He forbiddeth vs not to become surety one for another, according to the rule of charitie, but that we consider for whome and after what sort, so that the creditor may not be defrauded.
b If the word of God can not instruct thee, yet learne at the little slumber to labour for thy self, & not to burden others.
c He expresseth lively the nature of the sluggards, which though they sleepe neuer so long, yet haue neuer ynough, but euer seeke occasions therunto.
d That is, suddenly, and when thou lookest not for it.
e It shall come in such sort as thou art not able to resist it.
f He sheweth to what inconuenience the idle persons & sluggards come, by calling them vnthriftie, or fmen of Belial, & slanderous. Ebr, speakeb. g Thus al his gesture redeth to wickednes.

b Meaning, the raging affections, which carry a man away in such sort that he cannot tell what he doeth.

Or, neighbours.

21 Bind them alway upon thine heart,
and tie them about thy necke.

22 It shall leade thee, when thou walkest:
it shall watch for thee, when thou sleepest,
and when thou wakest, it shall talke with

23 For the <sup>k</sup> commandment is a lantern,
and instruction a light: and <sup>l</sup> corrections
for instruction are the way of life,

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman,
and from the flatterie of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart,
neither let her take thee by her eyes lids.

26 For because of the whorish woman, a man is brought to a morsell of bread, and a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 Can a man take fire in his bosome,
and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Or can a man goe upon coles, and his fate not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth into his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whosoever toucheth her.

30 When doe not <sup>o</sup> despise a thiefe, when he stealeth, to satisfie his soule, because he is hungry.

31 But if he be found, he shall restore seven-

his house.

32 But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he <sup>q</sup> is destitute of understanding: hee that doeth it, destruction his owne soule.

33 He shall finde a wound and dishonour,
and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For idleness is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.

35 He cannot beare the sight of any ransome: neither will hee consent, though thou augment the gifts.

1 An exhortation to wisdoms and to the words of God, <sup>5</sup> Which will preserve vs from the harlot, <sup>6</sup> Whose manners are described.

2 By this diuersity of words he
meaneth, that no thing ought to be so deare vnto
vs, as the wordes
of God, nor that we looke on any thing more, nor minde any thing
so much.

3 <sup>c</sup> Keep some, keepe my wordes, & hide
my commandments with thee.

4 Bind them upon thy fingers, and write them upon the table of thine heart.

5 Sap vnto wisdom, Thou art my sister:
and call understanding thy kinswoman,
That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger

that is smooth in her wordes.

6 <sup>g</sup> As I was in the window of mine house, I looked through my window,
and I saw among the fooles, & considered among the children a pong man be-stirre of understanding.

7 Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house.

8 In the twilight in the evening, when the night began to be blacke and darke.

9 And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots behaviour, and subtil
in heart.

10 (She <sup>h</sup> is babbling and loud: whose feet
can not abide in her house.

11 Now she is without, now in straites,
and is in waite at every corner)

12 So she caught him and kissed him and with an impudent face said vnto him,

13 I haue peace offerings: this <sup>i</sup> day haue
I payed my vowes.

14 Therefore came I forth to meeete thee,
that I might seeke thy face: and I haue founde thee.

15 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments,
carpets and laces of Egypt.

16 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe,
aloes, and cinnamon.

17 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill
the morning: let vs take our pleasure in balance.

18 For mine husbande is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off.

19 He hath taken with him a bagge of silver, and will come home at the day appointed.

20 Thus with her great craft shee caused him to prele, and with her flattering
lippes shee entised him.

21 And he followed her straightwayes,
as an oxe that goeth to the slaughter,

22 As a foole to the stocks for correction,
till hee had gotten him in her snare.

23 Till a dart strike through his liuer, as a birde hasteth to the snare, not knowing that he is in danger.

24 I haue me now therefore, O children,
and hearken to the words of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wapes:
wander thou not in her paths.

26 For she hath caused many to fall downe
wounded, & the strong men are all laine
by her.

27 Her house is the way vnto the grave, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

28 Which thinking he goeth to the pe-
niture, goeth willingly to his owne destruction.
Which goeth
cherfully, not knowing that he shall be chafed.

29 Neither wit nor strength can deliuer them that fall in to the hands of the harlot. Chap. 1. 18.

1 Wisdom declareth her excellencie, 11 Riches, 15 Power, 22 Eternitie. 32 She exhorteth all
to loue and followe her.

2 Oeth <sup>h</sup> not <sup>i</sup> wisdome cry? and bin derstanding vter her voyce?

3 She stablisheth in the top of high places by the way in the place of the paths.

4 She pretendeth ignorance, forasmuch as God calleth to all men by his wordes, and by his workes, to folowe vertue and to flee from vice.

1 Where the people did most
2 She cryeth besides the gates before the 3 citie at the entrie of the doores,
4 O men. I call vnto you, & vnto my voice
5 to the children of men.
6 O ye foolish men, vnderstande wisdom,
7 and ye, O fooles, be wise in heart.
8 Give eare, for I will speake of excellent 9 things, & the opening of my lippes shall 10 teach things that be right.
11 For my mouth shall speake the trueth,
12 and my lippes abhorre wickednes.
13 All the wordes of my mouth are righte-
14 ous: there is no lewdnes, nor froward-15 nes in them.
16 They are all: plaine to him that wil vnder-
17 stand, & streight to them that woulde
18 finde knowledge.
19 Because mine instruction, and not flatter-
20 ing, and knowledge rather then fine golde.
21 For wisdom is better then precious
22 stones: & all pleasures are not to be com-
23 pared vnto her.
24 I wisdom dwell with prudence, and 25 I finde forth knowledge and counsell.
26 The feare of the Lord is to hate euill: as 27 pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way:
28 and a mouth that speaketh lewde things,
29 I doe hate.
30 I haue counsell and wisdom: I am
31 vnderstanding, and I haue strength.
32 By me Kinges reigne, and princes de-33 crease iniurie.
34 By me princes rule, and the nobles, and 35 all the iudges of the earth.
36 I loue them that loue me: and they that 37 seeke me carefully, shall finde me.
38 Riches and honour are with mee: euen
39 durable riches and righteousnesse.
40 My fruit is better then gold, euen then 41 fine golde, and my cruicure better then 42 fine siluer.
43 I canle to walke in the way of righte-
44 ousnes, and in the mddes of the pathes
45 of iudgement.
46 That I may canle them that loue mee, 47 to inherite substance, and I will fill their 48 treasures.
49 The Lord hath possessed me in the be-50 ginning of his way: I was before his 51 workes of olde.
52 I was set by from euertlasting, from 53 the beginning and before the earth.
54 When there were no depths, was I be-
55 gotten, when there were no fountaines
56 abounding with water.
57 Before the mountains were settled: &
58 before the hilles, was I begotten.
59 He had not permade the earth, nor the 60 open places, nor the height of the dust in 61 the world:
62 When he prepared the heauens, I was 63 there, when he set the compasse vpon the 64 deepe:
65 When he established the clouds aboue, 66 when he confirmed the fountaines of the 67 deepe:
68 When he gaue his decree to the sea, that 69 the waters shoulde not passe his com-
70 mand:
71 I he declareth the eternitie of the sonne of God, which is ment by 72 this word Wisdom, who was before all time, & euer present with the 73 Father.

maundement: when hee appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him as a nouris-
31 ther, & I was daily his delight reioycing
32 alway before him,
33 And tooke up a solace in the compasse
34 of his earth: and my delite is with the 35 children of men.
36 Therefore now hearken, O children,
37 vnto mee: for blessed are they that keepe
38 my wayes.
39 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and 40 refuse it not: blessed is the man that hea-41 reth me, watching daily at my gates, and 42 giuing attendaunce at the postes of my 43 doores.
44 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and 45 shall obtaine fauour of the Lord.
46 But he that sinneth against me, hurthy
47 his owne soule: and all that hate me, loue
48 death.
49 By earth he meaneth man, which is the woike of God in whom
50 wisdom tooke pleasure: in so much as for mans sake the Diuine
51 Wisdome tooke mans nature, & dwelt among vs, & filled vs with 52 vnspeakable treasures: and this is that solace & pastime whereof 53 is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

1 Wisdom calleth all to her first. 7 The sinner
2 will not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13
3 The conditions of the harlot.

1 Wisdom hath built her a house, &
2 hewen out her seven pillars.
3 She hath killed her vitails, drawen
4 her wine, and prepared her table.
5 She hath sent forth her maidens, and 6 cryeth vpon the highest places of the city,
7 saying,
8 Who so is simple, let him come hither,
9 and to him that is destitute of wisdom,
10 the earth,
11 Come, and eate of my meat, and drinke
12 of the wine that I haue drawen.
13 Forsake your way, ye foolish, and ye shall 14 liue: and walke in the way of vnderstan-15 ding.
16 He that reproveth a scorner, purchaseth
17 to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh
18 the wicked, getteth him selfe a blot.
19 Rebuke not a scorner, lest he hate thee:
20 but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue
21 thee.
22 Gue admonition to the wise, and he will 23 dome.
24 Be the wise: teach a righteous man, and 25 he will increase in learning.
26 The beginning of wisdom is the feare
27 of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy 28 things, is vnderstanding.
29 For thy dayes shalbe multiplied by me,
30 and the peeces of thy life shall be aug-31 mented.

12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for 13 thy selfe, and is thou be a scorner, thou
14 nourishest his seruantes in his house, which is the Church.
15 For the wicked will contemne him & labour to defame him.
16 Meaning them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth doges
17 and swine: for he speaketh this in comparison, not that the wicked shoulde
18 not be reuelued, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope 19 of profit. 1 He sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to know the 20 will of God in his word, which is ment by holy things. k The 21 shalt haue the chiefe profite and commoditie thereof.
22 alone

a Christ hath prepared him a Church.
b That is, many chiefe stayes and principall parts of his Church, as were the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Pastors and Doctors.
c He compareth wisdom with great princes that keepe open house for all that come.
d Meaning, true preachers, which are not infected with mans wise He knoweth his own ignorance, & is voyd of malice.
f By the meate and drinke, is ment the worde of God and the ministracion of the sacraments, whereby God alone shalt suffer.

 1 By the foolish woman, some vnderstand of wicked preachers, who c. utter fruit of words of God, as appeareth verse 16, which were the wordes of the true preachers, as verse 4: but their doctrine is but as stollen waters: meaning that they are but mens traditions, which are more pleasant to the flesh then the wordes of God: and therefore they themselves boast thereof.

CHAP. X.

In this chapter and all that followe vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which be called parables, to followe vertue and flee vice: and sheweth also what profit cometh of wisdom, and what hinderance proceedeth of foolishness.

Chap. 10.

a That is, wickedly gotten.

b Though he suffer the iust to want for a time, yet he will find him comfort in due season.

c When their wickednes shall be discovered, they shall be as dumme, and not know what to say.

d Shalbe vile & abhorred both of God & man, contrary to their owne expectation, which thinke to make their name immortal.

e He that beareth a faire countenance, & imagineth mischief in his heart, as Chap. 6. 13.

f For the corruption of his heart is knowne by his talke, 1. Cor. 13. 4.

g That is, God will find him out to punish him.

h And so maketh him bolde to do euil, whereas powerie brideleth the poore from any euil things

1 Wise man maketh a glad father: but a foolish soune is an heauinesse to his mother.

2 The treasures of wickednes profit nothing: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

3 The Loyde will not furnish the soule of the righteous: but he calteth away the substance of the wicked.

4 Mouthful hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 He that gathereth in summer, is the soune of wisdom: but he that sleepeth in harvest, is the soune of confusion.

6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memoriell of the iust shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rotte.

8 The wise in heart will receiue commendments: but the foolish in talke shalbe beaten.

9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh boldly: but he that peruertereth his wayes, shalbe knowne.

10 He that winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he that is foolish in talke, shalbe beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses.

13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdom is found, and a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom.

14 Wise men lay by knowledge: but the mouth of a foole is a present destruction.

15 The rich mans goods are his strong citie: but the feare of the needie is their pouertie.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenges of the wicked to sinne.

17 He that regardeth instruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction on, gorth out of the way.

18 He that dissimbleth hatred with lying lippes, and he that inuenteth slaunder, is a foole.

19 In many wordes there can not want iniquitie: but he that refrainereth his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined silver: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lippes of the righteous doe false many: but fools shall die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of the Loyd, it maketh rich, and he doeth adde many folowes with it.

23 It is as a pasture to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will graunt the desire of the righteous.

25 As a whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an everlasting foundation.

26 As vinegar is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the froward to them that send him.

27 The feare of the Loyd increaseth his daies: but the yeres of the wicked shall be diminished.

28 The patient abyding of the righteous shalbe gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Loyde is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall neuer be remoued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shalbe fruitful in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shalbe cut out.

32 The lipps of the righteous knowe what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

1 False balances are an abomination vnto the Loyd: but a perfitte weight pleaseh him.

2 When yside cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

3 The vprightnesse of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressors shall destroy them.

4 Kiches auail not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousness of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednes.

6 The righteousness of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednesse.

7 When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his stead.

9 An hypocrite with his mouth hurtyeth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge.

10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the friends are as a price of counten

citie : reioyeth, and when the wicked perish, there is top.
11 By the blessing of a righteous, the ci-tie is exalted : but it is subverted by the mouth of the wicked.
12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destinate of wisdom : but a man of understanding will keepe silence.
13 He that gorth about as a slanderer, discoureth a secrete : but hee that is of a faithfull heart, concealeth a matter.
14 Where no counsell is, the people fall :
but where many counsellors are, there
is health.
15 He shall be sore vexed, that is surer for a stranger, and hee that hateth surety-ship, is sure.
16 A gracious woman attaineth honor, and the strong man attaine riches.
17 Hee that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule : but hee that troubleth his owne flesh, is cruell.
18 The wicked worketh a deceitfull
work : but hee that soweth righteousnes, shall receive a sure reward.
19 As righteousness leadeh to life : so hee
p followeth enill, seeketh his owne death.
20 They that are of a frowarde heart, are abomination to the Lojbe : but they that are upright in their way, are his delite.
21 Though hand ioyne in hand, the wicked shall not be unpunished : but the seede of the righteous shall escape.
22 As a reuel of gold in a swines snout :
so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion.
23 The desire of the righteous is onely god : but the hope of the wicked is invigation.
24 There is that scattereth, and is more increased : but he p sparh more : then is right, surely cometh to pouertie.
25 The liberal person shall haue plentie :
and hee that watereth, shall also haue
rairie.
26 He that withholdeth the coine, a people will curse him : but blessing shall be upon the head of him that sellerh coine.
27 He that seeketh good things, getteth sa-mour : but hee that seeketh enill, it shall come to him.
28 He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall :
but the righteous shall flourish as a lease.
29 Hee that troubleth his owne house, shall inherite the winde, and the foole shall be a seruant to the wise in heart.
30 The fruit of the righteous is as a tree of life, and he that winneth soules, is wise.
31 Beholde, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth : howe much more the wicked and the sinner?

1 HEE that loueth instruction, loneth knowledge : but hee that hateth
correction, is a foole.
2 A god man getteth fauour of the Lojbe :

but the man of wicked imaginations wil
be condemne.
3 A man can not be established by wickednes : but the roote of the righteous shall not be moued.
4 A vertuous woman is the crowne of her husband : but shee that maketh him
shamed, is as corruption in his bones.
5 The thoughts of the iust are right : but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.
6 The talking of the wicked is to lye in waite for blood : but the mouth of the righteous will deliuer them.
7 God ouerthroweth the wicked, and they are not : but the house of the righteous shall stande.
8 A man shall be commended for his wise-dome : but the frowarde of heart shall be despised.
9 He that is despised, and is his owne
seruant, is better then hee that boasteth
himselfe and lacketh bread.
10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beait : but the mercies of the wicked
are cruell.
11 He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread : but hee that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding.
12 The wicked desireth the net of enils :
but the roote of the righteous giueth
fruit.
13 The enill man is shamed by the wicked-
nes of his lips, but the iust shall come out of aduersitie.
14 A man shall be satiate with good things
by the fruite of his mouth, and the recom-
pence of a mans handes shall God giue
vnto him.
15 The way of a foole is right in his own eyes : but hee that heareth counsell, is wise.
16 A foole in a day shall be knownen by his anger : but hee that conereth shame, is wise.
17 He that speaketh truth, will shew righteousnesse : but a false witness vnieth des-cite.
18 There is that speaketh wordes like the prikings of a sword : but the tongue of wise men is health.
19 The lippe of truth shall bee stable foreuer : but a lying tongue varyeth incontinently.
20 Deceit is in the heart of them that imagine enill : but to the counsellors of peace shall be loye.
21 There shall none iniquitie come to the iust : but the wicked are full of enill.
22 The lying lippe is an abomination to the Lojbe : but they that deale truely are his delite.
23 A wise man concealeth knowledge :
but the heart of the fooler publisheth
foolnesse.
24 The hande of the diligent shall beare
rule : but the idle shall be vnder tribute.
25 Heauinesse in the heart of man doeth bring it downe : but a good wordes re-ioyeth it.
26 The righteous is more excellent then his neighbour : but the way of a wicked will liberal in going.

a They are so grounded in the fauour of God,
that their roots
shall prosper
continually.
b As their conscience is vpright,
so shall they bee
able to speake
for themselves
against their accusers.
c The poore man
that is contented
and yet liueth of his own traualle.
d Is mercifull,
euen to the very
beast that doeth
him seruice.
f Meaning, their pence of a mans
handes shall God
giue vnto him.

in his owne confidence, & condem-
neth all others

27 The derisfull man roseth not that hee is toke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man are precious.

28 Life is in the way of righteousness, and in that path way there is no death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 A Wise sonne will obey the instruction of his father: but a scojner will heare no rebuke.

2 A man shall eate good things by the fruite of his mouth: but the soule of the trespassers shall suffer violence.

3 Hee that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: but hee that openeth his lippes, destruction shalbe to him.

4 The sluggarde is idle, but his soule hath nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plenty.

5 A righteous man hateth lying wordes: but the wicked causeth slander & shame. 6 Righteousnes pierceth the vpright of life: but wickednesse ouerthroweth the sinner.

7 There is that maketh himselfe riche, and hath nothing, and that maketh himselfe poore, hauing great riches.

8 A man will giue his riches for the raine: some of his life: but the soule of the diligent can not heare the reproofe.

9 A righteous man reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shall be put out. 10 Snell by pride both man make contention: but wily the well aduised is wise.

11 The riches of vanitie shall diminish: but hee that gathereth with the hand, shall increase them. 12 The hope that is deferred, is the fainting of the heart: but when the desire cometh, it is as a tree of life.

13 He that despiseth the word, he shalbe despoyled: but hee that feareth the commandement, he shalbe rewarded.

14 The instruction of a wise man is as the wellspring of life, to turne away from the snares of death.

15 Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of the disobedient is hated.

16 Every wise man will woeke by knowledge: but a fool will spead abroad follie.

17 A wicked messenger falleth into euill: but a faithfull ambassadour is preferred.

18 Prouertie and shame is to him that resisteth instruction: but he that regardeth correction, shalbe honoured.

19 A desire accomplished delighteth the soule: but it is an abomination to fooles to depart from euill.

20 Hee that walketh with the wise, shall be wise: but a companion of fooles shall be afflicted.

21 Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous God will recompense good.

22 The good man shall giue inheritance vnto his childrens children: as the riches of the sinner is layde up for the iust.

23 Much food is in the field of the poore: but the helde is destroyed without disrection.

24 He that spareth his rodde, hateth his sonne: but he that longeth him, chasteneth him betime.

25 The righteous eateth to the contentation of his minde: but the bellie of the wicked shall want.

CHAP. XIII.

A Wise woman buildeth her house: but the foolish destruction it with her owne hands.

2 He that walketh in his righteousness, feareth the Lord: but he that is lewde in his wayes, despiseth him.

3 In the mouth of the foolish is the rodde of pride: but the lippes of the wise perserue them.

4 Where there is no ore, there the crib is empty: but much increase cometh by the strength of the ore.

5 A faithfull witness will not lie: but a false rejoyce will speake lyes.

6 A scojner seeketh wisdom, & findeth it not: but knowledge is easie to him that will vnderstand.

7 Depart from the foolish man, when thou perceiuest not in him the lippes of knowledge.

8 The wisdom of the prudent is to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnesse of the fool is deceit.

9 The fool maketh a mocke of sinne: but among the righteous there is fauour.

10 The heart knoweth the bitterness of his soule, & the stranger shall not meddle with his top.

11 The house of the wicked shalbe destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall stand.

12 There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the issues thereof are wayes of death.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is sorrowfull, and the end of that mirth is heavinesse.

14 The heart that declineth, shall be satisfied with his owne wayes: but a good man shall depart from him.

15 The foolish will beleene euery thing: but the prudent will consider his steppes.

16 A wise man feareth, and departeth from euill: but a fool rageth, and is careles.

17 He that is hasty to anger, committeth follie, and a busie bodie is hated.

18 The foolish doe inherite follie: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The euill shall bowe before the good, and the wicked at the gates of the righteous.

20 The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friends of the riche are many.

21 The sinner despiseth his neighbour: but he that hath mercie on the poore, is blessed.

22 Doe not they erre that imagine euill: but to them that thinke on good things, shalbe mercie, and truth.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lippes bringeth only want.

24 The crowne of the wife is their riches, and king.

a If he use his tongue to Gods glory, and the profite of his neighbour, God shal blesse him. b He euer desireth, but taketh no paines to get any thing.

b That is, in righteousness of heart and without hypocrisy.

c His pride tongue shall cause him to be punished.

d By the ore is meant labour, and by the crib the barn: meaning without labour there is no profite.

then great reuenues without equitie.

9 The heart of man purporeth his way: but the Lord doeth direct his steps.

10 A diuine sentence shall be in the lippes of the King: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 A true weight and balance are of the Lord: all the weightes of the bagge are his worke.

12 It is an abomination to Kings to commit wickednesse: for the throne is stablished by iustice.

13 Righteous lippes are the delight of Kings, and the King loueth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a King is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the light of the Kings countenance is life: and his fauour is as a cloud of the latter raine.

16 How much better is it to get wisdom then golde: and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then silver.

17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, and he keepeth his soule, that keepeth his way.

18 A iude goeth before destruction, and an high minde before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble minde with the lowly, then to deuide þ people with the proud.

20 He that is wise in his businesse, shall find good: and he that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed.

21 The wise in heart shall be called prudent: and the sweetness of the lippes shall increase doctrine.

22 Vnderstanding is a wellspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of foolen is folie.

23 The heart of a wise guideth his mouth wisely, and adberth doctrine to his lippes.

24 Faire wordes are as an honie combe, sweetness to the soule, and health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the waies of death.

26 The person that traueleth, traueileth for him selfe: for his mouth craueth it of him.

27 A wicked man diggeth by euill, and in his lippes is like a burning fire.

28 A forward person soweth strife: a tale teller maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiveth his neighbour, and leadeh him into þ way that is not good.

30 He shutteth his eyes to deuise wickednesse: he mouerh his lippes, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glorie, when it is found in the way of righteousness.

32 He that is slowe vnto anger, is better then the mightie man: and he that ruleth his owne minde, is better then he that winneth a citie.

33 The lot is cast into the lappe: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

C H A P. XVII.

Better is a dry morsell, if peace bee with it, then an house full of sacrifices with strife.

2 A discrete servant shall haue rule ouer a lewd sonne, and he shall deuide the heritage among the brethren.

3 As is the fining pot for silver, and the foyle for gold, so þ Lord trieth the hearts, & alper heartheneeth to þ naughty tongue.

4 The wicked ginerh heede to false lippes, & a lyer heartheneeth to þ naughty tongue.

5 He that mocketh the poore, respoceth him, that made him: & he that respoceth at destruction, shall not be unpunished.

6 Childrens children are the crowne of the elders: and the glorie of the children are their fathers.

7 Hee talke becommeth not a fool, much lesse a lyping talke a punce.

8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in þ eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth, whilſt they former it to turneth.

9 He that couereth a transgression, seeketh to gouerne the loue: but he that repeareth a matter, les parateth the punce.

10 A repoceth ennerh more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a fool.

11 A scditionous person seeketh onely euill, and a cruell messenger shall be sent agaynst him.

12 It is better for a man to merite a beate robbed of her whelpes, then a foole in his follie.

13 He that rewardeth euill for good, euill shall not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is as one that os ked in his gred, therefore of the con- tention be medled with, leaue off.

15 He that iniurieth the wicked, & he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are adomination to the Lord.

16 Wherefore is there a price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and hee hath none heart?

17 A friend loneth at all times: and a byo- ther is boyne for aduersitie.

18 A man destitute of vnderstanding, con- seeth not his cheth the hande, and becommeth surrie for his neighbour.

19 He loneth transgression, that loneth strife: and he that exalteth his gate, seeketh de- struction.

20 The frowarde heart findeth no good: and he that hath a naughty tongue, shall fall into euill.

21 He that begetteth a fool, getteth himselfe sorow, and the father of a foole can haue no top.

22 A topful heart causeth good health: but a sorrowfull minde dyeth the bones.

23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosome to wrest þ wayes of iudgement.

24 Wisdom is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world.

25 A foolish come is a grieue vnto his fa- ther, & a heavines to her that bare him.

26 Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that the princes shoulde sinne such for equite.

- 27 He that hath knowledge, spareth his woordes, and a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirite.
- 28 Euen a foole (when hee holdeth his peace) is counted wise, and he that stoppeth his lippes, prudent.

C H A P. XVIII.

- 1 For the desire thereof he will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupie himselfe in all wisdome.

- 2 A foole hath no desire in vnderstanding: but that his heart may be discovered.
- 3 When the wicked commeth, then cometh contempt, and with the vile man reioyce.

- 4 The woordes of a mans mouth are like barpe & waters, and the wellspring of wisdome is like a flowing river.

- 5 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

- 6 A fooles lippes come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes.

- 7 A fooles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lippes are a snare for his soule.

- 8 The woordes of a tale bearer are as flatteries, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belier.

- 9 He also that is slouthfull in his woike, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster.

- 10 The shame of a Lord is a strong towre: the righteous numbre vnto it, and is exalted.

- 11 The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an hye wall in his imagination.

- 12 Before destruction the heart of a man is haughty, and before gloie goeth lowliness.

- 13 Hee that answereth a matter before he heare it, it is follie & shame vnto him.

- 14 The spirit of a man will susteine his iniquitie: but a wounded spirit, who can heare it?

- 15 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the care of the wise seeketh learning.

- 16 A mans gift enlargeth him, and leaseth him before great men.

- 17 He that is first in his owne cause, is last: then cometh his neighbour, and maketh inquirie of him.

- 18 The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mightie.

- 19 A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace.

- 20 With the fruite of a mans mouth shall his belie be satisfied, & with the increase of his lippes shall he be filled.

- 21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue, and they that loue it, shall eate the fruite thereof.

- 22 If a controuersie cannot otherwise be decided, it is best to call loxes to knowe whose the thing shall be. m Appeareth their controuersie, which are so floute that can not otherwise be pacified. n Which for the strength thereof will not bowe nor yield. o By the using of the tongue well or euill, cometh the truest either good or bad.

- 22 He that smiteth a wife, smiteth a good thing, and receiveth fauour of the Lord.

- 23 The poore speaketh with piapers: but the riche answereth roughly.

- 24 A man that hath friends, ought to shew himselfe friendly: for a friend is nearer then a brother.

- 25 That is, oft times such are found which are more readie to doe pleasure then he that is more bound by duetie.

C H A P. XIX.

- 1 Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnes, then he that abuseth his lippes, and is a foole.

- 2 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and he that halseth with his feet, sinneth.

- 3 The foolishnes of a man peruertereth his way, and his heart createth against the Lord.

- 4 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour.

- 5 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall not escape.

- 6 Spurne reuerence the face of the prince, and euery man is friend to him that giveth gifts.

- 7 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: howe much more will his friends depart farre from him: though he be instant with woordes, yet they will not.

- 8 He that possesseth vnderstanding, & loveth his owne soule, and keepeth wisdom to finde goodnes.

- 9 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lyes, shall perish.

- 10 Pleasure is not counsell for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes.

- 11 The discretion of man deferreth his anger: and his gloie is to passe by an offence.

- 12 The Kings wrath is like the roaring of a lion: but his fauour is like the dewe vpon the grasle.

- 13 A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, & the contentions of a wife are like a continuall dropping.

- 14 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wife cometh of the Lord.

- 15 Slouthfulness causeth to fall a slerpe, and a deceitfull person shall be assaisted.

- 16 He that keepeth the commandment, keepeth his owne soule: but he that despiseth his woipes, shall die.

- 17 He that hath mercie vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

- 18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his inuention.

- 19 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: and though thou deliuer him, yet will his anger come againe.

- 20 Heare counsell, and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter ende.

- 21 Spurne denices are in a mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stand.

C H A P. XX.

Wine is a mocker, & strong drinke is raging: and who soeuer is deceived thereby, is not wise.

2 The feare of the King is like the roaring of a lion: he that prouoketh him vnto anger, & smiteth against his owne soule.

3 It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but enery foole will be medling.

4 The southfull wil not plowe, because of winter: therefore shall he begge in sommer, but haue nothing.

5 The counsell in the heart of a man is like deepe waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding, will dige it out.

6 Haue men will boast, enery one of his owne goodnes: but who can finde a faithfull man?

7 He that walketh in his integritie, is iust: and blessed shall his children be after him.

8 A King that sitteth in the throne of iudgement, & chaseth away all euill with his eyes.

9 Who can say, I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinne?

10 Diners weights, and diners measures, both these are euill abomination vnto the Lord.

11 A childe also is knowne by his doings, whether his worke be pure and right.

12 The Lord hath made both these, euen the care to heare, and the eye to see.

13 Haue not scape, least thou come vnto pouertie: open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

14 It is naught, it is naught, saith the byer: but when he is gone apart, hee doalleth.

15 There is golde, and a multitude of precious stones: but the lips of knowledge are a precious iewel.

16 Take his garment, that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

17 The head of detrit is swete to a man:

but afterwarde his mouth shall be filled with granel.

18 Establish the thoughts by counsell: and by counsell make waite.

19 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discovereth secrets: therefore meddle not with him: for he scattereth with his lippes.

20 He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shall be put out in obscure darkenes.

21 An heritage is hastily gotten at the beggining, but the ende thereof shall not be blessed.

22 Say not thou, I will recompense euill: but waite vpon the Lord, and he shall save thee.

23 Diners weights are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitfull balances are not good.

24 The steppes of man are ruled by the Lord: howe can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

25 It is to a destruction for a man to desire that which is sanctified, and after hee shall be exempted from the laue.

26 A wife King scattereth the wicked, & causeth the heart to turne out them.

27 The light of the Lord is the heare of kinde of punishment, and searcheth all the bowels of the bellie.

28 Mercie and trueth preserue the King: for his throne shall be established with mercie.

29 The beautie of young men is their strength, and the gloie of the aged is the crests of their darke beards.

31 The heart of the King is in the hand of a thoughtfull man, as the fillers of waters: he seeme to haue a turneth it whither soeuer it pleaseth him.

32 Enery way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts.

33 To doe iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifice.

34 A haughty looke, and a proud heart, which is the light of the wicked, is sinne.

35 The thoughtes of the diligent doe surely bring abundance: but who soeuer is halstir, commeth surely to pouertie.

36 The gathering of treasures by a deceiptfull tongue is vaine: tossed to and fro of them that seeke death.

37 The robbery of the wicked shall destroy them: for they haue refused to exercise iudgement.

38 The waie of some is peruerterd and strange: but of the pure man, his way is straight.

19 * It is better to dwell in a corner of the house tope, then with a contentious woman in a wide house.
 20 The sonne of the wicked wilberth enill: and his neighbour hath no fauour in his eyes.
 21 When the scooner is punished, the scoonish to wife: and when one instructeth the wife, he wil receiue knowledge.
 22 The righteous teacheth the house of the wicked: but God ouerthroweth the wicked for their enill.
 23 He that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shall also crye and not be heard.
 24 A gift in secret pacifieth anger, and a gift in the bolsonne great wrath.
 25 It is tope to the iust to doe iudgement: but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquitie.
 26 A man that wandereth out of the way of wisdom, shall remaine in the congregation of the dead.
 27 He that loneth pastime, shall be a poore man: and he that loneth wine and oyle, shall not be riche.
 28 The wicked shall be a ranfome for the iust, & the transgressor for the righteous.
 29 It is better to dwell in the wilderness, then with a contentious and angrie woman.
 30 In the house of the wise is a pleasant treasure and oyle: but a foolish man destroyeth it.
 31 He that followeth after righteousness and mercie, shall finde life, righteousness, and glorie.
 32 A wise man goeth by into the citie of the mightie, & calleth bolonne the strengty of the confidence thereof.
 33 He that keepeth his mouth & his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions.
 34 Proude, haucie & scoinefull is his name that worketh in his arrogancie wrath.
 35 The desire of a slouthfull slappeth him: for his hands refuse to worke.
 36 He conueth euermore greedily, but the righteous giueth, and spareth not.
 37 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: holue much more when hee bringeth it with a wicked minde.
 38 A false witness shall perish: but he that heareth, speaketh continually.
 39 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but the iust, he will direct his way.
 40 There is no wisdom, neither binders standing, nor counsel against the Lord.
 41 The house is prepared against the day of hatred: but saluations of the Lord.

CHAP. XXII.

1 A Good name is to be chosen aboue great riches, and louing fauour is aboue silver and aboue golde.
 2 The riche and poore meete together: the Lord is the maker of them all.
 3 A pindert man saith the plague, & his derth himself: but the foolish go on still, and are punished.
 4 That is, the punishment which is prepared for the wicked, and death to God for succour.

4 The reward of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and gloie, and life.
 5 Thowes and snares are in the way of the frowarde: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart saue from them.
 6 Teach a child in the trade of his way, and when he is older, he shall not depart from it.
 7 The riche ruleth the poore, & the boyowor is seruant to the man that lenderh.
 8 He that soweth iniquitie, shall reape affliction, and the rod of his anger shall e fayle.
 9 He that hath a good eye, he shall be blessed: for he giueth of his bread vnto the poore.
 10 Cast out the scooner, and strife shall goe out: so contention & repoeche shall cease.
 11 He that loneth purenes of heart for the grace of his lippes, the King shall be his friend.
 12 The eyes of the Lord preferne knowledge: but he ouerthroweth the workers of the transgression.
 13 The slouthfull man sayeth, I am without, I shall be slaine in the street.
 14 The mouth of strange women is as a deepe pit: he with whom the Lord is angrie, shall fall therein.
 15 Foolishnes is bound in the heart of a childe: but the rodde of correction shall bringe it away from him.
 16 He that oppresseth the poore to increase himselfe, and giueth vnto the riche, shall surely come to penurie.
 17 Incline thine eare, & heare the wordes of the wise, and apphe thine heart vnto his knowledge.
 18 For it shall bee pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy belly, and if they be directed together in thy lippes.
 19 That thy confidence may be in the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heede.
 20 Haue not I written vnto thee: three times in counsels and knowledge.
 21 That I might shewe thee the assurance of the wordes of truth to auisere the wordes of truty to them that sende to thee?
 22 Kobbre not the poore, because hee is poore, neither oppresse the afflicted in iudgement.
 23 For the Lord will defend their cause, and spoyle the soule of those that spoyle them.
 24 Make no friendship with an angrie man, neither goe with the furiours man.
 25 Least thou learne his wayes, and receiue destruction to thy soule.
 26 Be not thou of them that touche the hand, nor among them that are sureties for debtors.
 27 If thou hast nothing to pay, why couldest thou that he should take thy bed from vnder thee?
 28 Thou shalt not remoue the amment which thy fathers haue made.
 29 Thou seest that a diligent man in his business standeth before kings, and standeth not before the base foyle.

His amonition whereby he did oppresse others, shall be taken from him.
 Eccles. 3. 13.
 He is mercifull and liberall.
 He sheweth his princes shoulde vsc their familiaritie, whose conscience is good, and their talke wife and godly.
 He fauour them that loue knowledge.
 He denideth them that inuent vayne excuses, because they would not doe their duetie.
 So God punisheth one sinne by another, whe he suffere the wicked to fall into the acquaintance of an harlot.
 He is naturally giuen vnto it.
 He sheweth what the end of wisdom is: to wit, to direct vs to the Lord.
 That is, san-drie times.

CHAP. XXIII.

brietye.

<sup>b</sup> Bridle thine
appetite, as it were by force &
violence.

<sup>c</sup> For oft times
the riche, when they bid their in-feriours to their tables, it is not for the loue they beare them, but
for their own secret purposes.

<sup>d</sup> Bestow not gifts: God hath giue thee, to get worldly riches.

<sup>e</sup> That is, coue-tous, as contrary
a good eye is taken for liberall,

<sup>f</sup> He will not cease, til he hath done thee some harme, and his flattering words
shal come to no
vile.

<sup>g</sup> That is, from destruction.

<sup>h</sup> The prosperi-
tie of the wicked
shal not continue.

<sup>i</sup> In the obseruation of Gods
commandements.

<sup>l</sup> Ek. deuourers of flesh.

<sup>m</sup> She seduceth many, and cau-
eth them to offend God.

<sup>n</sup> Which by art
make wine stir-
ger, and more pleasant.

ing thee to whoredome.

<sup>p</sup> In such great danger shal
thou be.

ennes make them more insensible then beasties, yet can
they not refrain

<sup>r</sup> In the mids of the sea, and as he that sleepeth in the top of the mast.

<sup>s</sup> They haue stricken mee,
but I was not sicke:
they haue beaten
me, but I knewe not
when I awoke:
therefore will I
seeke it yet still.

<sup>t</sup> Be not envious against enimies, neither desire to be with
them.

<sup>u</sup> For their heart
imagineth destruction, and their lip-
pes speake mischief.

<sup>v</sup> Though wisdom
is an house builded,
and with understanding it is established.

<sup>w</sup> And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious, and pleasant riches.

<sup>x</sup> A wise man is strong: for a man
of vnderstanding
increaseth his strength.

<sup>y</sup> For with counsell thou shalt en-
terpise thy warre,
and in the multitude of them that
can giue counsell,
is health.

<sup>z</sup> Wisdom is like to a fool: therefore he cannot open his mouth in
the gate.

<sup>a</sup> He that
imagineth to do
euill, men shall
call him an authour
of wickednes.

<sup>b</sup> The wicked thought of a fool
is slime, and the scorn of an abomination vnto men.

<sup>c</sup> If thou be faint in the day
of aduersitie, thy strength is small.

<sup>d</sup> Wellur
them: for they are
drawen to death:
wilt thou not pre-
serue them that
are led to be slaine?

<sup>e</sup> None can be excused, if he
it: he that pond-
ereth the hearts,
doth not helpe
neither: he that hindereth the
soules, knoweth
he it not: wilt
not he be in danger.

<sup>f</sup> Also recom-
pense euery man
according to his workes.

<sup>g</sup> Appome, eate
of homie, for it is good, and the hony combe, for
it is swete vnto
thy mouth:

<sup>h</sup> So shall the knowledge of wis-dome be vnto thy soule, if thou
finde it, as there
the soule shal
be an ende, and
thy hope shal
not be cut off.

<sup>i</sup> Lay no
waite, O wicked
man, against
the house of the righteous, for spolie not his resting place.

<sup>j</sup> For a iust
man fall-
eth seuen times,
and riseth againe:
but the wicked
fall to many times, but God
deli-
uereth him.

<sup>k</sup> Be thou not glad when thy enemy
fall-
eth,

When thou sittest to eate with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee.

And put the knife to thy throat, if thou be a man given to the appetite.

Be not desirous of his deintie meates: for it is a deceivable meate.

Travaille not too much to be riche: but cease from thy wisdom.

Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing: for riches taketh her to her wings, as an eagle, and flyeth into the heauen.

Eate thou not the bread of him that hath an euill eye, neither desire his deintie meates.

For as though hee thought it in his heart, so will he say vnto thee, Eate and drinke: but his heart is not with thee.

Thou shalt vomit thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lole thy sweete wordes.

Speake not in the eares of a fool: for he will despise the wisdom of thy wordes.

Keene not the ancient boundes, and enter not into the fieldes of the fatherlesse.

For he that redemeth them, is mighty: he will defende their cause against thee.

Apphie thine heart to instruction, and thine eares to the wordes of knowledge.

Withholde not correction from the child: if thou smite him with the rod, he shall not die.

Thou shalt smite him with the rodde, and shalt deliuer his soule from hell.

Appome, if thine heart be wise, mine heart shall reioyce, and I also.

And up reines shall reioyce, when thy lippes speake righteous things.

Let not thine heart be enuious against sinners: but let it be in the feare of the Lord continually.

For surely there is an ende, and thy hope shall not be cut off.

Whom my sonne, heare, and be wise, and giue thine heart in the way.

Keepe not company with drunkards, nor with gluttons.

For the drunkard and the glutton shall be poore, and the sleeper shall be clothed with ragges.

Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when she is olde.

Spare no cost for truths sake, neither depart from it for any gaine.

Giue thy selfe wholly to wisdom.

She seduceth many, and caueth them to offend God.

She seduceth many, and caueth them to offend God.

She seduceth many, and caueth them to offend God.

among men.

To whom is wo? to whom is sorrow? to whom is strife? to whom is mourning? to whom are woundes without cause? and to whom is the redresse of the eyes?

Even to them that tarie long at the wyne, to them that goe, and seeke murtur.

Iooke not thou vpon the wyne, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.

In the ende thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, & thine heart shall speake lewde things.

And thou shalt bee as one that sleepeth in the mids of the sea, and as he that sleepeth in the top of the mast.

They haue stricken mee, shalt thou say, but I was not sicke: they haue beaten mee, but I knewe not, when I awoke: therefore will I seeke it yet still.

Be not thou enuious against enimies, neither desire to be with them.

For their heart imagineth destruction, and their lippes speake mischief.

Though wisdom is an house builded, and with understanding it is established.

And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious, and pleasant riches.

A wise man is strong: for a man of vnderstanding increaseth his strength.

For with counsell thou shalt enterpise thy warre, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsell, is health.

Wisdom is like to a fool: therefore he cannot open his mouth in the gate.

He that imagineth to do euill, men shall call him an authour of wickednes.

The wicked thought of a fool is slime, and the scorn of an abomination vnto men.

If thou be faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small.

Wellur them: for they are drawen to death: wilt thou not preserue them that are led to be slaine?

None can be excused, if he it: he that pondereth the hearts, doth not helpe neither: he that hindereth the soules, knoweth he it not: wilt not he be in danger.

Also recompense euery man according to his workes.

Appome, eate of homie, for it is good, and the hony combe, for it is swete vnto thy mouth:

So shall the knowledge of wisdom be vnto thy soule, if thou finde it, as there the soule shal be an ende, and thy hope shal not be cut off.

Lay no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, for spolie not his resting place.

For a iust man fall-eth seuen times, and riseth againe: but the wicked fall to many times, but God deli- uereth him.

Be thou not glad when thy enemy fall-eth,

among men.

To whom is wo? to whom is sorrow? to whom is strife? to whom is mourning? to whom are woundes without cause? and to whom is the redresse of the eyes?

Even to them that tarie long at the wyne, to them that goe, and seeke murtur.

Iooke not thou vpon the wyne, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.

In the ende thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

1 THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES of Salomon, which the men of Yezekiah king of Iudah copied out.

2 The glorie of God is to concale a thing secret: but the kings honour is to search out a thing.

3 The heauens in height, and the earth in deepenes, and the kings heart can no man search out.

4 Take the dross from the siluer, and there shall pproce a vessel for the finer.

5 Take away the wicked from the king,

and his rhyone shall be stablished in right troubles.

6 Soak not thy selfe before the king, and stand not in the place of great men.

7 *For it is better, that it bee sayde vnto thee, Come by hither, then thou to bee put lower in the presence of the prince whome thine eyes haue seene.

8 Go not forth hastily to strife, least thou knowe not what to do in the ende thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

9 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and disconer not the secret to another.

10 Least he heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamie do not cease.

11 A worde spoken in his place, is like apples of golde with pictures of silver.

12 He that repproueth the wise, & the obedient eate, is as a golden earring and an ornament of fine golde.

13 As the colde of the snowe in the time of harvest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that sende him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters.

14 A man that boasteth of false liberalitie, is like a cloudes & winde without raine.

15 A prince is pacified by slaying of an outwarde ap- pearance, & are nothing within.

16 If thou haue founde hoyp, eate that is sufficient for thee, least thou be ouerfull, and bonite it.

17 Withdawe thy foote from thy neighbours house, least he be wearie of thee, and hate thee.

18 A man that beareth false witnesse against his neighbour, is like an hammer, and a sword, and a sharpe arrowe.

19 Confidence in an unfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken rooth and a sliding foote.

20 He that taketh away the garment in the cold season, is like vineger powred vpon a mitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauie heart.

21 *If he that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eate, & if he be thirstie, giue him water to drinke.

22 For thou shalt lay thy coles vpon his head, and the lord shall recompense thee.

23 As the northwinde diuirteth away the raine, so doeth an angrie countenance the stamdering tongue.

9 As a thorne standing up in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of fooles.

10 The excellent that forned all things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the transgressors.

11 As a dog turneth againe to his owne bonitie, so a foole turneth to his foolishnesse.

12 Sweet thou a man wyle in his owne conceit: more hope is of a foole then of him.

13 The southfull man sayth, A lion is in the way: a lion is in the streets.

14 As the dooie turneth vpon his hinges: so doeth the southfull man vpon his bed.

15 The southfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and it grieveth him to put it as gaine to his mouth.

16 The sluggard is wyle in his owne conceit, then seven men that can render a reason.

17 He that passeth by and medleth with the strife that belongeth not unto him, is as one that taketh a dogge by the eares.

18 As hee b faimeth himselfe mad, casteth firebrands, arrows, & mortall things, 19 So dealeth y deceitfull man with his friend, and sayth, Am not I in sport?

20 Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a talebearer strife ceaseth.

21 As the cole maketh burning coles, and wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kinde strife.

22 The words of a talebearer are as flatterings, & they goe downe into the bowels of the brille.

23 As silver dyasse overlaped vpon a pot sheard, so are burning lippes, and an euill heart.

24 He that hateth, will counterfaiete with his lippes, but in his heart he layeth vpon deceit.

25 Though he speake fauourably, belicme him not: for there are seven abominations in his heart.

26 Hatred may be conered by deceit: but the malice thereof shall be discovered in the congregation.

27 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, and he that roleteth a stone, it shall retorne vnto him.

a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

C H A P. XXVII.

Bald not thy selfe of to morowe: for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man praye thee, and not thine owne lippes.

3 A stone is heauie, and the sand twighs: but a fooles wrath is heavier then them both.

4 Anger is cruel, and wrath is raging: but who can stand before y eniue?

5 Open rebuke is better then secret lone. The wounds of a louer are faithfull, and the kisses of an enemie are pleasant.

6 The person that is full, despiseth an hoire combe: but vnto the hungrie soule euery bitter thing is sweete.

7 As a bird that wandereth from her nest, so is a man that wandereth from his owne place.

8 As ornament and perfume reioyce the heart, so doeth the sweetness of a mans friend by hearty counsel.

9 Thine owne friend & thy fathers friend forsake thou not: neither enter into thy brothers house in the day of thy calamitie: for better is a neighbour that is any worldly neere, then a brother farre off.

10 A spy sonne, be wyle, and reioyce nime of thy trouble.

11 A prudent man seeth the plague, and a pudent man seeth the plague, and a pudent man seeth the plague, and a pudent man seeth the plague.

12 A pudent man seeth the plague, and a pudent man seeth the plague, and a pudent man seeth the plague, and a pudent man seeth the plague.

13 Take his garment that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

14 Hee that praiseth his friends with a loud voyce, rising early in the morning, it shall be counted to him as a curse.

15 A continual dropping in the day of raine, & a contentious woman are alike.

16 He that hideth her, hideth the wprde, and she is as the oyle in his right hande, that vttereth it selfe.

17 Iron sharpeneth iron, so doeth y man y sharpen the face of his friend.

18 He that keepeth the figge tree, shall eat the fruit thereof: so he that waiteth vpon his master, shall come to honour.

19 As in water face answereth to face, so in the heart of man to man.

20 The graue and destruction can neuer be full, so the eyes of man can neuer be satisfied.

21 As is the sining potte for silver, and the sining potte for golde, so is euery man according to his dignitie.

22 Though thou shouldst biap a foole in a moter among wheate biaped with y pestell: yet will not his foolishnes depart from him.

23 Be diligent to knowe the state of thy flocke, and take heede to the sheards.

24 For riches remaine not alway, nor the crowne from generation to generation.

25 The hee discovereth it selfe, and the grasle appeareth, and the herdes of the mountaines are gathered.

A wicked ruler.

1 This declareth the great goodnes of God to- wards man, and the diligence that he requereth of him for the preferuacion of his giftes.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 Because their own conscience accuseth them, b The state of the common weale is often times changed,

1 The wicked: a See when none ym- lieth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 For the transgression of the land b there are many pynnes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding & knowledge a realme likewise endureth long.

3 A poore man, if hee oppresse the poore, is like a raging raime, that leaueh no foode.

4 They that forsake the lawe, pynple the wicked: but they that keepe the lawe, set themselves against them.

5 Wicked men vnderstande not iudgement: but they that seeke the loyde, vnderstand all things.

6 a Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnes, then he that peruerterh his wayes, though he be rich.

7 He that keepeth the lawe, is a childe of vnderstanding: but hee that feedeth the gluttons, shaueth his father.

8 He that increaseth his riches by vniuersall interest, gathereth: a then for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

9 Hee that turneth away his eare from hearing the lawe, euen his prayer shall be a abominable.

10 He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things.

11 The rich man is wise in his owne conceit: but the poore that hath vnderstanding, can trye a him.

12 a When righteous men reioyce, there is great glosse: but when the wicked come by, the man is tried.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercy.

14 Blessed is the man that feareth alway: but hee that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

15 As a roaring lion, and an hungrie beare, so is a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but hee that hath vnderstanding, shall prolong his dayes.

17 A man that doeth violence against the bloud of a person, shall see vnto a graue, and they shall not: slay him.

18 He that walketh vprightly, shall be saved: but he that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall.

19 a He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfi- ed with bread: but he that followeth the idle, shall be filled with pouertie.

20 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and he that maketh haste to be rich, shall not be innocent.

21 To haue respect of persons is not good:

for that man will transgresse for a piece of bread.

22 A man with a wicked eye halseth riches, and knoweth not, that pouertie shall come vpon him.

23 He that rebuketh a man, shall finde that is countenay- more fauour at the length, then hee that flattereth with his tongue.

24 He that robbeth his father & mother, and saith, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroperh.

25 He that is of a proud heart, stirreth up strife: but he that trusteth in the loyde, shall be a fat.

26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a fool: but he that walketh in wisdom, shall be deliuered.

27 He that giueth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses.

28 a When the wicked rise by, men hide themselves: but when they perish, the righteous increaseth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A span that hardeneth his necke, when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroperd and cannot be cured.

2 a When the righteous are in auoytie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

3 A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: a but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance.

4 A king by iudgement mainteineth the countrey: but a man receiuing giftes, destroperh it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, spreadeth a net for his steps.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornful men bying a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wyath.

9 If a wise man contend with a foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

10 Bloody men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A fool poisoneth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 A prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruantes are wicked.

13 a The poore and the vniuersall meete together, and the loyde lighteneth both their eyes.

14 a A king that iudgeth the poore in truth, his throne shall be established for ever.

15 The rod and correction giue wisdom: but a child set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.

16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule.

18 a Where there is no vision, the people decap: but he that keepeth the lawe, is not faithfull.

k He will be abused for no- thing.

abomination to the wicked.

THE WORDES OF AGUR THE SONNE OF IAKHEH.

The prophetic which the man spake
vnto Ithiel, eue to Ithiel, & Ucal.
Surely I am moze foolish then as any man, & haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me.

3 For I haue not learned wisdom, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things.
4 Who hath ascended vp to heauen, and descended: Who hath gathered fowles
in his fist: Who hath bounde the wasters in a garment: Who hath established all the endes of the world: What is his name, and what is his sonnes
name, if thou canst tell?

5 * Every word of God is pure: hee is a shield to those, that trust in him.

6 * But nothing vnto his wordes, lest he reproue thee, and thou be found a liar.

7 Two things haue I requied of thee:
denie me them not before I die.

8 Remove farre from me vanitie and lies:
giue me not poutertie, nor riches: feede
me with fode conuenient for me,

9 Least I be full, and denie thee, and say,
Who is the Lorde: or least I be poore and steale, and take the name of my God in vaine.

10 Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, least hee curse thee, & when thou hast offended.

11 There is a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceit, and yet are not was-shed from their filthines.

13 There is a generation, whose eyes are pauit, and their eye liddes are lifted vp.

14 There is a generation, whose reeche are as swoydes, and their chawes as knives to eate vp the afflicted out of the earth, and the poore from among men.

15 The hosteleach hath two daughters, which cry,
Come, giue. There be three things which p will not be satisfied: yea, foure in her tongue, which be these.

16 The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot be satisfied with water,
and the fire that saith not, It is ynough.

17 The eye that winketh his father, and despiseth the instruction of his mother,
let the rauen of the valley picke it out,
and the pondegle eate it.

18 There be three things hidde from me:
yea, foure that I know not.

19 The way of an eagle in the aire, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the middes of the sea, & the way of a man with a maid.

20 Such is the way also of an adulterous woman: shee eateth and is wiped her mouth, and saith, I haue not committed iniquitie.

21 For these things the earth is moored:
yea, for foure it cannot susteine it selfe:
for a seruant when he reigneth, and
a scole when he is filled with meate,

22 For the hatefull woman, when she is married, and for a handmaide that is in her to her mistres.

23 These be foure small things in the earth,
yet they are wise and full of wisdom:
The pismires a people not strong, yet
they prepare their meate in summer:

24 The conies a people not mightie, yet
make they their houses in the rocke:

25 The grasshopper hath no king, yet go
they forth all by bandes:

26 The spider taketh hold vpon her hands,
and is in kings palaces.

27 There be three things that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going,

28 A lion which is strong among brastes,
and turneth not at the sight of aipe:

29 A lustie grahounde, & a goate, & a king
against whom there is no rising vp.

30 If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, & if thou hast thought wickedly,
lay thine hand vpon thy mouth.

31 When one churmerh milke, he bringeth foorth butter: and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so he that soyreth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

The prophetic which his mother taught him.

2 What my sonne! & what the sonne
of my wombe! & what, & sonne
of my desires!

3 Giue not thy strength vnto women, & nor thy laboure vnto them: for they consume
the strength of thy laboure, & they consume thy laboure.

4 The doctrine, which his mother Bath-sheba taught him.

the wapes, which is to destroy Kings.

It is not for Kings, & Lemuel, it is not for Kings to drinke wine, nor for princes strong drinke,

Least he drinke, & forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction.

Give ye strong drinke unto him that is ready to perish, and wine unto them that haue griefe of heart.

Let him drinke, that he may forget his pouterte, and remember his nuerie no more.

Open the mouth for the dumb in the cause of all the children of destruction.

Open the mouth: iudge righteously, and iudge the afflicted, and the poore.

Who shall finde a vertuous woman? for her price is farre above the pearles.

The heart of her husband trusteth in her, and he shall haue no neede of a spoone.

She will do him good, and not euill all the dayes of her life.

She sakereth wool and flaxe, and laboureth cherefully with her hands.

She is like the shippes of marchantes: she bringeth her foode from a farre.

And she riseth, whiles it is yet night: and giveth the portion to her household, and the ordinarie to her maides.

She considereth a heide, & getteth it: and with the fruite of her handes she planteth a vinepard.

She girdeth her loynes with strenght, and strengtheneth her armes.

She feeleth her marchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night.

She putteth her hands to the wherrie, and her hands handle the spindle.

She stretcheth out her hand to a poore, & putteth forth her hands to the needy.

She feareth not the snow for her family: for al her family is clothed in skarlet.

She maketh her selfe carpets: fine linen and purple is her garment.

Her husband is knowen in the gates, when he sitteth in the Chibers of the land.

She maketh shooes, and selleth them, and giveth girdels unto the marchant.

Strength & honour is her clothing, & in the latter day she shall reioyce.

She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and the law of grace is in her tongue.

She overleth the wapes of her house: hold, & eateth not the bread of idleness.

Her children rise by, and call her blessed: her husband also shall praise her, saying,

Many daughters haue done vertuously: but thou surmountest them all.

Faunt is deceitfull, and beaurtie is vaine: but a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praised.

Give her of the fruit of her hands, and let her owne woorkes praise her in the gates.

Or, with double.

In the assemblies and places of iudgement.

Or, linen cloth.

After that he had spoken of the apparel of the body, he now declares the apparel of the spirit.

Her tongue is as aooke whereby one might learne many good things: for she delighteth to talke of the word of God.

That is, do her reuerence.

Confesse her diligent labours and commend her therefore.

Forasmuch as the most honorable are clad in the apparel that she made.

Ecclesiastes, or the Preacher.

THE ARGVMENT.

Salomon, as a preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceivable vanities of this worlde, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore he consulteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, eyther in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that he is vnitied with God, & shall enioye his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they further vs to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and can not be founde in any other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

All things in this world are full of vanitie, and of none endurance. 23 All mans wisdom is but follie & grief.

The woordes of the Preacher, the sonne of Dauid King in Ierusalem.

Vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie. Capeth the Preacher: vaine of vanities, all is vanitie.

What remaineth vnto man in all his trouble, which he suffereth vnder the sunne?

One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for ever.

The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, and dwaleth to his place, where he riseth.

The winde goeth toward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the winde & riuers winde goeth rounde about, & returneth he sheweth that by his circuit.

All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the boue and lonsea is not full: for the riuers goe into the sea hath an ende, and there.

All things are full of labour: man can fore there can not viter it: the eye is not satisfied with see no felicity sleeping, nor the care filled with heaue in this ring.

What is it that hath bene? that that shall be: and what is it that hath bene? The sea which done: that which shall be done: and there compasseth all the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which powre out springs and riuers into the sea againe, Hee speake of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

By the sunne,

The sea which

the earth, filleth

the veines thereof,

the which

Hee

as they haue

so come they

to passe againe.

Ap,

That is, the king must not give himselfe to unconnes and neglect his office, which is to execute iudge-
ment.

For wine doth comfort hearts,
as Psal. 104. 15.
Defend their soules that are not able to help themselves.

He shall not meddle to vie any relatiue means
to giue his li-
uor.

He prepareth
his chairmeat betwe.

like purchaseth
it with gaines
of her manie.

Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assemblith
the people, because he tea-
cheth the true
knowledge of God, & how men
ought to passe
their life in this transitory world.

Hee condem-
neth the opinions of all men that set felicitie in any thing, but in God alone, seeing that in this worlde all things are as vanitie and nothing.

Salomon doeth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but sheweth that there is no full contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, not in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitory.

One ma dieth after another, & the earth remaineth longer euen to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption.

h He prouch that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this world by labour and studie, he chiefly should haue obtained it, because he had giues and aides of God therunto aboute all other.

i Man of nature hath a desire to know, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sin, to humble man, & to reach him to depend onely vpon God.

k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to go otherwise then they doe: neither can he number the faults that are committed, much lesse remedie them. l That is, vaine things, which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of conscience. m Wisedome and knowledge can not be come by without great paine of bodie and minde: for when a mā hath attained to the highest, yet is his minde neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vantie. 14 The wise and the foole haue both one end, touching the bodily death.

a Salomon maketh this discourse with him selfe, as though he would trie whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures.

b Ebr. draw my flesh to wine.

c Albeit I gaue my selfe to pleasures, yet I thought to keep wisdom & the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.

d Ebr. As.

e Meaning, of the seruantes or flaues, which he had bought: so the children borne in their seruitude, were the maistres.

1 I said in mine heart, Go to now, I will proue it thee with iope: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vantie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I sought in mine heart "to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in "wisdom, and to take holde of follie, till I might see where is that goodnes of the children of men, which they "enioye vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.

4 I haue made my great woynes: I haue built mee houses: I haue plantred mee vineyardes.

5 I haue made me gardenes & "orchardes, and planted in them trees of all fruite.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that growe twy trees.

7 I haue gotten seruantes & maidens, and had children borne in the "house: also I had great possession of beaues & sheepe aboute all that were besyde mee in Ierusalem.

8 Behold this, it is neuer: it hath bene already in the olde tyme that was besyde vs.

9 There is no memoie of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shal bee, with them that shal come after.

10 I the Preacher haue bin King ouer Israel in Ierusalem:

11 And I haue giuen mine heart to search and find out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this Ioseph traualled hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby)

12 I haue considered all the woynes that are done vnder the sunne, and behold, all is vantie, and vexation of the spirit.

13 That which is "crooked, can none make straigh: and that which is sapient, cannot be nombred.

14 I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, & excell in wisdom: all them that haue bene besyde mee in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge.

15 And I gaue mine heart to know wisdom and knowledge, "madnes and foolishnes: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

16 For in the multitude of wisdom is much "griefe: and free that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

17 I haue gathered vnto me also silver and golde, and the chiefe treasures of kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men fingers and women fingers, & the "desires of the sonnes of men, as a woman "taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

18 And I was great, & increased aboue all that were besyde mee in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me.

19 And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withheld not mine heart from any iope: for mine heart reioiced in all my labour: and this was my "portion of all my traualle.

20 Then I looked on all my woynes that mine handes had wrought, and on the traualle that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vantie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profit vnder the sunne.

21 And I turned to beholde "wisdom, and madnesse and folly: (for who is the man that "will come after the King in things, which men now haue done?)

22 Then I saw that there is profit in wisdom, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenes.

23 For the wise mans "eyes are in his head, but the foole waketh in darkenes: yet I know also that the same "condition fallith to them all.

24 Then I thought in mine heart, It befallith vnto me, as it befallith to a foole: Why therefore doe I then labour to bee more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vantie.

25 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole: I say euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shal all be forgotten. And "how dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

26 Therefore I hated life: for the woynes that is wrought vnder the sunne is grievous vnto me: for all is vantie, and vexation of the spirit.

27 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had traueiled vnder the sunne, which I shal leaue to the man that shal bee after me.

28 And who knoweth whether he shal bee wise or foolish? yet shall he haue rule as ner all my labour, wherein I haue traueiled, and wherein I haue thred my selfe vnder the sunne. This is also vantie.

29 Therefore I went about to make mine heart "abhorre all the labour, wherein I had traueiled vnder the sunne.

30 For there is a man whose traueile is in wisdom, and in knowledge and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not traueiled herein, shal he "gine his portion: this also is vantie and a great griefe.

31 For what hath man of all his traueils and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath traueiled vnder the sunne?

C H A P. V.

1 Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 9 The contentous can neuer haue yongh. 11 The labourer sleepe is sweete. 14 Man when he dyeth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented minde is the gift of God.

a Either in vowing or in praying: meaning, y we should vie all reuerence to Godward.
b He heareth thee not for thy many wordes sake or often repetitions, but considereth thy fayth, and seruient minde.
c He speaketh of vowes, which are approved by Gods word, and serue to his glory.
d Cause not thy selfe to sinne by vowing rashly: as they do which make a vowe to liue vnmarried, and such like.
e That is, before Gods messenger, when he shall examine thy doing: as though thy ignorance should be a iust excuse.

and destroy the woike of thine hands? 6 For in the multitude of desires, and vanities, are also many woibes: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou feest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, be not alotted at the matter: for he that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is: therefore weuer all: the King also consisteth by the felde that is tilled.

9 He that loneth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and he that loneth riches, shall be without the fruit thereof: this also is vanitie.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The sleepe of him that traueileth, is sweeter, whether he eate little of much: but the sleepe of the riche will not suffice him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sickenesse that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches reserved to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perish by euill traile, and he begetteth a sonne, & in his hande is nothing.

14 As he came forth of his mothers belly, he shall retorne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sickenes that in all points as he came, so shall hee goe: and what profit hath he that he hath traueiled for the world?

16 And all his dayes he eateth in darkness with much griefe, and in his sorrowe and anger.

17 Behold then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he traueileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euerie man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioie his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely he wil not much remember the dayes of his life, because God answereith to the top of his heart.

for the paynes that he hath indured in time past.

C H A P. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vsurthem.

1 Here is an euill, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and hee wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it by: this is vanitie, and this is woe.

Meaning, that God will transfe these things, and therefore we must depend vpon him.

The reason of the euill use to be preferred about all things, which appertain to this life.

Princes can not be Kings, and which appertain to this life.

efface without village, which thing cometh.

of riches, or the suffering, which cometh by his great feeding.

When contentous men hope vp riches, which turne to their destruction.

He doth not enioy his riches.

Meaning, vaine, and without profit.

In affliction, griefe of minde.

Read Chap. 3. 22.

He will take no great charge.

this is an euill sickness.

3 If a man beget an hundred children and live many yeeres, and the dapes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not satisfied with good thinges, & he be not buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For if he cometh into vanitie and goeth into darkenes: and his name shall be couered with darkenes.

5 Also he hath not seene the sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath moze rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousande yeeres wise tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the fool? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the lining?

9 The sight of the eye is better then to walke in the luster: this also is vanitie, and vberation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene: the name thereof is now named: and it is knownen that it is man: and he cannot strue with him that is stronger then he.

11 Be not thou of an hasty spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fool.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former daies were better then these: for thou dost not inquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wisdom is good with an inheritance: and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wijsdomes, & in the shadow of shier: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisdom giueth life to the possessor thereof.

15 Behold the woike of God: for who can make straight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In the day of welch be of good comfort: and in the day of affliction consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should find nothing as he ter him.

17 I haue seene all thinges in the dapes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perissheth in his iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust: overmuch, nepther make thy selfe overwise: wherfore thou shalt not be deolate.

19 Be not thou wicked: overmuch, nepther be thou foolish: wherfore thou shalt not perissh in thy time.

20 It is good that thou lap holde on this: but per withiualue not thine hande from worke: for that for he that feareth God, shall come forth of them all.

21 Wisdom shall strengthen the wise man: more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 Surely there is a man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Gine not thine heart also to all the words that men speake, lest thou do heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For oftentimes also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wisdom: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what map it be: and it is a profound deepenes, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to knowe & to enquire and to search wisdom and reason, and to knowe the wickednes of folie, and the foolishnes of madnesse.

28 And I finde more bitter then death the woman whose heart is as nets & snares, and her handes, as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

29 Behold, sayth the preacher, this haue I founde, seeking out by one to finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue founde one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not founde.

own destruction.

hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many inuentions.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To obey princes and Magistrates. 17 The works of God passe mans knowledge.

a That is, doeth
get him fauour
and prosperitie.
b Whereas before he was proude & arrogant, he shall become humble
and meeke.
c That is, that thou obey the King, and keepe
his law: that thou hast made for the same cause. d Withdraw
not thy selfe
lightly from the obedience of thy prince.

1 Who is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisdom of a man doeth make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shall be changed.

2 I aduertise thee to take heed to his mouth of the king, and to the word of the other of God.

3 Hast not thou to go forth of his sight:
stand not in an euill thing: for he will doe
whatsoeuer pleaseth him.

4 Where the word of the King is, there is power, & who shall saye vnto him, What doest thou?

5 He that keepeth the commandment,
shall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall know the time & iudges
ment.

6 For to enerp purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the miserie of man is great vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shall be:
for who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not lord over the spirit to res-pene the spirit: neyther hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battel, & who shall deliuer him from the power of death?

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to enerp worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, and I saue a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I saw the wicked buried,
and they returned, and they that came from the holp place, were yet forgotten
in the cite where they had done right:
this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet
I knowe that it shall be well with them that feare the Lord, and do reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadowe, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon
the earth, that there be righteous men to whom it cometh according to the word of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it cometh according to the word of the just: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praised ioy: for there is no goodnes to man vnder the sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is aborned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to know

wisdom, and to behold the busines that is done on earth, that neyther day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe,

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God,
that man can not find out the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne: for which man labourerh to seeke it, & can not finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he can not finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can men knowe whom God
looueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his ende. 16
Wisdom excelleth strength.

1 I haue surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the just, and the wise, and their workes are in the hande of God: and no man knoweth reth epyther lone of: hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the just and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good,
so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he
that feareth an othe.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder
the sunne, that there is one condition
to all, and also the heart of the fowles
of men is full of euill, and mannes heart in their heartes whyles they liue, and after that, they go to the dead.

4 Surely whosoever is turned to a li-
uing dog, then to a dead dog.

5 For the liuing knowe that they shall die,
but the dead knowe nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, & their enemie is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done
vnder the sunne.

7 For, eat thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God
now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be white,
and let not oyle bee lacking vpon thine
head.

9 Reioyce with the wife whome thou lovest all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder
the sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauall wherewith thou labourst vnder the sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall find to do, do it with all thy power: for there is neyther work nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in a grate wither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saue vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battel to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor yet riches to men of vnderstand-ing, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance commaith to
them all.

12 speake the wicked bellie gods. "Ere regardeth life."
f Thus the worldlings say to prove that all things are lawfull to them, and attribute that to chance and fortune, which is done by the prouidence of God.

I Remember

Repent betime.

Salomons Song.

The soule immortal.

Remember now the thy Creator in the bapes of thy youth, whiles the ruill dapes come not, nor the perres ap-proch, wherein thou shalt say, I haue no
pleasure in them:
2 Whiles the sunne is not darke, nor the light, nor the moone, nor the starres, nor
the cloudes returne after the raine:
3 When the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bowe themselves, and the grinders shall cease,
because they are fewe, & they were darke
that looke out by the windowes:
4 And the doores shall be shut without by the hale sound of the grinding, and hee shall rise vp at the voyce of the bird: & al
the daughters of singing shall be abascd.
5 Also they shall be asfraid of the hye thing, and feare shall be in the way, and the almonde tree shall be ashy, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be diuyn away: for man
goeth to the house of his age, & the mountains goe about in the streete.
6 Whiles the silver corde is not lengthened, nor the golden? euer broken, nor the pitcher broken at the well, nor the wheelie broken at the cistern:
7 And built returne to the earth as it was,
and the spirit returne to God that gaue it.
8 Vanitie of vanities, sayth the Preacher,
all is vanitie.
9 And the more wise the Preacher was,
the more he taught people knowledge, and caused them to heare, and searched
soothly, and prepared many parables.
10 The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant wordes, and an vniuersall wising,
euen the wordes of truth.
11 The wordes of the wise are like goads,
and like nayles fastned by the mallets
of the assemblie, which are giuen by one pauour.
12 And of other thinges besides thes,
my sonne, take thou heede: for there is wicked
imaginatione in making many bookes,
and much reading is a wearisome of the fleish.
13 Let vs heare the ende of all: feare God and keepe his commandments: for this is the whole dute of man.
14 For God will bring euery worke into iudgement, with euery secret thing, wherther it be good or euill.

15 The soule immortal
that conserueth
brayne, which
in colour like gold.
16 Meaning, the
Which is the head.
17 That is, the
out of the which
head descendeth
the power of life.
18 The soule is either in appointment, and
sleepeth not.
19 These things
can not be conprehended in bookes, or leaned by studie, but God must instruct the heart that thou may only knowe that wisdom is the true felicity, & the way unto is to feare God.

An "excellent song which was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this Song, Salomon by most sweete and comfortable allegories and parables describeth
the perfect loue of Iesus Christe, the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appoynted to be his spouse, holy, chaste, & without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome towards the bride, and his great and excellent benefites wherewith he doeth enriche her of his pure bountie & grace without any of her deseruings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

we will remember thy loue more then

me: they made me the keeper of the vintages:

Chap. II. III. II.

The Churches desire to Christ. 257

1 Christ speaketh to his Church, bidding them that are ignorant, to go to the pallours of grace.
2 For thy spiritual beautie and excellence, there was no worldly creature to be compared vnto thee.
3 The Church acknowledgeth that she is admitted to the companie of Christ.
4 Beholde most down vnto me.
5 Christ accepteth his Church, & commendeth her beautie.
6 That is, the house of the faithful wherein Christ dwelleth by his spirit.

7 If thou knowest not, & thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the flocke, and seeke thy kinsde by the tents of the shepherds.
8 I haue compared thee, & my loue, to the troupe of hoyses in the 4 charters of Pharaoh.
9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.
10 We wil make thee borders of gold with studdes of silver.
11 Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.
12 My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto mee: hee shall lye betwene my breasts.
13 My welbeloued is as a cluster of camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.
14 My loue, beholde, thou art faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doves.
15 My welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire and pleasant: also our bed is greene.
16 The beanes of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

my faire one, and come away.
14 My loue, that art in the holes of the rocke, in secret places of hares: shewe me thy light, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is swete, & thy light comely.
15 Take vs the fowles: the hile fowles, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.
16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lilies.
17 Until the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne, my welbeloued, & be like a roe, or a pong hart vpon the mountaynes of Betther.

18 The Church desireth Christ to be most readie to helpe her in all dangers.
C H A P. III.
1 The Church desireth to be reynid inseparably to Christ her husband. 6 Her deliuerance out of the wilderness.
2 A my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not.
3 I wil rise therefore now, and go about in the citie, by the streetes and by the open places, & wil seeke him that my soule loseth: I sought him, but I found him not.
4 The watchmen that went about the citie, found me: to whom I sayd, Where pou haue found him, whom my soule loueth?
5 When I had past a litle fro them, then I found him whom my soule loued: Iooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house: I brought him vnto my mothers house.
6 I charge pou, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hinds of the feldes, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill the please.
7 Who is she that cometh by out of the wilderness, like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the marchant?
8 Beholde his bed, which is Salomons: thre score strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.
9 They all handle the sword, & are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare & by night.
10 King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.
11 He made the pillars thereof of silver, the pauement thereof of golde, the haings thereof of purple, & holt rubs was the pauced with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.
12 Come forth, ye daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the crowne, wherewith his mother crowne of the non ber ned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnes of his heart.

C H A P. II.

1 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadowes of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the dove, 15 And the enemies to the foxes.
2 I am the rose of the field, and the lillie of the vallies.
3 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters.
4 Like the apple tree among the trees of the foyell, so is my welbeloued among the somes of men: vnder his shadowe had I desire, and sat downe: and his fruite was swete vnto my mouth.
5 He brought me into the wine celler, and loue was his banner ouer me.
6 Stap me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am like of loue.
7 His right hand doeth embrace me.
8 I charge pou, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hinds of the feldes, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill the please.
9 It is the voyce of my welbeloued: beholde, he cometh leaping by the mountaynes, and skipping by the hilles.
10 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a pong hart: lo, he standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, & throwng himselfe through the grates.
11 My welbeloued spake and sayd vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, & come: thy way.
12 For beholde, winter is past: the rapne is changed, and is gone away.
13 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, & the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.
14 The figge tree hath brought forth her pong figges: & the vines with their small grapes haue cast a fauour: arise my loue, by the coming of Christ, which is here described by the spring time, when all things flourish.

The fountaine of grace.

Salomons song.

Wicked watchmen.

b He hath respect to f multitude of f faithfull, which are many in number.

heare is like the b flocke of goates, which looke downe from the mountaine of Seir.

2 Thy teeth are like a flock of sheepe in good order, which goe by from the walshing: which eue y one bying out twinnies, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a thebe of charlet, and thy talke is comely: thy teple are within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the towye of Dauid builde for defence: a thousande sheldes hang therein, and all the targats of the strong men.

e Wherein are knowledge, and zeale, two precious jewels.

5 Thy two e yestes are as two pong roes that are twinnies, feeding among h lilies.

6 Untill the day breake, and the shadowes fle away, I wil go into the mountaine of myrthe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

d Christ promi- feth his Church to call his faithfull from all the corners of the worlde.

8 Come with mee from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with me from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Sionah, from the toppe of Shenir and Hermon, from the demes of the byons and from the mountaines of the leopards.

e Christ calleth his Church sister in respect that he had taken the Beth of man.

9 My sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

f In that he made his church beauefull and riche, he loued his gifts in her.

10 My spouse, my spouse, howe faire is thy loue: howe much better is thy loue then wine: and the saour of thine ointments then all spices?

g Because of thy confession and thankesgiving.

11 Thy s lippes, my spouse, droppe as hony combes: hony and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the saour of thy garments is as the saour of Lebanon.

h The Church confesseth that all her glory, and beaue cometh of Christ, who is f true fountaine of all grace.

12 My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut up, & a fountaine sealed up.

i She desireth Christ to comfort her, and to powre f graces of his Spirit vpon her, which Spirit is meant by the North & South wind.

13 The plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with swete frutes, as can- phire, spikenard,

14 Euen spikenard, and saffron, calamus, & cinnamon with all the trees of incense, myrthe & aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

15 A fountaine of the gardenis, & well of living waters, & the springes of Lebanon.

16 Arise, & North, and come South, and blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruit.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She beareth him voyce. 3 She desireth her nakednes. 4 She praeseth Christ her husband.

a The garden signifieth the kingdome of Christ, where he prepareth the banquet for his elect.

1 I am come into my garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrthe with my spice: I ate mine hony combe with mine hony, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, & friends, & drinke, and make you merry, & welbeloued.

b The spouse- faith f he is troubled with the cares of worldly things, which is meant by sleeping.

2 I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto me, my sister, my loue, my dove, my vnderfild: for mine head is full of dewe, and my lockes with the droppe of the night.

3 I haue put off my coate, howe shall I put it on? I haue washed my face, howe shall I beset it?

4 My welbeloued put in his hande by the hole of the doore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose up to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrthe, and my fingers put myrthe vpon the handles of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, & past: mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I could not finde him: I called againe, but he answered me not.

7 The watchmen that went about the citie, found me: they smote me & wounded me: the watchmen of the walles took away my bayle from me.

8 I charge you, & daughters of Jerusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9 The fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another loue, & thou dost charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefe of ten thousand.

11 His head is as fine gold, his locks curled, and blacke as a raven.

12 His eyes are like bones vpon the rimmes of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of spices, & as swete flowers, and his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrthe.

14 His handes as rings of golde set with the chrysolite, his belly like white pumorie couered with sapphires.

15 His legges are as pillars of marble, set vpon sockets of fine gold: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is as swete things, and he is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my loue, & daughters of Jerusalem.

17 The fairest among women, whether is thy welbeloued gone? whether is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seeke him with thee?

CHAP. VI.

1 The Church assureth her selfe of the loue of Christ.

2 The praeseth the Church. 3 She is but one and vndiuided.

1 My welbeloued is gone downe into my garden to seeke in the gardenis, and to gather lilies.

2 I am my welbeloued, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among h lilies.

3 Thou art beautiful, my loue, as Tirzah, comely as Jerusalem, terrible as an armie with banners.

4 Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome me: thine heare is like a flocke of goats, which looke downe from Seir.

5 Thy teeth are like a flock of sheepe, which go by from the walshing, which euer y one bying out twinnies, and none is barren among them.

c Declaring the long patience of the Lord toward sinners.

d The spouse confesseth her nakednes, & that of her selfe she hath nothing to seeke thus that his once made cleane, the promiser not to defile her selfe againe.

e Myrthe was much used in ward him.

f The spouse which should be anoynted of Christ, shall not finke him to be sicke to annoynt him with her good works.

g These are the false teachers, which would be conscience with their traditions.

h She saith of them which are godly (forasmuch as she saith) should come out of Zion & Jerusalem: that they would direct her to Christ.

i Thus say they of Jerusalem.

j She desireth Christ to be of perfect beaue and comelines.

k Hearing of the excellencie of Christ, f fithfull desire to know how to find him.

l That is, to be earnest here in earth among men.

m Which was a faire and strong city, 1 Kin. 14. 17

n This declareth exceeding loue of Christ toward his Church.

o Chap. 4. 1.

Meaning, that the glorious influence which Christ giveth to his Church, that his faithful are may in number.

He sheweth the beginning of the Church was small, but that it grew up to a great multitude.

He went down into synagogs to see what fruits came of the Law and the Prophets.

He found nothing but rebellion. I am as vile as the nobles of my people in their chariots. O ye people of Jerusalem: for Jerusalem was called Shalem, which signifies peace.

Returne, returne, O Shulanite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What shall you see in the Shulanite, but as the chariots of my noble people.

I went down to the garden of nuts, to see the fruites of the valley, to see if I have budded, and if the pomegranates flourish.

I know nothing, my soule set me as the chariots of my noble people.

Returne, returne, O Shulanite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What shall you see in the Shulanite, but as the chariots of my noble people.

Returne, returne, O Shulanite, returne: returne that we may behold thee. What shall you see in the Shulanite, but as the chariots of my noble people.

CHAP. VII.

The beautie of the Church in all her members. She is assured of Christ's love towards her.

How beautiful are thy goings with shoes, O pines daughter! thy top knots of thy thighs are like jewels: the work of thy hand of a cunning workman.

Thy navel is as a round cup that waiteth not liquor: thy belly is as an heape of wheat compassed about with lilies.

Thy two breasts are as two pong roes that are twinned.

Thy necke is like a towre of pinnis: thine eyes are like the fish pools in Bethbon by the gate of Bath-rabbim: thy nose is as the towre of Lebanon, that looketh toward Damascus.

Thine head upon thee is as scarlet, and the bulke of thine head like purple: the king is tyed in the fastners.

Howe faire art thou, and howe pleasant art thou, O my loue, in pleasure!

This thy stature is like a palme tree, and thy breasts like clusters.

I said, I will goe up into the palme tree, I will take hold of her boughs: thy breasts shall now be like the clusters of the vine: and the savour of thy nose like apples.

And I rouse of thy mouth like good wine, which goeth straight to my welbeloued, & causeth the lippes of my ancient to speake.

I am my welbeloued, and his desire is toward me.

Come, my welbeloued, let us goe forth into the field: let us remaine in the villages.

Let us get up early to the vines, let us see if the vine flourish, whether it hath budded

the small grape, or whether the pomegranates flourish: here will I give thee my love.

The maidens have given a kiss, and in our gates are all sweete things, newe and olde: my welbeloued, I have kept them for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

The Church will be taught by Christ. She is uphelden by him. The vehement loue wherewith Christ loveth her. She is the vine that bringeth forth fruit to the Spiritual Salomon, which is Jesus Christ.

O that thou werest as my brother that sucked my breasts of my mother: I would finde thee without, I would kisse thee, then thou shouldst not despise me.

I will lead thee and bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teach me: & I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and new wine of the pomegranate.

His left hande shall be under mine head, and his right hand shall embrace me.

I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, that you stur not up, nor waken any loue, untill the please.

Who is this that cometh by out of the wilderness, leaning upon her welbeloued? I raised thee up under an apple tree: there thy mother conceived thee: there she conceived that bare thee.

Set me as a seal on thine heart, & as a signet upon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coles thereof are fire coles, and a vehement flame.

Such water cannot quench loue, neither can the floods dyvene it: If a man should be give all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it.

We have a little sister, and she hath no breasts: what shall we doe for our sister when she shall be spoken for?

If she be a wall, we will build upon her a silver palace: if she be a dove, we will keepe her in with boards of cedar.

I am a wall, and my breasts are as towers: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace.

Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: he gave the vineyard unto keepers: every one bringeth forth fruit thereof a thousand pieces of silver.

But my vineyard which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon, appertaineth a thousand pieces of silver, and two thousand to them that keepe the fruit thereof.

Thou that dwellest in the gardens, the companions hearken unto thy voyce: cause me to heare it.

My welbeloued, I keepe away, and be like unto the roe, or to the pong hart upon the mountains of spices.

The Church called of the Gentiles, speake thus to the Church of Jerusalem.

Or, my.

Reade Chap. 2.6.

Reade Chap. 3.5.

The spouse desireth Christ to be ioyned in perpetuall love with him.

The Jewish Church speake this of the Church of the Gentiles.

If she be sure and fast, she is meete for the husband to dwell in.

The Church promisseth fidelity & constancie.

This is the vineyard of the Lord hired out, Math. 21. 33.

Christ dwelleth in his Church, whose voyce the faithfull heare.

The Church desireth Christ that if he depart from them, yet that he would haste to helpe them in their troubles.

THE ARGUMENT.

GOD, according to his promises, Deut. 18. 15. that hee would neuer leave his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare unto the people the things to come, wherof they had a speciall revelation, but also to interpret and declare the Law, and to applie particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the 15 What haue ye to doe, that ye hate my people to pierce, & grinde the faces of the poore, sayth the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes?

16 The Lord also sayeth, Because the daughters of Zion are hauntie, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with wandering eyes, walking and mincing as they go, and making a tuckling with their feete,

by the spirit of burning.

them. k God promitteth to be the defence of his Church against

Nowe will I sing to my beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyard,

best plants, and he built a towre in the middle of the cof, and made a vineyard
there: then he looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought forth wild grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Jerusalem, and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray
you, betwixt me, and my vineyard.

4 What coulde I haue done any more to my vineyard that I haue not done vnto
it: whyp haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shalbe eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shalbe troden downe.

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not bee
cutte, nor digged, but byers, and thornes shall growe vpon it: I will also commaund
the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it,

7 I Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde
a crying.

and lap field to field, till there be no

the middes of the earth.

9 This is in mine eares, saith the Lord of hosts. Surely many houses shalbe desolate, even great and faire, without inhabitant.

10 For tennie acres of vines shall yeeld one
poore to dwell
in, and the seede of an ephah shall yeeld one ephah.

11 I Doe vnto them, that rise by earely to followe drunkennes, and to them that continue vntill a night, till the wine doe
inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viol, timbrel, and pipe, & wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people is gone into cap-tiuitie, because they had no knowledg,
and the glory thereof are men famished,
and the multitude thereof is dyed vpon
with thirst.

14 Therefore hee hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth, without reuerence, and their glory, and their multitude and their pompe, and hee that reioyceth
among them, shall descende into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shalbe humbled, euen the eyes of proude shalbe humbled.

16 And the Lord of hosts shalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shalbe sax God comforteth the poore lambs of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countries, promising that they should dwell in those places againe, whereof they had bene deprived by the fat and cruell tyrants.

y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sinne.
z He sheweth what are the wordes of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgements.
a Which are not ashamed of sinne, nor care for honesty, but are growen to a desperate impietie.
b Which are concerners of all doctrine and admonition.
c Which are neuer wearie, but shewe their strength, & brag in gluttonie and drunkennes.
d Both they and his posteritie, so that nothing shalbe left.
e He sheweth that God had sore punished this people, that the dumme creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bene more sensible, & therefore his plagues must continue, till they begin to feele them.
f He will make the Babylonians to come against them at his becke, and to fight vnder his stander.
g They shalbe prompt, and lustie to execute Gods vengeance.
h The enemy shall haue none impediment.
i Wherby is declared the crueltie of enemies.
k The Iewes shall finde no succour.
l In the land of Iudah.

17 Then shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.
18 Woe vnto them, that draw iniquitie with cordes of vanitie, & sinne, as with cart ropes:
19 Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that we may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that we may know it.
20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, & euill of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenes, that put bitter for swete, & swete for bitter.
21 Woe vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, & prudent in their owne sight.
22 Woe vnto them that are mighty to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:
23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him.
24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their roote shall be as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vpe like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel.
25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his hand vpon them, and hath smitten them: that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeises were toine in the middes of the streetes, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.
26 And he will lift vp a signe vnto the nations a farr, & will hidde vnto them from the ende of the earth: and beholde, they shall come halp with speede.
27 None shall saue him nor fall among them: none shall number nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loines be loosed, nor the latchet of his shoes be broken:
28 Whose arrows shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooves shalbe thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewinde.
29 His roaring shalbe like a lion, & he shall roare like lions whelpes: they shall roare, and lay holde of the praye: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.
30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, behold darkenesse, and sorowe, and the light shall be darkened in their skie.

1 In the pere of the death of king Darius, I saw also the Lord sitting upon a high throne, & lifted vp, and the lower parts thereof filled the temple.
2 The Seraphims stood vpon it: euery one had fire wings: with twaine he covered his face, and with twaine he covered his face, & with twaine he covered his face, & with twaine he covered his face.
3 And one cried to another, & saide, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory.
4 And the lintels of the doore chokes moaned at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.
5 Then I said, Woe is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lipps, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lipps: for mine eyes haue seen the king, and Lord of hostes.
6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto mee with an hote cole in his hand, which he had taken from the altar with which he touched my mouth, and said, Lo, this hath touched thy lipps, and thine iniquitie shalbe taken away, & thy sinne shalbe purged.
7 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whome shall I send? & who shall go for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send me.
8 And he said, Go, and say vnto this people, He shall heare in deede, but he shall not vnderstand: he shall see, and he shall not perceiue.
9 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, & shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstande with their hearts, and conuert, and he shall be healed.
10 Then said I, Lord, howe long? And he answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses be without man, and the land be utterly desolate.
11 And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the middes of the land.

h This oft repetition signifieth that the holy Angels cannot suffice in praising God, to teach vs that in all our liues should giue our felices to the continuall praise of God.
i His glory doth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the worlde, and therefore all creatures are bounde to praise him.
k Which thinges were to confirme the Prophet, that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindness that should come vpon the Iewes.
l He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because he that was a mortall creature, & therefore had more neede to glorifie God then the Angels, did not: and the other, because the more neere that man approached to God, the more doeth hee knowe his owne sinne, and corruption.
m Of the burnt offerings, where fire neuer went out.
n This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till he haue purged vs.
o Wherby is declared that for the maiestie of man God will not immediately take away his worde, but he will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, and be saved: hereby he exhorteth the ministers to doe their dutie, and answereth to the wicked murderers, that through their owne malice their hearts hardened, Matth 13. 14. him that beweth therewith? or shall the sawe eralt it selfe against him? or shall the rodde shoulde lift vp it selfe against him that take it? or shall the staffe shoulde eralt it selfe, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hostes sende among his fat men, leanesse, and under his gloire he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall be as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure his thjournes and his hyers in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitful fieldes both soule and flesh: and he shall be as the fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be fewe, that a childe may tell them.

20 And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, as such as are escaped of the house of Iakob, staie no more upon him that smote them, but shall stay upon the Lord, the holy one of Israel in truth.

21 The remnant shall returne, even the remnant of Iakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sande of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption decreede shall overflowe with righteousness.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, even determined, in the middes of all the lande.

24 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift up his staffe against thee after the manner of Egypt.

25 But yet a very little time, and I will warche shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord God of hostes shall rase up a scourge for him, according to the plague of Sphidian in the rocke Suez: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he will lift it up after the manner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shall his burden be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: & the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anointing.

28 He is come to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Bethmish shall he lay vpon his armour.

29 They haue gone over the forde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift up thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O people Khatthoth.

31 Gadmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselves together.

32 Yet there is a time that he will stay at Iakob: he shall lift up his hande towards the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Jerusalem.

33 Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the bough with feare, and the

of high stature shall be cut off, and the high shall be humbled.

34 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mighty fall.

e Meaning, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnes, and also how detestable a thing tyrannie is, seeing the insensible creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

3 And in that day when the Ioye shall give thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the ioye bondage, wherein thou didst lerne,

20 Thou shalt not be ioynd with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and slayne thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowned for euer.

21 I prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vpon possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

24 The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand:

25 For I will breake to pieces Mithur in my land, and vpon my mountains I will tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations.

27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disannull it? & his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

CHAP. XV.

A prophetic against Moab.

The burden of Moab. Surely the burden of Moab was destroyed, & brought to silence in a night: surely the burden of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

He shall go up to the temple, and to Dis-
hon to the high places to weep: for Moab and for Medeba shall Moab howle:
upon all their heads shall be baldnesse,
and every beard shallauen.

In their streets shall they be girded with sackcloth: on the toppes of their houses, & in their streets every one shall howle,
and come downe with weeping.

And Bethon shall cry, & Elealeh: their voice shall be heard vnto Jahaz: therefore the warriors of Moab shall howle: the soul of every one shall lament in himself.

Spine heart shall cry for Moab: his firginities shall see vnto Zoar, & an heifer of three yeeres old: for they shall goe up with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith:
and by the way of Mojonaim they shall
raile vp a cry of destruction.

For the waters of Hamon shall be dyed
up: therefore the grasse is withered,
the herbes consumed, and there was no
greene herbe.

Therefore what every man hath left, and their substance shall they deare to the brooke of the willowes.

For the cry went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof
vnto Elaim, and the striking thereof
vnto Berer Elaim.

Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euenthens vpon him that escapeth
of Moab, and to the remnant of the lande.

Of them that are slaine. I So by no means shall they escape the hande of God: thus will God punish the enemies of his Church.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

Send a lamb to the ruler of the world
from the rocke of the wilderness, vnto
the mountaine of the daughter Zion.
For it shall be as a bird that flyeth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be at the footes of Zion.

Gather a counsell, execute iudgement:
make thy shadowe as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out:
bewray not him that is fled.

Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall endre:

He sheweth what Moab should haue done, when it saw their neighbour was in affliction, to whom because they would see no shadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortlesse. d The city shall oppress the Israelites, but for a while.

the destroyer shall be consumed, & the oppression shall cease out of the land.

And in mercy shall the thorne be prepared, and he shall sit vpon it in steadfastnes,
in the tabernacle of David, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and halting iustice.

We haue heard of the pride of Moab,
(he is very proud) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his pride shall not be so.

Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: every one shall howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shall be moune, yet
they shall be striken.

For the vineyards of Yeshbon are cut downe, & the vine of Sibmah: the lords of the heathen haue broken the principall
vines thereof: they are come vnto Ja-zer: they wandied in the wilderness: her goodly branches stretched out the felices,
and went ouer the sea.

Therefore will I weep with the weeping of Jaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, & Yeshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy sommer frutes, & vpon
thy harvest a howling is fallen.

And gladnesse is taken away, and ioye
out of the plentiful field: and in the vines parches shall be no singing nor shouting for ioy: the treader shall not treade wine
in the wine presses: I haue caused the resounding to cease.

Wherefore, my bowels shall sounde be-like an harpe for Moab, & mine inward parts for Kir-hareseth.

And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be wearie of his high places, then shall he come to his temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

And now the Lord hath spoken, saying,

In three yeeres, as the yeeres of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contemned in al the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

He sheweth that Moab should haue done, when it saw their neighbour was in affliction, to whom because they would see no shadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortlesse. d The
city shall oppress the Israelites, but for a while.

phraim. 7 Calamitie mouth to repentance.

The burden of Damascus. Beholde, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

The cities of Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flocks: for they shall lie there,
and none shall make them afraid.

The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the glory of the children of Israel.

Isaiah.

Destruction of Egypt.

f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boasted themselves of their nobilitie, prosperitie, strength and multitude.

g As the abundance of corne doeth not feare the harvest men that should cut it downe: no more shall the multitude of Israel make the enemies to shrink, whom God shall appoint to destroy them.

h Which valley was plentifull & fertile.

i Because God would haue his covenant stable, he promised to reuerse some of this people, and to bring them to repentance.

k He sheweth Gods correctiōs euer bring forth some fruit, and cause his to turne fro their sinnes, and to humble themselves to him.

l As the Canaanites left their cities, when God did place the Israelites there, so the cities of Israel shall no more be able to defend their inhabitants, then bulwers, when God shall send the enemy to plague them.

m Which are excellent, and brought out of other countreys. n As the Lorde threateth the wicked in his lawe, Leuit. 26. 16. o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number, and gathered of many nations. p Hee addeth this for the consolation of the faithfull, which were in Israel. q He compareth the enemies the Assyrians, to a tempest, which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the enemies of the Church. 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

2 He meaneth that part of Ethiopia, which lyeth toward the Sea, which was so full of shippes, that the sayles (which he compareth to wings) seemed so shadowe the sea.

saith the Lorde of hostes.

4 And in that day the glory of Jacob shall be unpouerished, and the samel of his flesh shall be made leane.

5 And it shall be as when the harvest man gadereth the corne, and reapech the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gadereth the eares in the valley of Euphrat.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two or three berries are in the toppes of the vponmost boughes, and foure or fise in the pie branches of the fruite thereof, saith the Lorde God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holpe one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne handes, neither shall he looke to those things, which his owne fingers haue made, as grones & images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the foylaking of boughes and bianches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, & there shall be desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembered the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange vine bianches:

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seebe to flourish: but the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrowe.

12 Why the multitude of many people, they shall make a sounde like the noise of the sea: for the noise of the people shall make a sounde like the noise of many waters.

13 The people shall make a sounde like the noise of many waters: but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shall be chafed as the chaffe of the mountaines before the wind, and as a rolling thing before the whirlwinde.

14 And loe, in the evening there is trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lotte of them that robbe vs.

15 Which are excellent, and brought out of other countreys. n As the Lorde threateth the wicked in his lawe, Leuit. 26. 16. o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number, and gathered of many nations. p Hee addeth this for the consolation of the faithfull, which were in Israel. q He compareth the enemies the Assyrians, to a tempest, which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the enemies of the Church. 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

1 O, the Lord shadowing with wings, which is depoude the riuers of Ethiopia,

2 Sending ambassadors by the sea, men Sea, which was so full of shippes, that the sayles (which he compareth to wings) seemed so shadowe the sea.

in vessels of reedes vpon the waters, saying, We be swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by little and little, euen troden vnder foote, whose lande the floods haue spoiled.

3 All ye inhabitants of the world and dwellers in the earth, shall see when I re setteth by a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpe, ye shall heare.

4 For so the Lord said vnto me, I will reest and beholde in my tabernacle, as the heate dying vpon the raine, and as a cloude of dewe in the heate of harvest.

5 For afore the harvest when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the bianches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes:

6 They shall be left together vnto fowles of the earth: for the foule shall sommer vpon it, and euery beate of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lorde of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, and of a terrible people from their beginning by the plague made of them, a nation, by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose lande the riuers haue spoiled) to the place of the name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

8 When the Lorde prepares to fight against the Ethiopians. g I will slaye a while from punishing the wicked. h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby he meaneth, that he will seeme to vntour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but he will suddenly cut them off. i Not only men shall conteme them, but the brute beastes. k Meaning, that God will picke his Church, and reuece that litle remnant as an offering vnto him selfe.

12 Of their confusion to the Lorde.

1 The burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idols of Egypt shall be mooued at his presence, & the heart of Egypt shall melt in the muddes of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the muddes of her, and I will destroy ouer al their counsel, and they shall seeke at the idols, and at the soicerers, and at their cloudes, and that haue spirites of diuination, and at the southsayers.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shall faile in that he will contemne the muddes of her, and I will destroy ouer al their counsel, and they shall seeke at the idols, and at the soicerers, and at their cloudes, and that haue spirites of diuination, and at the southsayers.

1 Then the waters of the sea shall say, and the river shall be dried up, & wasted.
2 And the rivers shall goe farre away: the rivers of defence shall be emptied and dried up: the reedes and flagges shall be cut downe.
3 The gasse in the river, and at the head of the rivers, and all that groweth by the river, shall wither, and be dryen away, and be no more.
4 The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the river, shall lament, and they that spread their net upon the waters, shall be weakened.
5 Joye neuer, they that worke in flaxe of divers sorts, shall be confounded, and they that weave nets.
6 For their nettes shall be broken, and all they that make ponde, shall be heauie in heart.
7 Surely the princes of Loan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellors of Pharaoh is become foolish: howe say ye vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wisest? I am the sonne of the wisest kinge:
8 Where are now thy wisemen, that they may tell thee, or may knowe what the Lorde of hostes hath determined agaynst Egypt?
9 The princes of Loan are become fooles: the princes of Egypt are deceived, they haue deuiued Egypt, even the corners of the tribes thereof.
10 The Lorde hath mingled among them the spirit of erreuice: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery wyche thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite.
11 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the saple, the branch nor the rush.
12 In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shall be as rappe & feare because of the moouing of the hand of the Lorde of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it.
13 And the land of Iudah shall be a feare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shall be as rappe thereat, because of the counsell of the Lorde of hostes, which he hath determined vpon it.
14 In that day shall five cities in the land of Egypt speake the language of Canaan, and shall sweare by the Lorde of hostes: one shall be called the cite of destruction.
15 In that day shall the altar of the Lorde be in the middes of the land of Egypt, as the principall thereof are the chiefest cause of their destruction.
16 For the spirit of wisdom he hath made them drunken & giddy with the spirit of erreuice, neither the great nor the small, the strong nor the weak.
17 Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence, but put their trust in them, and were therefore now punished, they shall feare least the light vpon them.
18 Shall make one confession of faith with the people of God: by the speech of Canaan, meaning, the language wherein God was then serued, shall renouce their deuotions, and protest to serue God aright.
19 Meaning, of the cities five should serue GOD, and the sixt remaine in their wickednesse: and so of the sixth part there should be but one left.

and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lorde.
20 And it shall be for a signe & for a witness vnto the Lorde of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crye vnto the Lorde, because of the oppressors, and he shall send them a Saviour and a great man, and shall deliuer them.
21 And the Lorde shall be knowne of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lorde in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall bowe downe vnto the Lorde, and persontine them.
22 So the Lorde shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lorde, and he shall be intreated of them and shall heede them.
23 In that day shall there be a path from Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship to Asshur.
24 In that day shall Israel be the thirde with Egypt and Asshur, even a blessing in the middes of the land.
25 For the Lorde of hostes shall bless it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Asshur, the twofold of mine handes, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

1 The three yeres captiuitie of Egypt & Ethiopia described by the three yeres going naked of Isiah.
2 In the yeres that Tartan came to Asshur, (when Sargon king of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Asshur, and taken it,
3 At the same time spake the Lorde by the hand of Isiah the sonne of Amos, saying, Doe, and lose the sackcloth from thy loynes, & put off thy shoe from thy foot. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.
4 And the Lorde said, Like as my seruant Isiah hath walked naked, & barefoote thre yeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia,
5 So shall the king of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both pong men and olde men, naked & barefoote, with their buttocks vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.
6 And they shall feare, and be ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glorie.
7 Then shall the inhabitant of this ple say in that day, Scholde, such is our expectation, whither we fled for helpe to be deliuered from the king of Asshur, and howe shall we be deliuered?
8 About with their enemies, as an yle with waters.

There shall be euident signes and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which manner of speach is taken of the Patriarkes and ancient times, when God had not as yet appointed a place, and full manner howe he would be worshipped. This declarereth that this prophecy should be accomplished in the time of Christ. By these ceremonies hee comprehendeth the spirituall seruice vnder Christ. By these two nations, which were then chiefe enemies of the Church, he sheweth that the Gentiles, and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one fayth and religion, and should be all one folde vnder Christ their shepheard.

1 In the day of vengeance ye shall be cut off: and in the day of wrath shall ye be cut off: for ye have despised my word, sayeth the Lord God of hostes, the Lord of Israel. 2 And it was declared in the ears of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, till ye be dead, sayeth the Lord God of hostes. 3 Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, God, get thee to that a treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the house, and say, 4 What hast thou to doe here: and whom hast thou here: that thou shouldst here brew thee out a sepulchre, as he that breweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that graunte an habitation for himselfe in a rocke? 5 Beholde, the Lord will carie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely conuer thee. 6 He will sitely roile and turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou dye, and there the charers of thy glorie shall be: the shame of thy lordes house. 7 And I will diuine thee from thy station, & out of thy dwelling will I destroy thee. 8 And in that day will I call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 9 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and he shall be a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah. 10 And the key of the house of David will I lay upon his shoulder: so he shall open, and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open. 11 And I will fasten him as a nail in a sure place, and he shall bee for the throne of glory to his fathers house. 12 And thou shalt hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers house, even of the nephews and posterity: all small vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euen to all the instruments of musick. 13 In that day, sayeth the Lord of hostes, shall the naple, that is fastened in the sure place, depart and shall be broken, and fall: and the burden that was vpon it, shall be cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it. 14 Saying that what power dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length will turne to the shame of those Princes, by whome they are preferred. 15 To be steward againe, our of the which office he had bene put by the craft of Shebna. 16 I will commit vnto him the full charge and gouernement of the Kinges house. 17 I will establish him & confirme him in his office: of this phrase read Ezra p. 7. x. Meaning, that both small and great that had come of Eliakim, shall haue praise and glorie by this faithfull chieftaine. 18 He meaneth Shebna, who in mans iudgement shoulde haue bene fallen.

1 A prophecie against Tyrus. 2 A promise that it shall be restored.

1 The burden of Tyrus. Howle, wee shippes of Tarshish: for it is destroyed, so that there is none house: none that come from the land of Chittim: it is renewed vnto them. 2 By Chittim they meant all the yles & countreys which were from Palestina. c. All men know of this destruction.

2 We will see that blue in the ples: the merchants of Sidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue replenished thee. 3 The seede of Sals growing by the abundance of waters, and the harvest of the river was her reuenues, and she was a mart of the nations. 4 We are ashamed, thou Sidon: for the sea hath spoken, euen of strength of the sea, saying, I haue not traualled, nor brought forth children, neither nourished young men, nor brought vp virgins. 5 When the same cometh to the Egyptians, they shall be forie, concerning the ruinour of Tyus. 6 Goe you ouer to Tarshish: howle, yee that dwell in the ples. 7 Is not this that your glorious cite? her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne sette shall leade her a farre off to be a fortourner. 8 Who hath decreed this against Tyus (that crowne men) whose marchants are princes: whose chappmen are the nobles of the world? 9 The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glorie, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth. 10 Passe through thy lande like a flood to the daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength. 11 We stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commandment concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof. 12 And he sayde, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: o virginie daughter of Sidon: rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest. 13 Behold the land of the Chaldeans: this was no people: 14 Ashur founded it by the inhabitants of the wilderness: they set vpon the towres thereof: they raised the palaces thereof and he brought it to ruine. 15 Howle ye shippes of Tarshish, for your strength is destroyed. 16 And in that day shall Tyus be forgotten: ten seuentie yeeres, (according to the peres of one King) at the ende of seuentie yeeres shall Tyus sing as an harlot. 17 Take an harpe, and go about the citie: (thou harlot that hast bene forgotten) make sweete melodie, sing moe songs that thou mayest be remembered. 18 And at the ende of seuentie yeeres shall the Lord visite Tyus, & he shall retorne to her 7 wagges, & shall commit fornication.

more shall these two nations of Caldea and Assyria be able to overthrowe Tyrus. f That is, Tyrus, by whom yee are enriched. t Tyrus shall lie destroyed seuentie yeeres, which he calleth the reigne of one King, or a mans age. u Shall vse all craft and subtiltie to entise men againe to her. x Shee shall labour by all meanes to recouer her first credit, as an harlot when she is long forgotten, seeketh by all meanes to enterraine her louers. y Though shee haue bene chastised of the Lord, yet she shall retorne to her olde wicked practises, and for gayne shall giue her selfe to all mens lusts like an harlot.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13. Aramais refused, shall praise the Lord.

BEhold, the Lorde maketh the earth desolate, and he maketh it waste: he turneth it vnder downe, and scattereth abroade the inhabitants thereof. And there shall be like people, like priest, and like seruant, like master, like mayde, like milkester, like bier, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to blishe.

3 The earth shall bee cleane emptied, and utterly spoiled: for the Lorde hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the wayde is feeble and decayed: the yonge people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth also receiueth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the everlasting covenent.

6 Therefore hath the curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are burned up, & few men are left.

7 The wine failerh, & vine hath no might: all that were of mery heart, do mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the nople of them that reioyce, enderh: the iope of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shal not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shalbe bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of banitie is broken downe: euery house is shut up, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streets: all iope is darkened: the mirth of the wayde is gone away.

12 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 Surely thus shall it bee in the mids of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an olive tree, & as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift up their voyce: they shall shoute for the magnificence of the Lorde:

which are general in the Lawe. e With heate & drought, or els, that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath. f Which as it was without order, so now should it be brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not onely meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities. g Because they did not vse Gods benefites aright, their pleasures should faile, and they fall to mourning. h He comforteth the faithful, declaring that in his great desolation the Lorde will assemble his Church, which shall praise his name, as chap. 10. 22.

they shall reioyce from the sea.

15 Wherefore praise ye the Lorde in the balais, even the name of the Lorde God of Israel, in the ples of the sea.

16 From the uttermost part of the earth we haue heard praises, euen gloie to the ver. 16.

17 Just, & I said, I shal leaue, my leane nesh, wo is me: the transgressours haue offended: pea, the transgressours haue grievously offended.

18 And he that fleeth from the nople of the feare, shall fall into the pit: & he that considering the commeth by out of the pit, shalbe taken affliction of the snare: for the windowes from Church, both by on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do shake.

19 The earth is utterly broken downe: the earth is cleane discoloured: the earth is moored exceedingly.

20 The earth shall reele to and fro like a weiled to the drunken man, and shalbe remoued like Prophet, that a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and preuel: & rise no more.

21 And in that day shall the Lorde be sate, & the hoste aboue that is on him, & the Kinges of the wayde that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shalbe gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: & they shalbe them: so that shut up in the prison, and after many they should ne escape no more.

23 Then the moone shalbe abashed, and then they did at the sunne alshaued, when the Lorde of Noahs flood, hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Jerusalem: and gloie shall be before power: his ancient men.

A thanksgiving to God in that that he sheweth him selfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked and maintaining the goodly.

Lord, thou art my God: I will extol thee, I will praise thy name: because thou hast done wonderful things, according to the counsels of olde, because hee will bring vnder thee with a stable triuith.

2 For thou hast made of a citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer bee build.

3 Therefore shall the mightie people gine gloie vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the people, euen a strength to the naked in his Ierusalem, but trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a also of the shadowe against the heate: for the blast cherities, which haue bene thine enemies.

of the mightie is like a stone against the wall.
 Thou shalt bring downe the people of the strangers, as the heate in a ripe place: hee will bring downe the strong of the mightie, as the heate in the shadow of a cloude.
 And in this mountaine shall the Loyde of hostes make unto all people a feast of fat things, even a feast of fined wines, and of fat things full of marrow, of wines fined and purified.
 And he will destroy in this mountaine the covering that covereth all people, and the baile that is spied upon all nations.
 He will destroy death for ever: and the Loyde God will wipe away the reares from all faces, & the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Loyde hath spoken it.
 And in that day shall men say, Is, this is our God: we have waited for him, and he will save us. This is the Loyde, wee have waited for him: wee will rejoyce and be full in his saluation.
 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Loyde rest, and Moab shall be threshed under him, as straw is threshed in = Moabimnah.
 And he shall stretch out his hand in the midde of them (as he that winneth, stretcheth them out to winneth) and with the strength of his handes shall he bring downe their pride.
 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall hee bring downe and laye lowe, and cast them to the ground, even unto the dust.
 By Moab are meant all the enemies of the Church. m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chron. 2. 49. and another in the lande of Moab, Iere. 48. 2. which seemed to have bene a plentiful place of corne, Chap. 20. 3.

C H A P. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the church, and wherein they ought to trust.

1 In that day shall this song be sung in the lande of Iudah, We haue a strong citie: saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarke.
 2 When pe the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.
 3 By an assured purpose wilt thou preserve peace, because they trusted in thee.
 4 Trust in the Loyde for ever: for in the Loyde God is strength for evermore.
 5 For he will bring downe them that dwell on high: the high citie he will abase: even unto the ground will hee cast it downe, and bring it unto dust.
 6 The foote shall treade it downe, even the foote of the meane.
 7 Thou hast decreed so, and thy purpose can not be changed. e There is no power so high, that can let God, whoe will deliuer his.

facte of the people, and the steppes of the God will set the needie.

The way of the iust is righteousness: ouer the power thou wilt make equal the righteous of the path of the iust.

Also we, O Loyde, haue waited for thee constantly in the way of thy iudgements: the dewe of our soule is to thy name, and to wherewith thou the remembrance of thee.

With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within me will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne righteousness.

Let mercie be shewed to the wicked, yet he will not learne righteousness: in signs of his the land of vngodlines will hee doe wises grace, shall hee kindly, and will not behold the maine of uer the better.

Also Loyde, they will not beholde thine indignation: but they shall see it, and be conuicted against the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall consume them.

Loyde, vnto vs thou wilt obdaine peace: with thou doe for thou also hast wrought all our workes destroy thine enemies.

O Loyde our God, other = Loydes beside thee haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee onely, and thy name.

The dead shall not liue, neither shall according to the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed at their memorie.

Thou hast increased the nation, O ven in this life Loyde: thou hast increased the nation: shall thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.

Loyde, in trouble haue they visited death: they pouered out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

Like as a woman with child, is in sorrow calling of the rowle, and creepeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy sight, O Loyde.

We haue concerned, wee haue boyne in paine, as though wee should haue brought forth: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.

Thy dead men shall liue: even with thy body shall they rise. Awake, and tremble for me that dwell in dust: for thou art as the dewe of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

Come, my people: enter thou into enjoy the comth chambers, and shut thy doores after thee, that wee thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, until the indignation passe over.

For loe, the Loyde commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the wicked shall be destroyed.

He comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they should most certainly rise to glorie: the contrarie should come to the wicked, as verily. As herbes, dead in wynter, flourish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lye in the dust, shall rise vpon to ioye when they seele the dewe of Gods grace. He exhorteth the faithfull to be patient in their afflictions, and to waite vpon Gods worke.

y The earth shall vomit and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may cry for vengeance against the wicked.

A prophesie against the kingdom of Sathan, 2 And of the ioye of the Church for their deliuerance.

2 In that day sing of the vineparde c of red wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it euery moment: least any aslaie it, I will keepe it night and day.

5 I will be e ferle my strength, that hee may make peace with me, and bee at one with me?

6 f Hereafter, Iacob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and growe, and the world shall be filled with fruit.

7 I will be smitten: him as he smote those that smote him: or is he blame according to the slaughter of them that were blame by him?

8 In a measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the Eastwinde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iacob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones, broken in pieces, that the grones and images may not stand up.

10 Yet the h defended citie shall be desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken, and left like a wilderness. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall he lye, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are drye, they shall be hyken: the i women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of nouer understanding: therefore he that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercy on them.

k Notwithstanding his fauour that he will shewe them after, yet Ierusalem shall be destroyed, and grasse for cattell shall growe in it.

some of Iſiahiah <sup>4</sup> the ſteward of the houſe, and Shebna <sup>4</sup> the chancellor, and Ioaſh the ſonne of Maſaph the recorder.

4 And <sup>4</sup> Raſhakeh ſaide vnto them, Tell pou Hezekiah, I praye pou, Thus ſayeth the great King, the king of Aſſhur, What confidence is this, wherein thou truſteſt?

5 I ſay, Surety I haue eloquence, but counſell & ſtrength are for the warre: on whom thou doeſt thou truſt, that thou rebelleſt againſt me?

6 Lo, thou truſteſt in this broken ſtaffe of reed on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will go into his hand, and pearce it: ſo is a pharaoh king of Egypt, vnto al that truſt in him.

7 But if thou ſaye to me, Wee truſt in the Loide our God: Is not that hee, whoſe he places and whoſe altars Hezekiah toke downe, and ſayde to Iudah and to Ieruſalem, Hee ſhall worſhip beſoye this altar?

8 Now therefore giue poſſages to my loyd the king of Aſſhur, and I will giue thee two thouſande hoſers, if thou be able on thy part to ſet riders vpon them.

9 For howe canſt thou deſpiſe any cap- taine of the <sup>1</sup> leaſt of my lordes ſeruautes: and put thy truſt on Egypt for charets and for hoſemen?

10 And ain I nowe come by without the loyd to this land to deſtroy it? The loyd ſaide vnto me, Go by againſt this lande and deſtroy it.

11 Then ſaid Eliakim, and Shebna and Ioaſh vnto Raſhakeh, <sup>1</sup> Speake, I praye the, to the ſeruautes in the Aſſyrians language, (for we vnderſtaunde it) & talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then ſayde Raſhakeh, Hath my mas- ſter ſent me to thy maſter, and to thee to ſpeake theſe wordes, and not to the men that ſit on the wall? that they may eate their owne dung, and drinke their owne piſſe with you?

13 So Raſhakeh ſtoode, and cryed with a ſoude voyce in the Iewes language, and ſayd, Weare the wordes of the great king, of the king of Aſſhur.

14 Thus ſayeth the king, Let not Hezekiah deſcend pou: for he ſhall not be able to de- liuer pou.

15 Aſepther let Hezekiah make pou to truſt in the loyd, ſaying, The Loide will ſurely deliuer vs: this cite ſhall not be giuen o- uer into the hand of the king of Aſſhur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus ſayeth the king of Aſſhur, ſpake <sup>1</sup> ap- pointment with me, & come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well,

17 Till I come and bring pou to a landlike pour owne lande, euen a lande of wheate and wine, a lande of beead and vines parden.

18 Leaſt Hezekiah deceiue pou, ſaying, The loyd will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his lande out of the hande of the king of Aſ- ſhur?

19 Where is the god of <sup>1</sup> Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharua- im: or howe haue they deliuered Sama- ria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of theſe landes, that hath deliuered their coun- trey out of mine hande, that the loyd ſhoulde deliuer Ieruſalem out of mine hande?

21 Then they <sup>1</sup> kept ſilence, and answered him not a word: for the kings comman- dement was, ſaying, Anſwere him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the ſonne of Iſi- kiah the ſteward of the houſe, and Sheb- na the chancellor, and Ioaſh the ſonne of Maſaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Raſhakeh.

1 And when <sup>1</sup> King Hezekiah heard it, he <sup>1</sup> rent his clothes, and put on ſackcloth and came into the houſe of the loyd.

2 And he ſent Eliakim the ſteward of the houſe, and Shebna the chancellor, with the elders of the Prieſts, clothed in ſack- cloth, vnto <sup>1</sup> Iſaiah <sup>1</sup> pprophet, the ſonne of Amos.

3 And they ſaid vnto him, Thus ſaith He- zekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke & blaſphemie: for the chil- dren are come to the birth, and there is no ſtrength to bring forth.

4 If ſo be the loyd thy God hath <sup>1</sup> heard the wordes of Raſhakeh, whom the king of Aſſhur his maſter hath ſent to raile on the living God, and to reproch him with wordes which the loyd thy God hath heard, then liſt thou by thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the ſeruautes of the King Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah ſayde vnto them, Thus ſay vnto your maſter. Thus ſayeth the loyd, Wee not afraid of <sup>1</sup> thy wordes that thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſeruautes of <sup>1</sup> king of Aſſhur haue blaſphemed me.

God deferreth to puniſh, it ſeemeth to the fleſh, that he knoweth not the ſinne, or heareth not the cauſe. <sup>1</sup> Declaring that the mi- niſters office doth not onely ſtand in comforting by the word, but alſo in praying for the people,

g Which was a cinct toward Egypt, thinking thereby to haue stayed the force of his enemies.

l He groundeth his prayer on Gods promises, who promised to heare them from betwene the Cherubims, m Meaning, of the ten tribes.
n He declareth for what cause he prayed, that they might be deliuered: to wit, that God might be glorified thereby through all the world.

o Whome God had chosen to him selfe, as a chaste virgine, and ouer whom he had care to preserve her fro the lusts of y tyrant, as a father would haue ouer his daughter.

8 ¶ So Saneherib returned, and founde the king of Assyrie fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 He heard also men say of Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, Beholde, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, hee sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceive thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not bee giuen into the hand of the king of Assyrie.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Assyrie haue done to all landes in destroying them, & shall thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed: as Cosan, and Haran, and Rezen, and the children of Eden, which were at Telassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the cite of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah received the letter of the hande of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the house of the Lord, & Hezekiah layed it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which dwellest betwene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all kingdoms of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, & see, & heare all the voyces of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the living God.

18 Truth it is, O Lord, that the kings of Assyrie haue destroyed all landes, & their countrey.

19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood & stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hande, that all the kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou onely art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amos sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Saneherib king of Assyrie, 22 This is the worde that the Lord hath spoken against him, O virgine, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee, & laughed thee to scorne: O daughter of Ierusalem, he hath shaken his head at thee.

23 Whom hast thou rayled on & blasphemed: & against whome hast thou exalted thy voice, & lifted vp thine eyes on him: euen against the holy one of Israel.

24 ¶ By thy seruantes hast thou rayled on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charcres I am come vnto the toppes of the mountains to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hig cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, & I will go vp to the heightes of his top and to the founteyne of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged & and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my fecte haue I builded all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of old time made it, & haue foumed it long agoe: & should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and layed on ruinous heapes, as cities defended.

27 Whose inhabitants haue final power, and are afraid and confounded: they are like the grasse of the felde & greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or come blasted & asie it be growen.

28 But I know thy dwelling, & thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy fury against me.

29 Because thou ragest against me, & thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine hande in the nostrils, and will hidde in thy lips, & will bring thee backe againe the same waye thou camest.

30 And this shall be a signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this peece such as groweth of it selfe: and the seconde such as groweth of it selfe: and the thirde peece, such things as growe without sowing: & in the thirde peece, thou shalt reape, and plant vineyardes, and eate the fruit thereof.

31 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downeward and beare fruit upward.

32 For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the scale of the Lord of hostes shall doe this.

33 Therefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the king of Assyrie, He shall not enter into this cite, nor shoute an arroule there, nor come before it with shields, nor cast a mound against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this cite, saith the Lord.

35 For I will defende this cite to saue it, for mine owne sake, and for my seruants sake.

36 ¶ Then the Angell of the Lord went out, and smote in the campe of Assyrie an hundred, foure score, and five thousand: lofe thy labour, so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

2 Who raised vp iustice from the East, & called him to his foote? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the kinges?
he gaue them as dust to his sword, & as scattered stubble vnto his bowe.

3 He pursued them, & passed safely by the perce of Gods iustice in deliuering his Church) from the holmes of the Chalthees to go to and fro at his commandment, and placed him in the lande of Canaan?

way that he had not gone with his secte.

4 Who hath wrought and done it? he that callet the generations from the beginning. I the Lorde am the first, and with the last I am the last.

5 The plea saue it, and did feare, and the endes of the earth were abashed, by the neere, and came.

6 Euery man helped his neighbour and said to his brother, Be strong.

7 So the workman comforted the former, and he that smote with the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is readie for the sodering, and he fastened it with nailes that it should not be moued.

8 But thou, Israel, art my seruant, and thou Iakob, whome I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not call thee alway.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not asfayde, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, & helpe thee, & wil susteine thee with the right hand of my iustice.

11 Behold, all they that piouske thee, shall be ashamed, and confounded: they shall be
as nothing, & they that strue with thee,
shall perishe.

12 Thou shalt seeke them & shalt not finde them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shalbe as nothing, & the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will holde thee right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not,
I will helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou woman, Iakob, & ye men of Israel: I will helpe thee, sayth
the Lord & thy redeemer & holp one of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth:
thou shalt thresh the mountaines, and bring them to powder, and shalt make the hilles as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt sanne them, and the winde shall carie them away, and the whirles winde shall scatter them: and thou shalt leth them be-
rrioupe in the Lorde, and shalt gloie in the holp one of Israel.

17 When the poore and the needie seeke
water, and there is none (their tongue
sapeth for thirst: I the Lorde will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake
them)

18 I will open riuers in the toppes of the hilles, and fountaines in the middes of the valles: I will make the wilderness
as a poole of water, and the waste & laide
as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wilderness the cedar, the shittah tree, and the myrre tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wilderness
the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

20 That is, they that shalbe afflicted in the captiuitie of Babylon.
p God will rather charge the order of nature, then they should want any thing, that crie to him by true faith in their miserie declaring to them hereby that they shal lacke nothing by the way, when they retume from Babylon.

SP III.

20 Therefore

d Who hath created man
and maintained his succellion.

e Though the world set vp nu-
mer so manie
gods, yet the minim nothing
of my glory: for
I am alone, un-
changeable,
which haue endured bene, and shalbe
for euer.

f Considering mine excellent
workes among
my people.
g They assembled themselves,
and conspired against me to mainteine their
idolatrie.

h He noteth the
obstinacie of the idolaters to mainteine their
superstitions.
i And therefore oughtest not to pollute thy selfe
with the superstition of the Gentiles.

k That is, by the force of my premes, in the performance wher-
of I will shew my selfe faithful and iust.

l Because they
shalbe destroyed.
m Thus he cal-
m Thus he cal-
leth them because they were contemned of all the world, and that they considering their owne
poore estate,
should seeke re-
medie to him for helpe.

n I will make thee able to de-
strey all thine
enemies, be they never so mightie
and this chiefly is referred to the kingdome of Chalthee.

q That is, hath appoynted and determined that it shall come so to passe.

r He biddeth the idolaters to proue their religion, and to bring forth their idoles, that they may be tried whether they know all things, and can do all things which if they cannot doe, he concludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.

f So that a man can not make an idole, but he must doe that, which God detesteth and abhorreth for he sheweth his own deuitie, & forsaketh the Lords.

t Meaning, the Chaldeans.

u That is, Cyrus, who shall do all things in my Name, and by my direction.

wherby he meaneth, that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance shalbe ordered by Gods prouidence and appoyntment.

x Both of the Chaldeans and others.

y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things.

z That is, the Israelites, which returne from the captiuitie.

a To wit, a continual succession of Prophetes and ministers.

b When I looked whether the idoles could do these things, I found that they had neither wisdom nor power to doe any thing: therefore be concludeth that all are wicked, that trust in such vanitie.

c Meaning, the Chaldeans.

d He only is acceptable vnto me, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meane of reconciliation.

e His comming shall not be with pompe and noyse, as earthly princes.

20 Therefore let them see & knowe, and let them consider and vnderstande together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, & the holy one of Israel hath created it.

21 Stand to your cause, sayth the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, sayth the King of Iacob.

22 Let them bring them forth, and let them tell vs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they bee, that we may consider them, and knowe the latter ende of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew me the things that are to come hereafter, that we may knowe that you are gods: yea, do good or do euill, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

24 Beholde, ye are of no value, and your making is of nought: man hath chosen an abomination by them.

25 I have rapt by from the North, & he shall come: from the East sunne shall he call upon my Name, and shall come upon princes as upon clape, and as the porter treadeth myse vnder the foote.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may knowe: or beforetime, that we may saye, He is righteous: Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your wordes.

27 I am the first, that saith to Zion, Beholde, beholde: them: & I will giue to Ierusalem one that shall bring good tidings.

28 But when I beheld, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there was no counsellour, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.

29 Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their unages are wounde and confusion.

30 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praye in the plands.

31 The Lord shall go forth as a giant: he shall stirre by his courage like a man of warre: he shall shout and crye, and shall pyniaile against his enemies.

32 I have a long time holden my peace: I have bene still & refrained my selfe: now will I cry like a traouailing woman: I will despoil and deuoure at once.

33 I will make waste mountaines & hills, and bye up all their herbes, and I will make the floods plandes, and I will bye up the pooles.

34 And I will bring the blind by a way, that they knowe not, and leade them by paths that they have not knowne: I will make darkenes light before them, & crooked things straight. These things will I do vnto them, and not forsake them.

35 They shalbe turned backe: they shalbe greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen unages, and sape to the molten unages, ye are our gods.

36 Heare, ye deafe: and ye blinde, regard, that ye may see.

37 Who is blinde but my seruant: or his voyce to be heard in the streete.

38 I haue called thee, & thou shalt not heare, & I haue called thee, & thou shalt not answer: I haue called thee, & thou shalt not heare, & I haue called thee, & thou shalt not answer.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people, His promise of deliverance to the Jews. 11 There is no God but one alone.

1 BUt now thus saith the Lord, that created thee, O Jacob: and he that formed thee, O Israel. <sup>a</sup> Fear not: for I have redeemed thee: I have called thee by thy name, thou art mine.
2 When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee, & though the floods, that thee do not overflow thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.
3 For I am the Lord thy God, the help one of Israel, thy Saviour: I gave <sup>b</sup> Egypt for thy ransom, Ethiopia, and Senaar for thee.
4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loved thee, therefore will I give <sup>c</sup> man for thee, and people for thy sake.
5 Fear not, for I am with thee: I will bring thee seede from the East, and gas thee thee from the West.
6 I will say to the North, Give: and to the South, Keep not back: bring my slaves from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.
7 Every one shall be called by my name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.
8 I will bring forth the blinde people, and they shall have eyes, and the deafe, and they shall have eares.

9 Let all the nations bee gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shewe by former things? let them bring forth their witnesses, that they may be justified: but let them hear, and say, It is true.
10 You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant, whom I have chosen: therefore ye shall knowe and believe mee, and ye shall understand that I am: before mee there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.
11 I, even I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Saviour.
12 I have declared, and I have saved, and I have shewed, where there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God.
13 Pea, before the day was, I am, & there is none that can deliver out of mine hand: I will do it, and who shall let it?
14 Thus saith the Lord your Redeemer, the help one of Israel, For your sake I have sent to Babel, and <sup>d</sup> brought it downe: they are all fugitives, and the Chaldeans cry in <sup>e</sup> the shippes.
15 I am the Lord your help one, the creator of Israel, your King.
16 Thus saith the Lord which maketh a way in the Sea, & a path in the mightie waters.
17 When he bringeth out the chariot and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towne.
18 Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of olde.
19 Beholde, I do a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will ruen make a way in the desert & floods in the wilderness.
20 The wilde beasts shall honour me, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gave water in the desert and floods in the wilderness to give drink to my people, even to mine elect.
21 This people have I formed for my self: they shall shew forth my praise.
22 And thou hast not called upon me, O Jacob, but thou hast wearied me, O Israel.
23 Thou hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices. I have not caused thee to serve with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense, with thy mightie armie. <sup>f</sup> Meaning, that their deliverance out of Babylon should be more famous then that from Egypt was, Ie. rem. 21. 7. hag. 2. 10. 2. corinth. 5. 17. reuel. 21. 5. <sup>g</sup> They shall have such abundance of all things as they returne home, even in the drie and barren places, that the very beasts shall feele my benefites, and shall acknowledge them: much more men ought to be thankfull for the same. <sup>h</sup> Thou hast not worshipped me as thou oughtest to have done. <sup>i</sup> Because thou hast not willingly received that which I did commaunde thee, thou didst grieve me. Whereby he sheweth that his mercies were the onely cause of their deliverance, forasmuch as they had defected the contrary. <sup>j</sup> Meaning in true faith and obedience.

a Either for the composition of the sweete oymment, Exod. 30. 34, or for the sweete incense, Exod. 30. 7. b Thou hast made mee to beare an heauie burden by thy sinnes. c If I forget any thing that may make for thy iustificacion, put me in remembrance and speake for thy selfe. d Thine auncesters. e Thy Priestes and thy Prophets. f That is, reiected, abhorred and destroyed them in the wilderness and at other times.

24 Thou boughtest me no sweete: I smoure with money, neither hast thou made me drunk with the fat of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me to serve with thy sinnes, and wearied mee with thine iniquities. 25 I, eue I am he that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, & will not remember thy sinnes. 26 Put me in remembrance: let vs bee iudged together: count thou that thou mayest be iustificed. 27 Thy fether hath sinned, and thy teachers haue transgressed against me. 28 Therefore I haue prophaned the rulers of sanctuary, & haue made Iakob a curse, and Israel a reprobate.

a He created & chose thee from the beginning, of his owne mercie, and before thou couldest merite any thing. b Whom God accepteth as righteous: or which haddest occasion thereunto because of the Lawe, and of thine holy vocation. c Because man of himselfe is as the dry & barre land, he promisseth to moisten him with waters of his holy Spirit, Ioh. 7. 38. d That is, thy children and posteritie shall increase wonderfully after their deliuerance from Babylon.

1 Yet now heare, O Iakob my seruist, and Israel, whom I haue chosen. Thus saith the Lord, that made thee, and formed thee from the wombe: he will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iakob, my seruist, and thou righteous, whome I haue chosen. 3 For I will polue water vpon the thristie, and floods vpon the drye ground: I will polue my Spirit vpon thy seed, and my blessing vpon thy budbes. 4 And thou shalt growe as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the rimers of waters. 5 One shall say, I am the Loyses: another shall be called by the name of Iakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Loyses, and name himselfe by the name of Israel. 6 Thus saith the Loyses the king of Israel and his redeemer, the Loyses of hostes, I am the first, and I am the last, and with me out me is there no God. 7 And who is like me, that shall call, and shall declare it, and let it in order before me, since I appointed the ancient people: and what is at hand, & what things are to come: let them shewe vnto thee. 8 Feare pe not, neither be afraid: haue not I tolde thee of olde, and haue declared it? I pou are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside mee, and that there is no God that I know not. 9 All they that make an image, are vanities, and their delectable things shall no thing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, that they see not nor knowe: therefore they shall be confounded. 10 Who hath made a god, or molten an image, that is profitable for nothing? 11 Beholde, all that are of the fellowshipp thereof, shall be confounded: for the workmen themselves are men: let them all be gathered together, and stand by, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together. 12 The Smith taketh an instrument, & worketh in the coles, and fashioneth it with hammer, & worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, & his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint. 13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red thyed, he planeth it, & he purtrepeth it with the compass, and maketh it after the figure of a man, & according to the beaultie of a man that it may remaine in an house. 14 Yee will hew downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trais of the forest: he planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it. 15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it & baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshippeth it: he maketh it an idle and boweth vnto it. 16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he roseth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe and saith, I haue warme, I haue bene at the fire. 17 And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idle: he boweth vnto it & worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliuere me: for thou art my god. 18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstand: for God hath shut their eyes that they can not see, and their heartes, that they cannot vnderstand. 19 And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bowe to the stocke of a tree? 20 We feedeth of alhes: a seduced heart hath deceined him, that he cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hande?

laters, which forge their owne necessities to set forth their vocation towards their idolaters. t To place it in some Temple. u Hee seeth forth the obstinacie and malice of the idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter, whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part and make a god of the other, as the papistes make their cake god, and the rest of their idoles. x That is, hee either maketh a table, or trenchers. y The Prophet putteth here an answer to all them that wonder howe it is possible that any shoulde be so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their eares. z Ebr. turneth. x Hee is abused as one that would ease almes, thinking to satisfie his hunger.

1 Remember these (O Iacob and Israel) for thou art my servant: I have sown thee: thou art my servant: O Israel forget me not.

2 I have put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy sinnes, as a mist: turne unto me, for I have redeemed thee.

3 Reioyce, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: thout, ye lower partes of the earth: blast forth into playes, ye mountaynes, O forest and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iacob and will be glorified in Israel.

4 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer and he that sinned thee from the wombe, I am the Lord, that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, & stretched out the earth by my selfe.

5 I destroy the tokens of the southsiders, & make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnes.

6 I will confirm the word of his servant and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: & to the cities of Iudah, Ye shall be built up, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

7 He saith to the darye, We dye and I will dye vpon thy floods.

8 He saith to Egypt, Thou art my shepheard: and he shall performe all my desire: saying also to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surety sayde.

9 Of Ilishah and the rest of his Prophets, which did aske the Church of Gods fauour and deliverance. e He sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when he brought them out of Egypt through the Red Sea: To assure them of their deliuerance, he nameth the person by whom it should be, more then an hundred yeere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliverance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is just in all his worke. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 Thus saith the Lord vnto Cyrus his anointed, whose right hand I haue holden: to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the topes of Kinges, & open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will go before thee and make the crooked streight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the piron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darkenesse, and the things hid in secreete places, that thou mayest knowe that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iacob my seruantes sake, & Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, & name thee, though thou shalt not knowen me.

5 I will take away all impediments & lets. e Not that Cyrus did know God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine particular knowledge, as prophane men may haue, of his power, and so was compelled to deliuer Gods people. f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthines.

5 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I girded thee though thou hast not knowen me.

6 That they may knowe from the rising of the sunne and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the light and create darkenes: I make peace and create euill: I the Lord do all these things.

8 Ye heauens, send the dew from above, & let the clouds drop down: righteousnes: he would say, let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice grow forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue created him.

9 Who be vnto him that striveth with his maker, the pottherd with the pottherdes of the earth: shall the clay say to him that bud figneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke. 10 It hath none handes?

10 Wor vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus saith the Lord, the Holy one of Israel, & his maker, Aske me of things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine handes: count mand you me.

12 I haue made the earth, & created man vpon it: I, whose handes haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armie.

13 I haue raised him up in righteousnes, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build up cite, and he shall let go my captiues, not for a price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabaeans, men of stature: God and will not shall come vnto thee, & they shall be thine: they shall followe thee, and shall goe in thy chains: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, with his like and Surety God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verely thou, O God, hidest thy selfe, O God, the Saviour of Israel.

16 All they shall be ashamed and also confounded: they shall go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shall be saved in the Lord, with an euertasting saluation: ye shall not be ashamed nor confounded wold with out end.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created

k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vse and purpose.

l Hereby he breideth their impenitencie, which in aduersitie and trouble mure against God.

t Hereby he exhorteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliuerance bee deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed.

in vaine vnto the seede of Iacob, Seke

nesse, and declare righteous things.

Assemble your selues, and come: I haue
here together, ye abjects of the Gentiles:
they haue no knowledg, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god,
that can not saue them.

from the beginning: or hath tolde it of old?

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The destruction of Babylon & of their idoles. 3 He calleth the Jewes to the consideration of his workes.

Behold is bowed downe: he is fallen as beasts, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they coude not ribde them of the burden, and their soules is gone into captiuitie.

Hearc ye me, O house of Iacob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel,
which are borne of me from the wombe,
and brought vp of me from the birth.

Therefore vnto olde age, I the same,
euery I will beare you vntill the hoare heares: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carpe you, and I will deliuer you.

make me equall, or compare me, that I they must be caried of others, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deu. 32. 11. f Seeing I haue begot ye, I will nourish & preferre you for euer. g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie, & the flourishing estate of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mighty as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation is but to proue them vile, Bar. 4. 25,

should be like him?

They haue golde out of the bagge and werpgh silver in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bowed downe, and worship it.

They beate it vpon the shoulders: they carpe him & set him in his place: so doeth he stande, and can not remoune from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answer, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

Remember this, & be ashamed: bring it
againe to munde, O you transgressors.

Remember the former things of olde: for
I am God, and there is none other God,
and there is nothing like me.

Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, & I will do what former I wil.

I call a bird from the East, & the man of my counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will do it.

Hearc mee, ye stubborne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

I bring more iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarre:
for I will giue liberation in Zion, and my glorie vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The destruction of Babylon, & the cause thereof.

Come downe and sitte in the dust: & burge, daughter of Babel, sit on the ground: there is no thyne, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt
no more be called, Tender and delicate.

Take the millstones, and grinde meale:
loose thy lockes: make bare the fatte;
vnto the legges, and passe through the floods.

Thy filthines shall be discovered, and thy shame shall be: I will take vengeance,
and I will not merite thee as a man.

Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his name, the Holy one of Israel.

Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse,
daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of kings.

thé in their perfection, for the multitude of thy dominations, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickedness: thou hast said, None shall see me. Thy wisdom and thy knowledge, they have caused thee to rebel, and thou hast laid in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shall ruin come upon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shall fall upon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come upon thee suddenly, of which thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, & in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whom thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profite, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starr gassers, and prognosticators stand vp, and save thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues: they shall not deliuer the flame: there shall be no coles: to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shall they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, even thy magicians from thy youth: euerie one shall wander to his owne quarter: none shall save thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrite of the times is reproved. 11 The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

1 HEARE ye this, O house of Iacob, which are called by the name of Israel, & are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in truth, nor in righteousness.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and rap themselves: vpon the God of Israel, whose name is the Lord of hostes.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and then went out of my mouth, & I shewed them: I bid them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knewe, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinewe, and thy browe hyssur.

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of olde: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, least thou shouldest say, Spine idle hath done them, & my carned image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, beholde all this, & will not pe: declare it: I haue shewed thee newe things, euen now, and hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created nowe, and not of olde, and euen before this thou heardest them not, least thou shouldest say, Beholde, I knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neyther didest know them, neither yet it as thine eare opened of olde: for I knew that thou wouldest grievously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressor from the wombe.

9 For my names sake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praise will I reframe it from thee, that I cut thee not off.

10 Beholde, I haue fined thee, but I not as silver: I haue chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it: for how should my name be polluted? surely I will not give my glorie vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iacob & Israel, my called, I am, I am the first, & I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laide the foundacion of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I call them, & they stand by together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, & heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued him: he will doe his will in Babel, and his armie shall be against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come nere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, & now the Lord God and his spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, the Holp one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee to profite, & trade thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandments, then had thy profytie bene as the flood, and thy righteousness as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy seed also had bene as the sand, and the fruit of thy body like the gravel thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off, nor destroyed before me.

20 For ye out of Babel: see ye from the Chaldeans, with a voyce of ioy: tell and declare this: shew it forth to the ende of the earth: say ye, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iacob.

21 And they were not thiristie: he ledde them through the wilderness: he caused the waters to stowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doeth not declare al things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisdom.

i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercie that I did chuse thee: so it is my free mercie that must save thee.

l For I had respect to thy weakness: & in infirmities: in sin: there is no purenesse, but in vs there is nothing, but dresse.

m I tooke thee out of the furnace where thou shouldest haue bene consumed.

n God ioyne the saluation of his with his own honor: so that they cannot perishe, but his glory should be diminished.

u What things shall doe thee good. That is, the prosperous estate of Israel.

y Out of that he had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance.

z He sheweth that it shall be as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt.

C H A P. XLIX.

Hear ye me, O people, and hearken ye people from farre. The Lord hath called me from the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

<sup>a</sup> This is spoken in the person of Christ to assure the faithful, that these promises should come to passe for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

<sup>b</sup> This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psalm 2.7.

<sup>d</sup> God hath taken me: his protection & defence: this chiefly is meant of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his worde.

<sup>e</sup> By Israels meant Christ, and all the body of the faithful, as the members and their head.

<sup>f</sup> Thus Christ in his members complaineth, that his labour, and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approved of God.

<sup>g</sup> Though the Jewes refuse my doctrine, yet God will approve my ministry.

<sup>n</sup> Signifying, that before Christ renewe the earth by his word, there is nothing, but confusion and disorder.

<sup>p</sup> Being in Christs protection, they shall be safe against all dangers, & free from the feare of the enemies.

<sup>q</sup> Meaning, that there should be nothing in their way from Babylo, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

<sup>13</sup> Reioyce, O heavens: and be ye full, O earth: blast forth into praise, O mountains: for God hath comforted his people, & will have mercy upon his afflicted.

<sup>14</sup> But Zion saide, The Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

<sup>15</sup> Can a woman forget her childe, and not have compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

<sup>16</sup> Beholde, I have graven thee upon the palm of mine handes: thy walls are ever in my sight.

<sup>17</sup> Thy builders make haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are desparted from thee.

<sup>18</sup> Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together, and come to thee: as I live, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely put them all by on thee as a garment, and gird thee with them like a bride.

<sup>19</sup> For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did denounce thee, shall be farre away.

<sup>20</sup> The children of thy barrennes shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for me: give place to mee that I may dwell.

<sup>21</sup> Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten me these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished them? beholde, I was left alone: whence are these?

<sup>22</sup> Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will lift up mine hande to the Gentiles, and set by my standard to the people, and they shall bring their sounes in their armes: and thy daughters shall be carried upon their shoulders.

<sup>23</sup> And kings shall be thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall be thy nurses: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and like by the dust of thy feet: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

<sup>25</sup> But thus saith the Lord, Even the captiuitie of the mighty shall be taken away: and the pap of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, & I will save thy children.

<sup>26</sup> And will feede them that people thee, with their owne flesh, and they shall be drunken with their owne blood, as with new wine.

<sup>d</sup> He maketh this as an obiection, as though the Caldeans were strong, and had them in iust possession.

<sup>f</sup> I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7. 22. 1. Chron. 20. 22. Chap. 19. 2.

mer, the mighty one of Iakob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience and victory.

1 Thus saith the Loyde, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor to whom I solde you? We holde for your iniquities are ye sold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore I came I, and there was no man: I called, and none answered: is mine hand so? is myne, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer?
Behold, at my rebuke I dipe vp þe Sea:
I make þe floods desert: their fish rotte
for want of water, and die for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknes, and make a sacke their covering.

4 The Loyd God hath giue me a tongue of the learned, that I shoulde knowe to minister a worde in time to him that is wearie: he will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning he will waken mine
eare to heare, as the learned.

5 The Loyd God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my back vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Loyde God will helpe me, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, & I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is nere that iustifieth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together:
who is mine aduersarie? let him come
nere to me.

9 Beholde, the Loyde God will helpe me:
who is hee that can condemne mee? loe,
they shall ware olde as a garment: the mothe shall eate them vp.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Loyd? let him heere the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenes, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Loyd, and slay vpon his God.

11 Beholde, all you kinde = a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke
in the light of your fire, & in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorrow.

12 As they that are taught, and made meeke by him. I did not shrinke from God for any persecution or calamitie. Whereby he sheweth, that the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompence of the wicked but after this sort, and also what is their comfort. I shewing that is a rare thing that any shoulde obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen.

13 You haue sought consolation b. your owne deuires, and haue misled the light, and consolation, which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorrow, and not be comforted.

CHAP. L. LL

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7
Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ieru-salem, 22 and her deliuerance.

1 Heare me, ye that followe after righte-ousnesse, and ye that seeke þe Loyde:
looke vnto the rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit, whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abrahams your father, & Sarah that bare you: for I called him a lone, and blessed him, and increased him.
3 Surely the Loyd shall comfort Zion: hee shall comfort all her desolation, and hee shall make her desert = like Eden, and her wildernesse like the garden of the Loyde:
ioy and gladnesse shall be founde therein:
praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto mee, my people, and giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for a lawe shall pproceede from me, & I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My rightousnesse is nere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine = armes shall indige the people: the ples shall waite for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke,
and the earth shall ware olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like manner: but my saluation
shall be for euer, and my rightousnesse shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that knowe righte-ousnesse, the people in whose heart is my lawe. Feare ye not the reproche of men, neyther be ye ashamed of their rebukes.

8 For the mothe shall eate them vp like a garment, and the womne shall eate them like wool: but my rightousnesse shall be for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O
arme of the Loyd: rise vp, as in the olde time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab,
and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the Sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making þe depth of the Sea a wap
for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Loyde shall = returne, and come with ioye vnto Zion, and euermlasting ioy shall bee vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioye, and gladnesse: and sorrowe and mourning shall flie away.

12 I, euen I am he, that comfort you. What art thou, þe thou shouldest feare a mortall man, and the soune of man, which shall be made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Loyd thy maker, that hath spied out the heauens, and layd the foundations of the earth: and hast feare red continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressor, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressor?

14 The captive = hasteneth to be loosed, & yeeres they were that he shoulde not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Loyde thy God that destroyed.

1 He com-
forteth þe Church,
that they shoulde
not be discouraged for their small number.

begotten, and to

ye were borne.
c As plentifull

wordes, and doctrine.

I will accomplish
my promise.

neth them of the horrible changes & mutations
of all things, and
how he will pre-
ferue his Church
in the middes of all these dangers.

h He putteth
them in remembrance of his great benefite
for their deliue-rance out of Egypt, that there-
by they might leame to trust in him constantly.

forteth them by ministers, who are defended by his protection.

this punishment

measure, & ac-

giveth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it

the other is intaineth to the mind: that is, to be without comfort: therefore he saith, Howe shalt thou be comforted?

r But with trouble and feare.

nided p Ben, when his waues robed: the Loyd of hostes is his name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant
the heavens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art
my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Jerusalem, which hast drunk at the hand of the Loyd the cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregges of the cup of trembling, and wying them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whereof there hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that the hath brought vp.

19 These two things are come vnto thee:
who wilt lament thee: desolation and destruction, and famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fauted, and lie at the head of all the streets as a wilde bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of p Loyd,
and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus saith the Loyd God, euen God
that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand
the cup of trembling, euen the dregges
of the cup of my wrath: thou shalt drinke
it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoil thee: which haue said to thy soule, Howe downe, that we may goe ouer,
and thou shalt layde thy body as the grounde, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the sufferings thereof.

1 Arise, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beautie, O Jerusalem, the holy ci-tie: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the dust: arise,
and sit downe, O Jerusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Loyd, We were solde
for nought: therefore shall we be redē-med without money.

4 For thus saith the Loyd God, My prople went downe as for seruitude into Egypt to sojourn there, and Asshur oppressed
them without cause.

5 Now therefore what haue I here, saith
the Loyd, that my people is taken away
for nought, & they that rule ouer them,
make them to howle, saith the Loyd:
and my name all the day continually

d When Isakob went thither in time of famine. e The Egyptians might pretend some cause to oppress my people, because they went thither and remained among them, but the Assyrians haue no title to excuse their transgression: and therefore will I punish them more then I did the Egyptians.

is blasphemed?

6 Therefore my people shall knowe my name: therefore they shall knowe in that day, that I am he that doe speake: be-holde, it is I.

7 How beautiful vpon the mountaines
are the feete of him, that declarerh and publisheth peace: that declarerh good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth?

8 The voyce of thy watchmen shall bee heard: they shall lift vp their voyce, and shoute together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Loyd shall bring againe Zion.

9 We desolate places of Jerusalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Loyd hath comforted his people: he hath rebuilt Jerusalem.

10 The Loyd hath made i bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth shall see the sal-uation of our God.

11 Depart, depart ye: goe out from thence and touch no vncleane thing: goe
out of the middes of her: bee pee cleane,
that beare the vessels of the Loyd.

12 For ye shall not goe out with haste,
nor depart by fleeing away: but the Loyd
will goe before you, and the God of Abraham will gather you together.

13 Beholde, my seruant shall prosper: he shall be exalted and extolled, and bee verie high.

14 As many were astonished at thee (his
the faithfull out-bivage was so) O despoiled of men, and to pollute them-his foyme of the sonnes of men) so shall seules with the hee sprinkle many nations: the Kings superstitions of shall shut their mouths at him: for the Babylon-that which had not bene tolde them, as, as Chap.
shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they vnderstand.

righteousness, 12 And what for our sinners.

1 Who will beleue our report: and to whome is the arme of the sheweth, that Loyd reuelled?

2 But he shall growe vp before him as a branch, and as a roote out of a drye their grounde: hee hath neither foyme nor brantie: when we shall see him, there shall their desire bee no foyme that were shoulde desire him.

b Meaning, that none can beleue, but whose heartes God toucheth man, but it shall growe wonderfully, and flourish before God.

Chap. LIIII.

He is despised and rejected of men: he is a man full of sorowes and hath experience of infirmities: we hid as it were our faces from him: he was despised and we esteemed him not.

Surely hee hath borne our infirmities, and carped at our sorowes: yet we did not judge him as a plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was broke for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

All we like sheepe have gone astray: we have turned every one to his owne way, and the Lorde hath laped upon him the iniquities of vs all.

He was oppressed and he was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumb, so he opened not his mouth.

He was taken out from prison, & from iudgement: and who shall declare his age: for he was cut out of the lambe of the offering: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

And he made his grave with the wicked, & with the rich in his death, though hee had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet the Lorde would breake him, & make him subject to infirmities: when he shall make his soule an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, & shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lorde shall prosper in his hand.

He shall see of the trouble of his soule, & shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my right: our seruant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.

Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, & he shall deuide the spoyle with the strong, because hee hath willed out his soule unto death: & he was counted with the transgressors, & he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the transgressors.

God the Father deliuered him into the handes of the wicked, into the poweres of the worlde to do with him what they would.

Christ by offering vp him selfe shall giue life to his Church, & so take them to liue w him for euer. p That is, fruit & effect of his blood, which is the saluation of his Church. q Christ shall iustifie both through his word, whereas Moses could not iustifie by the law. r Because he humbled himselfe, therefore hee shall be exalted againe. Philip. 2.7,8. f That is, of all that beleue in him.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Moses the Gentils shall beleue the Gospell then of the lawes, 7 God leaueh him for a time, to whom afterward he sheweth mercie.

Reciope, & barren & didest not beare: bryake forth into ioy a reioyce, thou that didest not traunce with childe: for the be.olate hath many children then the fruites of the same, and calleth her barren, because that in former time she was as a widow without hope to haue any children.

The Church in this her affliction and captiuitie shall bring forth many children: the when she was at liberty: or this may be spoken by allegorie, considering y great number y should come of her. Her deliverance vnder Cyrus was as her childhoode, & therefore this was accomplished when she came to her age, which was vnder y Gospell.

the marred wife, saith the Lorde.

Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cordes, and make fast thy stakes.

For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities.

Fear not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproche of thy widowhood any more.

For he that made thee, is thine husband (whose name is the Lorde of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole world.

For the Lorde hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a young wife when thou wast refused, saith the Lorde.

For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

For a moment, in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with everlasting ioy haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lorde thy redeemer.

For this is vnto mee as the waters of Moah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Moah shoulde no more goe out ner the earth, so haue I sworne that I woulde not be angry with thee, nor breake thee.

For the mountaines shall remoue and the hilles shall fall downe: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neyther shall the covenant of my peace fall as cleareth the cloud, saith the Lorde, that hath compassion on thee.

Thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with carbuncles, and lay thy foundation with sapphires.

And I will make thy windowes of crystalles, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

And all thy children shall be taught of the Lorde, and much peace shall be to thy children.

In righteousness shalt thou be established, and be free from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

Beholde, the enemy shall gather him selfe, but without me: whosoever shall gather him selfe in thee, against thee, shall fall.

Beholde, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and hereby that maketh him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

But all the weapons that are made power: for against thee, shall not prosper: and every that all are against thee, shall rise against thee in his creatures, he iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This must needs be the heritage of the Lordes seruantes, vnto and guide and them.

Signifying, that for y great number of children, that God should giue her, these should seeme to lacke room to lodge them.

The afflictions which thou sufferedst at the beginning.

When as thou wast refused for thy sinnes, Chap. 50.1.

That did regenerate thee by his holy Spirit.

His glory shall shine through the whole worlde, which seemed before to be hid vp in Iudea.

As a wife which wast forsaken in thy youth.

As sure as the promise that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflowe the earth.

Hereby be declared the excellency of the Church vnder Christ.

Or, I speere, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with carbuncles, and lay thy foundation with sapphires.

By the hearing of his worde, inward mouing of his Spirit.

In stabilitie & surenes, so that it shall stand for euer.

And therefore shall not preuaile, o Meaning, the domesticall enemies of his Church.

Signifying that bloweth the coales in the fire, and hereby that maketh him that bringeth forth an instrument can do nothing, but so farre as God giueh.

For seeing that all are against thee, he iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This must needs be the heritage of the Lordes seruantes, vnto and guide and them.

and their righteousness is of me, sayth the Lorde.

I An exhortation to come to Christ, 8 Gods counsels
are not as mans. 12 The joy of the faithfull.

H O, euery one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no
silver, come, buy and eat: come, I say, buy wine and milke without silver and without money.

W herefore doe ye lay out silver and not for breade? and pour labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently unto me, and eat that which is good, and let your soule delight in fatnelle.

Encline your eares, and come vnto me:
heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euertlasting covenant with you,
even the sure mercies of Dauid.

Behold, I haue s<sup>d</sup> him for a witness to the people, for a prince and a ruler vnto
the people.

Behold, thou shalt call a nation & thou knowest not, & a nation that knewe not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lorde thy God, and the help one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

Seeke ye the Lorde while he may: he founde: call ye vpon him while he is nere.

Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and
the vniuersall his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lorde, and hee will
haue mercie vpon him: and to our God,
for he is very ready to forgive.

For my thoughtes are not your thoughtes, neither are your wayes my wayes, sayeth the Lorde.

For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughtes aboue your thoughtes.

Surely as the rapue commeth downe
and the snowe from heauen, and returne
neth not thither, but warreth the earth and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue s<sup>d</sup> to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth.

So shall my word be, that gorth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me vayne, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing
whereto I sent it.

Therefore ye shall go out with ioy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall breake forth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the ficke shall clap their handes.

For thornes there shall grow firre trees:
David was a figure.

Ho to wit, the Gentiles, which before thou diddest not receive to be thy people. I When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his worde. K Hereby he sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, and howe we can not call vpon God aright, except the fruites of our faith appeare. L Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and iudge me by your selues, yet
I am most easie to bee reconciled, yea I offer my mercies to you.
M If these small things haue their effect, as daily experience sheweth, much more shall my promises which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe the thing which I haue spoken for your deliue-rance. N Reade Chap. 44. 23. & 49. 13.

for nettles shall growe the myrrhe tree, and it shall be to the Lorde: for a name, and for an euertlasting figure that shall not be taken away.

I An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 A gainst shepherds that deserre their flockes.

Thus saith the Lorde, keep iudge-ment and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, & my right-eousnes to be reueiled.

Blessed is the man that doeth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: he that keepeth the Sabbath and pol-luerth it not, and keepeth his hande from doing any euill.

And let not some of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lorde, speake & say, The Lorde hath surely separate me from his people: neither let the Church say, Behold, I am a dyce tree.

For thus saith the Lorde vnto the En-nuchites, that keep my Sabbaths, & chuse
the thing that pleaseth me, and take hold of my covenant,

Euen vnto them will I giue in mine house, & within my wall, a place and a name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an eu-ertlasting name, that shall not be put out.

Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lorde, to serue him, and to loue the name of the Lorde, and to be his seruants: euery
one that keepeth the Sabbath, and pollu-tereth it not, and embraceth my covenant,

Then will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, & make them ioyfull in mine
house of prayer: they shall bring offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon
mine altar: for mine house shall be called an house of prayer for all people.

The Lorde God sayth, which gathereth
the scattered of Israel, yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to
them.

All ye beastes of the ficke, come to despise, euen all ye beastes of the ficke.

Their watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumme dogges: they can not bark: they lye and sleepe and delite in sleeping.

And these greedy dogges can neuer haue enough: and these shepherdes can not vnderstande: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage,
and for his owne purpose.

Come, I will bring wine, and wee will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to me shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

Not only for the Iewes, but for all others, Mat. 23. 13. I Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. thus he speaketh to feare the hypocrites & to assure the faithfull, that when this cri-meth, they may know it was told the before. K He sheweth that this affliction shall come through the faulte of the gouernour, Prophets & Pastours, whose ignorance, negligence, auidice & obedience prouoked Gods wrath against them. L We are wel yet, & tomorrowe shall be better: therefore let vs not feare the plague before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions & exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

peritie.

n Signifying,

ruines of Ierusa-
lem and Iudea:

o If thou re-

chosen, to loose the bandes of wickednes, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that he breake
euery yoke:

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hun-grie, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy self from a thine owne flesh?

8 Then shal thy light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall growe speedily: thy righteousness shall go before thee, and the glory of the Lorde shall enbrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lorde shall answere: thou shalt cry, and he shal say, Here I am: if thou take away from the midnes of thee yoke, the putting forth
of the y finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou putte out thy soule to the hungrie, and refresh the troubled soule:
then shall thy light spring out in the darkenes, and thy darknesses shalbe as the noone day.

11 And the Lorde shall guide thee continually, and satiate thy soule in drought, and make fatte thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring
of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shalbe of thee, that shall build the olde walle places: thou shalt raise up the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt be called the repaire
of the breach, and the restorer of y paths to dwell in.

13 If thou turne away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delite, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lorde, and shalt honour him, not doing thine owne waies, nor seeking thine
owne will, nor speaking a baine word,

14 Then shalt thou delite in the Lorde, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Yaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lorde hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

2 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities.
12 The confession of sinners, 16 God alone will preserve his Church, though all men faile.

1 Behold, the Lords hand is not shortened, that it can not saue: neither is his care heauy, that it cannot heare.

2 But your iniquities haue separated betwene you and your God, and your sins haue hid his face from you, that he will not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lyes, and your tongue
hath murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man
contendeth for trueth: they trust in va-nitie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischief, and bring forth in-iquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice egges, & weaue
the spiders webbe: hee that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trod vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their wordes shall be no garment, neyther shall they couer them: their labours are workes of iniquitie, and the woyle of cruelty is in their handes.

7 Their feete runne to euill, & they make hail to shedde innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: deola-
tion and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they knowe not, and there is none equite in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shall not knowe peace.

9 Therefore is iudgement farre from vs,
neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: wee waite for light, but loe, it is darkenesse: for brightnesse, but we walke
in darkenesse.

10 Wee grope for the wall like the blinde,
and wee grope as one without eyes: wee stumble at y noone day as in y twilight:
wee are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 Wee roare al like beares, & moune like widowes: we looke for equite, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before y
Lorde, and our sinnes testifie against vs:
for our trespasses are with vs, and wee knowe our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lorde, and we haue departed away from among men, our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and uttering out of the heart false matters.

14 Therefore iudgement is turned backe ward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equite
can not enter.

15 Pea, truerth saileth, & he that refraineth himselfe from euill, maketh himselfe a yape: and when the Lorde saileth it, it displeaseth him,
and he delieth that there was no iudgement.

16 And when he saw that there was no help, he wondered that none would offer himselfe: Therefore his arme did saue it, and his righteousness it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousness, as an haire bergon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, & he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, & was clad with punish ment as a cloke.

18 As to make recompence, as to requite:
the furie of the aduersaries with a recom-
pence to his enemies: he will fully repay
the: plaiids.

19 So shall they feare the name of the Lorde yond the sea, from the West, and his glorie from the East: the enemy shall there shall be come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lorde shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto
the: he will deliver him: he will deliver his quitie in Yaakob, saith the Lorde.

CHAP. LX.

The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall have abundance, though they suffer for a time.

A Rise, O Jerusalem: be bright, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee.

For behold, darkness shall cover the earth, and grosse darkness shall cover the people: but the Lord shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be seen upon thee.

And the Gentiles shall walk in thy light, and kings at the brightness of thy rising up.

Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all the eyes are gathered, and come to thee: the sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall be nourished at thy side.

Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall be astonished, and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be converted unto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come unto thee.

The multitude of camels shall come thee: and the dromedaries of Arabia and of Ephay: all they of Shera shall come: they shall bring golde & incense, and shall show forth the praises of the Lord.

All the sheepe of Kedar shall be gathered unto thee: the rams of Arabia shall serve thee: they shall come up to be accepted upon mine altar: and I will beautify the house of my glory.

Who are these? that sit like a cloud, & as the doves to their windbowed?

Surely the plea shall waite for me, and the shippers of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their silver, and their gold with them, unto the name of the Lord thy God, & to the holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

And the sonnes of strangers shall build up thy wall, and their kings shall minister unto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring unto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that thy Kings may be brought.

g That is, the Arabians that have great abundance of wealth.

h Because the altar was a figure of Christ, Hebr. 13. 10: he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him, which is offered to him by this altar, who was both the offering and the altar itself.

i Showing what great number shall come to the Church, and with what great diligence and zeale. k The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friends and setters forth of the Church. l Meaning, Cyrus and his successors: we chiefly this is accomplished in them that serve Christ, being converted by his Gospel.

For the nation and the kingdom that will not serve thee, shall perish: and those nations shall be utterly destroyed.

The glory of Lebanon shall come unto thee, the firre tree, the elm, and the boyse trees together, to beautify the place of my Sanctuary: for I will glorify the place of my feet.

The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bowe unto thee: and al they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feet: and they shall call thee, The city of the Lord, Zion of the holy one of Israel.

Where as thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a hope from generation to generation.

Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breasts of kings: and thou shalt knowe, that I the Lord am thy Saviour, & thy Redeemer, the mighty one of Jacob.

For brass will I bring golde, and for silver will I bring silver, and for wood will I bring wood, and for stones pson. I will also make thy government peace, and thine exactours righteousness.

Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call Saluation, thy wall, and praise, thy gates.

Thou shalt have no more summe to thine day, neither shall the brightness of succour thee: the sunne shall shine unto thee: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

Thy sunne shall never goe downe, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and the dayes of thy joy shall be ended.

Thy people also shall be all righteous: they shall possesse the land for ever, the all, which is full of grace of my planting shall be the woode filled in Christs of mine handes, that I may be glorified, kingdom.

A little one shall become as a strong nation, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

in all, as Reuel. 11. 32. & 12. 5. u The children of the Church.

d The time when it pleased God to shewe his good favour to man, which S. Paul calleth the fulness of time, Gal. 4. 4. e For when God deliveth his Church, he punisheth his enemies.

He sheweth that God hath given all power and authoritie here in earth for the use of his Church: and that they which will not serve and profit the same, shall be destroyed.

There is nothing so excellent which shall not serve the necessity of the Church.

Signifying, Gods mercie is not included in the temple, which is but the place for his service, that we may learn to rise up to the heavens.

To worship their head Christ by obeying his doctrine.

Both his and lowe shall receive dy to helpe and by the word of succour thee.

Thy government shall bee thine everlasting light, and thy sunne shall lowe thee and seek thee: thy wealth and thy prosperitie.

Meaning, that a temporal felicity, but a spirituall prosperitie.

Signifying, all worldly meanes shall cease, & that Christ shall be all.

1 I will tread them in mine anger, & tread them under foot in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled upon my garments,
and I will staine all my raiment.
2 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart,
and the year of our redemption is come.
3 And I looked, and there was none to help, and I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine owne
arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.
4 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them: I humi-ken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.
5 I will remember the mercies of the Lord and the praises of the Lord according unto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodness toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.
6 For he saith, Surely they are my people, children that will not lye: so he was their saviour.
7 In all their troubles he was troubled,
and the Angel of his presence saued
them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and carried them alwayes continually.
8 But they rebelled & veried his holy Spirit: therefore was he turned to be their enemie, and he fought against them.
9 Then he remembered the olde time of spies and his people, saying, Where is he that brought them vp out of the sea with the shepherd of his sheepe: where is he that put his holy Spirit within
him?
10 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, deuiding the water before them, to make him
selfe an everlasting Name.
11 He led them through the deepe, as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble.
12 As the beast goeth downe into the val-

so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

holines, and of thy glorie. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, & of thy compassions: they are refrained from me.
14 Doubtles thou art our father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel knowe vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our father, remembering Gods benefices, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past. n Meaning, Moses. n That

CHAP. LXVIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people.
2 Mans righteousness is like a filthy cloth.

O, that thou wouldest breake the heavens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!
2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to the ad-uersaries) the people did tremble at thy
presence.
3 When thou didst terrible things, which we looked not for, thou camest down, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.
4 For since the beginning of the worlde
they haue not heard nor vnderstande
with the care, neyther hath the eye seen an other God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him.
5 Thou diddest meete him, that reioyced
in thee, and did intyre: they remembered thee in thy waues: behold, thou art an-grie, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shall be saued.
6 But we haue all bene as an uncleane thing, and all our righteousnesses is as filthy cloutes, and we all doe fade like a dun thweed: and our iniquities like the winde
haue taken vs away.
7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take holde of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.
8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father:
we are the clay, and thou art our potter,
and we all are the worke of thine hands.
9 Be not angrie, O Lord, above measure, mercies, which neither remember iniquitie for euer: loe, he calleth the we beseeche thee beholde, we are all thy waies of the people.

g Thou wilt haue pite vpon vs. h We are iustly punished and brought into captiuitie, because we haue prouoked thee to anger, and though wee would excuse our selues, yet our righteou-nesse, and best vertues are before thee as vile cloutes, or, (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman. i Albeit, O Lorde, by thy iust iudgement thou mayest utterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet wee appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth when God doeth not immediately send succour with them.

24 Pea, before they call, I will answer, and whilst they speake, I will heare.

25 The Wolfe and the lambe shall feede together, and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke: and to the serpent dust shall be his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy mountaine, saith the Lord.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 He despiseth sacrifices done without mercie and sayth, 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The perpetual Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is everlasting.

1 This saith the Lord, "The heauen is my throne, & the earth is my footstole: where is that house that ye will build unto mee? and where is that place of my rest?

2 For all these things hath mine hande made, & all these things haue bene, saith the Lord: & to him will I looke, euen to him, that is poore, and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my wordes.

3 He that killeth a bullock, is as if he slay a man: he that sacrificeth a shepe, as if he cut off a dogges necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: he that remembereth incense, as if he blessed an idole: pea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule delieth in their abominations.

4 Therefore will I chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare upon them, because I called, and none would answer: I spake, and they would not heare: but they did euil in my sight, and chose the things which I would not.

5 Heare the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his word, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to pour ioy, and they shall be ashamed.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath scene such things? shall the earth be brought forth in one day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for as soon as I will, she brought forth her child.

9 Shall I cause to transide, and not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth, and shall be barren, saith the Lord?

10 Reioyce ye with Jerusalem, & be glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourn for her,

11 That ye may sucke, & be satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out and be delighted with the brightness of her glorie.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend my peace nuer her like a flood, and the glorie of the Gentiles like a flowing stream: then shall ye sucke, ye shall be borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Jerusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall reioyce, & your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be known among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies.

15 For beholde, the Lord will come with fire, and his charrets like a whiclewinde, that he may recompense his anger with wrath, & his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sword all flesh, and the flame of the Lord shall manie.

17 They that sanctifie themselves, and purifie themselves in the gardens behind one tree in middes eating swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the mouse, shall be consumed together, saith the Lord.

18 For I will visite their wayes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations, and tongues, and they shall come, and see my glorie.

Jeremiah.

THE ARGVMENT.

THE Prophet Jeremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whome some thinke to be hee that found out the booke of the Lawe, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent giftes of God, and most euident revelations of propheticie, so that by the commandement of the Lorde he began very young to propheticie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eyghtene yeere vnder the said king, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were carryed away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fourtie yere, besides the time that he propheticied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares, and lamentation the destruction of Jerusalem, and the captiuitie of the people, for their idolatrie, couetousnes, subtiltie, crueltie, excessie, rebellion, and contempt of Gods worde, and for the consolation of the Church, reueleth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubburne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainly of their destruction. Next howe the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled: if the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly, though God shewe his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he euer shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to maue iudgement to bee abolished, then will he declare him selfe victorious in preferring his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Jeremiah propheticied, 6 He acknowledged his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord, 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem, 17 He commandeth him to preache his word without feare.

a That is, the sermons and prophecies, b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the Law vnder king Iosiah, 2. King. 22.8. c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron. Iosh. 21.18. d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: forasmuch as he did not presume of him selfe to preach, and propheticie, but was called therunto by God. e Meaning, the newnes of Iosiah: for Iehoiachaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, and therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioiachin that reigned no longer.

I We woides of Jeremiah the sonne of Hilkiah one of the Priests that were at Anathoth in the lande of Benjamin.

To whome the word of the Lojbe came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amion king of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

2 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, euen vnto the carrying away of Ierusalem into captiuitie in the fift moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lojbe came vnto f Of the elder, saying,

5 Before I was formed there in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and I ordained thee to be a Prophet vnto the nations.

6 Then saide I, Oh, Lojbe God, behold, I can not speake, for I am a childe.

7 But the Lojbe said vnto me, Say not, Nebuchadnezzar I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all zars, that I shall send thee, and what so I shall commaunde thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afrade of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayth the Lojbe, hath appointed thee, I will be with thee, and I will save thee, saith the Lojbe.

9 Then the Lojbe stretcheth out his hande vnto the eyes of Ieremiah, and saith, I will be with thee, and I will save thee, saith the Lojbe. For I have chosen thee before they were borne, as I said, 1. galat. 1.15. h For Ieremiah did not onely propheticie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites and other nations. i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon the worlde, hee was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pite that should thus perishe, and on the other side by the infinitie of mans nature, knowing howe harde a thing it was to interpret such a charge, as Isa. 6.11, Exod. 3.11 and 4.1.

4 Then sayde the Loide vnto mee, Out of the North shall a plague be spied vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

Lord, and they shall come, and euery one iudgements touching all the wickedgaine unto her: shall not this land be polluted: but thou hast played the harlot with many: sources: per: a turne as game to me, sayth the Loyde.

1 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, &
behold, where thou hast not played þ harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the waires, as the Arabian in the wilderness:
and thou hast polluted the land with thy whojedonies, and with thy malice.
2 Therefore the showres haue bene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou habest a & whores foirthead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.
3 Bidest thou not sil cry vnto me, Thou art my father, & the guide of my yowthe?
4 Will he heape his anger for ever: will he re-serue it to the end? thus hast thou spoken,
but thou dost euill, euen more and more.
5 The Loyde said also vnto me, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, Hast thou some what this rebel? Israel hath done: for shee hath gone by vpon euery high mount-taine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.
6 And I sayde, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but shee returned not, as her rebellious sister Judah saide.
7 When I saw, how that by all occasions
rebellious Israel had played the harlot,
I cast her away, and gaue her a bill of di-uorcement: yet her rebellious sister Judah was not afraide, but shee went also,
and played the harlot.
8 So that for the lightnesse of her whores done shee hath euen defiled the lands: for shee hath committed fornication with stones and stokes.
9 Nevertheless for all this, her rebellious sister Judah hath not returned vnto me with her whole heart, but saiueth, sayth the Loyde.
10 And the Loyde said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath mistruied her selfe more
then the rebellious Judah.
11 Goe and cry these wordes towarde
the Moith and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, sayth the Loyde, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon pou: for I am mercifull, sayth the Loyde, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.
12 But know thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Loyde thy God, & hast scattered thy wayes to the strange gods
vnder euery greene tree, but pee wouldest
not obey my voyce, sayth the Loyde.
13 O pe disobedient children, turne againe, sayth the Loyde, for I am your Loyd, and I will take pou one of a citie, and two of a tribe, and will layng pou to Zion.
14 And I will giue pou pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede pou with knowledge and vnderstanding.

15 Spouse, when pee be increased and multiplied in the lande, in those dayes, sayeth the Loyde, they shall say no more,
The & Marke of the couenant of the Loyde:
for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neiher shall they visit it, for þ shalbe no more done.
16 At that time they shall call Ierusalem,
The thome of the Loyde, and all the nations shall bee gathered vnto it, euen to the shame of the Loyd in Ierusalem: and thenceforth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.
17 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the Moith, into the lande, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your
fathers.
18 But I sayd, Vnto did I take thee for children and giue thee a pleasant lande, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, & shalt not turne
from me.
19 But as a woman rebelleth against her husbande: so haue pee rebelled against me, house of Israel, sayth the Loyde.
20 A voice was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue perit-ted their waie, and forgotten the Loyd
their God.
21 O pe disobedient children, returne
and I will heale your rebellions. * Beholde,
we come vnto thee, for thou art the Loyde
our God.
22 Truly the hope of the hills is but
vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines:
but in the Loyde our God is the health
of Israel.
23 For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, fro our yowthe their sheepe and their bullockes, their sources and their daughters.
24 We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for we haue sinned

fathers from our yowthe, euen vnto this

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophesied, for the malice of their heartes. 19
The Prophet lamenteth it.
1 O Israel, if thou returne, & returne vnto me, sayth the Loyde: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remove,

thereof, if ye can finde a man, or if there be any that erreth in iudgement, and seeke the truth, and I will spare it.

For though they say, The Lord be true, yet do they weare false.

The Lord, are not thine eyes upon the truth? thou hast stricken them, but they haue not sorrowed: thou hast confused them, but they haue refused to receive correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

Therefore I said, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they knowe not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

I will get me vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowne the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken yoke, & burst the bonds.

Wherefore? a lion out of the forest shall slay them, and a Wolfe of the wilderness shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be toyme in pierces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and sware by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adultery, & assembled themselves by corners in the harlots houses.

They rose vp in the morning like fedde horses: for euery man nept after his neighbours wife.

Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? Shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

Come vp vpon their walles, and destroy them, but make not a full end: rake away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grievously trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

They haue denied the Lord, and said, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sorrow nor famine.

And the prophetes shall be as winde, and the word is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such wordes, behold, I will put my wordes into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

Ioe. I will bring a nation vpon you from farre, & house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither understandest what they say.

Whose quier is as an open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

And they shall eate thine harvest and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy houses and thy daughters: they shall eate up thy sheepe and thy bullockes: they shall eate thy vines and thy figgetrees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou diddest trust.

Nevertheless at those dayes, saith the Lord, I will not make a full end of you. And when ye shall say, Wherefore doeth the Lord our God these things vnto vs? then shalt thou answer them, Like as ye haue forsaken mee and serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

Declare this in the house of Iacob, & publish it in Iudah, saying,

Hear now this, O foolish people, and without vnderstanding, which haue eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

Fear ye not mee, saith the Lord: I will not be afraid of you in my presence, which haue placed the sande for the boundes of the sea by the perpetual decree that it can not passe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it.

But this people hath an unfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: he referueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the harvest.

Yet your iniquities haue turned away these things, and your finnes haue hid your good things from you.

For among my people are found twice blessed persons, that sape waite as hee that leeteth snares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit: therefore they are desolate, come great and waxen rich.

They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deedes of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse: yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? I shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

The prophets propheticke lyes, and ministers were the priests receive gifts in their hands, and my people delite therein. What will and corrupt, ye then do in the ende thereof?

4 I prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs go vp toward the South: wo vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the evening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs go vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, I will destroye wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the middes of it.

7 As the fontaine casteth out her waters, so the cistern out her malice: a cruelitie & spoyle is continually heard in her before me: with sorowe and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart fro thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land, that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admoniſh, that they may heare? behold, their eares are vncircumcised, and they can not hearken: behold, the woide of the Lord is vnto them as a reproche: they haue no desire in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will poure it out vpon the children in the streets, and likewise vpon the assemblie of the young men: for the husband that euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dapes.

12 And their houses with their landes, and wifes also shall be turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, saith the Lord.

13 For from the least of the, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto conuersiones, and from the prophet euen vnto the Priest, they all deale falsely.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shal fall among the flaine: when I shall visite them, they shalbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stande in the waies, & behold, & aske for the old way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall finde rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set watchmen ouer you, which sayde, Take heede to the sounde of the 19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a pestilence to come vpon this people, euen such of the fruit of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my lawes, wordes, nor to my Lawe, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou me in? Remede from Sheba, and sweete calamities from a farre countrey: For burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor pour sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will lay stumbing blockes before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the surges boile and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people cometh from the South countrey, & a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shielde shall they bee weaponed: they are cruel, and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, wel appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, & our hands were feeble: sorrow is come vpon vs, as the sorowe of a woman in trauaile.

25 We not seeth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemie and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, & bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a defence and forts among my people, that thou mayest knowe and trie their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, wals king craftily: they are hyale, & yron, they all are destroyers.

 21. Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, the God

 ſected and ſoylaken the generation of his

C H A P. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Levites. 4 The Lord moutheth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetousnesse of the prophets and priests.

1 That time, sayeth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the priests and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem out of their graves.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whom they haue loued, & whom they haue serued, and whome they haue followed, & whom they haue sought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shall be as dung vpon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired rather then life of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked family, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they say: I will not arise: shall he turne away & not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Jerusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion: they gaue them selues to deceit, & would not returne.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednes, saying, What haue I done? euerp one turned to their race, as the hysse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the stork in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallowe obserue the time of their coming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord.

8 Howe doe ye saye, We are wise, and the Lawe of the Lord is with vs: for, certainly in vaine made he it, the pen of the scribes is in vaine.

9 The s wise men are ashamed: they are afrayde and taken, for they haue rejected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wines vnto others, & their fields to them that shall possesse them: for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, & from the prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neyther coulde they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the staine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, sayeth the Lord: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the leaf shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them, shall depart from them.

14 Why do we stay? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and the enemye shall be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence and giuen vs matter with which to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 We looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles.

16 The weping of his hostes was heard fro Dan, the whole land trembled at the extreme affliction of the weping of his strong hostes: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the cite, & those burre this plague that dwell therein.

17 For beholde, I will send serpents, and to God will cockatrice among you, which will not be charmed, & they shall sting you, sayeth the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my selfe against sorrow, but mine heart is grieued in me.

19 Beholde, the voyce of the crye of the daughter of my people for feare of them: Babylon is a faire countrey, is not the Lord in among them? Zion is not her king in her: why haue they provoked me to anger with their stony images, and with the vanities of such sort as they make a strange god?

20 The charnel is past, the summer is ended and we are not holpen.

21 I am a soze verred for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am grieued, and astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balm in Gilead? is there no physician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

q The Prophet speaketh this. r Meaning, that no man helpe or meane could saue them: for in Gilead was precious balm, Chap. 46. 11. or els deriding the vaine confidence of people who looked for helpe at their priests, who should haue bene the Physicians of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hosea 6. 1.

C H A P. IX.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce. 26 The vnicircumcision of the heart.

O, that mine head were full ofawas sheweth I pray thee, & mine eyes a fontaine of teares, compassion that I might weepe day and night he had toward for I haue the daughter of my people, this people, for I had in the wilderness a cote: I might haue taught of wayfaring men, I might haue ment the detestable adulterers & an assembly of reprobates, whom that belongeth to hang over them, which rage for the truth vpon the earth: for I am a speciall sort to proceede from euill to worse, & they haue not knownen me, saith the Lord.

3 And they brende their tongues like the fire to burne me: but they haue no conscience for the truth vpon the earth: for I am a speciall sort to proceede from euill to worse, & they haue not knownen me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heed of his neyghbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother will vse deceit, & euery friend will deale deceitfully, more quietnes, & greater safetie for him, to dwell among these beasts then among this wicked people, saue I God haue imposed him this charge. c Vnto turned from God, d To belie, and none could finde an honest man.

a The enemye for greedines of gaine shall rife your graues, and lay you before those idoles, which in your life you worshipped, to see if they can helpe you. b Because of the afflictions they shall feel through Gods iudgements.

c Is there no hope, that they will returne?

d They are full of hypocricie, & euery one followeth his owne fantasie without any consideration. e He accuseth them in that that they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements, then these birdes are of their appointed seasons, to discern a colde and heate, as Isa. 1. 3.

f The Law doth not profite you, neyther needed it to haue bene writte for ought that you haue learned by it. g They that seeme wise, may be ashamed of their ignorance: for all wisdom consisteth in Gods worde. Isa. 56. 11. chap. 5. 31. and 6. 13.

h Reade Chap. 5. 14.

And enery one will deceine his friend, & will not speake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to do wickedly.
 Their habitation is in the muddes of desermers: because of their deceit they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.
 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will melt them, and true them: for what shoulde I els doe for the daughter of my people?
 Their tongue is as an arrowe shot out, and speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he laethly waite for him.
 Shall I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord of hostes, shall not my soule be avenge on such a nation as this?
 Upon the mountaynes will I take up a weeping and a lamentation, and upon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt up: so that none can passe through them, neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the fowle of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.
 And I will make Jerusalem an heape, & a den of dragons, & I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.
 Who is a wife, to understand this? and to whom shal I mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shal declare it. Why both the land perissh, & is burnt up like a wilderness, that none passeth through?
 And the Lord sayth, Because they haue forsaken my lawe, which I set before them, & haue not obeyed my voyce, neyther walked thereafter,
 But haue walked after stubbornnesse of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them,
 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:
 I will scatter them also among the heathen, to whome neyther they nor their fathers haue knownen, & I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.
 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and sende for skilfull women that they may come,
 And let them make haste, and let them take up a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eies lids gush out of water.
 For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, Now are we destroyed, and brekep confounded, for we haue forsaken our land, and our dwellings: haue cast vs out.
 Therefore heare the voyce of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regarde the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and enery one her neighbour to lament.
 For death is come by into our winnowes, and is euen into our palaces, to destroy the childre without, and the young men in the streets.
 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carriages of men shall lie, euen as the downe upon the helde, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

 Thus sayth the Lord, Let not the wife man glorie in his wisdom, nor a strong man glorie in his strength, neither the rich man glorie in his riches.
 But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he understandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which shewe mercy in iudgement, and righteousness in earth: the Lord, & reioyce in these things I desire, saith the Lord.
 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, who opely can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 13. 12. cor. 10. 17
 Egypt and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vniuersall corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are uncircumcised, and all the house of Israel, wherein consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby hee defendeth, and maintaineth the faithfull.
 Meaning, both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse hee sheweth the cause, reade Chap. 4-4.
 C H A P. X.
 The confessions of the sinners are not to be feared.
 The weakenesse of idols, and of the power of God.
 Their pastours are become brute beasts.
 Are ye a word of the Lord? hee speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.
 Thus sayth the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, & be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be astray of such.
 For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the handes of the carpenter) with the axe,
 And another decketh it with silver, and with golde: they fasten it with naples, & hammers, that it fall not.
 The idols stand by as the palme tree, but speake not: they are downe because they can not go: feare them not, for they can do euill, neither can they do good.
 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy name is great in power.
 Who would not feare thee, O King of nations: for to thee appertineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, & in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.
 But altogether they dot, and are foolishly: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie, which is forbidden, Deut. 12. 30.
 The Prophets vs thus plainly and simple to set forth the vile absurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, wherunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reade Isa. 44. 12.
 He teacheth people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath al power, & therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschewe, but the good, which they ought to folowe, Reuel. 15. 4.
 Because the people thought that haue images was a meane to serue God, & to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors & ignorance of God: & therefore he calleth this the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errors, ver. 15. and Habak. 2. 18. calleth them the teachers of lies: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the Lay people.

King 9. 28. g This declaration, that al that hath bene in this Chapter spoken of idoles, was to arme the Iewes whē they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and nowe with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against the idolaters, & howe to answer them to their shame which should exhort the to idolatry, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldean tongue for a memoriall, whereas al the rest of his writing is Hebrew. h The more that man thinketh to do any thing well by his owne wisdom, and not as God instructeth him, the more doth he prone him selfe to be a vile beast. i By these words, Porcio and rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them, and that their felicitie consisted in him alone, and therefore they ought to renounce all other helpes, and succours, as of idoles, &c. Psal. 16. 5. k The Prophet wil- leth y Iewes to prepare themselves to this captiuitie, shewing y it was now at hand, y they should feele y things, whereof he had told the. l It is my iust plague, & therefore I will take it patiently: wherby he reacheth y people how to behaue themselves toward God. m He sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament. n The gouernours and ministers. o Reade Chap. 4. 15. p He speaketh this, because y Nebuchadnezzar purposed to haue made war against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellio, he turned his power to goe against Ierusalem, Ezech. 31. 21. therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction.

9 Silver plates are brought fro Carthage, and golde from Ephraim, for the worke of the workman, and the handes of the founder: the blue sike, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is God of truth: he is the living God, and an everlasting king: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, O gods that haue not made the heauens and the earth, shall perithe from y earth, and from vnder these heauens)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the cloudes to ascende from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

14 Every man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but fallshood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie, and the worke of error: in the time of their visitation they shall perith.

16 The portio of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his name.

17 I. Father by thy waies out of y land, & thou shalt dwell in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, at this time I will shew as with a fling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 Who is mee for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Per it is my sorowe, and I will beare it.

20 My tabernacle is destroyed, and al my coardes are broken: my children are gone from mee, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set up my curtains.

21 For the Pastours are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they noue vnderstanding: and al the flockes of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noyse of the builde is come, & a great commotion out of the North: countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know, that the waie of man is not in him selfe, neyther is it in man to walke to direct his steps.

24 O Lord, correct me, but with iudgement, not in thine anger, least thou bring me to nothing.

25 Putte out the wrath vpon the heathen, that knowe thee not, & vpon the far ones that call not on thy name: for they haue eaten vp Iacob & denoured him with thine with, and consumed him, and haue made his merie, which habitation desolace.

27 I. measuring his rods by their infirmities, 1. Cor. 10. 12. for here by iudgement is ment not only the punishment, but also the mercifull moderation of the same, as Chap. 30. 1. For as much as God can not only be known and glorified by his merie, that he vieth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, he prayeth that his glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79. 6.

CHAP. XL

A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods commandment. 10 The people of Iudah, following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Jeremiah to pray for them.

The words that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

1 Heare ye the words of this covenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

2 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant,

3 Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the pson foynace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I command you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God,

4 That I may confirme the othe, that I haue sware vnto your fathers, to giue them a land, which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then did they answer, I and said, So be it, O Lord.

5 Then the Lord sayde vnto mee, Cry all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare it on their part, ye the words of this covenant, & do them, and so are Iacob, and I will be your fathers, ied to the oath when I brought them up out of the land of the Lawe of Egypt vnto this day, rising early and Deut. 5. 1.

6 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, saying, Obey my voyce.

7 Peruerse they were, they would not obey, nor keeth in the promise their care: but euery one walked in the stubbornesse of his wicked heart: ple, which agayne therefore I will bring vpon them all the othe of words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did it not.

8 And the Lord sayde vnto me, A curse is found among the men of Iudah, & among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

9 They are turned backe to the iniquitie of their fathers, which refused to heare my words: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my covenant, which I made with their fathers.

f That is, a general consent to rebell against me.

11 Therefore

He called the Iewes to the consideration of Gods merie, who freely chose them, made a covenant of eternal felicitie with them, and haue he ever performed it on his part, and haue hee halfe, and haue they ever done their part, as appeareth this day. Then did they answer, I and said, So be it, O Lord. He called the Iewes to the consideration of Gods merie, who freely chose them, made a covenant of eternal felicitie with them, and haue he ever performed it on his part, and haue hee halfe, and haue they ever done their part, as appeareth this day. Then did they answer, I and said, So be it, O Lord. He called the Iewes to the consideration of Gods merie, who freely chose them, made a covenant of eternal felicitie with them, and haue he ever performed it on his part, and haue hee halfe, and haue they ever done their part, as appeareth this day. The peoples idolatrie.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague upon them, which they shall not be able to escape, & though they cry unto me, I will not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem goe, and crye unto the gods unto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Judah, and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem haue ye set up altars of confusion, even altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift up a cry, or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my beloved say in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many: and the holy flesh goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou triumphest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A Greene olive tree, faire, and of goodly fruit: but with = hope and great tumult hee hath set fire vpon it, and the banches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee, (for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Judah) which they haue done against themselves to provoke mee to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I knowe it, euen then thou shewdest mee = their practices.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knewe not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs = destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cutte him out of the lande of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

20 But O Lord of hostes, that indigest righteously, and tread the remes & the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and saye, = Prophetic not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will visite them: the pong men shall die by the sword: their conuerses & their daughters shall die by famine,

23 And none of the that remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the peere of their visitation.

24 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will visite them: the pong men shall die by the sword: their conuerses & their daughters shall die by famine,

a The Prophet conuerseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his actes.

b This question hath bene alway a great reueration to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperitie, and his deare children in aduersitie, as Iob 21.7. psal. 37. 11. & 73.3. Hab. 1.3

c They professe God in mouth, but denie him in heart, which is able lande, what wilt thou doe in the day of wrath?

d The Ebrewe word is, Sandiche them, meaning, that God would be sanctified by destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperitie, afterward they should the more feeble his heauy iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercy.

e Abusing Gods lenity & his piety, & his promises, they flattered the felues as though God would euer be mercifull, and not utterly destroy them: therefore they hardened them selues in sinne, till at length the beastes and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubborne rebellion against God.

f Some thinke that God reprooueth Ieremiah in that, that he would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were faire vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the footmen, meane them of Anathoth, & by the horsemen them of Jerusalem, which shoulde trouble the Prophet worse then his owne country men did.

C H A P. XIII.

The destruction of the Iewes is prophesied. 21 Why Israel was rejected to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 25 His exhortation to them to repentance.

1 Thus saith the Lord vnto me, For, as be the a linnen girdle, & put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, & put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward <sup>a</sup> Derath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Derath, as the Lord had commaunded me.

6 And after many dayes, the Lord sayde vnto me, Arise, goe toward Derath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commaunded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Derath, and digged, & tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and beholde, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my worde, & walke after the subtillties of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes

of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, sayeth the Lord, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt sape vnto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euerie bottell shalbe filled with wine, & they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not know, that euerie bottell shalbe filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & the Priestes & the Prophets, & all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennes.

14 And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitee nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proude: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Sine glory to the Lord your God before he bring <sup>a</sup> darkness, and ouer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you looke for <sup>c</sup> light, he turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darkness.

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast <sup>b</sup> taught them to be captiues and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorrow take thee as a woman in travail?

3 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

4 Pea, the hinde also calued in the fieldes, &
forsooke it, because there was no grasse.
5 And the wilde asses did stande in the high places, and bellow in their wilde like • dyagonis: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

6 O Ioyde, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

7 O the hope of Israel, the saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to cary for a night?

8 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as a strong man that cannot helpe?
yet thou, O Ioyde, art in the middest of vs,
and thy name is called vpon vs: for sake vs not.

9 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes.

10 Then saide the Lord vnto me, • Thou shalt not say to do this people good.

11 When they fast, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, & an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

12 Then answered I, O Ioyde God, behoide, the • prophets say vnto them, We shal not see the sword, neither shal famine
come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

13 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophesie lies in my name: • I haue not sent them, neyther did I command them, neyther spake I vnto them,

but they prophesie vnto you a false dis-
son, and diuination, and vanitie, and de-ceitfulness of their owne heart.

14 Therefore thus saith the Lord, • Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my name, whome I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shal those prophets be consumed.

15 And the people to whom these prophets
do prophesie, shall be cast out in • streets of Ierusalem, because of the famine, and the sword, and there shalbe none to bury them, both they, and their wines, & their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednes vpon them.

16 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes be vpon you: feare not, and dape without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destrui-ed with a great destruction, & with a sore
griuous plague.

17 For if I goe into the fieldes, beholde the same with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, beholde them that are sicke for hunger also: moreover the Prophet also and the Priest goe a wandring • into a land that they know not.

18 Hast thou utterly reiected • Iudah, O hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we can not be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and deshoide trouble.

19 We • acknowledge, O Ioyde, our wickednesse and the iniquitie of our fathers:
for we haue sinned against thee.

20 Do not abhorre vs: for thy name sake cast not downe • the throne of thy glory: remember & breake not thy couenant with vs.

21 Are there any among the • vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can
the heauens giue showres? is it not thou,
O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes,
3 But threatneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

Then said the Lord vnto me, • Though
I spoiles & Samuel stood before me, yet mine affection coulde not be to-warde this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, • Such as are appoynted to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoynt ouer them foure
kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the • dogs to teare in peeces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I wil • scatter them also in all kingdoms

& gone backward: therefore will I stretch

15 And I will scatter them with the fauine
in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted,

The word of the Lord came also vnto
me, saying,
Thou shalt not take thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place, the affliction
for thus saith the Lord concerning thee, the affliction
sonnes, & concerning the daughters that horrible in law are borne in this place, & concerning their fathers, & children mothers that beare them, & concerning and children their fathers, that beget them in this land, should burie
the dead, & they shall be as dung vpon
the earth, & they shall be consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carcases
shall be meate for the foules of the heauen,
and for the beastes of the earth.
For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith
the Lord, euen mercie and compassion.
Both the great, and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them: nor cut their haire, nor make themselves bald for them, nor rent their clothes in mourning.
They shall not stretch out the hands for the dead, neither shall they giue them
the cuppe of consolation to drinke for their father, or for their mother.
Thou shalt not also go into the house of feasting to sitte with them to eate and to drinke.

of Israel, Beholde, I will cause to cease

dayes come that it shall no more be said,
The Lord liveth, which brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.
15 But the Lord liveth, that brought up the children of Israel from the lande of the Nobles, and from all the lands where he had scattered them, and I will bring them againe into their lande that I gave unto their fathers.
16 Beholde, saith the Lord, I will send out
many a fishers, and they shall fish them,
and after will I sende out many hunters, & they shall hunt them from every moortaine and from every hill, and out of the causes of the rocks.
17 For mine eyes are upō all their wapes:
they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes.
18 And first I will recompense their iniquity & their sinne double, because they have defiled my land, and have filled mine inheritance with their filthie & carious
and their abominations.
19 O Lord, thou art my force, & my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come unto thee from the endes of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers have inherited a lie, & vanity,
wherein there was no profit.
20 Shall a man make gods unto himselfe,
and they are no gods?
21 Beholde, therefore I will this once teach them: I will shew them mine hand and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.
22 And he shall performeth his promises, and hath not verely cast us. 1 They shall once againe seele my power, and mercie for their delinquency, that they may learne to worship me.

and I will cause thee to see thine enemies
in the lande, which thou knowest not:
for ye have kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for ever.
5 * Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh his flesh his arme, & withswareth his heart
from the Lord.
6 For ye shall be like the heath in the wil-
dernes, & shall not see whē any good cometh,
but shall inhabit in parched places in the wildernes, in a salt land, & not inhabited.
7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whole hope the Lord is.
8 For ye shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not feeble when the yeeres as I ap-
heat cometh, but her leafe shall greene,
and shall not care for the perie of drought,
neither shall cease from bearing fruit.
9 The heart is deceitfull & wicked above
all things, who can know it?
10 The Lord searcheth the heart, and trieth
the reins, even to give every man according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his workes.
11 As the partridge gathereth the yong, which she hath not brought forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the middes of his dayes,

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of living waters.
14 Heale me, O Lord, and I shall be whole:
save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art
my praise.
15 Beholde, & they say unto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now.

16 But ? I have not thus in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither have I desired the day of iudicium, thou knowest:
that which came out of my lippes, was right
before thee.

17 Be not terrible vnto me: thou art mine
hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraide, but let not me be afraide: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Goe
and stande in the gate of the children of the people, wherby the kings of Iudah
come in, and by the which they goe out,
and in all the gates of Ierusalem,

20 And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye kings of Iudah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heed to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Neither carpe forth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither doe
pe any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath,
as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe &
would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Therefore himselfe if he will heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye
do no worke therein,

25 Then shall the kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and shall ride vpon chaires, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for ever.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the lande of Benjamin, & from the plaine, and from the mountains, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings, and sacrifices, & meat offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie
the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden: yet to goe through the gates of Jerusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem,
and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

2. God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his words. 18
The conspiracies of the Jews against Jeremiah. 19
His prayer against his adversaries.

1 The worde which came to Jeremiah
from the Lord, saying,
2 Write, & go downe into the potters
house, & there shal I shew thee my worde.
3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and beholde, he wrought a worke
on the wheel.

4 And the beſſell that he made of a clap, was broken in the hande of the potter, to be returned, and made it another beſſell,
as ſeemed good to the potter to make it.
5 Then the woꝛde of the Loꝛde came vnto
me, ſaying,
6 O houſe of Iſrael, cannot I do with you as this potter, ſaith the Loꝛd? beholde, as the clay is in the potters hand, ſo are you in mine hand. O houſe of Iſrael, 7 I will ſpeake ſuddenly againſt a nation
againſt a kingdome to plucke it by, and to reote it out and to deſtroy it.
8 But if this nation, againſt whome I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.
9 And I will ſpeake ſuddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it and to plant it.
10 But if it doe euill in my ſight and heare
not my voice, I will reſpect of the god
that I thought to do for them.
11 Sprake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Loꝛd, Beholde, I prepare a plague for you, and purpoſe a thing againſt you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, &
make your wayes and your works good.
12 But they ſaid: Beſeuerely, ſurely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the ſubtillnes
of his wicked heart.
13 Therefore ſaith the Loꝛd, After now
among the heathen, who hath heard ſuch things? the virgin of Iſrael hath done
very ſightly.
14 Will a man foake the ſnow of Lebanon, which cometh from the rocke of the field? or ſhall the colde flowing waters,
that come from another place, be foaken?
15 Becauſe my people hath forgotten me,
and haue burnt incenſe to vaine,
and their prophetes haue cauſed them to ſum-ble in their wayes from the ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and way
that is not troden, 16 To make their lande deſolate and a perpetual deſertion, ſo that euery one that paſſeth thereby, ſhalbe aſtoniſhed and wagge
his head,
17 I will ſcatter them with an Eaſt winde
before the enemy: I will ſhewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their deſtruction.
18 Then ſaid they, Come, and let vs imagine ſome deuice againſt Jeruſalem:
for the Law ſhall not periſh from vs, ſhall
not counſell from the wiſe, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs ſumme

leau God, which was present with them. e That, the word truth, which God had taught by his Law, reade Chap. 6. 16. I will shew mine anger and not my favour toward them. I

19 Hearken unto me, O <sup>2</sup> Loyde, & heare the hope of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne awaye thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, deliver by their children to satiety, and let them droppe awaye by the force of the sword, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, & be widowes:
and let their husbands be put to death, &
let their pong men be slaine by the sword
in the battell.

22 Let the cry be heard from their houses,
when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly upon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete.

23 Yet Loyde thou knowest all their counsell against me: render to death: forgie not their iniquitie, neyther put out their sme from thy sight, but let them be ouer-throwen before thee: deale thus with them
in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

He prophesieth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

1 Thus sayeth the Loyde, Go, and bye an earthen bottel of a potters, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priestes,

2 And go south vnto the valley of Benhinnom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preache there
the wordes, that I shall tell thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the word of the Loyde, O <sup>4</sup> Kings of Iudah, and inhabitantes of Ierusalem, Thus sayeth the Loyde of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shall tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken me, & pro-phaned this place, & haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they,
nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue buile the hye places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neyther came it into my minde)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayeth
the Loyde, that this place shal no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Benhinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bying the counsel of Iudah & Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, & by the hand of them that seek their liues: and their carnelles will I giue to be meate for the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the fildes.

8 And I will make this citie desolate and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shalbe astonished & hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will fede them with the fleshy of their sonnes, and with the fleshy of their daughters, & euery one shall eate the fleshy

of his freinde in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seek their
liues, shall hold them strait.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottel in the sight of the men that go with thee,

11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Loyde of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that can not be made againe, and they shall burie them in Topheth till there be no place to burie.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, sayeth
the Loyde, and to the inhabitants thereof,
and I will make this citie like Topheth,

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the kings of Iudah shalbe desolated as the place of Topheth, because of all the houses vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the hoste of the heauen, and haue powred out drinke of fringe vnto other gods.

14 Then came Jeremiah from Topheth,
where the Loyde had sent him to prophesie,
and he stood in the court of the Loydes
house, and said to all the people,

15 Thus sayeth the Loyde of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this citie, & vpon all her towncs, all <sup>1</sup> plagues, that I haue promised against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my wordes.

CHAP. XX.

Jeremiah is smitten & cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He prophesieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the word of God. 9 He is compelled by the first to preach the word.

1 When Balshur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Loyde, heard that Jeremiah prophesied these things,

2 Then Balshur smote Jeremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the hie gate of Benjamin which was by the house of the Loyde.

3 And on the morning, Balshur brought Jeremiah out of the stocks. Then sayde Princes, nor the Jeremiah vnto him, The Loyde hath not people durst en-called thy name Balshur, but <sup>4</sup> Magog terprise against mislabib.

4 For thus sayeth the Loyde, Behold, I will make thee to be a terror to thy selfe, and to all thy frendes, & they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, & thine eyes shall first attempte,

5 beholde it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall carie them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

6 Whosoever I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, &
all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Iudah will I giue into the hands of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them awaye
and carie them to Babel.

7 And thou Balshur, and all that dwell
in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt

a great pestilence.

7 And after this, sayeth the Lorde, I will Iudah, Ye are ye the woyde of the Lorde.

He exhorteth the King to iudgement and righte-ousnes, 9VVV Jerusalem is brought into captiuity. The death of Shallum the sonne of Josiah is propheticall.

Thus saith the Lorde, So downe to the house of the King of Iudah, & speake
there this thing,

2 And say, Ye are the woyde of the Lorde,

King of Iudah, that stept vpon the throne of David, thou art thy servants, & the people that enter in by these gates. Thus saith the Lord, "Execute ye iudgement and righteousness, and deliver the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and be not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widowe: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

For if ye doe this thing, then shall the king sit upon the throne of David, enter in by the gates of this house, and ride vpon chariots, and vpon horses, both he and his servants and his people.

But if ye will not heare these wordes, I will swear by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this house shall be waste.

For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the kings house of Iudah, Thou art Gilead unto mee, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness and as cities not inhabited,

And I will prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedars, and call them in the fire.

And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Whether hath the Lord done thus vnto this great cite?

Then shall they answer, Because they haue forsaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods and serued them.

I will wepe not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but wepe for him that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his native countrey.

For thus saith the Lord, as touching Shallum the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, which reigned for Josiah his father, which went out of this place, he shal not returne thither,

But he shall die in the place, whither they haue ledde him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

I will vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnes, and his chambers without equite: he vseth his neighbour without wages and gueth him not for his worke.

I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so he will make him self large windows, and sining with cedar, and paint them with vermillion.

Shalt thou reigne, because thou clostest thy selfe in cedar: did not thy father eate and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

When he iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, saith the Lord?

But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy countounes: a for to shed innocent blood, and for oppressio, and for destruction, euen to doe this.

Therefore thus saith the Lord against Jehoiakim, the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, Thou shalt not see me, and thou shalt not see me, but thou shalt see the glory of the Lord, and thou shalt see the glory of the Lord, and thou shalt see the glory of the Lord.

They shall not lament him, saying, For euery one of us, my brother, or my sister: neither shall I have y<sup>e</sup> mourne for him, saying, Ah, loyde, or enough to lament ah, his glorie.

He shall be buried as an asse is buried, for himselfe. He shall be buried as an asse is buried, for himselfe.

I will goe by to Lebanon, and cry: shew me in Babylon and cry by the passages: for in a hole because their sinke all thy louers are destroyed.

I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie: but thou saidst, I will not heare: this hath bene thy manner fro thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voyce, and thou shalt be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednes.

As I live, saith the Lord, though Coniah the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Iudas were the signet of my right hande, yet would I plucke thee thence.

And I will giue thee into the hande of them that seeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen me: whereby is ment to the hand of Nabuchad-nazzar king of that helpes Babel, into the hand of the Caldeans, should faile: for

But to the land, wherunto they desire p<sup>er</sup> to returne, they shall not returne thither, vnto the land that they knowe not?

Is not this man Coniah as a despised they that should and broken dole? as a vessel, wherein iudgement shal be thee, shall is no pleasure: wherefore are they caried vanish away as away, he and his sorde, and cast out into a winde.

thought his kingdome could neuer depart from him, because he came of the stocke of David, and therefore for the promise sake could not be taken from his house: but hee abused Gods promise, and therefore was iustly deprived of his kingdome.

He sheweth that all posteritie shal be witnesses of this iust plague, as though it were registred for perpetual memorie. Not that hee had no children (for after he begate Salathiel in the captiuitie, Mat. 1.12.) but that none should reigne after him as king.

CHAP. XXIII. Against false pastors. A prophesie of the great Pastor Iesus Christ.

We be vnto the pastours that des a Meaning, the stroy and scatter the sheepe of my princes, gouernours and false pasture, saith the Lord.

Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto the pastours that fade my flocke, I haue especiall care and haue prepared good pastures for them, Whole charge is to feede the flocke, but they eate the fruite thereof, Ezek. 34.3.

d Thus the Prophets euer vie to mixe f promises with the threatenings, lest the godly should be too much beate downe, & therefore he sheweth how God will gather his Church after this dispersion.

peop<sup>e</sup>. ¶ He haue scattered my flocke and thrust them out, & haue not visited them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednes of your workes, saith the Lord.

And I will gather the remnant of my shepe out of al countries, whither I had diuised them, & will bring them againe to their folds, and they shal grow & increase.

And I will set vp shepheards ouer them, which shall feede them: & they shall breed no more nor be afraide, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

Beholde, The dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branch, and a king shal reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

In his dayes Iudah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the name wherby they shall call him, The Lord our righteousness.

Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shal no more say, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the lande of Egypt.

But the Lord lieth, which brought vp and led d sorde of the house of Israel out of the South countrey and from al countries where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

Whine heart breaketh within me, because of the prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath overcome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holy wordes.

For the lande is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their course is euill, and their force is not right.

For both the Prophet and the Priest doe wickedly: & their wickednesse haue I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as slippery wayes in the darkenes: they shalbe diuised forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the peere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

And I haue sene foolishnesse in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal & caused my people Israel to erre.

I haue sene also in the prophets of Ierusalem filthines: they commit adulterie and walke in lyres: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Babel, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the prophets, Beholde, I will feede them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the land.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Yeare not the wordes of the prophets that prophesie vnto you, & teach you vanity: they speake the vision of their owne heart and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

They say Al vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, & so they haue feared.

and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubbornnes of his owne heart, He shall come vpon you.

For who hath stand in the counsell of the Lord that he hath percerued a heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, & a violent whirlewind shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

The anger of the Lord shal not turne vntill he haue executed, & till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes perhal vnderstand it plainly.

I haue not sent these prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ranne: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

But if they had stande in my counsell, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned then from their euill way, and from the wickednes of their inventions.

Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off?

Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shal not see him, saith the Lord? Do not I fill heauen & earth, saith the Lord?

I haue heard what the prophets saide, that prophesie lyres in my name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

How long? Doe the prophets delite to prophesie lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

Thinke they to cause my people to forget my name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my name for Baal?

The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, & he shal not prophesie, let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheat, saith the Lord?

Is not my word as fire, saith the Lord, and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?

Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that strale my word euery one from his neighbour.

Beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue swete tongues, and say, He saith.

Beholde, I will come against them that prophesie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lyres, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profit vnto this people, saith the Lord.

And when this people, or the prophet, or a priest shal aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say unto them, What burden? I will euen foake you, saith the Lord.

34 And the prophete, on the yriest, on the people that shal say, The burden of the Lord, I will euen visite euery such one, and his house.

35 Thus shalt ye sape euery one to his neighbour, and euery one to his brother, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord shall mention no more: for euery mans word shall be his burden: for ye haue peruerred the wordes of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken?

38 And if thou say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord, Because ye say thus word, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord.

39 Therefore behold, I euen I will utterly foget you, & I will foake you, and the cite that I gaue you and your fathers, and call you out of my presence.

40 And will bring an euertlasting reproch vpon you, and a perpetual shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The vision of the baskets of figges. 2 Signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe from captiuitie, 3 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be carried away.

1 The Lord shewed me, and beholde, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Ieremias the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Iudah, and the priuies of Iudah with the woiuers men, and cunning men of Ierusalem, & had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figs that are first ripe: & the other basket had very naughtie figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What seesst thou, Ieremias? And I said, Figges: the good figges very good, & the naughtie verie naughtie, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Again the wordes of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I knowe them that are caried away captiue of Iudah to be good, whō I haue sent out of this place, into the land of Chaldeans.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will blinde them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out.

7 And I will giue them an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and then shalbe my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 And as the naughtie figges which can not be eaten, they are so euill (saith thus saith the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah, and his priuies, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I will euen giue the for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in all places, where I shall cast them.

10 And I will sende the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He prophesieth that they shall be in captiuitie seventy yeres, 12 And that after the seuentie yeres the Babylonians should be destroyed, 15 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

1 The word that came to Ieremias, concerning all the people of Iudah, in the fourth yere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel:

2 The which Ieremias the Prophet spake vnto al the people of Iudah, and to al the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirtieth yere of Josiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the thre and twentieth yere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you, rising earely and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising earely and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor encline your eares to obey.

5 Therefore saide, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednesse of your inuentions, and ye shall dwell in the lande that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And yet not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Nevertheless ye would not heare me, sayeth the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to pour owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my wordes,

9 Beholde, I will sende and take to me all the families of the North, sayeth the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, & against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

 11 And this whole land shalbe desolate, & an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the king of Babel seuentie yeres.
 12 And when the seuentie yeres are accomplished, I will visite the king of Babel and that nation, sayth the Lorde, for their iniquities, euen the laude of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation.
 13 And I will bring vpon that land all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Jeremiah hath prophesied against all nations.
 14 For many nations, and great kinges shall euen serue themselves of them: thus will I recompense them according to their doings, & according to the workes of their owne hands.
 15 For thus hath the Lorde God of Israel spoken vnto me, Take the cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hande, and cause all the nations, to whom I send thee, to drinke it.
 16 And they shall drinke, and bee moued, and be mad, because of the sworde, that I will send among them.
 17 Thenooke I the cuppe at the Lordes hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had sent me:
 18 Euen Ierusalem, & the cities of Iudah, and the kinges thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeared this day:
 19 Pharaoh also, king of Egypt, and his seruantes, and his princes, and all his people:
 20 And all lordes of people, and all the kinges of the lande of Id: and all the kinges of the land of the Philistines, and of Mikhelon, and Kizzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Mithod:
 21 Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites,
 22 And all the kinges of Tyris, and all the kinges of Sidon, and the kinges of the Ples, that are beyonde the Sea,
 23 And I Debai, and Tema, and Buz, and all that dwell in the uttermost corners,
 24 And all the kinges of Arabia, and all the kinges of Arabia, that dwell in the desert,
 25 And all the kinges of Timri, and all the kinges of Elam, and all the kinges of the Medes,
 26 And all the kinges of the North, farre and nere one to another, & all the kinges domes of the world, which are vpon the earth, and the king of Sheshach shall drinke after them.
 27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke and be drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword, t For there were two countreis so named, the one called plentifull, and the other barren, or desert.

sworde, which I will send among you.
 28 But if they refuse to take the cuppe at thine hande to drinke, then tell them, Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, Ye shall certainly drinke.
 29 For loe, I beegunne to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, and shoulde you goe free? Ye shall not goe quite: for I will call for a sworde vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.
 30 Therefore prophetic thou against them all these wordes, & say vnto them, The Lord shall roare from above, and tharout his voyce from his holy habitation: he shall roare vpon his habitation, and crye aloud, as they that pisse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.
 31 The sounde shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lorde hath a contumacie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and he will gne them that are wicked, to the sworde, sayeth the Lorde.
 32 Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, Bes holder, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlewinde shall be raised vpon the coastes of the earth.
 33 And y<sup>e</sup> name of the Lord shalbe at that day, from one end of the earth, euen vnto the other end of the earth: they shall not be mourned, neyther gathered no ment.
 34 Howle, ye shepherds, and crye, and wallowe your selues in the albes, principall of the flocke: for your dapes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispercion, and ye shall fall like precious vessels.
 35 And the flight shall saple from the shepherds, and the escaping from the principall of the flocke.
 36 A voyce of the cry of the shepherds, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shall be heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture.
 37 And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.
 38 He hath forsaken his conert, as the lps on: for their lande is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressor, and because of the wyarth of his indignation.

the yoke of the king of Babel, and Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, & serue him and his peo-

Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the king of Babel: for they prophesie a lye vnto you.

15 For I haue not sent them, sayth the Lord, yet they prophesie a lye in my name, that I might cast you out, & that ye might perishe, both you, and the pro-

16 I Also I spake to the priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord,

The false prophesie of Hananiah. 13 Jeremiah re-

And that same yeere in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah in the fourth yeere, & in the fifth moneth Hananiah the sonne of the prophet, which was of the tribe of Benjamin, came to me in the house of the Lord, and of all the people, and sayde,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

3 Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the house, that Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and carped them into Babel.

of Judah, with all them that were car-

11 And Ieremias spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Even so will I bke the poke of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, from the necke of all nations within the space of two yeres: and the Prophet Ieremias writ his way.

12 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremias the Prophet, (after that Ieremias the Prophet had broken the poke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremias) saying,

13 Go, and tell Ieremias, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the pokes of wood, but thou shalt make for thyne pokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I haue put a <sup>h</sup>poke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the beasts of the fildes also.

15 Then said the Prophet Ieremias vnto the prophet Ieremias, Heare now Ieremias, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this prere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Ieremias the prophet <sup>d</sup>eped the same yere in the seventy moneth.

¶ Then said the Lord, it is manifest, that miracles can not moue wnder the worde it selfe, except God touche the heart.

CHAP. XXIX.

¶ Ieremias writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babel. 20 Hee prophesieth their returne after seuentie yeres. 26 Hee prophesieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 31 Hee threatneth the prophetes that seduce the people. 35 The death of Sennacherib is prophesied.

¶ Nowe these are the wordes of the Lord, that Ieremias the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were carped away captiues, and to the Priestes, and to the Prophetes, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had caried away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel.

¶ After that Ieremias the king, and the Quene, and the Eunuches, the princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workemen, and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem.

¶ By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan and Gemariah the sonne of Iuhiah, (whome Nebuchad-nezzar king of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

¶ Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are caried away captiues, whom I haue caused to be caried away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

¶ Build you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

¶ Take you wines, and beget sonnes and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to husbands, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

¶ And seeke ye prosperitie of the citie, whither I haue caused you to be carped away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

¶ For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Let not your prophetes and your soothsayers that bee among you, deceiue you, neither giue care to your dreames, which you dreame.

¶ For they prophesie you a lie in my name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.

¶ But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visite you, and performe my good promises toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

¶ For I knowe the thoughts, that I haue thought toward you, saith the Lord, even the thoughtes of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an ende, and your hope.

¶ Then shall you cry vnto mee, and ye shall goe and pray vnto me, and I will heare you.

¶ And ye shall seeke mee and finde me, because ye shall seeke me with all your heart.

¶ And I will be founde of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captiuitie, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be carped away captiue.

¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hath raped vs vp by prophets in Babel.

¶ Therefore thus saith the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of David, and of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

¶ Even thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I will sende vpon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figges, that can not be eaten, they are so naughtie.

¶ And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, and a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproofe among all the nations whither I haue cast them.

¶ Because they haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophetes, rising vp rarely, and sending them, but ye would not heare, saith the Lord.

¶ Heare ye therefore the wordes of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, & said unto me, 24 Beholde, the monuments, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is given into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by means of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast sayde unto me, O Lord God, spe unto thee the fields for silver, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be given into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, saying,

27 Beholde, I am the Lord God of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will give this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, & into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babel, and he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it, with houses, upon whose roofes they have offered incense unto Baal, and polluted dwynke offerings unto other gods, to provoke me unto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Judah have surely done euill before me from their youth: for the children of Israel have surely provoked me to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene unto me as a provocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, vnto this day, that I should remove it out of my sight.

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, & of the children of Judah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, even they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

33 And they have turned vnto me backe and not the face: though I taught them, rising up early, & instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receive doctrine.

34 But they set their abominations in their house (whereupon my name was called) to defile it,

35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes, & their daughters to passe through the fire unto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, & they should doe such abominations, to cause Judah to sinne.

36 And now therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, wherof ye say, It shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, & by the famine, and by the pestilence,

37 ¶ Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I have scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, & I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 He threatneth that the citie, and the king Zedekiah shall give into the hands of the King of Babylon, 11 Her rebelling their cruelty towards their servants.

1 The word which came unto Jeremiah from the Lord (when Nabuzad-nezzar king of Babel, & all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were under his power of his hand, and all people fought against Jerusalem, and against all the cities thereof, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Go, and speake to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Beshold, I will give this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire,

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and delivered into his hands, and thine eyes shall beholde the face of the king of Babel, & he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 For heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Judah: thus saith the Lord of the Lord, Thou shalt not die by the sword,

5 But thou shalt dye in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers & for thy kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh Lord: for I have pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 Then Jeremiah the Prophet spake all these wordes unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jerusalem,

7 (When the king of Babels hoste fought against Jerusalem, & against all the cities of Judah, that were left, even against Bethshalem, & against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Judah)

8 This is the word that came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people, which were at Jerusalem, to proclaim libertie unto them,

9 That every man should let his servant goe free, and every man his handmaide, which was an Ebyne or an Ebyusse, and that none should serve himselfe of them, to wit, of a Jewe his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the covenant, heard that every one should let his servant goe free, and every one his handmaide, and that none should serve them selves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they repented, and caused the servants and the handmaidens, whom they had let goe free to returne, and helde them in subjection as servants and handmaidens.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came unto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a covenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of servants, saying,

14 At the terme of seven yeeres let ye go, every man his brother an Ebyrw which hath bene sold unto thee: and when he hath served thee six yeeres, thou shalt let him goe free fro thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, & had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, every man to his neighbour, and ye had made a covenant before me in the house, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye have caused every man his servant, and every man his handmaide, whom ye had let at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and helde them in subjection to be unto you as servants, and as handmaidens.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye have not obeyed me, in proclaiming libertie, every man to his brother, and every man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terror to all the kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will give those men that have broken my covenant, and have not kept the wordes of the covenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the calf in twaine, and passed betwene the partes thereof:

19 The princes of Judah, & the princes of Jerusalem, the Eunuchs, & the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betwene the partes of the calf,

20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, & into the handes of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shall be for meate unto the fowles of the heaven, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Judah, and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the handes of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels host, which are gone by from you.

22 Beholde, I will command, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Judah desolate without an inhabitant.

Joydes Houle.

1 The fast was proclaimed, and Baruch read the roule, which was a litle before the Jerusalem was first taken, when Jeremia and Daniel, and his companions were led away captives.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the woyses of Jeremia in the House of the Loyde, in the chamber of Semariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the newe gate of the Loydes Houle, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Semariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the woyses of the Loyd,

12 Then he went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, & lo, all the princes were there, even Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shennai, and El Nathan the sonne of Achboi, & Semariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Yauanai, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the woyses that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Jehudi the sonne of Serhaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Seriah,ooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they Cayde vnto him, Sit downe now, & reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Nowe when they had hearde all the woyses, they were afraide both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We wil certifye the King of all these woyses.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs nowe, howe biddest thou wyite all these woyses at his mouth.

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these woyses vnto me with his mouth, and I wyote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then sayd the princes vnto Baruch, Go, hide thee, thou and Jeremia, and let no man know where ye be.

20 And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde vpon the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and tolde the king all the woyses, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Jehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Jehudi read it in the audience of the king, and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the king.

22 Now the king sat in the winter house, in the iijth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Jehudi had read thre, or foure verses, he cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fire, that was on the hearth vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afrayde, nor rent their garments, neither p lring, nor any of his seruants, he heard all these woyses. 25 Berethel, Elnathan, and Delaiah, And Semariah had besought the King, that he would not burne the roule: but he would not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Jerahmeel growe into the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the gailin & his sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Jeremia the Prophet, but the Loyd hid them.

27 Then the word of the Loyde came to Jeremia (after he the king had burnt the care that God roule & the woyses which Baruch wyote at the mouth of Jeremia) saying,

28 Take thee againe another roule and write in it all the former woyses that were in the first roule which Jeremia had burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Jeremia the king of Iudah, Thus sayth the Loyde, Thou shalt burne this roule, saying, I wyite therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainly come and burne the booke destroy this lande, and shall take thence both man and beast.

30 Therefore thus sayth the Loyd of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, He shall haue a none to sit vpon the thorne of Dauid, & his head shalbe cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visite him and his sede, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Jeremia another roule, & gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Seriah, which wyote therein at the mouth of Jeremia all the woyses of the booke which Jeremia King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like woyses.

C H A P. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeeded Ieremia. 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremia to pray for him. 12 Jeremia going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten & put in prison.

And King Zedekiah the sonne of Josiah reigned for Couah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whome Nebuchad-negor King of Babel made King in the land of Iudah.

But neither here, nor his seruants, nor the people of the lande woulde obey the woyses of the Loyd, which he spake by the ministerie of the Prophet Jeremia.

And Zedekiah the king sent Jehonai the sonne of Selemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Jeremia, saying, Wap nowe vnto the Loyd our God for vs.

Now Jeremia went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Ierusalem.

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto
the Prophet Jeremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel,
Thus shall ye say to the King of Iudah,
that sent you vnto me to inquire of me,
Behold, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it &
burne it with fire.

9 Thus saith the Lord, <sup>20</sup> Or, lifted up your voices. Deteine not your seites, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, & there remained but wounded men among them, yet should they rise up in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie,

12 Then Jeremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the lande of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among
the people.

13 And when he was in the gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, & he tooke Jeremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou fleeest to the Caldeans.

14 Then saide Jeremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he woulde not heare him: so Iriah tooke Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Therefore the princes were angrie with Jeremiah, & smote him, & laid him in prison in the house of Jehonathans the scribe:
for they had made that the prison.

16 When Jeremiah was entered into the dungeon, and into the prisons, & had remained there a long tyme,

17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, & tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly
in his house, & sayde, Is there any word from the Lord? And Jeremiah sayde, Yea: for sayd he, thou shalt be deliuered
into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Moreover, Jeremiah sayde vnto king Zedekiah, what haue I offered against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, & he haue put me in prison?

19 Where are now your prophetes,
which prophesied vnto you, saying,
The king of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O
my lord the king: let my prayer be accepted before thee; that thou cause mee
not to returne to the house of Jehonathans
the scribe, lest I dye there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commaunded, that they should put Jeremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread
out of the bakers streete vntill all the bread

in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

<sup>1</sup> By the motion of the rulers Jeremiah is put into a dungeon. <sup>20</sup> At the request of Ebed-melech the King commaundeth Jeremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. <sup>27</sup> Jeremiah sheweth the King
how he might escape death.

1 Then Shephatiah the sonne of Mat-tan, & Gedaliah the sonne of Paltihur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of Imuth, heard the wordes that Jeremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall dye by the sword, by the famine & by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for a pray, and shall liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the princes sayde vnto the King, We beseeche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he weakeneth the handes of the men of warre that re-maine in this citie, and the handes of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king sayd, Beho-de, he is in your handes, for the king can doe as he listeth.

6 Then tooke they Jeremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Paltiur the sonne of Imuth, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Jeremiah with coards: and in the dunsgeon there was no water but mye: so Jeremiah slacke fast in the myre.

7 Nowe when Ebed-melech the blacke Egyt, one of the Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon (then the king sate in the gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 O my lord the king, these men haue done
evill in all that they haue done to Jeremiah the Prophet, whome they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the king commaunded Ebed-melech the blacke Egyt, saying, Take from hence thirtie men with thee, and take Jeremiah the Prophet out of the dunsgeon before he dye.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him and went to the house of the king
under the treasure, and tooke thre olde rotten ragges, and olde woyme cloutes, and let them downe by coardes into the dunsgeon to Jeremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Egyt said vnto Jeremiah, Dur now these olde rotten ragges and woyme, under thine arme holes, betwixt the coardes. And Jeremiah did so.

13 So they drew vp Jeremiah with coardes, and tooke him by out of the dungeon.

dungon, and Jeremiahs remained in a prison.

14 Then Zedekiah the king sent & took Jeremiahs the Prophet unto him, into the third entrie that is in the house of the Loyde, and the king saide unto Jeremiahs, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiahs saide to Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou slay me: and if I give thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king sware secretly unto Jeremiahs, saying, As the Loyde liveth, that made vs these soules, I wil not slay thee, nor give thee into the handes of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then lapde Jeremiahs unto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Loyde God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe south unto the king of Babels pynces, then thy soule shall live, and this cite shall not be burnt by wiche fire, and thou shalt live, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe south to the king of Babels pynces, then shall this cite be given into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their handes.

19 And Zedekiah the king saide unto Jeremiahs, I am careful for the Jewes that are fled unto the Caldeans, lest they deliver me into their handes, and they mocke me.

20 But Jeremiahs saide, They shall not deliver thee: hearken unto the voyce of the Loyde, I beseeche thee, which I speake unto thee: so that it be well unto thee, and thy soule shall live.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe south, this is the voyde that the Loyde hath shewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are left in the king of Judahs house, shall be brought south to the king of Babels pynces: & those women shall say, Thy friends have perwaded thee, and have prevailed against thee: thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy winces, and thy chyliden to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their handes, but shalt bee taken by the hande of the king of Babel: and this cite shall thou see to be burnt with fire.

24 Then saide Zedekiah unto Jeremiahs, Let no man know of these wordes, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the pynces understande that I have talked with thee, and they come unto thee, and say unto thee, Declare unto us now, what thou hast saide unto the king, hide it not from us, and we will not slay thee: also what the king said unto thee.

26 Then shalt thou say unto them, I feynibly besought the king that hee would not cause mee to returne to Jehonathans house, to die there.

27 Then came all the Pynces unto Jeremiahs and asked him. And he tolde them according to all these wordes that the king had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Jeremiahs abode still in the court of the prison, untill the day that Jerusalem was taken: and hee was there, when Jerusalem was taken.

C M A P. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Jerusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His fowles are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Jeremiahs is provided for. 15 Ebed-melech is delivered from captivity.

1 In the ninth yere of Zedekiah king of Judah in the tenth month, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel and all his hoste against Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleventh yere of Zedekiah in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the cite was broken up. And all the pynces of the king of Babel came in, and late in the middle gate, even Nerregal, Sharezzer, Bangar-nebo, Sariechun, Rab-laris, Nerregal, Sharezzer, Rab-mag, with all the residue of the pynces of the king of Babel.

3 And when Zedekiah the king of Judah sawe them, & all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the cite by night, through the kings garden, and by the gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wilderness.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Judah sawe them, & all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the cite by night, through the kings garden, and by the gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wilderness.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and overtooke Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel unto Kiblah in the lande of Hamath, where he gave judgement upon him.

6 Then the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah in Kiblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Afterward he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaynes, to carie him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the kings house, & the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captivite into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the cite, and those that were fled and fallen unto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried left the poore that had nothing in the land of Judah, and gave them vines, pardes and feldees at the same time.

11 Nowe Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel gave charge concerning Jeremiahs unto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying,

Take him and looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but do unto him as he shall say unto thee.

12 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nabushasban, Rab-laris, and Nerregal, Sharezzer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babels pynces:

C H A P. XL

4 Jeremiah hath licence to go whether he will. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

1 The worde which came to Jeremiah from the Lord after that Nebuzaradan the chiefe steward had let him go from Kaniath, when he had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were carried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were carried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 And the chiefe steward toke Jeremiah, and saide vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Nowe the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath saide: because ye haue sinned against the Lord, & haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine handes: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will loose thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, tarry still: be hold, all the land is before thee: whither it seemeth good, and convenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he saide, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, which the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among þ people, or goe wheresoever it pleaseth thee to go. So the chiefe steward gaue him buttailes and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Jeremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to Spisphah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Nowe when all the captiues of the hoste, which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not carped away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Spisphah, euen Ishmael the sonne of Nerthaniah, euen Johanan, and Jonathan the sonnes of Baruch, and Seraiah the sonne of Nerthaniah, and the sonnes of Eshai, & Meschim, Chap. 41. 2. & Zephaniah the sonne of Maachabiah, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwell at Spisphah to serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, & dwell in your cities, that ye haue taken.

11 Likewise when all þ Iewes that were in Gadoh, and among the Ammonites, & in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had sent over them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan,

12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were byrnen, and came to the lande of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Spisphah, and gathered wine and summer fruites, verie much.

13 Forsooke Johanan the sonne of Baruch, and all the captiues of the hoste, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Spisphah.

14 And saide vnto him, Knowest thou not that Baalis the king of Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nerthaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam belieued them not.

15 Then Johanan the sonne of Baruch spake to Gedaliah in Spisphah secretly, saying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nerthaniah, and no man shall knowe it. Wheresoeuer thou shalt see him, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, shall be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish.

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam saide vnto Johanan the sonne of Baruch, Thou shalt not doe this thing, for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whome the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ithmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Spisbah, and all the Caldeans that were founde there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the seconde day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their heards shaven, and their clothes rent and cut, with osfringes and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Spisbah to meete them, weeping as hee went: and when hee met them, he said vnto them, Come vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the cite, Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the middes of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that said vnto Ithmael. Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheate, and of barley, & of oyle, and of honie: so hee staied, and slew them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Ithmael had cast the dead bodies of 8 men (whome he had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which was the king had made because of Balthazar king of Israel, and Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ithmael caried away captiue all the residue of 8 people that were in Spisbah, euen the kings daughters, & all the people that remained in Spisbah, whome Balthazar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the 8 captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done,

12 Then they all tooke their men, and went to fight with Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and founde him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Nowe when all the people whom Ithmael caried away captiue, sawe Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ithmael had caried away captiue from Spisbah, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whome Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Spisbah, (after that he had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, & the women, and the childe, and the eunuches, whome he had brought againe from Egipt:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Beth-ruth: Chumham, which is by Beth-lehem, to go and to enter into Egipt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whome the king of Babel had made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines also counsel of Ieremias what they ought to doe. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to go into Egipt.

1 Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, & Jezaniah the sonne of Horeshai, & all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And said vnto Ieremias the Prophet, Heare our prayer, we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left, but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe behold):

3 That the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may doe.

4 Then Ieremias the Prophet sayde vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answere you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they said to Ieremias, The Lord bee a witnesse of truth, and faith betwene vs, if we do not, euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shall sende thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, we will obey the voyce of the Lord our God, to whome we sende thee: that it may be wel with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremias.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most.

9 And sayde vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whome ye sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If ye will dwell in this lande, then I will builde you, and not destroye you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand,

12 And I will graunt you mercie that hee may haue compassion vpon you, and shall cause you to dwell in your own land.

14 Saying, Ape, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sounde of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell.

15 (And nowe therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Judah; thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to dwell there)

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague, that I will bring upon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, His mine anger and my wrath hath bene poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem: so shall my wrath be poured forth upon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a curse, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch, and ye shall be in this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Judah, the Lord hath said concerning you. Goe not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I have admo- nished you this day.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me unto you.

Jehoiachaz the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the minde of Jeremiah. 3 Jeremiah prophesie the destruction of Egypt.

Now when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking unto a whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes, Then spake Jeremiahs the sonne of Hosaiah, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the psones men, saying unto Jeremiah, Thou speakest falsely: the Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Goe

not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah prophesied the against us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they might slay us, and carry us away capti- ues into Babel.

4 So Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Judah.

5 But Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste took all the remnant of Judah, that were returned from all nations, whether they had bene

6 Even men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and euery person, that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Jeremiahs the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: thus came they to Tahpanhes.

8 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, & hide them in the clay in the bricke kiln, which is at the entry of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Judah, And saye unto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will sende and bring Nebuchad- nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and will set his throne upon these stones that I haue bid, and he shall grade his paviour ouer them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, & such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne the & carie them away captiues, and he shall arap himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a man they heard putteth on his garment, & shall depart from thence in peace.

13 Ye shall breake also the images of Beth-shemesh, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall be burne with fire.

3 Because of their wickedness which they have committed, to provoke me to anger in that they went to burne incense, and to serve other gods, whome they knew not, neither they nor pou nor your fathers.

4 Whobere I sent vnto you all my ser- uants the Prophets, tiling earcelly, and sending them, saying, Why do not this abo- minable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to come from their wicked- ness, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and was- ted, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore com- mit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man & woman, childe and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye provoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning in- cense vnto other gods in the lande of Eg- ypt whither ye be gone to dwell; that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse & a reproche among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, and the wickedness of the Kings of Iudah, and the wickedness of their wiues, and your owne wickedness, and the wickedness of your wiues, which they haue committed in the lande of Iu- dah, and in the streets of Ierusalem?

10 They are not humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my law nor in my statutes, that I set be- fore you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will set my face against you, to euill and to destroy all Iudah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that haue set their faces to goe into the lande of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the lande of Egypt: they shall euen be consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall dye from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall be a dereliction and an astonishment and a curse and a reproche.

13 For I will visite them that dwell in the lande of Egypt, as I haue visited Ieru- salem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iu- dah to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall re- turne, but such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that roode by, a great multitude, turn all the people that dwell in the lande of Egypt in Pathos, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the name of the Lord, we will not heare it of thee.

17 But we will doe what former thing go- rth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and to pouwe out drinke offerings vnto her, as tan euer sollei- we haue done, both we and our fathers, our Kings & our princes in the cities of doeth not leaue Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem: them til be haue for then had we a plentie of vitayles and brought them to we were well and felt none euill.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to pouwe out nes, euen to in- drinke offerings vnto her, we haue had fine their wic- scarces of all thinges, and haue bene kednes against consumed by the sword & by the famine. God & his Pro- phets.

19 And why we burnt incense to the Queene of heauen & pouwed out drinke offerings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, and pouwe out drinke offerings vnto her without our husbands?

20 Then saide Ieremiah vnto all the peo- ple, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answer, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense that ye burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, both you, and of the blessed your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer for- beare, because of the wickedness of your inuentions, and because of the abomin- ations, which ye haue committed: there- fore is your lande desolate and an as- tounding, and a curse and without inha- bitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense and be- cause ye haue sinned against the Lord, & haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Wherefore Ieremiah saide vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Per and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, Wee will performe our vov- es that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to pouwe out drinke offerings to her: ye will performe your vov- es and doe the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the lande of Egypt, Beholde, I haue sowne by my great name, saith the Lord, that my name

25 The home of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magni-wallowe in his vomite, and he also shall 27 For I diddest not thou deride Israel, as though he had bin sold among thinees:

for when thou speakest of him, thou art
moued.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leane the ri-

the dove, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 We haue heard the pride of Moab
(he is exceeding pious) his stoutnes, and his arrogancie, and his pride, & the haun-tise of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations,
for they doe not right.

31 Therefore will I howle for Moab, & I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee,
as I wept for Iazer: thy plants are gone out the sea, they are come to the sea of Iazer: the destroyer is fall upon thy sonne
mer fruits, and vpon thy vintage.

33 And now, and gladnes is taken from the plentiful felde & from the land of Moab:
and I haue caused wome to saile from the wine presse: none shall treade with shov-ling: their shewing shall be no shewing.

noise: from Zoar vnto Gomorrah, the heifer of thy peere olde shall goe lowing: & Reade Isa. 16. 9.

to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sounde for Moab like a shawme, & mine heart shall 37 For every head shall be bald, and every eare plucked: vpon all the handes

toppes of Moab and in all the streets thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, he shall flee as an eagle, and shall spreade his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken & the strong holdes
are wonne, and the mightie men hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

cause he hath set by him ther, Isa. 16. 14.
seife against the Lord.

43 Feare, and pit & snare shall be vpon the inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 Hee that escapeth from the feare, shall the fall in the pit, and hee that getteth by out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon thee, even vpon Moab, the Moabites in peere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fledde, stood vnder the shad-dow of Heshbon, because of the force of the fire came out of Heshbon, and desoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the sebuous children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the latter dayes, saith the Lord. Thus saith the Lord of the indigement

Is wisdom no more in Teman? Is 8 For pe inhabitants of Dedan (they are turned backe, & haue consulted to dwell)

vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the grape gatherers come to thee, wouldest thou not leaue some grapes? If thou comest to dwel, thou wilt drinke
till thou haue ploughed.

10 For I haue discouraged Esau: I haue vniuered his secretes, and he shall not be able to hide himselfe: his streets are wasted;
and his brethren and his neighbours,
where shall hee be none to say,

11 Leane thy fatherles children, and I will sustaine them alme, & let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, they whose indurment was not to drinke of d cup, haue assuredly drunken, & art thou
he that shall escape free: thou shalt not go free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sware by my selfe, saith the Lord, that Bazarah shalbe waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse,
and all the cities thereof shall be perpetu-
all desolations.

14 I haue heard a rinnour from the Lord,
and an ambassadour is sent vnto thee
the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against her, and rise vp to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small a-

in the clefts of the rocke, and keepst the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as hye as the eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 Alas Edom shalbe desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonied, & shall bisse at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the court of Sodome, and of Gomorrha, and the places thereof neere as

bour, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell
there, neither shall the sonnes of men re-maine in it.

19 Beholde, he shall come by like a lyon
from the swelling of Jordan vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Is-

away from her, and who is a chosen man

36 And upon Elam I will bring the four winds from the four quarters of heaven, and will scatter the towards all these windes, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitives of Elam shall not come.

depart out of the land of the Caldeans, & be as the hee goats before the flocke. ¶ That is, as the hee goats, I will raise, and cause to come forward to fight against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they shall set their selues in aray against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vain.
10 And Caldea shall be a people: all that spoyle her, I shall be satisfied, saith the Lord.
11 Because ye were glad and reioiced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are grown fat, as a bullock in the grass, and as a horse in the stall,

CHAP. L.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliverance of Israel, which was in captivity.

¶ The word that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ministerie of Jeremiah the Prophet.
2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set by a standart, proclaim it and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Babel is confounded, & herodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.
3 For out of the North there cometh by a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein: they shall see, & depart, both man & beast.
4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.
5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherwarde, saying, Come, and let us cleave to the Lord in a perpetual covenant that shall not be forgotten.
6 ¶ For people hath bene as lost sheepe: their shepherdes have caused them to goe astray, and have turned them away to the mountaines: they have gone from mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.
7 All that sounde them, have denounced them, & their enemies sayde, We offende not, because they have sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, even the Lord the hope of their fathers.
8 ¶ Flee from the middest of Babel, and dwell among them in his Temple, & would have maintained them by his iustice against their enemies.

24 I have snared thee, and thou art taken,
O Babel, and thou shalt not awake: thou art founde, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord
God of hostes in the land of the Caldeas.

26 Come against her " from the utmost border: open her store houses: treade on her as on theaues, & destroy her utterly:
let nothing of her be left.

27 Destroy all her bullocks: let them go downe to the slaughter. Woe unto them, for their day is come, & the time of their visitation.

28 The voice of them that flye, and escape
out of the land of Babel to declare in Lion the vengeance of the Lord our God, &
the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call by the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bowe, bessege it round about: let none thereof escape: " recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, do unto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lord, even against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her pong men fall in the streets, and all her men of warre shall be destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Beholde, I come unto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, even the time that I will visit thee.

32 And the proude shall stumble and fall,
and none shall raipe him by: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall de-voure all round about him.

33 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Judah were oppressed together: & all that tooke their captives, held them, and would not let them go.

34 But their strong Redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, he shall mainteine their cause, that he may give rest to the land, & and disquiet the inhabitantes of Babel.

35 A sword is upon the Caldeans, saith the Lord, and upon the inhabitantes of Babel, and upon her princes, and upon her wise men.

36 A sword is upon the " soothsayers, and they shall dote: a sword is upon her strong men, and they shall be afraid.

37 A sword is upon their houses and upon their charrets, and upon all the multitude that are in the nudges of her, & they shall be like women: a sword is upon her treasures, and they shall be spoiled.

38 A " brought is upon her waters, and they shall be dried up: for it is the lande of graven images, and they dote upon their idols.

39 Therefore the " Nations with the Jims shall dwell there, and the " ostriches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation unto generation.

40 As God destroyed " Sodom and Go-mogah with the places thereof here as bout, saith the Lord: so shall no man dwell

there, neither shall the soune of man re-maine therein.

41 Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be rapied by from " the coastes
of the earth.

42 They shall holde the bowe and the buckler: they are cruell and vnnecessitall:
their voyce shall roare like the sea, & they shall ride upon horses, and be put in arap like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the res-port of them, and his hands are " waied for-ble: sojow came upon him, even sojow as
of a woman in trauaple.

44 Beholde, he " shall come by like a lyon
from swelling of Jordan unto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, &
I will make them to haste away from her:
and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her: for who is like me, and who will appoint me the time? & who is the " Shepherd that will stand before me?

45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that he hath denied against Babel, and his purpose that he hath conceived asgainst the lande of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shall baw them out:
surely he shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noise of the winning of Babel
the earth is mooued, and the cry is heard
among the nations.

12 Haue pce no regarde, all ye that passe by this way: behold, and see, if there be any solowme like vnto my sorowme, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath he sent fire into my bones, which preuaile against them: hee hath spied a nette for my feete, and turned me backe: hee hath made me desolate, and daily in his wrath.

14 The yoke of my transgressions is bounde vpon his hande: they are wrapsped, and come vp vpon my necke: hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am
I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troben vnder foote all my balliant men in the middes of me: hee hath called an assembly against me to destroy my pong men: the Lord hath troben the wine presse vpon the virgins the daughter of Iudah.

16 For these things I weepe: mine eye, even mine eye carketh out water, because
the comforter that should refresh my soule,
is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy preuailed.

17 Zion stretcheth out her handes, & there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iacob round as

dout him: Jerusalem is as a menstrus

ous woman in the middes of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his commandement: heare,
I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrowme: my virgins and my pong men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie while they sought their meate to refresh their soules.

20 Beholde, O Lord, howe I am troubled:
my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heavinesse: the sworde spoyleth abroade, as death doeth
at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced,
and they shall be like vnto me.

22 Let all their wickednesse come before thee: doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighes are many, & mine heart is heauie.

C H A P. II.

1 Howe hath the Lord darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath: and hath cast downe from heauen vnto
the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembered not his covenant in the day of his wrath.

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iacob, and not spared: hee hath thowen downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: hee hath polluted the kingdome and the princes therof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the 4 home of Israel: hee hath drawne backe his right hand from before the rener, and there was kindled in Iacob
like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 Hee hath bent his bowe like an enemy:
his right hand was stretched up as an ad-uersary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of his daughter of Zion: hee pouzed out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: hee hath destroyed Israel, and consumed all his palaces: hee hath destroyed his strong holdes,
and hath increased in the daughter of Judah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes
and Sabbathes to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the king and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: hee hath giuen into the hande of the enemy the lemne feastes
walkes of her palaces: they haue made a noise in the House of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy blaspheme him
the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee streched out a line: hee hath not withheld crying.

1 Am the man, that hath seene affliction in the rod of his indignation.

26 It is good both to trust, and to waite
for the saluation of the Lord.

27 It is good for a man that he beare the 28 He stretcheth alone, and keepeth silence,

29 He putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

30 He giueth his cheek to him that smiteth

31 For the Lord will not forsake for ever.

32 But though he send affliction, yet will
he haue compassion according to his mul-

40 Let vs searche and trie our wayes, and turne againe to the Lord.

41 Let vs lift vp our heartes with our hands vnto God in the heauens.

42 We haue sinned, & haue rebelled, therefore thou hast not spared.

43 Thou hast couered vs with wyath, and persecuted vs: thou hast shaine and not spared.

44 Thou hast couered thy selfe with a cloude,
that our prayer should not passe through.

45 Thou hast made vs as the offscouring

46 All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.

47 Feare, and a snare is come vpon vs

51 Mine eye byeaketh mine heart because of all the daughters of my citie.

52 Mine enemies chased me soye like a birde, without cause.

53 They haue shut vp my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

54 Waters flowed ouer mine head, then thought I, I am destroyed.

55 I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the lowe dungeon.

56 Thou hast heard my voyce: stoppe not thine eare from my sigh, and from my crie.

57 Thou byrtest nere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saidst, feare not.

58 O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my soule, and hast redeemed my life.

59 O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge

thou my cause.

60 Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuises against me.

61 Thou hast heard their rejoyce, O Lord,
and all their imaginations against me:

62 The lippes also of those that rose against me, and their whispering against me continually.

63 Beholde, they sitting downe and their rising vp, howe I am their song.

64 Give them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their hands.

65 Give them joyous of heart, euen thy curse to them.

66 Persecute with wyath & destroy them
from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

How is the gold become so dimme? a By the golde

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

a This prayer as I is thought, was made whe some of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the poorest, remayned, and some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit, it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

14 They haue wandred as blinde men<sup>h</sup> in the streets, and they were polluted with blood, so that they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cryed vnto them, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touch not: they soke they scab away, and wandred: they haue said among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

16 The<sup>a</sup> anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he wil no more regard them: they reuerenced not the face of the Iudges, nor had compassion of the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for<sup>h</sup> a nation that could not saue vs.

18 They hunt our steppes that we cannot goe in our streets: our ende is nere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our ende is come.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the egles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and laped waite for vs in the wilderness.

20 The<sup>a</sup> breach of our nostrils, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whome we saide, Under his shadowe we shalbe preserued aluie among the heathen.

21 Reioyce and be glad, * a daughter of Edom, that dwelleth in the lande of vs, the cuppe also shall passe thorough vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken<sup>a</sup> and vomit.

22 The punishment is accomplished, a daughter of Zion: he<sup>a</sup> will no more carpe thee away into captiuitie, but he will visite thine iniquitie, a daughter of Edom, he will discouer thy sinnes.

gers, our houses to the aliens.

3 We are fatherles, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue drunken our<sup>b</sup> water for morsel, and our wood is solde vnto vs.

5 Our neckes are vnder perfection: we are wearie, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our<sup>c</sup> hands to the Egyptians, and to Asshur, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their<sup>d</sup> iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would drinke vs out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the perill of our lines, because of the sweythe<sup>e</sup> of the wilderness.

10 Our kinne was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maidens in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vpon<sup>f</sup> their hand: the faces of the elders were not had in honour.

13 They toke the pong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder<sup>g</sup> the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the gate, and the pong men from their songs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: wee nolue vnto vs, that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our eyes are dimme,

18 Because of<sup>h</sup> mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for<sup>i</sup> euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore dost thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?

21 Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shalbe turned: reuue our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou hast utterly reiecte vs: thou art exceedingly angrie against vs.

Ezekiel.

THE ARGUMENT.

AFTER that Ichoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied shoulde not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophesies, declaring by new visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainly be destroyed, and the people grievously tormented by Gods plagues, in so much that they that remayned, should be brought into cruel bondage. And left the godly should despair in these great troubles, he assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appoynted, and also destroy their enemies which eyther afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the newe Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophesied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the first yere of Ichoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time whereas Ezekiel prophesied and in what place. 3 His heard. 5 The vision of the four beasts. 16 The vision of the throne.

I came to passe in the thirtieth pere in the fourth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth (as I was among the captives by the river Chebar) that the heavens were opened & I saw visions of God.

2 In the first day of the moneth (which was the first pere of king Joachims captivity)

3 The word of the Lord came unto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chebar, where the hand of the Lord was upon him.

4 And I looked, and beholde, a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenesse of amber.

5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likenesse of four beasts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man,

6 And every one had four faces, and every one had four wings.

7 And their feet were straight feet, and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calves foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasle.

8 And the handes of a man came out from under their wings in the four partes of them, and they four had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were joined by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they remained not, but every one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as the face of man: and they four had the face of a lion on the right side, and they four had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they four also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spied out above: two wings of every one were joined one to another, and two covered their bodies.

12 And every one went straight forward: then went whither their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coles of fire, & like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ran among the beasts, and the fire gave a glister, & out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ran, and returned like unto lightning.

15 Now as I beheld the beasts, beholde, a whele appeared upon the earth by the beasts, having four faces.

16 The facion of the wheles and their

wheles was like unto a chysolite: and the four had one forme, and their facion, and their wheles was as one whele in another whele.

17 When they went, they went upon their four sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also rings, and height, and were fearefull to beholde, and their rings were full of eyes, rounde about their four.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheles went with them: and when the beasts were lift up from the earth, the wheles were lift up.

20 Whither their spirit ledde them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheles leade them, and the wheles were lifted up besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted up from the earth, the wheles were lifted up besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament upon the heads of the beasts was wondrous, like unto chysol, layed over their heads above.

23 And under the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: every one had two, which covered them, and every one had two, which covered their bodies.

24 And when they went forth, I hearde the noise of their wings, like the noise of great waters, and as the voyce of the red the swiftnesse, and the voyce of speache, as the noise of an host: and when they stood, they let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was over their heads, when they stood, & had let downe their wings, had no power of

26 And about the firmament that was over their heads, was the facion of a throne like unto a saphir stone, and upon the similitude of the throne was by apperance, as the similitude of a man as home upon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of Amher, and as the similitude of fire rounde about within it to looke to, even from his loynes upward: and to looke to, even from his loynes downward, I saw as a likenesse of fire, and by brightnesse round about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light rounde about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell upon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake,

23 So when I had risen up, and gone forth into the field, behold, the<sup>a</sup> glorie of the Lord stood there, as the glorie which I saw by the river Euphrat, and I fell down upon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entered into me, which<sup>a</sup> set me by upon my face, and spake unto me, and said to me, Come, and I shew thee things which thou shalt see.

25 But thou, O sonne of man, behold, they shall put bandes upon thee, & shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not go out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue<sup>a</sup> cleane to the rocke of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumb, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shall have spoken unto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Hee that heareth, let him heare, and hee that seeth, let him see: for they are a rebellious house.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified.

9 The long continuance of the captivity of Israel.

16 An hunger is prophesied to come.

1 Thou also sonne of man, take thee a buicke, and lap it before thee, and poutrap upon it the citie, even Ierusalem.

2 And lap siege against it, and binde a foyle against it, and cast a moult against it: let the campe also against it, and lap engines of warre against it round about.

3 Moreover, take an<sup>a</sup> yon paine, and set it for a waile of yon betwene thee and the citie, and direct thy face towards it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lap siege against it: this shall be a signe unto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also upon thy left side, and lap the iniquitie of the<sup>a</sup> house of Israel upon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe upon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I have laced upon thee the peeces of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, even three hundred & nineteene dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe upon thy<sup>a</sup> right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I have appoynted thee a day for a peere, even a day for a peere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face towards the siege of Ierusalem, and thine<sup>a</sup> arme shall be uncovered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And behold, I will lay<sup>a</sup> bandes upon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also unto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and vult, and sicches, and put them in one

bricell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the daies that thou shalt sleepe upon thy side: even<sup>a</sup> three hundred and nineteene daies shalt thou eat thereof.

10 And the meate, whereof thou shalt eat, shall be by<sup>a</sup> right, even<sup>a</sup> twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eat thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by<sup>a</sup> measure, even the first part of an<sup>a</sup> hin: from<sup>a</sup> time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eat it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it<sup>a</sup> in the dung of a cow: meth out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eat their desired bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth up, even unto this houre, I have not eaten of a thing dead, or repine in piers, neither came there any<sup>a</sup> uncleane thing in my mouth.

15 Then hee said unto me, Lo, I have given thee bullockes = dung for mannes dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover hee said unto me, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake<sup>a</sup> the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread & water shall faile, they shall be scourged one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the heares, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

1 And thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbour rasor, and cause it<sup>a</sup> to passe by thine head, and upon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and denude the heare.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the middes of<sup>a</sup> the citie, when<sup>a</sup> daies of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last thirde part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a fewe in number, and binde them in thy<sup>a</sup> lappe.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the mids of the fire, and burne them in the fire: for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I have set it in the mids of the nations and countreys, that are round about her.

6 And he hath changed my<sup>a</sup> iudgements

that fled into Egypt and into other partes after the citie was taken. c Meaning, that a very fewe shoulde be left, which the Lorde would preserve among all these stormes, but not without troubles, and triall. d Out of that fire which thou kindest, shall a fire come, which shall signifie the destruction of Israel. e My worde and Lawe into idolatrie and superstitions.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations, that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reproche and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations, that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

16 When I shall send vpon them the <sup>h</sup> euill arrowes of famine, which shall be for their destruction, and to which I will sende to destroy you: and I will encrease the famine vpon you, and will breake your stiffe of bread.

17 So will I send vpon you famine, and euill beasts, and they shall spoele thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe thowow thee, & I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

He sheweth that Ierusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatry. 8 He prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

1 Aaine the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, Set thy face towardes the <sup>a</sup> mountaynes of Israel, and prophesie against them,

3 And say, Ye mountaynes of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the <sup>a</sup> mountaynes and to the <sup>a</sup> Hebrons hills, to the rivers & to the valleys, Beside the holde, I, euen I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your hie places: where the liues accustomed to commit their idolatries, turning them destruction.

4 And your altars shall be desolate, and your images of the <sup>b</sup> sunne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your stame men before your idols.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the <sup>c</sup> children of Israel before their <sup>c</sup> idols, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and the hie places shall be laide waste, so that your altars shall be made waste & desolate, and your idols shall be broken, and craie, and your images of the sunne shall be cut in pieces, and your lookes shall be abolished.

7 And the stame shall fall in the mddes of you, and yet shall knowe that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leaue a remnant, <sup>d</sup> that pon a Hebrons map haue some that shall escape by sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countrey.

9 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations, where they shall be in captiuitie, because I am grieved for their whoisly hearts, which haue departed from me, & for their eies, which haue gone a whoying after their idols, and they shall be dyspleased in themselves for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall knowe <sup>e</sup> I am the Lord, and that I haue not spard in vaine, that I would do this euil vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, <sup>f</sup> Smitte with thine hande, and stretch forth with thy foote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for the great destruction shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is nere, shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth & is beliedged, shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then <sup>g</sup> yet shall knowe, that I am the Lord, when their stame men shall be among their idols rounde about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the toppes of the mountaynes, & vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is vpon Israel, or the place where they did offer sacrifice hie vnto all their idols.

14 So will I stretch in mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste, and desolate <sup>h</sup> from the wilderness vnto Woblah in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The ends of all the lands of Israel shall suddenly come. 1 Meeter the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

Thyber and seller.

2 Also thou some of man, thus saith the Lorde God. An end is come unto the land of Israel: the end is come upon the four corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come upon thee, & I will send my wrath upon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wapes, & will lape
upon thee all thyne abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I have pitye: but I will lape thy wapes upon thee: & thine abomination shalbe in the muddes of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lorde.

5 Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde,
one euill, even one euill is come.

6 And ende is come, the ende is come, it is watched for thee: beholde, it is come.

7 The morning is come unto thee, that dwellest in the lande: the time is come,
the day of trouble is nere, and not the founding againe of the mountaines.

8 Nowe I will shortly powle out my wrath upon thee, and fulfill mine anger upon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wapes, & will lape upon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I have pitye, but I will lape upon thee according to thy wapes, and thine abominations shall be in the muddes of thee, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde that smiteth.

10 Beholde, the day, beholde, it is come:
the morning is gone forth, the rob stoy-
eth: pyde hath budde.

11 Crueltie is risen by into a rod of wickednes: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day dwalveth nere: let not the byer reioyce, nor let him that selleth, mourne: for the wjath
is upon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shall not returne to that which is sold, although they were per alme: for the vision was unto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doth any encourage himselfe in
the punishment of his life.

14 They have blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battelle: for my wjath is upon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: he that is in the felde, shall dye with the sword, & he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall devoure him.

16 But they that sit atwap from them, shal escape, and shall be in the mountaines,
like the doves of the balleges: all they shall mourne, euerp one for his iniquitie.

17 All hands shalbe weak, and all knees shall fall awap as water.

18 They shall also gride themselves with sackcloth, and feare shall coner them, and beath to repent for his euill life. Some reade, for none shalbe laughed in his iniquitie of his life: meanings, that they shoulde pore nothing by flattering themselves in euill. o The Israelites made a bragge, but their heartes failed them. 1/4, 13/7, 11/1, 6/24,

shame shalbe vpon all faces, and baldnesse
vpon their heades.

19 They shall cast their silver in the streets,
and their golde shalbe cast farre off: their silver and their golde can not deliuer
them in the day of the wjath of the Lorde:
they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 He had also set the beautie of his sanctuarie in maedie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the handes of the strangers to be spoyled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, & they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them,
and they shall pollute my secreete place:
for the dektopers shall enter into it, and defile it.

23 I spake a chaine: for the lande is full of the iudgement of blood, and the cine
is full of crueltie.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse
their houses: I will also make a pompe
of the mightie to cease, and their holie places shalbe defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shall
seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and runoure shalbe vpon runoure: then shall they seeke a vision of the prophete:
but the law shall perish from the priest,
and counsell from the Ancient.

27 The king shall mourne, and the prince shalbe clothed with desolation, and the handes of the people in the lande shall be troubled: I will doe vnto them according to their wapes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lorde.

- 5 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes vnto the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and beholde, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of digitation was in the entrie.
- 6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they doe? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuary: but yet returne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.
- 7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall.
- 8 Then saide he vnto mee, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a doore.
- 9 And he saide vnto mee, Go in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they doe here.
- 10 So I went in, and sawe, and beholde, there was euery similitude of creeping things and abominable beastes and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall rounde about.
- 11 And there stood before them seuerall men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the middes of them stood Jaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censour in his hande, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloude.
- 12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they saye, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.
- 13 Again he saide also vnto mee, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations than they doe.
- 14 And he caused me to enter into the entrie of the gate of the Lordes house, which was toward the North: and beholde, there sate women mourning for Tammuz.
- 15 Then saide he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations than these.
- 16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lordes house, a beholde, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betwene the porch and the altar were about fise and twentie men with their backs toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, & they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.
- 17 Then he saide vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Judah to commit these abominations which they doe here? for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to yfoute mee: and loe, they haue cast out & smite before their noses.
- 18 Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitié, and though they cry in mine eares with a loud voice, yet will I not heare them.

The defecation of the citie. 4 They that shall be saved, are marked. 8 Accomplish of the Prophecie for the destruction of the people.

1 He cried also with a loud voice in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie drawe neerer, and euery man hath a weapon in his hande to destroy it.

2 And beholde, six men came by the way of the hye gate, which is toward the North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writers pnhoyne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was and stood on the doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linen, which had the writers pnhoyne by his side.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Go through the middes of the citie, euen through the middes of Ierusalem, and set a mark vpon the foreheads of them that mourne and cry for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof.

5 And to the other he saide, that I might heare, Go ye after him through the citie, and scribe: let pour eye spare none, neyther haue pitié.

6 Destroy utterly the olde, and the young, and the maydes, and the children, and the women, but touch no man, vpon whom is the mark, and beginne at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the Ancients men, which were before the house.

7 And he said vnto them, Beside the house, and fill the courtes with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and strowed them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cried, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in pouring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then sayde he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Judah is exceeding great, so that the lande is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgements: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitié, but to lifecore I will recompense their waies vpon their heads.

11 And beholde, the man clothed with linen which had the pnhoyne by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

1 And as I looked, beholde, in the *firmament that was above the head of the Cherubims, there appeared upon them like unto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.
2 And he spake unto the man clothed with linen, and sayde, Goe in betweene the wheeles, even vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire fred betwene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer the cite. And he went in in my sight.
3 Nowe the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house wher the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.
4 Then the glory of the Lorde came vnto the Cherub, & stood ouer the doore of the house, & the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lordes glory.
5 And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vpper court, as the voice of the Almighty God, when hee speaketh.
6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, & from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in & stood beside the wheele.
7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into his hands of him that was clothed with linen: who tooke it and went out.
8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.
9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and an other wheele by an other Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a chrysolite stone.
10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.
11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, & they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, & they turned not as they went.
12 And their whole body, & their *rings, and their handes, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, even in the same foure wheeles.
13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheeles.
14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lyon, & the fourth the face of an eagle.
15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: *this is the beast that I sawe at the river Chebar.
16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vpon the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.
17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood:

and when they were lifted vp, they lifted them selues vp also: for the spirit of the Lorde was in them.
18 Then the glory of the Lorde departed from above the doore of the house, & stood vpon the Cherubims.
19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vpon the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were besides them: and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lords House at the East side, & the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.
20 *This is the beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the river Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims.
21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, & the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.
22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the river Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, & they went euery one straight forward.

23 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord
God, I will make this pmoner to cease, & they shall no more vse it as a pmoner that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shalbe no more prolonged: for in your dayes, & rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith

the Lord God.

26 Again the woide of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,

of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is

CHAP. XLIII.

The words of the Lord against false prophets,
which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

1 And the woide of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,

2 Some of man, prophetic against the prophets of Israel, that prophetic,
and say thou vnto them, that prophetic out of their owne hearts, Heare the woide of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne
spirite, and haue sene nothing.

4 O Israel, The prophets are like the fores
in the waste places.

5 We haue not risen vp in the gappes, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue sene vanitie, and lying diui-nation, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirm the word of their prophetic.

7 Haue ye not sene a vaine vision? & haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? & ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God,
Because ye haue spoken vanitie, & haue
sene lyes, therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God,

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lyes:
they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue de-ceiued my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one built up a wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered mortar,

11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shal come a great shewe, and I will send hailestones, which shal cause it to fall,
and a stormie winde shal breake it.

12 So, when the wall is fallen, shal it not be said vnto you, Where is the daubing
wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great shewe shal be in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to confound it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shal be discovered,
and it shall fall, and ye shalbe consumed
in the muddes thereof, and ye shall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon
the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered mortar, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more,
neither the daubers thereof.

ple for handiis of barley, and for pieces of bread to flap the soules of them that should not dye, and to giue life to the soules that should not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lyes?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to doe with your pil-lowes, wherewith ye hunt the soules
to make them to sle, & I will teare them
from your armes, and will let the soules goe, even the soules that ye hunt to make them to sle.

21 Your bailes also will I teare, & deliuer
my people out of your hand, & they shall depart be no more in your hands to be hunted,
and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefices of God towards Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnes. 46 How full is the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, into which the Iudaeites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

1 A Gaine, the woide of the Ioyde came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation & thy kinred is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy naturitie when thou wast a boye, thy navel was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to loose thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swaddled in cloutes.

5 None eye pitied thee to doe any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast boye.

6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie, as the bud of the fige, and thou hast increased and wasten great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine heare is grown, where as thou wast naked and bare.

8 Nowe when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I sowed my skirts ouer thee, and covered thy filthines: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entered into a covenante with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with hyacinth work, and shod thee with badgers skin: and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I covered thee with silke.

11 That thou shouldst be a chaste virgin to me, and that I should maintaine thee and enioy thee with all graces: f I washed away thy finnes. g I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earrings in thine eares, and a beautifull crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with golde and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and silke, and hyacinth work: thou diddest eate fine flour, and honie & oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou diddest growe by into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spered among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was praised throughout the world, which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Nowe thou diddest trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowne, and hast powdered out thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, & deckedst thine hie places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy same selfe made of my gold & of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, & diddest conuirt whyoedonie with them.

18 And tookest thy hyacinth garments, and coveredst them: & thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meat also, which I gaue thee, as fine flour, oyle, & honie, wherewith I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before thee for a sweet saviour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Whereouer thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whome thou hast boyne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to be deuoured: is this thy whyoedonie a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations & whyoedonies thou hast not remembered thy dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery street.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery corner of the wap, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy seete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whyoedonie.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast increased thy whyoedonie, to prouoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore I byd stretch out mine hande ouer thee, and will diminish thine ordinance, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistines, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whyoed also with the

the Egyptians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 Hows weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman?

<sup>q</sup> Or, that will beare rule.

31 In that thou buidest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, & makest thine hie place in euery streete, & hast not bene as an harlot: & that desperately a reward,

<sup>q</sup> Meaning, that some harlots counten small rewardes, but no louers gaue a reward to Israel, but they gaue to all others: signifying, y the idolaters bestow all their substance, which they receive of God for his glory, to serue their vile abominations.

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shalbe after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the voyde of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discovered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the isles of thine abominations and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them,

<sup>q</sup> Egyptians, Assyrians and Caldeans, whom thou tookst to be thy louers, shall come and destroy thee, Chap. 23. 9.

37 Behold, therefore I will gather all thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, & will discouer thy filthinesse vnto thee, & they may see all thy filthinesse.

38 And I will iudge thee after the manner of them that are harlots: and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

<sup>f</sup> I will iudge thee to death, as the adulterers & murderers.

39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine hie place, & shall breake downe thine hie places: they shall stripp thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring by a company against thee, & they shall stone thee with stones, & thrust thee through with their swordes.

41 And they shall burne by thine houses with fire, & erect iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, & thou shalt giue no reward any more.

<sup>q</sup> I will utterly destroy thee, & so my ielousie shall cease.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angrie.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, but hast promoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue brought thy wap vpon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that use yowndes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is others yowndes, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband & her children, & thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbandes and their children: your mother is an whore, & your father an whore.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, & her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, & thy younger sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, & her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I lue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither thine nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Beholde, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, & thine iniquitie of lechery, abundance of idleness was in her, and in fore they were her daughters: neither did the strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I shipped them away, as pleased me.

51 Neether hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, & hast refused thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast committed more abominable then they: which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, & beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodom, & her daughters, & with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them.

54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast them, & comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride,

57 Before thy wickednesse was discovered, as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Ham, and of all the daughters of Philistims round about her which despise thee on all sides,

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto
me, saying,
2 Some of man, put forth a parable and speake a pious unto the house of Israel.
3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great eagle with great wings, and long wings, and full of feathers, which had dis-coursed colours, came unto Lebanon, and toke the best banch of the cedar,
4 And brake of the top of his twigg,
and carried it into the land of marichants,
and set it in a circle of marichants.
5 He toke also of the seede of the land,
and planted it in a fruitfull ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.
6 And it budded up, and was like a spreding vine of lowe stature, whose banches turned toward it, and the rootes
thereof were under it: so it became a vine,
and it brought forth banches, and shot
forth buds.
7 There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and he holde, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spied forth her banches toward it, that the might water it by the trenches of her plantation.
8 It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth banches, and beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.
9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper: shall he not pull by the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to dye? all the leaues
of her bud shall wither without great possuer, or many people, to plucke it up by the rootes thereof.
10 The holde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dyed by, and with-ther? when the East winde shall touche

it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it groweth.

11 Whosoever, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,
12 Say now to this rebellious house,
know ye not, what these things meane?
tell them, Beholde, the king of Babel is come to Jerusalem, and hath taken the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel, 13 And hath taken one of the kings seed,
and made a covenant with him, and hath taken an othe of him: he hath also taken
the princes of the land, 14 That the kingdome might be in subser-vition, and not lift it selfe up, but keepe their covenant, and stand to it.
15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadors unto Egypt, that they might give him horses, and much prosper:
shall he prosper? shall he escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the covenant, and be delivered?
16 As I live, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the king, that had made him king, whose othe he despised, & whose covenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his migh-
tie hostes, and great multitude of prosper, maintaine him in the warre, when they have call up mountes, and builded rampes parts to destroy many persons.
18 For he hath despised the othe, and broken the covenant (per for, he had given = his m Because he had) because he hath done all these things,
he shall not escape.
19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, As I live, I will surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my covenant that he hath broken, upon his owne head.
20 And I will spread my nette upon him, and he shalbe taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into midgenit with him there for his trespasses
that he hath committed against me.
21 And all that are from him with all his host, shall fall by the sword, and they that remain, shall be scattered toward all the windes: and ye shall knowe that I the Lord have spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the toppe of this hie cedar, and will set it, and cut off the toppe of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it upon an hie mountaine and great.
23 Even in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth banches and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar,
and under it shall remaine all birds, and every fowle shall dwell in the shadow of the banches thereof.
24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord have brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the lowe tree: that I have died by the greene tree, and made the dry tree to flourish: I the Lord have spoken it, and have done it.

1 Thou also, take up a lamentation for the princes of Israel, and say, wherefore say I like a lioness among lions: the nourished her young ones among the lions whelpes, and she brought up one of her whelpes and it became a lion, and it learned to catch the prey, and it devoured men.

2 The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, & they brought him in chains unto the land of Egypt.

3 Now when he saw, that he had wasted & her hope was lost, she took another of her whelpes, and made him a lion.

4 Which went among the lions, and became a lion, & learned to catch the prey, and he devoured men.

5 And he knew their widows, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

6 Then the nations set against him on every side of the countreys, & laid their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

7 And they put him in prison & in chains, and brought him to the king of Babel, and they put him in holdes, that his voice should no more be heard upon the mountaine of Israel.

8 Then a mother is like a vine in the blood, planted by the waters: she brought forth fruit and branches by the abundant waters.

9 And she had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, & she appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

10 But she was plucked by in wrath: she was cast down to the ground, and the callowes were broken, & withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

11 And now she is planted in the wilderness in a dry and thirskie ground.

12 And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath denoued her fruit, so that she hath no strong rodde to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation and shall be for a lamentation.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Lord denieth that he will assure them when they pray, because of their unkindnes. 33 He promisseth that his people shall returne from captivitee. 46 By the forest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

2 Ad in the seventh pere in the first moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and late before me.

3 Then came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

4 Some of man, speake unto the Elders of Israel, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I live, I will not answer you.

5 Wik pudge them, sonne of man: wik

thou iudge them? canst thou stand the abominations of their fathers, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, &

6 I lift up mine hand unto the seeds of the house of Iacob, and made my self known unto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift up mine hand unto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

7 In the day that I lift up mine hand unto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had promised for them, flowing with milke and honey, which is pleasant among all lands,

8 Then said I unto them, Let every man cast away the abominations of his eyes, & desist not your selves with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

9 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to pour out mine indignation upon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the middes of the land of Egypt.

10 But I had respect to my name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my self known unto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

11 Now I carried them out of the land of Egypt, & brought them into the wilderness.

12 And I gave them my statutes, and declared my indignities unto them, which if a man doe, he shall live in them.

13 Wherever I gave them also my Sabbaths to be a signe betwixt me and them, that they might knowe that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

14 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall live in them, and my Sabbaths have they greatly polluted: then I thought to pour out mine indignation upon them in the wilderness to consume them.

15 But I had respect to my name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

16 Yet notwithstanding, I lift up my hand unto them in the wilderness that I would not bring them into the land, which I had given them, flowing with milke and honey, which was pleasant above all lands,

17 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but have polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

18 Nevertheless, mine eye spared them, & I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

19 But I said unto their children in the wilderness, Walk ye not in my ordinances and to accuse me of lacke of ability, or els that I had sought to meane to destroy them more commodiously. I true religion, which I had commanded them, and gave them selves to serve me according to their owne fantasies.

b This declareth great lenitie & patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemneth them.

c I sweare that I would be their God, which manner of othe was observed from all antiquitie, where they vied to lift up their hands towards the heaven, acknowledging God to be the author of truth, & the defender thereof, and also the iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be truth.

d God had forbidden them to make mentio of the idoles, Exod. 23.12. psal. 16.4.

e Which thing declareth wickednes of mans heart which iudge Gods service by their eyes and outwardis.

f God had ever this respect to his glory, that he would not have his Name evill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserved, in confidence whereof the godly ever praised, as Exod. 32.12. No. 14.13.

Rom. 1. 21, 24. m I cōdemned those things, and cōsumed them as abominable which they thought had bene excellent & to haue declar-ed most zeale, Luke 16. 15. for that which God required as most excellent, that gaue they to their idoles. n Not only in the wilderness, when I brought them out of E-gypt, but since I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt mans heart is to idola-trie, seeing by no admoniti-on he can be drawn backe. o Which signifi-eth an hie place, declaring they wanted the felues of their idolatry, and were not a-shamed thereof, though God had cōmanded them expressly, that they should haue no altar lifted vp on hie by staires, Exod. 20. 26.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them,

20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betwene me & you, & ye may know that I am y Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my sta-tutes, nor keepe my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: the y I thought to poure out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Nevertheless I withholde mine hand, & had respect to my Name that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift up mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreys,

24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my sta-tutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, & their eies were after their fathers idols.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes, that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

26 And I polluted them in their owne gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first opened the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the ende that they might knowe that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed mee, though they had before grievously trans-gressed against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to the, then they saw euery hie hill, & al the thick trees, & they offered there their sacrifices, & there they pre-sented their offering of p̄uocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and poured out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I saide vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called, Samah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the maner of your fa-thers? and commit ye not whoyedome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, and make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with al your idoles vnto this day: shal I answer you when I am asked, O house of Israel? No I liue, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you when I am asked.

32 Scrip̄er shall that be done that com-

meth into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, & as the families of the countreys, & serue wood, & stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath poured out,

34 And will bring you from the people, & will gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered, with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme and in my wrath poured out.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, & there will I pleade with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the lande of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith y Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

38 And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgress against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the lande of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Go ye, and serue euery one his idle, seeing that ye wil not obey me, & pollute mine holy Name no more w̄ your gifts & with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, even in the hie mountaine of Israel, sayth the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, & all in the land, serue me: there wil I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweete sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanc-tified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shal know, that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for y which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your wayes, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shal know, that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt wayes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 Wherefore, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Some of man, set thy face toward the way of Erman, and droppe thy word to-ward the South, & prophete toward the forest of the field of the South.

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the greene wood in thee, & all the drye wood: the continuall flame shal not be quenched, y Both strong and weak in ched, Ierusalem.

q He declared that man of na-ture is wholly o-beyeth vnto God and to his owne saluation, and therefore God calleth him to the right way, partly by chas-tising, but chiefly by his merite in forgiving his rebellious and wickednes. r I will bring you among strange nations, as into a wilder-nes, and there will visit you, and so call you, to repentance, and then bring the godly home againe, Isa. 43. f Signifying, that he will not burne the count with the chaf, but chuse out the wicked in punishment, when he will spare his. t This is spoken to the hy-pocrites.

u Your owne consciences shal comit you whether that you haue felt my mercies.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He threatneth the sword, and destruction to Jerusalem. 25 He sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah.
28 He is commaunded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threat-neth to destroy Nebuchad-neczar.

1 The word of the Lord came to me as gaine, saying,
2 Sonne of man, let thy face toward Jerusalem, and bypsee thy words toward the help places, and prophesie against the land of Israel.

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I come against thee, & will bryne my sword out of his sheath,
and cut off from thee both the righteous
and the wicked.

4 Saying then that I will cut off fro thee
both the righteous and wicked, therefore shal my sword go out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North.
5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord
haue dialyn my sword out of his sheath,
and it shall not returne any more.

6 Spourne therefore thou same of man, as in the paine of thy reimes, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore
mournest thou? then answer, Because of a byrte: for it cometh, & euery heart
shall melt, and all hands shall be weake,
and all minis shall faint, & all knes shall fall away as water: beholde, it cometh,
and shall be done, saith the Lord God.

8 Again, the word of the Lord came vnto
me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sworde, a sworde botly sharpe, and fourbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a soye slaughte-ter, and it is fourbished that it may glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it containe-th the rod of my sonne, & all other trees.

11 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

12 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

13 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

14 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

15 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

16 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

17 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

18 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

19 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

20 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

21 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

22 And he hath given it to be fourbished,
that he may handle it: this sworde is
sharpe, & is fourbished, that he may giue
it into the hand of the slayer.

Wh it is made bright, and it is dyssed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee alone: goe to the right hand,
or get thy selfe to the left hand, whither soeuer thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, and will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

18 The word of the Lord came vnto me
again, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee
two wapens, that the sword of the king
purpose to goe against the Ammonites,
but douting in the way, which enterprise to vncome to Kabbath of the Ammonites, and dertake the first, he
to Iudah in Jerusalem the strong cite.
21 And a king of Iabel stood at the gates, ring of the wap, at the head of the two wapens, consulting by diuination, & made gainst Iudah.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Jerusalem to appoint captaines, and
open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift by their voyce with shouting, to lay
engines of warre against the gates, to go
against Ammonites, or them
his arrowes bright: he consulted with
the idoles, and looked in the liuer.

23 He that is right hand was the diuination
for Jerusalem to appoint captaines, and
open their mouth in the slaughter, and to
lift by their voyce with shouting, to lay
engines of warre against the gates, to go
against Ammonites, or them
his arrowes bright: he consulted with
the idoles, and looked in the liuer.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God,
Because ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembred, in discovering your rebels
lion, that in all your wayes your sinnes might appere: because, I say, that ye are lesse than that with the hand.

25 And thou prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come, when in-iquitie shall haue an ende.

26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the rebellion of Zedekiah: this shalbe no more the same:
I will exalt the humble, and will abase
him that is high.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouer-turne it, and it shalbe no more until he come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 And thou, sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is dialyn forth, and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they be banitie vnto thee,

and prophesied a spe unto the to king the upon the neckes of the wicked that are blame, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall have an ende.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, even in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will poure out mine indignation upon thee, and will blowe against thee in the fire of my wrath, and deliuer thee into the hands of beastly men, and skillfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to be deuoured: thy blood shall be in the mids of the lande, and thou shalt be no more remembred: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reprimand for cruelty. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false Prophets and Priests, and of their unsatiable contentions. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickednes of the people.

I Meane, the woide of the Loyde came vnto me, saying,

2 Nowe thou sonne of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody cite? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say. Thus saith the Loyde God, The cite sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her time may come, and make her idoles against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, & thou hast caused thy daies to be as water here, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a repproche to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be nere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which are vile in name and soie in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euerp one in thee was readie to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the middes of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vered the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carpe tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vered her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euerp one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euerp one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euerp man forced his owne sister, euen his sisters daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the encrease, & thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore I haue smitten mine

handes vpon thy countenances, that thou hast bled, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine handes be strong, in the daies that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Loyde haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt knowe, that I am the Lord.

17 And the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Some of man, The house of Israel vnto me as dyssell: all they are blasphemous, and time, and leaue in the middes of the foynace: they are euen the dyssell of fluer.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Loyde God, Because ye are all as dyssell, behold, therefore I will gather pou in the middes of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather fluer and hyssop, and pion, and leaue, and time vnto the middes of the foynace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather pou in mine anger, and in my wrath, and will put pou there, and melt pou.

21 I will gather pou, I say, and blowe the fire of my wrath vpon pou, and pou shall be melted in the middes thereof.

22 As fluer is melted in the middes of the foynace, so shall ye be melted in the middes thereof, & ye shall knowe, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon pou.

23 And the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Some of man, say vnto her, Thou art which the land the land, that is vnchaste, and not rapacious vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie of her Prophets in the middes thereof like a roaring lyon, rauenning the praye: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the middes thereof.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Lawe, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue neglected my put no difference betwene the holy and service.

27 They haue profaned, neither discerned betwene the vnchaste, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I should haue an prophane among them.

28 Her princes in the middes thereof are like wolues, rauenning the praye to shed blood, & to destroy soules for their owne countenances here.

29 And her Prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, setting vanities, & diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

30 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling & robbing, & haue silling vice. They haue vered the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

31 And I sought for a man among them, that should make by the hedge, & stand my plagues, a Art thou ready to execute thy charge, which I commit vnto thee against Ierusalem, that murdereth the Prophets, and them that are godly? b That is, the time of her destruction. c To her owne vndoing.

d Whose very name all men hate.

e He meaneth hereby, there was no kinde of wickednesse, which was not committed in Ierusalem, and therefore the plagues of God should speedily come vpon her. Leuit. 24. 11, 18. Ier. 5. 2.

f In token of my wrath and vengeance.

i Meaning hereby, that the godly should be destroyed.

Meaning hereby, that the godly should be destroyed.

Meaning hereby, that the godly should be destroyed.

Meaning hereby, that the godly should be destroyed.

in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.
Therefore haue I poured out mine indignation upon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne waies haue I repayed vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne waies haue I rendyed vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XXIII.

Of the idolatry of Samaria and Jerusalem, under the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

I The word of the Lord came againe unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, there were two women, the daughters of one another.
3 And they committed fornication <sup>b</sup> in Egypt, they committed fornication in their pouch: there were their beasts yoked,
and there they bjuiled the teates of their virginite.

4 And the names of them were Holab, the elder, and Holibah her sister: and they were mine, & they bare sonnes & daughters: thus were their names. Samarita is Holab, and Jerusalem Holibah.

5 And Nholah played the harlot "when she was mine, and shee was set on fire with her loners, to wit, with the Egyptians
her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blew like,
both capitaines and yinces: they were all pleasant young men, and holsemen riding
upon horses.

7 Thus she committed her whoresome with them, even with all them that were the chosen men of Astar, and with all on whom she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Another left h<sup>er</sup> fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they lay with her, and they abused the breasts of her virginity, & powdered their whores beene upon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into þ hands of her loners, euen into the hands of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her finnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and she had an euill name among women: for they had recruited iudgement vpon her.

II And when her sister Abolihah sawe this, shee married her selfe with inordinate loue, moye then shee, and with her fornications moye then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers lutes, hoysmen risding vpon hoyses: they were all pleasant
young men.

13 Then I sawe that shee was defiled, and that they were both after one sort.

14 And that she increased her fornications:
for when the law men & painted upon the wal, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion.

15 And girded with girdles upon their loynes, and with dyed attire upon their breasts (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea the land of their nativité)

16 Whene, I say, as she sawe them, she bowed vpon them, and sent meſsengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Howe when the Babylonians came to her into the bedde of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and shee was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredome more,
and called to remembrance the days of her youth, wherein she had played the har-
lot in the land of Egypt.

20 For he doth upon their servants, whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teares were humbled by the Egyptians: therefore the pappes of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Holibaſh, thus ſaſeth the Lord God, Behold, I will raiſe vp thy lo-uers againſt thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I wil bring them againſt
thee on every ſide,

23 To wit, the Sablonians, and all the Caldeans, the Beke, and Schoah, and Roa, and h These were all the Saplions with them: they were all the names of pleasant young men, captaines, and young certaine Princes: all they were valiant and renowned, & captaines vnder riding vpon horses.

24. Euen these shall come against thee with chariots, wagons, and wheels, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmes round about: and "I will leaue þ þu with mennt unto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

23 And I will lay mine indignation upon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose & thine eares, i They shall destroy thy princes and the remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall carry away thy women and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be denuded by the fire. and priests with the rest of thy people.

26 They shall also strippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make the wickedness to cease from thee, and the fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde,
I will deliver thee into the hand of them, k All thy treawhom thou hatest: even into the hands of furies and riches
them fro whom thine heart is departed, which thou hast

29 And thy shall handle thee desperately, pout by labour, and shall take away all thy labour, & shall All the world leave thee naked & bare, and the shame of shall see thy thy fornications shall be discovered, both shameful for the tuckers and the whole house. king of God to

30 I wil do these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoying after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sinner: therefore will I giue her <sup>me</sup> cuppe into thee, and that thine hand.

32 Thus veritic.

m Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great, that they should cause the to lose their senses, and reason.

h That is, to be sacrifices to their idoles, reade Chap. 16. 10.

g They sent in to other countreyes, to have such as should teach the service of their idoles.

q He meaneth the altar, that was prepared for the idoles.

r Which should teach the manner of worshipping their gods.

f That is, whereby death, reade Chap. 16. 18.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of the sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorn and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with drunkenness and sorrow, even with the cuppe of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of the sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt even drinke it, and tusing it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes and thy whores dome.

36 ¶ The Lord God saide moreover vnto me, Some of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their handes, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their tribute.

38 Wherefore thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sababaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the middes of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from farre, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whome thou didst walke thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And satest upon a coffin bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the companie great were brought me of Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beaurifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I sayd vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, How shall shee and her fornications come to an ende.

44 And they went in vnto her as they goe to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them, after the manner of harlots, & after the manner of murderers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, & to the spoile.

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, and cutte them with their swordes: they shall slay their sonnes, and their daughters, and burne by their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the lande, that all women may be taught not to doe after your wickednesse. And they shall lape pour wickednesse vpon pou, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

¶ He sheweth the defecation of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiel wife being dead.

1 I Came in the ninth yere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the king of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, We prepare a pot, prepare it, and also put we water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, euery good piece, as the thigh & the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best heepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, & make it boyle well, and seethe the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Who to the bloody cite, euen to the porte, whose skynne is therein, and whose skynne is not gone out of it: bring it out s piece by piece: let no lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: shee set it vpon an high rocke, and put red it not vpon the grounde to cover it with dust.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it shoulde not be covered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Who to the bloody cite, for I will make the burning great.

10 Ye ape on much wood: kindle the fire, continue the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it empty vpon the coles thereof, of that the drafte of it may be hotte, and map burne, and that the filthinesse of it map be molten in it, and that the skynne of it may be consumed.

12 Shee hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skynne went not out of her: therefore her skynne shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse and wickednesse: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I shewe mercy: according to the wayes, and according to the workes shall they iudge the Lord God.

¶ Or he saith. I The cite hath scattered her selfe in vayne, I laboured by sending my Prophets to cal the to repentance, but thou wouldst not.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

16 Some of man, behold, I take away from thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weep, neither shall thy teares raine downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the type of thine head upon thee, and put on thy shoes upon thy feet, and couer not thy lippes, and eate & not the bread of men.

18 So I spake unto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife dyed: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people said unto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these thinges meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

21 Speake unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, euen the pyde of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, & your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And ye shall do as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your type shall be upon your heads, and your shoes upon your feet: ye shall not mourne nor weep, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, & mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Esaiel is unto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, so shall ye do: when this cometh, ye shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, when some of man, shall it not be in the day, when I take from them their power, the top of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, & the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters,

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shall come unto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more dumme, and thou shalt be a signe unto them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The words of the Lord against Ammon, which reuered at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistines.

1 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, & propheticke against them,

3 And sape vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God. Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest,

4 Ho, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the lande of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Judah, when they went into captiuitie,

5 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke.

And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a shepheard, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped thy handes, and staued with the feet, and reioiced in heart with all thy despite against the lande of Israel,

Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hande vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destitute out of the countreys, and I will destitute thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Ispah and Seir doe sape, Beholde, the house of Judah is like vnto all the heathen,

Therefore, beholde, I will open the side of Ispah, euen of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth Ieshunorah, Baal menon, and Mariathaim.

I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, & will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the nations,

And I will execute iudgements vpon Ispah, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euil by taking vengeance vpon the house of Judah, & hath committed great offence, and reneged him selfe vpon them,

Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destitute man and beast out of it, & I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, & they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistines haue executed vengeance, and reneged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destitute it for the olde hatred,

Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Which were Beholde, I will stretch out mine hande certaine garisons vpon the Philistines, and I will cut off of Philistines, the Cherethims, and destitute the remnant whereby they of the sea coast.

And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation of the Cherethims, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord God, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

AND in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
2 Some of man, because that Tyrus hath saped agaynst Jerusalem, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished.
3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God,
Beholde, I come agaynst thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring by many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.
4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the toppes of a rocke.
5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nettes
in the middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a people to the nations.
6 And her daughters which are in the felde, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.
7 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde,
I will bring vpon Tyrus Achubad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of kings from the North, with horses and with charrets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and
much people.
8 He shall lay with the sword thy daughters in the felde, and he shall make a toyre against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lyfte vp the buckler agaynst
thee.
9 He shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.
10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee,
for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the whelles, and of the charrets, when he shall enter into thy gates as into the citie of a citie that is broken downe.
11 With the houses of his horses shall he tread downe all thy streets: he shall lay thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.
12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroye
thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast
thy stones and thy timber and thy dust
into the mids of the water.
13 Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to cease, and the sounde of thyne
harpes shall be no more heard.
14 I will lay thee like the toppes of a rocke:
thou shalt be for a spreading of nettes:
thou shalt be purple no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord
God.
15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyus, Shall not the ples tremble at the sounde
of thy fall? & at the cry of the wounded, when they shall be slaine & murdered in
the middes of thee?
16 Then all the princes of the sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall laye awaie their robes, and put off their bypoyred garments, and shall clothe themselves with asoniment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonied at every moument, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the sea men, the renowned cite which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all that haunt therein!
18 How shall the ples bee astonied in the day of thy fall: yea, the ples that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.
19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate cite, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I will bring the deepe vpon thee, and

The Prophet bewaileth the desolation of Tyrus, shewof in time past.

the people for many ples, Thus saith the Lord God, O Tyus, thou hast said, I am of perfite beautie.
4 Thy borders are in the mids of the sea,
and thy builders haue made thee of per-
fite beautie.
5 They haue made all thy ship boardes of firs trees of Shemar: they haue brought cedars from Lebanon, to make masts for
thee.
6 Of the okes of Bathan haue they made thyne oies: the companie of the Assyrians haue made thy bankes of purple,
brought out of the ples of Chittim.
7 Fine linen with bypoyred woyle, brought from Egypt, was spread ouer thee to bee thy saple, blew like and purple, brought from the ples of Chittim, was thy couering.
8 The inhabitants of Edon, and Kriad men that were in thee, they were thy pilotes.

11 The men of Arvad with thine armie were upon thy walles rounde about, and the Gammadiims were in thy towres: they hanged their shields vpon thy wals round about: they haue made thy beautie perit.

12 They of Tarshish were thy marchantes for the multitude of all riches, for siluer, piron, tinne, and lead, which they brought to thy saies.

13 They of Iauan, Tubal and Meshech were thy marchantes, & concerning the lines of men, and they brought vessels of brass for thy marchandise.

14 They of the house of Togarmah brought to thy saies, horses and horsemen, and mules.

15 The men of Dedan were thy marchantes: and the marchandise of many places were in thine hardes: they brought thee for a present, horses, teeth, and peacocks.

16 They of Aram were thy marchantes for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy saies with "emeraudes, purple, and biopdyed woike, and" fine linnen, and corall, and pearly.

17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy marchantes: they brought for thy marchandise wheat of Ephraim, and Manasse, and hony and ople, and balsam.

18 They of Damascus were thy marchantes in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon and white wool.

19 They of Dan also and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy saies: piron woike, cassia, and calamus were among thy marchandise.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Redar, occupied with thee, in lambes, & rammes and goates: in these were they thy marchantes.

22 The marchantes of Sheba, and Raamah were thy marchantes: they occupied in thy saies with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and golde.

23 They of Haran and Canneh & Eden, the marchantes of Sheba, Meshur and Chilmad were thy marchantes.

24 These were thy marchantes in all sortes of things, in rapiment of biewe like, and of biopdyed woike, and in coffers for thy riche apparell, which were bounde with cordes: chapines also were among thy marchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy marchandise, and thou wast replewied & made very glorious in the muddes of the sea.

26 Thy robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the East winde hath broken thee in the muddes of the sea.

27 Thy riches & thy saies, thy marchandise, thy mariners & pilotes, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy marchandise & all thy men of warre that are in thee, and all thy multitude which is in the muddes of thee, shall fall in the muddes of the sea in the day of thy ruine.

28 The "inburbs shall shake at the found of the cry of thy pilotes.

29 And all that handle the oie, the mariners and all the pilotes of the sea shall come downe from their shippes and shall stand vpon the lande.

30 And shall cause their voyce, to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust vpon their heades, and wailow themselves in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their heare for thee and gird thee with a sackcloth, & they shall weep for thee with sorowe of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, saying, What is like Tyrrus, so destroyed in the muddes of the sea!

33 When thy wares went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people and thou didest enriche the Kinges of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy marchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the deptes of the waters, thy marchandise and all thy multitude, which was in the muddes of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the ples shall be astonished at thee, and all their Kinges shall be sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The marchantes among the people shall hiss at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt be any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The words of God against the King of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The words of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promyseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

1 The woide of the Loyde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrrus, Thus sayeth the Loyde God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast sayde, "I am a god, I sit in the seate of God in the muddes of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, & though thou didest thinke in thine heart, & thou wast equal with God,

3 Beholde, thou art wiser then Daniel: there is no secret, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Loyd God, Because thou didest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,

7 Beholde, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall bite their swordes against:

m That is, the cities nere about thee, as was Zidon, Arvad and others.

n Whereby is meant a long time for it was prophesied to be destroyed but fewe hundred yeeres, as Isa. 23. 15.

a I am safe that none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heauen.

against the beantie of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightnes.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the mides of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him, that slayeth thee, I am a god: but thou shalt bee a man, and no God, in the handes of him that slapeth thee.

e Like the rest 10 Thou shalt die the death of the <sup>e</sup> vn-cificed by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God.
which are Gods 11 I will conuer the joyde of the Lord came

12 Some of man, take by a lamentation
vpon the king of Tyus, and saye vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Thou sealest by the sunne, and art full of wis-dome and perfect in beantie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: ruer precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze, and the <sup>e</sup> diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, & the iasper,
the saphir, emeraude, and the carbuncle
and golde: the workmanship of thy tun-bels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee <sup>e</sup> in honour:
thou wast vpon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mides of the <sup>e</sup> stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast <sup>e</sup> created, till in-iquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy marchandise,
they haue filled the mides of thee with cruelty, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, & couering Cherub, from the mids
of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beantie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnes: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee
before kings that they may beholde thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy <sup>e</sup> sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, & by <sup>e</sup> in-iquitie of thy marchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids
of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth,
in the sight of all them that beholde thee.

19 All they that knowe thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt bee a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 I againe, the voyde of the Lord came
vnto me, sayng,

21 Some of man, set thy face against Xi-
don, and prophete against it,

22 And say, Thus sayeth the Lord God,
Beholde, I come against thee, O Xidon,
& I will be glorified in <sup>e</sup> mides of thee:
and they shall know that I am the Lord,
when I shall haue executed iudgements
in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets, & <sup>e</sup> slaine shall fall in the mids of her: <sup>e</sup> the cacemic shall come against her with the sword on euery side,

and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a picking thyme vnto the house of Israel, nor any griuous thyme of all that are rounde about them, and despised them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus sayeth the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel
from the people where they are scattered, and shall be <sup>e</sup> sanctified in them in <sup>e</sup> sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the lande, that I haue giuen to my seruants Israhel.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, & plant vineyards: they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all rounde about them that despise them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord their God.

C H A P. XXIX.

His propheticke against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promitteth that he will restore Egypt after fourty years. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad-nazzar for the labour, which he tooke against Tyus.

1 I In the tenth pere, and in the tenth mo-neth, in the twelfth day of the moneth,
the voyde of the Lord came vnto me,

saying,
2 Some of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophete against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great <sup>e</sup> dragon, that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath said, The river is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put <sup>e</sup> hookes in thy chawes, and I will cause the fische of the riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will bane thee out of the mides of thy riuers, and all the fische of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wilderness,
both thee and all the fische of thy riuers:
thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not bee brought together, nor gasthered: for I haue giuen thee for meate
to the beasts of the field, and to the fowles
of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall knowe that I am the Lord, because they haue bene a staffe of <sup>e</sup> reeds to the house
of Israel.

7 When they tooke hold of thee with their hande, thou didest breake, & rent all their shoulder: and when they leane vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to <sup>e</sup> stande vpright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Be-holde, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate,
and waste, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord: because he hath said, The river is mine, and I haue made it,

and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt utter waste and desolate

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, * At the ende of fourtie yeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people, where they were scattered,

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathmos, into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a small kingdome.

17 In the seuen and twentieth yere also in the first month, & in the first daye of the month came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Some of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his armie to serue a great service against Egypt: euery head was made bald, and euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his armie for Egypt, for the service that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoyle her spoyle, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages for his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, he serued against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that daye will I cause the home of the house of Israel to growe, and I will giue them an open mouth in the muddes of them, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

1 The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, prophetic, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Houle and cry, Wo be vnto this day.

3 For the day is nere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day, & it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the slayne shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundations shall be broken downe.

5 Ethiopia, and Ithut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, & the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pyre of her power shall come downe: from the towne of Seueneth shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

7 And they shall be desolate in the muddes of the countries that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the muddes of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, & when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that daye shall there messengers go forth from me in shippes, to make the carelesse Moyses ascribe, and feare shall come vpon them, as in the day of Egypt: for so, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hande of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords against Egypt, and fill the land with the slayne.

12 And I will make the riners drye, and sell the land into the handes of the wicked, & I will make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the handes of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy idols, & I will cause their idols to cease out of Egypt, and there shall be no prince of the lande of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I will make Pathmos desolate, and will set fire in Acan, and I will execute iudgement in Acan.

15 And I will powre my wrath vpon Sin, which is the strength of Egypt: and I will destroy the multitude of Acan.

16 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great joy, & Acan shall be destroyed, and Acan shall haue joyes daye.

17 The pong men of Auen, and of this desert shall fall by the sword: and these cities shall go into captiuitie.

18 At Tehaphnehes the daye shall cease streine his light, when I shall breake there the barres of Egypt: & when the poume of her power shall cease in her, the cloude shall couer her, and her daughters shall go into captiuitie.

19 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

20 And in the eleventh yere, in the first month, and in the seventh day of the month, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Some of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and so, it shall not be bound up to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to binde it, and so make it strong, to holde the sword.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, and will breake his arme, that

2 A comparison of the prosperity of Pharaoh with the prosperity of the Assyrians. 10 He prophesieth a like destruction to them both.

a Of Zedekiahs
reigne, or of Je-coniahs captivity.

AND in the eleventh were, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the mo-neth, the word of the Lord came unto
me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake unto Pharaoh
King of Egypt, and to his multitude,
Whom art thou <sup>b</sup> like in thy greatness?

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the king of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians overcame.

3 Behold, Ashur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp verie high, and his toppes was among the thicke boughes.

c Many other nations were under their domination.

4 The waters nourished him, and the dæye exalted him on his high with her rivers running round about his plantations, and sent out her little rivers unto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted above
all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the fowles of the heauen made their nestes in his boughes, & vnder his boughes did all the beastes of the feilde bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadowe dwelt all mightie nations.

4- Signifying,
that there was no greater power in the worlde
then his was.

7 Thus was he faire in his greatnes, and in the length of his branches: for his roote
was nere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden <sup>d</sup> of God
could not hide him: no firre tree was like his bulches, and the chestnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like unto him in his beautie.

<sup>o</sup>Or, thou wast lift
up.
e. That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar,
who afterward
was  $\frac{1}{2}$  monarche
and onley ruler
of the world.

9 I made him faire by ſimilitude of his brāches: ſo that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

IO Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because<sup>1</sup> he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thick boughes,
and his heart is lift vp in his height,

II. I have therefore delivered him into the handes of the mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I have cast

him away for his wickedness.

12 And the strangers have destroyed him,
even the terrible nations, and they have left him upon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his banners are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the rivers
of the land, and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and have forsaken him.

13. Upon his ruine ſhal all the foules of the heauen remayne, and all the beaſts of the fielde ſhalbe vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shalbe exalted by their height, neither shal hoote by their top among the thicke
boughes, neither shall their leaues stande
by in their height, which drinke to much water: for they are all deliuered into death in the nether partes of the earth in the mids of the children of men among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, & I : covered the deepe for him, & I did reſtraine the floods thereof, and the great waters were ſtayed : I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him down to hel, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, & the best of Lebanon : even all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the nether partes of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hel with him
vnto them that be slaine with the sword,
and his arme, and they that dwelt vnder
his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom I art thou like like in glorie and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden: yet thou shalt be cut downe with the trees of Eden into the nether partes
of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the mids
of the <sup>k</sup> vncircumcised, with them that be slayne by the sword: this is Pharaoh
and all his multitude, sayeth the Lord
God.

C H AP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewail Pharaoh king of Egypt. 13 He prophesieth that destruction shall come unto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

And in the twelfth peere in the twelfth moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the woide of the lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, take by a lamentation
for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a <sup>b</sup> Lyon of the nations, and art as a <sup>b</sup> dragon in the sea:
thou caldest out thy riuers <sup>c</sup> and trou-bledest the waters with thy fete, & flane
dest in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, *I will therefore spread my net over thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come up into my net.

4 Then will I leave thee upon the land, and I will call thee upon the open field, and I will cause all the fowles of the heaven to remaine upon thee, and I will fill

all the beastes of the felde with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh upon the moun-taines, and fill the valleys with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land
wherewith thou swimmest, even to the moun-taines, and the rivers shalbe full of thee.

7 And when I shal put thee out, I will couer the heauen, & make the starres thereof darke: * I will couer the sunne with a cloud, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lightes of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkness vpon
thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the heartes of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction
among the nations, & vpon the coun-treis which thou hast not known.

10 Pea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, & they shall be affraid at every moment: every man for his owne life in day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God: The sword of the king of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 Vpon the swordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destruy
the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I will destruy also all the beastes thereof from the great waterfides, neither shall
the foete of man trouble them any more,
nor the howes of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deepe,
and cause their rivers to runne like oyle,
saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the lande of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with al that is therein, shalbe layde waste: when I shall smite all them, which dwell therein, then shall they know, that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shal lament her: the daughters of the nations shal lament her: they shal lament
for Egypt, and for al her multitude, saith
the Lord God.

17 I In the twelfth yeere also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the woide
of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Some of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them downe, even them & the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether partes of the earth,
with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whome dost thou passe in beautie?
goe downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the middes of them
that are slaine by the sword: she is deli-uered to the sword: byas her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The most mightie & strong shall speake to a hun out of the middes of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe
and sleepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by the sword.

22 Asshur is there and all his companie:

their graues are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, & his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There is * Elam and all his multitude, the round about his graue: all they are slaine
and fallen by the sword, which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether partes of the earth, which caused themselves to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they boyned their shame

with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the lande of the liuing, yet haue they boyned their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are layde in the mids of them,
that be slaine.

26 There is * Getheth, Tubal, and all their multitude, their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine and fallen by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not be with the valiant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen,
which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue layde their swordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall be vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the liuing.

28 Pea, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which in their strength are layde
by them that were slaine by the sword:
they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised,
and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be all the princes of the Assyrians, which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, & the vncircumcised sleepe with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be comforted ouer al his multitude: Pharaoh, and al his armie shalbe slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused my feare to be in the land of the liuing: and he shalbe layde
in the middes of the vncircumcised with them, that are slaine by the sword, even Pharaoh and al his multitude, saith the Lord God.

b Signifying, that the wicked shall not escape punishment though f watchman be negligent: but if the watchman blow the trumpet, and then he wil not obey, he shal deserve double punishment, Chap. 3. 17.

c Which teacheth that he that receiueth not his charge at the Lordes mouth, is a spie, and not a true watchman.

d The watchman must answer for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

e Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their finnes, despair of his mercies and murmure.

f Reade Chap. 18. 23.

g Reade of this righteousness, Chap. 18. 22, 24.

h Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocrisie, which pretend to forsake wickednes, and yet declare not themselves such by their fruits, that is, in obeying Gods commandments & by godly life.

I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, and make him their watchman, If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

Then he that heareth the sounde of the trumpet, and wil not be warned, if the sword come, & take him away, his blood shalbe vpon his owne head.

For he heard the sounde of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shalbe vpon him: but he that receiveth warning, shall saue his life.

But if a watchman see the sword come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people bee not warned: if the sword come, & take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood wil I require at a watchmans hand.

So thou, o sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood wil I require at thine hand.

Nevertheless, if thou warn the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne fro his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou shalt deliuer the soule.

Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, Four transgressions and our finnes be vpon vs, & we are condemned because of them, how should we then liue?

Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way, and liue: turne thou from your euill wayes, for why wil ye dye, O ye house of Israel?

Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The righteousnes of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednes of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neyther shall the righteous liue for his righteousnes in the day that he sinneth.

When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousness, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousness shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

Again when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt dye the death, if he turne from his sinne, & doe that which is lawfull and right,

To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that hee had robbed, and walke in statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not dye.

None of his finnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him: because he hath done that, which is lawfull, and right, he shall surely liue.

Per the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vniuersall.

When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen dye thereby.

But if the wicked returne from his wickednes, and doe that which is lawfull, and right, he shall liue thereby.

Per ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euerie one after his wayes.

Also in the twelfth parte of our captivity, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, came vnto me, & saide, The citie is smitten.

Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, O Babylon was but one, & we were many: we possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the lande shall be giuen vs in possession.

Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Ye ate with the blood, & Gods promise lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and then the same blood should be then possessed the land: of God, when they be leane vpon your sword: ye worke abomination, and ye defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possess the land?

Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, I will giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the foyres, and in the causes, shall dye of the pestilence, and the pompe of her strength shall craze: and the mountaynes of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe through.

Then shall they knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue laid the land desolate, & waste, & because of all their abominations, that they haue committed.

Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by their walls, and in the doores of houses, & speake one to another, etier one to his brother, should in all saying, Come, I pray you, & heare what is the word that cometh from the Lord.

For they come vnto thee, as the people cometh to come: & my people sit before thee, and heare thy words, but they wil not do them: for with their mouthes they make as though they were iust, and their heart goeth after their countenances.

And lo, thou art vnto them, as a ieking song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, & can sing well: for they heare thy words, but they do not follow.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Against the shepherdes that despised the flocke of Christ, & seek their owne gaine. The Lord saith that he will visite his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promyseth the true shepherd Christ, and with him peace.

1 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, prophetic against the shepherdes of Israel, prophetic and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God unto the shepherdes, * Woe be unto the shepherdes of Israel, that feede themselves: should not the shepherdes feede the flocke?

3 Ye eate the fat, and ye clothe you with the wool: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feede not the shepe.

4 The weakke haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound up the broken, nor brought againe that which was drinen away, neyther haue ye sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepherd: and when they were dispersed, they were deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered through all the mountaines, and upon euery hie hill: yea, my flocke was scattered through all the earth, & none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore ye shepherdes, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I live, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, & my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the field, having no shepherd, neither did my shepherdes seeke my sheepe, but the shepherdes fed themselves, and fed not my sheepe,

9 Therefore, heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepherdes.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against the shepherdes, and will requite my sheepe at their hands, & cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherdes feede themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouths, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will search my sheepe, & seeke them out. 12 As a shepherd searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreies, and will bring them to their owne land, & feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the high mountaines of Israel shall their solbe be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fatte pasture shall they feede

vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will seeke my sheepe, & bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, & bring againe that which was drinen away, & will binde up that which was broken, and will strengthen the weakke, but I will destroy the fatte and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I iudge betweene you sheepe, and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eate vpon good pasture, but ye must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture: and to haue drinke of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eate that which ye haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Beholde, I will iudge betweene the fatte sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the weakke with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroade,

22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoiled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set up a shepherd ouer them, and he shall feede them, even my seruant Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shall be their shepherd.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the lande: and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen Christ the flocke round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be rapine of blessing, and there shall be rapine of blessing.

27 And the tree of the field shall preid her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruit, & I serued in the shepe shall be safe in their land, & shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, & deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoiled of the heathen, neyther shall the beasts of the lande deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely and now shall make them as a shepe.

29 And I will raise vp for them a plant of renowne, & they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the lande, neyther beare the reproche of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

Meaning, such as liue vpon themselves about their brethren, and thinke they haue no neede to be gouerned by me. That is, by putting difference betweene the good and the bad, and so giue to either as they deserue. By good pasture and deepe waters, is meant a pure word of God and the administration of iustice, which they did not distribute to the poore till they had corrupted it. Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure, ler. 30.9. hof. 3.5. That is, the rod that shall come out of the roote of Ihsay, Is. 11.1.

16 For enter the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their dedes: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I polluted my wrath upon them, for the blood that they had shed in the lande, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed through the countreis: for according to their wayes, & according to their dedes, I iudged them.

20 And when they entred into the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holp name, wher they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of the land.

21 But I favoured mine holp name which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine: holp names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you have polluted it, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, sayth the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, & gather you out of all countreis, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I purge cleane: yea, from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stone heart out of your body, & I will give you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and do them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the lande, that I gave to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliver you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for you, and will increase it, and I will give you no famine upon you.

30 For I will multiplie the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall have no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your dedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selves unworthy to have bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it knowne unto you that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall have cleared you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, & the desolate places shall be builded,

34 And the desolate lande shall be tilled, whereas it laye waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they sayde, This waste lande was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, and the soyle or plant the desolate places: I the Lord have spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this see sought of the house of Israel, to & performe it unto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Jerusalem in their solemn feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flocks of when he maketh them, & they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

He prophesieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captivitie. 36. How sheweth the union of the ten tribes with the two.

The hand of the Lord was upon me, and carried me out in the spirit of the Lord, and set me downe in the mids of the field, which was full of bones.

2 And he ledde me rounde about by them, and beholde, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very drye.

3 And he said unto me, Sonne of man, can these bones live? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he saide unto me, Prophecise upon these bones and say unto them, O drye bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God unto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall live.

6 And I will lay sinewes upon you, and make the growe upon you, and cover you with skinn, and put breath in you, that ye may live, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophesied, as I was commanded: as I prophesied, there was a noise, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinewes, and the flesh grew upon them, and above the skinn covered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then saide he unto me, Prophecise unto the winde: prophecise, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the four winds, O breath, & breathe upon these sinne, that they may live.

10 So I prophesied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up upon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he saide unto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, & our hope is gone, & we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophecise, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my people, I will open your graves, & cause

24 And Dauid my seruant shall be king ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

3 And I will finite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand,

4 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all the bands, & the people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vn-

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for
I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God,

6 And I will send a fire on Bagog, & among them that dwell safely in cities, & they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the muddes of my people Israel, & I will not suffer them to pollute mine
holy Name any more, and the heathen shall knowe that I am the Lord, the holy one of Israel.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the felde, neither cut downe any out of the forestes: for they shall burne weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoiled them. saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto
Gog a place there for buriall in Israe, cause them that passe by, to stoppe their

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

1 In the five and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon me, and brought me thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he mee by a divine vision, & set me vpon a very high mountain, wherupon was as a building of a citie, toward the South.

3 And he brought me thither, and beholds, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linen thirad in his hande, & a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man saide vnto mee, Some of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, & set thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, I sawe a wall on the outside of the house rounde about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of five cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went by the staires thereof, and measured the poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and the poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, which was one reede broad.

7 And every chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and there were the chambers were five cubites: and the poste of the gate by the poise of the gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the poise of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured he the poise of the gate of eight cubites, and the postes thereof, of two cubites, and the poise of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were there on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, & the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, & the chambers were five cubites on this side and five cubites on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roufe of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also postes of thirteene cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure rounde about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entrie of the gate vnto the forefront of the poise of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate rounde about, and likewise to the arches: & the windowes were round about within: and vpon the postes were palme trees.

17 Then brought he me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court rounde about, and thirte chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the South, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof.

1 The heathen shall knowe that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakenes of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples finnes.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood open against the gate toward the South, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and lo, there was a gate toward the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to go up to it, & the arches thereof were before them: & it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side by the post thereof.

27 And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And he brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, & the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, & there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long and five and twentie cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the bitter court, and palme trees were upon the postes thereof, and the going by to it had eight steppes.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, & in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and five and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the bitter court, & palme trees were upon the postes thereof, on this side & on that side, and the going by to it had eight steppes.

35 After, he brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the bitter court, and palme trees were upon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, & the going by to it had eight steps.

38 And every chamber, & the entrie thereof

was under the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, & two tables on that side, upon the which they set the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, & the ree-passe offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, & four tables on that side by the side of the gate, even eight tables whereupon they set their sacrifice.

42 And four tables were of beaten stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite high: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand-breadth, fastened round about, and upon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: & their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, having the prospect toward the North.

45 And he sayde unto mee, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Levites that have charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that have the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sons of Zadok among the sons of Levi which may come nere to the Lord to minister unto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad even four square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, & measured the postes of the porch, five cubites on this side, and five cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleven cubites, and he brought me by the steppes wherby they went up to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

Afterward, he brought me to the Temple, and measured the postes, six cubites broad on the one side, and five cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and he measured the length thereof fourie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

Then went he in, and measured the postes

- poſtes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie ſixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie ſeven cubites.
- 4 So he meaſured þ length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites beſore the Temple. And he ſapde unto me, This is the moſt holy place.
- 5 After, he meaſured the wall of the houſe, ſixe cubites, and the breadth of every chamber four cubites round about the houſe, on every ſide.
- 6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three & thirtie foote high, & they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the houſe, þ the poſtes might be faſtened therein, and not be faſtened in the wall of the houſe.
- 7 And it was large & went round mounting vpwarde to the chambers: for the ſtaire of the houſe was moiſting vpward, rounde about the houſe: therefore the houſe was larger vpward: ſo they went vp from the loweſt chamber to the higheſt by the middes.
- 8 I ſawe alſo the houſe þie round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of ſixe great cubites.
- 9 The thicknes of the wal which was for the chamber without, was ſixe cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.
- 10 And betwene the chambers was the wideneſſe of twentie cubites rounde about the Houſe on every ſide.
- 11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was ſixe cubites round about.
- 12 Now the building that was beſore the ſeparate place toward the Weſt corner, was ſeuente cubites broad, and the wall of the building was ſixe cubites thicke, round about, & the length ninety cubites.
- 13 So he meaſured the houſe an hundred cubites long, and the ſeparate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubites long.
- 14 Alſo the breadth of the forefront of the houſe and of the ſeparate place toward the Eaſt, was an hundred cubites.
- 15 And he meaſured the length of the building, ouer againſt the ſeparate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one ſide and on the other ſide an hundred cubites in the Temple within, and the arches of the court.
- 16 The poſtes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three ſides ouer againſt the poſtes, ſieled with cedar wood round about, and from the grounde vp to the windowes, and the windowes were ſieled.
- 17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner houſe & without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was ſieled according to the meaſure.
- 18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, ſo that a palme tree was beſeewene a Cherub and a Cherub; and eue-
- ry Cherub had two faces.
- 19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on þ one ſide, & the face of a lyon toward the palme tree on the other ſide: thus was it made through all the houſe round about.
- 20 From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.
- 21 The poſtes of the Temple were ſquare, and thus to looke vnto was the ſimilitude and ſoyne of the Sanctuarie.
- 22 The altar of wood was three cubites þie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof and the ſides thereof were of wood. And he ſapde vnto me, This is the table that ſhalbe beſore the Lord.
- 23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.
- 24 And the doores had two wickers, euen two turning wickers, two wickers for one doore, and two wickers for another doore.
- 25 And vpon þ doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palmetrees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke planches vpon the ſoyes front of the porch without.
- 26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one ſide, and on the other ſide, by the ſides of the porche, and vpon þ ſides of the houſe, a thicke plake,

- 1 Then brought hee me into the better court by þ way toward þ North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer againſt the ſeparate place, and which was beſore þ building toward the North.
- 2 Beſore the length of an hundred cubites was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.
- 3 Ouere againſt the twentie cubites which were for the inner court, and ouer againſt the pavement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber againſt chamber in three rows.
- 4 And beſore the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.
- 5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for thoſe chambers ſeemed to eate vp theſe, to wit, the lower, & thoſe that were in the middes of the building.
- 6 For they were in three rows, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemoſt, euen from the ground.
- 7 And the wall that was without ouer againſt the chambers, toward the better court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubits long.
- 8 For the length of the chambers that were in the better court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, beſore the Temple were an hundred cubites,

9 And under these chambers was the entrance, on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the East, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their facions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directip before the wall toward the East, as one entereth.

13 Then said he unto me, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the priests that appoche unto the Lord, shall eate the most holy things: there that they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they shall laye their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall appoche to those things, which are for the people.

15 Nowe when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, hee brought me forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it rounde about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring reede, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reede rounde about.

17 Hee measured also the North side, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reede rounde about.

18 And hee measured the South side five hundred reedes with the measuring reede.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundred reedes with the measuring reede.

20 Hee measured it by the four sides: it had a wall rounde about, five hundred reedes long, and five hundred reedes broad to make a separation betwene the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 He saith the glorie of God going into the Temple from whence he had before departed. 7 Hee mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel for the which they were consumed and brought to naught. 9 He is commended to call them againe to repentance.

1 Afterwarde hee brought mee to the gate, even the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a voyce of great waters, the earth was made light by his glorie.

3 And the vision which I saw was like the vision, even as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the citie: & the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar: & I fell upon my face.

4 And the glorie of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me by and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking unto me out of the house: & there stood a man by me, which said unto me, Some of man, this place is my throne, & the place of my soles of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for ever, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeles of their kings in their high places.

8 Albeit they let their thesholdes by my thesholdes, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betwene me and them) yet have they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeles of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 Thou some of man, shew this house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednesse, & let them measure the paterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, shewe them the forme of the house, & the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole facion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, & all the lawes thereof: & write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole facion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the description of the house. It shalbe upon the top of the mount: all the limites thereof rounde about shall be most holy. Beholde, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, and an hand breadth, even the bottom shalbe a cubite, & the breadth a cubite, and the height thereof by the edge thereof round about shall be a spaine: & this shalbe the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites, & the breadth one cubite, & from the little piece to the great piece shall be foure cubites, & the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shalbe foure cubites & from the altar upward shalbe foure homes.

16 And the altar shalbe twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, & foure square in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame shalbe fourtene cubites long, and fourtene broad in the foure square corners thereof, & the border about it shall be halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steeppes thereof shalbe turned toward the East.

18 And he said unto me, Some of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.
19 And thou shalt give to the Priests, and to the Levites, that be of the tribe of Gad, which approach unto me, to minister unto me, saith the Lord God, a pong bullocke for a sinne offering.
20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, & put it on the four corners of it, and on the four corners of the frame, & upon the border rounde about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.
21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.
22 But the seconde day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.
23 When thou hast made an ende of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a pong bullocke without blemish, & a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.
24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt upon them, & they shall offer them for a burnt offering unto the Lord.
25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare every day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a pong bullocke and a ramme out of the flock, without blemish.
26 Thus shalt thou seven dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and "consecrate it."
27 And when these dayes are expired, upon the eight day & so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings upon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Here purifieth the people for their offence. 7 The uncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh, 9 Who are to be admitted to the service of the Temple, and who to be refused.

1 Then he brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.
2 Then saide the Lord unto me, This gate shall be shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.
3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.
4 Then brought he me toward the South gate before the House: & when I looked, beholde, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell upon my face.
5 And the Lord saide unto me, Some of man, "marke well, & beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say unto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the house with every going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt save to the rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, the house of Israel, ye have enough of all your abominations,
7 Seeing that ye have brought into my Sanctuary strangers, & uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house: when ye offer my bread, even fat, & blood: and they have broken my covenant, because of all your abominations,
8 For ye have not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selves have set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.
9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger, uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.
10 Neither yet the Levites that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idols, but they shall beare their iniquitie.
11 And they shall serve in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the House, & minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the Priests office, people: and they shall stand before them to serve them.
12 Because they served before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore have I lift up mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.
13 And they shall not come neere unto me to doe the office of Priest unto me, neither shall they come neere unto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame & their abominations, which they have committed.
14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.
15 But the Priests of the Levites, the sonnes of Zadok, that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serve me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat, and the blood, saith the Lord God.
16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table, to serve me, and they shall keepe my charge.
17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments, and no wool shall come upon them, while they serve in the gates of the inner court, and within.
18 They shall have linen donets upon their heads, and they shall have linen breeches upon their loynes: they shall not gird themselves in the sweating places.
19 But when they goe forth into the bitter court, even to the bitter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not come

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the lands of promise are there separate four portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priests and to the Temple, the seconde to the Levites, the thirde to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 11 Of the first fruits, &c.

1 Measure when ye shall denide the lands for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord an Ephah portion of the lande, five and twentie thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuarie five hundred in length with five hundred in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubites round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twentie thousand, & the breadth of ten thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, & the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the lande shall be the priests, which minister in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the five and twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth shall the Levites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twentie chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad, and five and twentie thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westwarde, and from the East corner Eastwarde, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West boiuder vnto the East boiuder.

8 In this lande shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off cruelty and oppression, & execute iudgement and iustice: take alway pour exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equal: a Bath shall containe the tenth parte of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equitie thereof shall be after the Homer.

12 And shekel shall be twentie gerahs, & twentie shekels, & five & twentie shekels and fiftene shekels shall be pour Spaneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheat, and ye shall giue the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, ye shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Oyle (ten Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer).

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meate offerings, and drinke offerings in the soleme feasts and in the newe moones, & in the Sabbathes, and in all the hie feastes of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sime offering, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

18 Thus saith the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of the moneth, thou shalt of April.

a The sacrifices of the Sabbath & of the new moone.
b Thorowes which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

1 Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth towards the East, shall be shut the six working daies: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moone it shall be opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the poste of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall go forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer unto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be six lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambes: a gift of his hande, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shall be a young bullocke without blemish, and six lambes and a ramme: they shall bee without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offering, even an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes: according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of the gate, and he shall go forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemn feastes, he that entereth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entereth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: he shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall go forth one against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the middes of them: he shall go in when they go in, and when they go forth, they shall go forth together.

11 And in the feastes, & in the solemnities the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, & an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hande, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a fre burnt offering of peace offerings, he shall go to the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth towards the East, and he shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall go forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering unto the Lord of a lambe of one peece without blemish: thou shalt doe it every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it every morning, the six part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetual ordinance unto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle every morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince give a gift of his inheritance unto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his servants, then it shall be his to the peers of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for ever.

18 Wherever the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause that his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that any people be not scattered every man from his possession.

19 After, he brought me through the enclosure, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stood towards the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said he unto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seethe the trese: where they shall bake the meate offering, where they shoulde not beare them into the inner court, to sacrifice the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the bitter court, and caused me to goe by the four corners to see them.

a Which was the place where the people should not have to do with those things which appertained to the Lawfall for the court, and caused me to see them.

corners of the court: and beholde, in every corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were courtes topped of fourtie cubites long, and thirtie broad: these four corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, even about those four, & kitchens were made under the wallies round about.

24 Then sayde he unto me, This is the hircin where the ministers of the house shall sette the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 13 The castles of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

Afterward he brought me unto the booke of the house: and behold, waters issued out from under the threesholes of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house floode toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from under the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the North gate, and led me about by the way without unto the utter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there ranne forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, hee measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again hee measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loines.

5 Afterward hee measured a thousand, and it was a river, that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a river that could not be passed over.

6 And hee sayde unto me, Some of man, hast thou seen this? Then hee brought me, & caused me to returne to the brynke of the river.

7 Nowe when I returned, beholde, at the brynke of the river were very many trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then sayde hee unto mee, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, & shal go into one sea: they shal runne into another sea, and the waters shalbe wholesome.

9 And every thing that lieth, which mouneth, whersoever the rivers shal come, shal live, and there shalbe a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shal come thither: for they shal be wholesome, and every thing shal live whither the river cometh.

10 And then the fishers shal stand upon it, & from En-gedi even unto En-eglaim, they shal fyed out their nettes: for their fish shal be according to their kindes, as the fish of the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 With the empire places thereof, and the maries thereof shal not be wholesome: they shalbe made salt pittres.

12 And by this river upon the brynke thereof, on this side, and on that side shal growe all fruitefull trees, whose leafe shal not fade, neither shal the fruite thereof faile: it shal bring forth newe fruite according to his moneth, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuary: and the fruite thereof shal be meate, and the leafe thereof shalbe for medicine.

13 Thus sayeth the Lord God, This shal be the border, wherby ye shal inherit the land according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shal have two portions.

14 And ye shal inherit it, one as well as another: concerning the which I lift up mine hand to give it unto your fathers, & this land shal fall unto you for inheritance.

15 And this shalbe the border of the land toward the Northside, fro the maine sea toward Jethlon as men go to Ebadah:

16 Hamath, Berthah, Sibaim, which is betwene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hajar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Haman.

17 And the border from the sea shalbe Hajar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, & the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shal be the North part.

18 But the East side shal ye measure from Haman, and from Damascus, and from Silab, and from the land of Israel by Jordan, & from the border unto the East sea: and so shalbe the East part.

19 And the Southside shal be toward Teman from Camar to the waters of Arabah: and the river to the maine sea: so shal be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shal be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath: this shal be the West part.

21 So shal ye divide this land unto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shal divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shal beget children among you, & they shal be unto you, as home in the countrey among the children of Israel: they shal part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shal ye give him his inheritance, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lotter of the tribes. 9 The partes of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Levites, of the cite and of the Prince are rehearsed.

Nowe these are the names of the tribes, from the North side to the coast toward Jethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hajar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, even from the East side to the West shalbe a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side unto the West side a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part even unto the West part a portion for Naphtali.

- 11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of Zadok, which have kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

Daniel

The great providence of God, and his singular mercie towards his Church are most liuely here set forth, who neuer leaueh his destitute, but nowe in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueh them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whome he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboute all other had most special reuelations of such things as should come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the last end of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices shoulde cease, because he shoulde be the accomplishment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euerlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, & Christ gather his into his kingdom in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah. 4 The king chuseth certaine young men of the Iewes to leaue in Babel. 5 They haue the kings ordinarie appointed, 8 But they abstaine from it.

In the thirde yere of the reigne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, came Ierubachadnezzar, king of Babel vnto Jerusalem, and besieged it.

And the lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hande, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

And the king spake vnto Ashpenaz the master of his Eunuches, that he should bring certaine of the children of Israel, of the kings seede, and of the princes:

Children in whom was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instruct in all wisdom, and well scene in knowledge, and able to better knowledge, & such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whome they might teach the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

And the king appointed them provision euery day of a portion of the kings meat, and of the wine which he dranke, so now and also by their good intreate and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, & so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their lands: moreover by this means the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing other wise to perseue hurt to these noble men. f The King required three things, that they shoulde be of noble birth, that they shoulde be wise and learned, and that they shoulde be of a strong and comely stature, that they might doe him better seruice: this he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to prayse his liberalitie: yet in this he is worthe prayse, that hee esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by. g That they might forget their owne religion, and countrey factions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in al points he refused the abuse of things and superstition, in so much that he would not eate the meate which the king appointed him, but was content to leaue the knowledge of naturall things. h That by their good entertainment they might learne to forget the remembrance of their owne people, rising them: these were, that at the ende i to the intent thereof, they might stand before the king.

Nowe among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

Vnto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Shelbach, and Azariah, as seruice at the table, as in other offices.

But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefor he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

Nowe God had brought Daniel into their children fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches.

And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayde vnto Daniel. I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate & your drinke: therfore if he see your faces worse looking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lose mine head vnto the king.

Then said Daniel to Sheltzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had let ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, Whome thy seruants, I beseeche thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of the meate or drinke afterward: but because the king should not entise him by this sweete poyson, to forget his religion and accustomed sobriety, and that in his meate and drinke he might dayly remember of what people hee was and Daniel bringeth this in to shewe howe God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to bee a Prophet. n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he representeth them, which are of no religion: for neither hee would condemne theirs nor maintaine his owne. o Meaning, that within this space he might haue the tryall, and that no man should be able to discern it: and thus hee spake, being moued by the Spirit of God. p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate deintie meates and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby bene wonne to the king and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed.

q This bare feeding and that also of Moses, when he fledde from the court of Egypt, declarereth that we must line in such sobrietie as God doeth call vs vnto, seeing he will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all deinties: for his blessing onely sufficeth.

r Meaning, in the liberrall sciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall artes which are forbidden, Deut. 18.11.

f So that he only was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Nomb. 12.6. t Of the three yerres aboue mentioned, ver. 5. u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet, so long as that common wealth stood.

the kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruantes.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and pioned them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Belshazzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning: and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Belshazzar.

19 And the king communed with them: & amongst them al was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Miarah: therefore stode they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdom, and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, he founde them ten times better then all the inchanters and astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto the first pere of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreames of Belshazzar. 2 The king commandeth all the wise men of Babylon to be slaine because they could not interpret his dreames.

3 Daniel requirerh time to solute the question. 4 Daniel is brought vnto the king, and sheweth him his dreames and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euilllasting kingdomes of Christ.

1 And in the second pere of the reigne of Belshazzar, Belshazzar dreamed: & dreamed wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleep was vpon him.

2 Then the king commaunded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians and the sojurers, and the Chaldeans for to shew the king his dreames: so they came and stode before the king.

3 And the king saide vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Chaldeans to the king in the Aramites language, O king, lue for euer: shew thy seruantes thy dreame, and we shall shewe the interpretation.

5 And the king answered and sayde to the Chaldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstande the dreame with the interpretation thereof, I will not make you: but if ye shall be able to pierce, and point out houses that haue made a larkes.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me giftes and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and saide, Let the king shew his seruantes the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the king answered, and said, I knowe certainly that ye would gaue me the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if ye will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgment for you: for ye haue prepared lying & corrupt words, to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell me the dreame, that I may knowe, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Chaldeans answered before the king, & said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kings matter: for there is neither king, nor prince, nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter, or astrologian of Chaldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requirerh, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the king was angrie and in great fure, and commaunded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they sought Daniel & his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisdom to Arioch the kings chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that he would giue him leasure, and that he would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

17 Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Miarah his companions,

18 That they should beseeche the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows shoulde not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reuelled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, The name of God be praised for euer & euer: for wisdom and strength are his.

21 And he changed the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: he setteth up kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wise,

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name: so that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned alio after a sort w his father. b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame. c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame that he had not had the like. d Hee was so heauie with sleepe that he began to sleepe againe. Some reade, and his sleepe was broken from him. e For all these Astrologers and forcerers called them selues by this name of honour, as though all the wisdom and knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were voyde of the same. f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Chaldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned vied to speake it: as the Iewish writers doe to this day.

i Which declarerh, that God would not haue his seruants ioyned in the company of these forcerers, and astrologers, whose artes were wicked, & therefore iudged ought to die, though the king did it vpon a rage, and on scale. Or, the captaine of his guards.

b Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserve commendation, yet because he joyed Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reprobated, and Daniel herein cried: but it is credible: Daniel admonished him of his fault, & did not suffer it.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone

d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this means he might relieve his poore brethren which were grievously oppressed in this their captivité, and also he received them, lest he should offend this cruell king, which willingly gaue them. e He did not this for their private profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might have some release and ease, by this benefice. f Meaning, that either he was a iudge, or that he had the whole authoritie, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

golde: so the great God hath shewed the king, what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dyeme is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell upon his face, and bowed himselfe unto Daniel, & commanded that they should offer meate offerings, and sweete odours unto him.

47 Allo the king answered unto Daniel, and sayde, I knowe of a trueth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reuiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, & gaue him many and great gifts. He made him gouernour ouer his whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel made request to the king, and he let Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer his charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the gate of the king.

the officers, & all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled unto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: & then soone before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cryed aloude, We it d. These are the knowne to you, O people, & nations, and two dangerous weapons where-

5 That when ye heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, & all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoener falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the mids of an hote fierie foynace.

7 Therefore asloone as all the people heard the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, & all instruments of musike, all the people, nations and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuous ly accused the Jewes.

9 For they spake and sayde to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that whoso shall heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoener falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fierie foynace.

12 There are certaine Jewes whom thou dost respect: hast set ouer the charge of the prouince might haue had of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not to accuse Daniel regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger & wrath commanded that they should be brought before him, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said destruction of the unto them, What disorder? will not leues, whom ye call Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, they accused of go serue my god, nor worship the golden image, that I haue set vp?

15 ¶ Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sounde of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall they would now downe, and worship the image, which at the length I haue made: so if ye worship it not, I shall cast immediately into the mids of an hote fierie foynace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of myne hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and sayde to the king, O king, we are not carefull to fore thy face, but to our God, that can deliuer us out of this fiery foynace.

17 Beholde, our God whom we serue, is able to deliuer us from this fiery foynace, O king.

CHAP. III.

1 The King setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the Kings commandement, and are put into a burning oven. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar the king made an image of golde, whose height was threescor cubites, & the breadth thereof six cubites: hee set it vp in the plaine of Surra, in his prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes and the dukes, the iudges, the recepuers, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedicating of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the recepuers, the counsellors,

a Under pretence of religion & holinesse, in making an image to his idole Bel, hee sought his owne ambition and wayne glory: and this declareth, f he was not touched with true feare of God before, but that hee confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are overcome with the greatnes of his workes. The Greeke interpreters write that this was done egyptian yeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the king feared lest the Jewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth, & therefore he meant to bring all to one kind of religion, & so rather sought his own quietnes, the Gods glory. b Shewing, the idole is not knowne for an idole so long as he is with the workeman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited and used, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god. c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approve their religion, if the kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the regard of what Gods word did permit.

They grooved on two points, first on the power &

able to deliver vs from the hote fierie fornace, & he will deliver vs out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowen to thee, O king,
that we will not serue thy gods, nor worshippe the golden image, which thou hast
set up.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the fourme of his visage was changed againt Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego; therefore he charged and commanded that they should heate the fornace at once seven times more then it was wont to be heatte.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to bind Shadiach, Meshach, and Abednego, & to cast them into the hote fierie forname.

21 So these men were bound in their coats, their hosen, & their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middens of the hote fire foullace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commandment was strait, þ the foynace shold be exceeding hote, þ flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego:

23 And these thre men, Shadyach, Messhach & Abednego fel downe bownd into the maddes of the hote fierie founace.

24. ¶ Then Iehucbad-nezzar þ king was aſſured & roſe vp in haſte, & ſpake, and ſayde vnto his counſellers, Did not wee caſt three men bound into the muddes of the fire? Who answered and ſaide vnto
 the king, It is true, O king.

And hee answered, and saide, Lor, I see
four men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the sonne of 6 Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace & swake and sayd. Shadrach. Mes-

Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the servants of the true God, goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego came forth of the midst of the fire.

7 Then the nobles, princes and dukes,
and the kinges counsellors came together to see these men, because the fire had no power over their bodies: for yet an heare of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell

of fire came vpon them.

8 Wherefore Jebuchad-nizzar spake and said, "Blessed be the God of Shadjach,

his Angel, and delivered his servants, 9

E Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to doe Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that y he cometh to cut downe this tree, he knewe that it should not be cut downe by man, but by God. h Hereby he meaneth y Nebuchad-nezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdom, but be like a beast. i God hath decreed this iudgement, & y whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp their selues against God. k He was troubled for y great iudgement of God which he sawe ordeined against the king: and so the Prophets vsed on y one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory & on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if hee did not regard them with pitie. l Whereby he meaneth a long space, as seuen yeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth hee meant of yeres,

10 I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman & an holp one came downe from heauen.
11 And cried aloud, and said thus, Hewe downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, & scatter his fruites, that the beasts may see from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.
12 Heerthelesse leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a bande of pyon & bialfe bind it among the grasse of the feld, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grasse of the feld.
13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giue vnto him, & let seuen times be passed ouer him.
14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holp ones: the demaunde was answered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the most high hath power ouer the kingdom of men, & gieth it to whomsoeuer hee will, and appoynteth ouer it the most abiect among men.
15 This is the dreame, that I king Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, o Belshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for al the wisemen of my kingdom are not able to shewe mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holp gods is in thee.
16 Then Daniel (whose name was Belshazzar) helde his peace by the space of one houre, & his thoughtes troubled him, and the king spake and saide, Belshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belshazzar answered & said, Appoyne, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

19 It is thou, o king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

21 This is the interpretation, o king, and it is the decree of the most high, which is come vpon my lord the king,
22 That thou shalt dwine thee from men, & thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of

24 Wherefore, o king, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, & breake off thy finnes by rightousnesse, & thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, there be an healing of thine error.
25 All these things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.
26 At the ende of twelue moneths, hee walked in the royall palace of Babel.
27 And the king spake & saide, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of y kingdom by the might of my power, & for the honour of my maiestie? While the woide was in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, o king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdom is departed from thee,
29 And thou shalt dwine thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the feld: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, & seuen times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowest, that the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and gieth it vnto whomsoeuer hee will.
30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was drinen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his heares were growen as egles feathers, and his naples like birdes clawes,
31 And at the ende of these dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift up mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, & I gaue thanks vnto the most high, and I praised y honoured him that is worthy for euer, whose power is an everlasting power, and his kingdom is from generation to generation, fulfilled.
32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will he woiketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hande, nor say vnto him, What dost thou?
33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellers & my princes sought vnto me, and I was established in my kingdom, and my glory was augmented toward me.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar king of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the king, can not expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The king is slain. 31 Darius enjoyeth the kingdom.

1 King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, & drank wine & before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while he called for wine, commanded to bring him the golden & silver vessels, which his father Nebuchadnezzar had brought from the Temple in Jerusalem, that the king and his princes, his wives, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lordes house at Jerusalem, and the king and his princes, his wives, and his concubines drank therein.

4 They drinke wine & played the gods of golde, and of silver, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

At the same house appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the playster of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

5 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the sleepers of his loynes were loosened, and his knees smote one against the other.

6 Wherefore the king cryed loude, & they should bring the astrologians, the Chaldeans & the soothsayers. And the king spake, and said to the wisemen of Babel, Whosoever can read this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, & shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.

7 Then came all the kings wisemen, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the king the interpretation.

8 Then was king Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonished.

9 Nowe the Queene by reason of the talke of the king and his princes, came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and saide, O King, lise for ever: let not thy thoughtes trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whome is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was founde in him: whom the king Nabuchad-nezzar thy father, the king, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the enchanters, astrologians, Chaldeans, and soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirite, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for he did expound dreames, & declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were founde in him, even in Daniel, whome the king named Belshazzar: nowe let Daniel be called, & he will declare the interpretation.

13 Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake, and sayde vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captivity of Iudah, whome my father the king brought out of Iewry?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, & that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdom is founde in thee.

15 Nowe therefore wise men, & astrologians haue bene brought before me, & they should reade this writing, & shewe me the interpretation thereof: but they coulde not declare the interpretation of it.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, & dissolue doubts: nowe if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, & shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdom.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayde before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shewe him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nabuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdom, and maiestie and honour and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whome he would: he smote whom he would: whome he would he set vp, and whome he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed up, and his minde hardened in pride, he was depozed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was diuyn from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oren, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till hee knewe that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdom of men, and that he appoynteth ouer it, whome he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knowest all these things,

Read chap. 4. 6 and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vnderstand these vile practices, because he was not among them when all were called.

For the idolaters thought the Angels had power as God, & therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophesie, and vnderstanding came of them.

Before he read the writing, hee declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth, that he doth not feare of ignorance, but of malice.

a After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently wayted for thine amendment.

n This word is twice written for the certainty of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all king, domes, and that a miserable ende shall come on all that rayle them selves against him.

rightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

23 But hast lift thy selfe by against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wives and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast pleyed the gods of silver and golde, of brasse, iron, wood and stone, which neither see, neyther heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, hath not glorified.

24 Then was the value of the hande sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbered thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Chaldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being thiercyfe & two yere old.

Carde thus vnto him, King Darius, line for cuer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and butlers haue consulted together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall take a petition of any god or man for thirte dayes saue of thee, O King, he shall be cast into the denne of Lyons.

8 Nowe, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstoode that hee had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber towards Jerusalem, hee knelt vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed and prayed his God, as hee had accustomed.

11 Then these men assembled, and founde Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, saying, thou hast not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any god or man within thirte dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of Lyons: The king answered, & said, The thing is true, according to the lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition thre times a day.

14 When the king heard these wordes, hee was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel, to deliuer him: & he laboured till the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 These men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the king, vnderstand, O King, that the lawe of the Medes and Persians is, no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be altered.

16 Then the king commaunded, & they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of Lyons: nowe the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layed vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, & remained sitting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of Lyons.

20 And when he came to the denne, he cried with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel:

d Herein is commended the wickedness of the king, who would beleeve as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes hee appointed for the maintenance of the same.

e Because he would not by his silence shew that hee consented to this wicked decree, hee set open his window towards Jerusalem, when hee prayed: both to shew his fellowe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people, who they should pray toward that Temple, & also that others might see, that hee would not consent in heart nor deede for these fewe dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

God, because he lost all his power.

My iust cause
and vprightnes
in this thing,
wherein I was charged, is approved of God,
I see he did dis-
allow the kings
wicked commandment to obey
God, and so did
so iustice to the king, who ought
to command and nothing whereby
he should be dishonoured.

Because he commanded him selfe
woly vnto God
whose cause he did defende, he was assured, that nothing but good could come vnto him:
wherein we see
the power of his word Heb. 11.

This is a terrible example against all the vicious, which do against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes howe to punish such,
when their wickednesse is come to light: though not in euery point, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vp-on them. m This prooveth not that Darius did worshippinge God right, or else was converted: for then he woulde haue destroyed
all superstition and idolatrie, and not only giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to bee honoured according to his worde: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle. n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the one-ly fountain of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

and the king spake, and said to Daniel, Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway serueth)
able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the king, D king,
I haue sowne for euer.

22 God hath sent his Angell and hath shut the lions mouths, that they haue
not hurt me: for my iustice was founde out before him: and vnto thee, D king, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they shoulde take Daniel out of the denne: so Daniel was brought out of the denne, & no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because he beleued in his God.

24 And by the soueraunement of the king these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lions had the masterye of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, & euer they came at the gronde of the denne.

25 Afterward king Darius wrote vnto
all people, nations and languages, that dwelt in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble & feare
before the God of Daniel: for he is the liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, & his dominion shall be euerslasting.

27 He rekineth and deliuereth, & he work-eth signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel.
3 The same hornes of the fourth beast. 37 Of the euerslasting kingdome of Christ.

1 In the first peece of Belshazzar King of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed:
then he wrote the dreame, and declared

the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake & said, I sawe in my vision by night, and beholde, the four windes of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea:

3 And foure great beastes came vp from the sea one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, and had eyles
like wings: I behelde, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his fete as a man,
and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And beholde, another beast which was the seconde, was like a beare and stood vpon the one side: and hee had three ribs in his mouth betwene his teeth, and they saide thus vnto him, Arise and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this I behelde, and lo, there was an other like a leopard, which had vpon his backe foure winges of a fowle: the beast had also foure heades, and dominion was giuen him.

7 After this I sawe in the visions by night,
and beholde, the fourth beast was feared-full and terrible and verie strong. It had great poyntes: it deuoured and brake
in pieces and stamped the residue vnder
his fete: and it was unlike to the Persians, beastes that were before it: for it had tenne hornes.

8 Now I considered the hornes, behold, there came vp among the another little horn, before whome there were three of the first hornes pluckt away: and beholde,

d Meaning the Persians, which were barbarous & cruel.

e They were small in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines and had no brute. f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, & was insatiable. g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this means punished the ingratitude of the world. h Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonie. i That is, his foure chief captaines, which had the empire among the after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was king of Macedonie, and Ptolemeus had Egypt.

k It was not of himselfe nor of his owne power that he gate all these countries: for his armie conteyned but thirty thousand men, and he ouercame in one battell Darius, which had ten hundred thousand, when he was so heauie with sleepe that his eyes were scarie open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God. l That is, the Romane empire which was as a monster & could not be compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it. m Signifying the tyranny and gree-dines of the Romanes. n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioye in other countries, they would giue it to other kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the fete. o That is, sundry & diuers provinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euery
one might be compared to a king. p Which is meant of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as kings in effe, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horn.

For Mahomet came not of the Romane empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this cannot be applied vnto them, and also in this prophetic the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ.
Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist. q Meaning, a certaine portion of the ten hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the liberty of chusing the deputies to send into the provinces, & took the gouernement of certaine countreys to himselfe.

b Which signified that there shoulde
be horrible
troubles and afflictions in
the world in all corners of the world and at sundry times.

Caldean empire, which was most strong and
fierce in power,
and most sone come to their authori-
tie as though they had had wings to flye
yet their wings
were pulled by the Persians,
and they went on their fete.

and were made
like other men,
which is here
meant by mans
heart.

CHAP. viii.

A vision of a battell betwene a ramme and a goate.

20 The understanding of the vision.

1 I In the thirde pere of the reigne of king
2 Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me,
3 euen vnto me Daniel, after that which 4 appeared vnto me at the first.
5 And I saw in a vision, when I saw it,
6 I was in a palace of Shushan, which is 7 in the poynt of Elam, and in a vision
8 me thought I was by the river of Blai.
9 Then I looked vp and saw, and beholde,
10 there stood before the river a ramme,
11 which had two hoines: and these two 12 hoines were hie: but one was higher then 13 another, and the hieft came vp last.
14 I saw the ramme pushing against the 15 West, and against the North, and against 16 the South: so that no beast might 17 stand before him, nor could deliuer out of 18 his hand, but he did what he listed, and 19 became great.
20 And as I considered, beholde, a goate
21 came from the West ouer a whole earth,
22 and touched not the ground: and this goate
23 had an horne that appeared betwene
24 his eyes.
25 And he came vnto the ramme that had 26 the two hoines, whom I had seene stan-27 ding by the river, and ranne vnto him in 28 his fierce rage.
29 And I saw him come vnto the ramme,
30 and being moued against him, he smote
31 the ramme, and brake his two hoines:
32 and there was no power in the ramme to 33 stand against him, but he cast him downe
34 to the ground, and ramped vpon him, 35 and there was none that could deliuer
36 the ramme out of his power.
37 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding 38 great, and when he was at the strongest,
39 his great horne was broken: and for it 40 came vp foure that appeared toward 41 the foure winde of the heauen.
42 And out of one of them came forth a little 43 horn, which is ment by this horne. h. Alexander ouer-44 came Darius in two sundry battels, & so had 7 two kingdomes of 45 the Medes & Persians. i. Alexanders great power was broke: for 46 when he had overcome all the East, he thought to returne toward 47 Grecia to subdue them: y there had rebelled, & so died by the way.
48 That is, which were famous: for almost in 7 space of fiftene yere 49 there were fiftene diuers successours before this monarchie was 50 deuiled to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleu-51 sus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, & Ptolemus Egypte. 1 Which 52 Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a feruile & flattering nature, 53 & also there were other betwene him & the kingdom, & therefore 54 here called 7 little horne, because neither princely conditions, nor 55 any other thing was in him, by he should obtaine this kingdom.

horne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

10 Pea, it grew vp vnto the hoste of hea-11 nen, & it cast down some of the hoste, & of the 12 starres to the ground, & trode vpon them.
13 And extolled himself against the prince 14 of the hoste from whom the daily sacri-15 fice was taken away, & the place of his 16 sanctuary was cast downe.

17 And a time shall be given him ouer the 18 daily sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall 19 cast downe the truth to the ground,
20 and thus shall it doe, and prosper.
